The Board of Trade Wanted by Business Men.

At the meeting of the board of trade vesterday morning it was decided to retain membership in the national association for another year, and Gen. W. D. Washburn and Charles M. Palmer delegates to the next annual meeting. The committee on finances made a pleasing report as to the progress in raising funds and securing new members. It was also stated that business men generally were in favor of having the board continue. A. M. Clerihaving the boattl coatrace. A. M. Cleri-hew, of the committee appointed to find out why the name Minneapolis was left out of the Chicago, St. Faul & Kansas City Railway company, stated that Mr. Stickney, the president, had made a satisfactory explanation as to why it was not done. Mr. Clerihew further tested that Mr. Stickney had waveled was not done. Mr. Clerihew further stated that Mr. Stickney had promised to do certain things that would greatly aid Minneapolis. The board decided to ft resolutions similar to those opted by the Minneapolis Jobbers' avenue, were formally opened last evening, when the club held a largely attended business meeting. The rooms, five in number, are on the second floor of the building, and are by far the most artistically arranged of any club room in the city. The main assembly hall is on the left, facing the street, and is carpeted with rugs. Here are writing desks and the files of all the daily papers. The reading room and library adjoins the assembly room at the front of the building, and is as cosy a room as can be found anywhere. From the windows heavy damask curtains fall in graceful folds, and in the southeast corner is a large bay window, dow, around the bottom of which extends a low silk-covered settee. The center table is a handsome piece of workmanship, being composed entirely of inlaid wood. it an air of splendor at once pleasing and comfortable. The coat rooms open off the billiard room. The rooms are furnished in whitewood, oiled. The club will soon give a banquet. William Welch filed two bills of specifications in the Vilas-Welch libel cases yesterday. In the matter concerning the wrecking of the Madison Mutual Insurance company Mr. Welch will attempt to prove that a bill was introduced in the Wisconsin legislature in the handwriting of Mr. Vilas, the in the handwriting of Mr. Vilas, the object of which was to wind up the affairs of the Madison Mutual Insurance company and divide the assets among the subscribers to the guaranty fund; that this bill was referred to Buell E. Hutchinson as the sole committee to report it back to the legislature; that he reported favorably upon it, but the bill was never passed and that at the time it was common talk about the legislature that the scheme was nothing more or less than robbery. Notwithstanding ture that the scheme was nothing more or less than robbery. Notwithstanding the fact that the bill never passed the legislature the subscribers to the guaranty fund did divide the assets of the company among them and discontinued business. The article which was published in the Home Diary of Dec. 4, 1886, was as follows:

"Because the said Vilas in the years 1880 and 1881, concorted a scheme by 1880 and 1881, concorted a scheme by 1880 and 1881, concorted a scheme by 1880 and 1881.

"Because the said Vilas in the years 1880 and 1881, concocted a scheme by which an assessment of $15,000 was voted to be levied upon the taxable property of Madison, nominally to aid the Chicago & Northwestern railway to carry on the "Montford extension" so called, the bonds of the company to be given to the city in an equal sum; that the said Vilas, in violation of law and in disregard of the purpose of transferring them and they go into his accounts. The amounts, taking the Journal's figures, are as folsonally drew the $7,500 from the city treasury and, presumably, put it in his personal pocket, neither he or the company giving anything in return."

Mr. Welch says he can prove the truth of these assertions by the proceedings of the Madison city council and by personal letters which were written at the time about this matter. Three of the four thieves who stole three overcoats and a lady's cloak Tuesday night of last week from the Freeborn Baptist church have been arrested. Sunday night Detectives Kinney and Havard arrested a young man named Billy Garrity, who owned up to his complicity in the job. John Brise, alias "Slob," who had some connection with the affair, was also "vagged" for sixty days in the municipal court. Yesterday Inspector Lawrence went to St. Paul to arrest two other nembers of the gang. Jack Murray and Joe Denny. He met them on Seventh street near Jackson street, just as they were comping out of a pawnshop. He caught hold of them both, when they made a lively resistance. Denny struck the inspector on the jaw, and, breaking away, managed to escape. Lawrence held on to Murray and brought him to Minneapolis. Both Garrity and Murray are very mum and refuse to talk to reporters, but the inspectors claim they pawned the coats to De Young the night of the theft, and that no report was made to police headquarters until Thursday afternoon.

ors and a costly police commission: but in the face of this the reform adminispectors claim they pawned the coats to be Young the night of the theft, and that no report was made to police head-quarters until Thursday afternoon. Further than that they claim De Young turned in a wrong description of the men from whom he received the coats. The police think this gang has been guilty of some of the numerous overcoat and showcase robberies that have occurred of late. Quite a quantity of solen goods were recovered at their room, at the rear of the St. Charles hotel.

speeches were made by the members of the society during the evening. The annual election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President, Max Hirschfeldt; vice president, Dr. F. A. Huxmann; treasurer, Otto Nagle; corresponding secretary, Frank Wauchs; financial secretary, Charles Frenk; ordinary, John P. Noel; board of directors, Louis Cussler, George Huhn, Peter Rauen and John Joseph. Prof. Stempf was reappointed musical director.

AMUSEMENT NOTES.

A large house greeted Newton Beers in "Lost in London" last night at the Grand opera. "Lost in London" is a powerful melodrama and deals on the perfidy of an erring wife, Nellie Armroyd, and the trials and woes of her faithful and loving husband, John Armroyd, to find her.

The scenie effects are good and the ballet especially clever. While the ballet is not large it is the best that has been seen here for some time. All the dancers are young and graceful, and the dancing is active and in consonance with popular taste. The Parpipe singers, Johnny Williams in his specialties, and Jennie Satterlee are all deserving of especial notice. "Lost in London" will be presented to-night, Wednesday and Weduesday matinee only.

The advance sale for the National Opera comany still continues large. "Nero" will be produced Thursday night. Friday "Faust." with all the original Baechanal ballet music, will be the bill. The scenic effects in "Faust" are said to be marvelous. Saturday Richard Wagner's "Lohengrin" will be the bill. and at the matinee Goldmark's spectacular opera, "Queen of Sheba," will be presented.

The advance sale for the Bostonians opens Friday at 9a. m. in the manager's office of the Grand. The company includes Marie Stone, Agnes Huntington, Camille Muori, Juliet Corden. Mena Cleary, Tom Karl, George Frothingham, H. C. Barnabee, W. H. MeDonald and others. The repertoire is as follows:

cent mill fire in Carlton, Mich. The building was burning fiercely but the big engine which drove the machinery continued to run all through the blaze. The pumps were also running, and kept the boiler supplied, so that there could be no explosion. It was a peculiar spectacle, says an eye witness, to see the engine driving away at a slashing speed in the midst of the flames, but the motion somehow saved it from fire. All else was a total loss. WHO'S TO BE BLAMED?

Has There Been Extravagance in the Administration of the City's Affairs?

If So, the Preceding Council, Which Made the Orders, Must Be Blamed.

An Exposition of the City's

Figures have been submitted by City Comptroller Holbrook, showing the total expenditures for the year ending Dec. 1, 1887, of all the branches of the city government to have been $4,467,-619.55, an apparent increase over last year of something like $2,000,000. These figures and this increase have been handled by the Evening Journal, and an effort has been made to saddle the extravagance upon the present city administration, and bring upon it the maledictions of the long-suffering taxpayer. There has been no effort to prove this; it is mere assertion, and, without the warrant of fact, the paper goes on to inveigh against the extravagance of the council.

In the first place, there is to come out of the total of expenditures the sum of $956,772.34, which were not expenditures, but simply transfers from one to another fund on department, but which appear in the total because the comptroller's warrants were drawn for the purpose of transferring them and they equal sum; that the said Vilas, in violation of law and in disregard of the rights of the taxpayers, colluded with certain of the city officers whereby the tax was levied only in the sum of $7,500, the city in that way making that sum a gratuity, and releasing all claim for the bonds which then ruled on the market at or above par: that the said Vilas personally drew the $7,500 from the city treasury and, presumably, put it in his error! It is well known to all that all of the expenditures on account of the permanent improvement and general funds to be made in any year are ordered the year before and the necessary appropriation made. If an issue of bonds is necessary, the authority must be obtained from the legislature and the issue made by the A Gang of Overcoat and Show Three of the four thieves who stole
