The Swell Ball of the Lurlines This Evening--Other Events,

Thousand. CHRISTIAN SCIENCE, Rev. Dr. Stryker Declares Himself for the "Faith Cure" Idea. There was a large attendance at the meeting of the Presbyterian alliance at Westminster church last evening. After a short business session the members sat down to a pleasant supper. Here speeches were made by Rev. Dr. McLean, of Macalester college, Rev. Dr. McCurdy and Rev. Mr. Burrill. After supper the alliance assembled in the church parlors and listened to an interesting discussion on "Christian Science The discussion of Christian Science."
The discussion was opened by Dr. A.
W. Abbott, who treated the subject from a physician's standpoint. He ridiculed the idea of there being anything in the faith cures, so called, and asserted that whereever any alleged cures had been made they were only imaginary or else made they were only imaginary, or else the diseases supposed to be cured were only imaginary. The medical profesonly imaginary. The medical profession had wrought many wenderful cures where "faith" had failed to have any effect, and so far as he was concerned he did not care to have any "Christian Scientist" at work on him when he was siek. Rev. Dr. Stryker followed. He said that up to short fire group he held said that up to a short time ago he had looked upon the faith cure idea as ridiculous in the extreme, and had even gone so far as to openly declare that it amounted to nothing. But lately he had become interested in the subject, and after attending several Christian science meet tending several Christian science meetings and reading many books on the subject, had become converted to the faith, and now believed in it fully and Selected by the Exposition--implicitly. He cited several cases of eure that had come under his notice. His words made a very favorable impression upon the audience, apparently, and at the conclusion of his remarks he was approached by several gentlemen, who wanted to hear mova of the worder. who wanted to hear more of the wonderful cures. The theory of the Christian scientists, he said, was to educate the mind to convey its own and the bodily forces to cure diseases. The basis of faith cure, he said in closing, is really faith cure, he said in closing, is really looking away from man and trusting in God. Rev. J. M. Patterson read the third and last paper. He said that while many wonderful cures were reported from the simple laying on of hands, the theory of the Christian scientists was contrary to all of God's words. The scientists claimed that there was no sickness, no real infirmities—it was simply a delusion caused by sin. Now the Bible says there is sickness, and even God, speaking is sickness, and even God, speaking through the Bible, tells of cases of it. If there was no such thing as real sickness it was time, the speaker said, for the Christian people of the land to either incorporate "Christian science" in their creed or else, if there was real sickness, to expose it as a fraud. The discussion closed promptly at 10 o'clock, the hour set in the by-laws for closing, notwithstanding the fact that there were several FOR MERITORIOUS SERVICE. A Reminiscence of the Battle of Hamline --- R. A. Becker Caned.

The committee from the G. A. R. posts which had charge of the arrangements for the sham battle at the state fair grounds held a meeting yesterday afternoon, which was followed by a atternoon, which was followed by a banquet at the Vendome restaurant, during which Commander C. W. Curtiss, of Plummer post, presented R. A. Becker, past department commander, who served as the St. Paul member of the committee, with an elegant goldheaded cane, inscribed as follows:

R. A. Becker, of St. Paul, from the sham battle committee of Minneapolis for meritori-ous service at the battle of Hamline, Sept. 17. Mr. Becker responded feelingly, and the occasion, which was a celebration of the successful outcome of the under-taking, which involved considerable expense and risk, will long be remembered by the veterans present.

SOMEBODY WILL SWEAT, Dr. Knowles Wants Damages for a Slanderous Article.

An evening paper yesterday printed an overdrawn and would-be sensational story of the domestic troubles of Dr.Seth Knowles and wife, at 300 Ninth street southeast, in which it was stated the doctor had trid to shoot his wife, and had finally compelled her and the children to leave him and seek safety. A column was thus employed in the Evenstatement that the wife had returned and a truce had been patched up. A GLOBE reporter called upon Dr. Knowles last night, and was told the story was the purest fabrication, with an evidently malicious intent. Said he: Somebody will have a reparation to make for these outrageous lies. I propose to make it sultry both for the paper and for the person who furnished the information. I will give $100 for reliable information which will convict any pregnigarily responsible person of bavior. pecuniarily responsible person of having furnished this story. It is a lie, pure

"What was the foundation for it?" "There was none, in fact. An irresponsible reporter evidently ran across some person who wished to do me an injury and who poured this story into his credulous ears. What do I propose to do? All that the law will offer in the way of damages."

CHANGING THE INSPECTORS. What Grain Men Think---Chamber of Commerce Notes. The matter of changing the state wheat inspectors from one yard to another continues to be discussed a good deal on the floor. The move is generally condemned by the members, and here are a few opinions on the subject:

E. D. Bowen—These commissioners have systematically ignored the chamber of commerce, so there is really nothing for us to say. I have been on committees before these state fellows when the chamber was trying to keen. the chamber was trying to keep No. 1 hard wheat in its original purity, but the advice given by us was never lis-tened to, and the result is there is but little of the genuine No. 1 hard to be found. In this matter of changing the found. In this matter of changing the inspectors I have nothing to say, because I was not cognizant of the fact before.

Jim Cargill—I think it's a regular

Frank Holmes-I think, anyway, the Inspection is very irregular.

Capt. Osgood—This matter of changing the inspectors is all bosh, especially of a Monday morning with 800 cars on the track.
S. S. Linton—The inspection is not all what it might be, I know, but then, every one is liable to error, and I think some folks are rather hard on the in-around plan. It gets the men acquainted thoroughly with the several grades, and is just what is needed. Howard Commons—I think moving the inspectors around all nonsense.

Max Yerxa—A darned piece of foolish-

These opinions show that the large majority do not believe in the feasibility or usefulness of this plan of moving the The bulls seemed pretty jubilant yesterday morning, as speculative figures showed firm with a tendency to rise. Dispatches from Chicago were strongly bullish in tone.

C. Bernet, of the firm of Bernet & Craft, St. Louis, paid his first visit to Minneapolis yesterday. PRINTERS HAPPY.

The Scale Raised 5 Cents Per Minneapolis newspaper printers are happy, and all because the arbitration committee, selected some time ago to adjust the differences between the printers and the proprietors, have decided in their favor, as they claim. This committee consisted of County Auditor Condit, O. W. Miller, of the Tribune job office, and D. R. Getchell, of the typographical union, and, after having the matter under discussion for a long time, have come to the following conclusion: The printers give up the ad-tisements and cuts, which will now be set by men working on salary, and will receive 42 cents per 1,000 ems for ordinary matter. The afternoon scale will be 37 cents per 1,000. This rule will go into effect Nov. 1. The scale will go into effect Nov. 1. The scale now is 38 cents per 1,000 for morning papers and 33 cents for evening papers. Many of the printers are not quite pleased at the result of this arbitration and at the result of this arbitration and freely claim that the printers will not make anything by it. All the cuts and advertisements went out as bonuses before, and in the Sunday morning papers this was a big item. It is argued by these men that a printer, now having only "straight matter" to work on, can not make as big "bills" as he could before this rule went into effect. This remains to be seen, however. The proprietor of at least one morning paper announces himself as highly pleased at the result, and says he wanted to have the thing done some time ago.

PERMANENT PICTURES

A meeting of the Exposition directors was held yesterday morning at their rooms, 109 Nicollet avenue, when the matter of the pictures to be bought was finally decided upon. S. C. Gale presided and the remaining directors present were Messrs. Gilmore, Chute, Steele, Barton, Barber, McGolrick, Nelson, W. J. Dean, Pray, Bradstreet and C. M. Palmer. Bills amounting to $10,542.14 were read and approved. Mr. Merrill, chairman of the committee for purchase of pictures, reported the selection of the following pictures: "Quiet Morning in Oresund," C. F. Aagaard; "After the Hunt," Carl Ackermann; "Returning from Church," A. Wallander; "Working for the Dear Ones," E. W. Perry; "Waving Grain," Edward Gay; "Near Point Judith," A. T. Bricher; "Evening, New York Harbor," J. Lyman; "Fishing Boats," William Bradford; "The Local Reporter," T. W. Wood. On motion of Mr. Johnson the report was adopted, and the thanks of the board tendered to the committee for their efforts in behalf of the control of the cont sided and the remaining directors presboard tendered to the committee for their efforts in behalf of the art de-partment. On motion of Mr. Johnson the thanks of the board were tendered H. Jay Smith for the efficient and devoted services on behalf of the art galvoted services on behalf of the art gallery during the past year. On motion of Mr. Barber the painting, "The Local Reporter," was presented to the Minneapolis Press club, in recognition of the services of the members of the club on behalf of the Exposition. W. J. Dean was the only dissenting voice, on the plea that as a board of directors they owed nothing to the press, or its club, but admitting at the same time that the Exposition oved a good deal to the Exposition owed a good deal to the newspapers. On motion of Mr. Hahn the Spiridon collection was ordered sent to Kansas City by freight, the Exposito Kansas City by Ireight, the Exposi-tion paying expenses and insurance. On motion of Mr. Johnson, a vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Spiridon on account of his efforts in behalf of the art department. On motion of William Steele, a committee of three was appointed by the chair to recommend the name of a candidate for general manager for the ensuing year with account of salary, etc., etc. The chair appointed Messrs. Steele, Chute and Gilmore as such committee. C. M. Palmer acted as secretary pro tem. and the meeting was then adjourned.

A CONUNDRUM.

Tribune?

Who is the Editor of the "Thoroughly Alive and Aggressive"

Considerable curiosity has prevailed, especially in newspaper circles, concerning the probable outcome of the internecine fight between the powers that be of the Tribune. William Edwin Haskell announced that his pa had come on from Boston to act as an "arbitrator" or a referee, and the decision bitrator" or a referee, and the decision of the pater familias is still awaited by an anxious public. Mr. Blethen went to Detroit Monday to attend the meeting of the Associated Press. William Edwin Haskell, the responsible editorin-chief, was asked yesterday afternoon if there was anything new about the situation and year, pointedly replied by bether if there was anything new about the situation, and very pointedly replied: "Nothing that we care to announce." There have been rumor s to the effect that the Haskells intend to assert themselves as virtual owners of the paper, and that while Mr. Blethen will be allowed to have full sway in the counting room, his connection with the editorial department will be only through the speaking tube, and will be limited to simple inquiries as to "space" at such times as the question as to the size of the paper may arise. The members of the staff of the paper are on the qui vive as to the outcome, and seem to think that if William Edwin is to have full charge there will be a general of the Tribune?" was put to a number of the talented journalists employed on the paper last evening, but the answer was invariably a non-committal "dunno," or a iguarded "give it up." From these confessions it is to be inferred that the Tribune is without a head and is floundering about like a rudderless ship, while Nicolay Grevstad's dessertations and editorials upon foreign missions furnish the food for reflection which is doled out to its readers. It is quite evident at all events renection which is doled out to its read-ers. It is quite evident at all events that the Tribune does not intend to apologize for its insult to Mrs. Cleve-land, but will endeavor to face the pub-lic worshit has aroused lic wrath it has aroused.

IN WHOSE NAME? Dr. Eells Corrects a Possible Misapprehension.

To the Editor of the Globe. Please allow me to correct a misapprehension which my friends among the workingmen may get from the report of my talk before the orthodox ministers Monday morning on the "Relation of Christianity to the Labor Movement." I did not say that the labor movement was being carried in the name of both God and the devil. I simply quoted Carlyle's toast, "The cause of the poor in God's name and the devil's," and remarked that some wouldbe advocates of that cause seemed to echo the latter part of the toast. I did not say "that workingmen have great sympathy with the Chicago bomb throwers," but that many of them considered the condemned anarchists unjustly sentenced as not having been justly sentenced, as not having been convicted of actual bomb throwing.

Hundreds of the depositors sold their interests as low as 8 and 10 per cent. on the dollar, and the fact that there is to be a dividend with more to follow is grateful news. There is now in the vaults of the sub-treasury to the credit of the bank, $1,300,000. Of this sum $600,000 will be divided among those of the depositors who have proved up their claims. The balance will be used in paying claims that will be proved later. There are a number of claims however, which Receiver Armstrong will contest in court. Two of the principal claims that will be contested amount to $1,400,000. Of this amount $700,000 is held in Chicago and the balance in New York. The reason that Receiver Armstrong will contest these claims is that he holds them to be personal debts of the bank. ment that the Fidelity bank would de-

H. A. Rogers, C. F. Dinsmore, B. M. Sheldon, J. C. Hening and E. G. Newlander leave to-day as delegates to attend the convention of the Y. M. C. A., which convenes at Faribault Thursday. John O'Brien, an old army veteran who has been petitioning Uncle Sam for years for a pension, received the welcome news yesterday that arrears to the amount of $520 had been granted him, and a regular monthly pension of $4.

I List evening, at B. & L. hall, there assembled a large number of the leading young men of the city, to prepare for the coming winter's amusement, and the result was the formation of a gentlemen's club, to be known as the "Owl club," its object being to give a series of dances during the winter months. After an organization was perfected, Joseph Clayburg was made president; F. A. Gadsby, "secretary, and Frank L. Grace, treasurer. The club starts out with about thirty members and promises to do much in the social line. The first dance of the series will be given at the Opera house hall, Friday evening next.

CONGRESSMAN KELLEY.

He is Getting Out a Book and Talking Politics. NEW YORK, Oct. 25 .- A morning paper says: Congressman William D. Kelley, of Pennsylvania, is in the city revising the last proofs of his forthcoming book on the industries of the South. A reporter found him last night and asked him what the Republicans proposed to do in defense of the tariff when congress reconvened. He said, among other things:

congress reconvened. He said, among other things:

It rests with the majority in the house to take the initiative in this matter. The president, in view of his duty to offer such suggestions as he may have to congress, will be the method by which such action by the Fiftieth congress will be invited. To prepare himself, Mr. Cleveland has had a series of conferences with such of the leaders of his party as he cared to talk with. It is said that the result of these conferences will not only be the embodiment of suggestions in the president's message to congress, but the submission of a detailed scheme of revenue revision. The popular impression appears to be that that wing of the Democratic party that is called protectionist has not been invited to tdese conferences at Oak View, and that it will not be prepared to indorse the conclusions which President Cleveland has accepted. How this may be I do not know. I have heard from many sources that though Mr. Carlisle would not permit the question of the repeal of the tobacco taxes to be submitted to the last session, he and his friends have decided since then not only to permit it to be submitted, but to favor the repeal. I am told, however, that they will not consetn to the abolition of any other revenue tax. If the repeal of the tobacco tax shall be submitted as a separate proposition the Republicans will undoubtedly accept it, for that receipts down about $28,000,000 in one year. If, however, the proposition be connected with one to reduce customs duties, in the hope of thereby curtailing the amount of current revenue, the measure will be resisted by the Republicans. The Republican attitude on the question might be thus summed up to its free trade opponents: The object to be obtained is a reduction of revenue, and this is the only means of averting a commercial and financial crisis which may be as much greater in its tornado-like effects than those of 1837 and 1857 as is the magnitude of the manufacturing, financial and other interests of the country greater. Yet yo
