Winona Democrats Come Out Ahead, Ludwig Being Elected Mayor.

A Curious State of Affairs at Fargo--Who Is Declared Mayor?

pecial to the Globe. WINONA, Minn., April 2.-The election to-day passed off quietly, the Democrats electing the entire city ticket by an average majority of about 400. John Ludwig, for mayor, has 479 majority over Capt. Vansant. M. H. Sharesy has 453 majority over J. H. Nagler for assessor, and Louis Sikorki for treasurer, 350 over Wilson C. Brown. The Fourth ward was the only thing that saved the ticket. The Republican candidates went out of the first three wards with nearly 150 majority, but the Fourth ward came to the front with its old-time majority, and sent the Democratic ticket through a flying. There were 2,343 votes cast for mayor, Ludwig receiving 1,461 and Capt. Vansant 982. There were some ballots thrown in the Fourth ward which Mayor Ludwig says will be included in the final count, making his total majority nnal count, making his total majority 513. The returns in the ward offices come in slowly, as there was a good deal of scratching. In the First ward Walter A. Hodkins (Dem.) is elected alderman over H. W. Johnson by 35 majority. In the Second ward D. E. Vance votes. Herman, Roth. (Rep.) in the (Rep.) defeats Henry J. Herman by 34 votes. Herman Borth (Rep.), in the Third ward, defeats John Boll by 90 majority. In the Fourth ward Andrew Hill (Dem.) defeats A. Libera (Ind.) by 40 votes This is a Republican gain of one alderman. They lost two school directors. R. M. Whitney, Democrat, is elected school Whitney, Democrat, is elected school director in the First ward by 24 majority over John L. Harris. In the Second ward C. C. Clements, Republican, had no opposition. In the Third ward Arthur Beyerstadt, Democrat, is probably elected over Charles Horton. In the Fourth ward, Alex Milanowski, Democrat, has 350 majority over August Riech. The proposition to improve the water works by expending $25,000 was carried by a big majority. Mayor-Elect Ludwig was serenaded at a late hour by the Polish band. He made a brief speech. Mr. Ludwig said there was a determined opposition, but to tell the Globe he got there just the same.

St. CLOUD, Minn., April 2.—The election held here to-day resulted in a Republican victory. The Democrats fought valiantly in the morning for the mayoralty, but towards noon it became evident that they could not win and gave up the day. Following is the ticket elected: William Westerman, mayor; Charles Dueber, treasurer; H. G. Wire, L. A. Evans, justices; aldermen, first ward, William Powell; second, John Coates; third, B. Rheinhardt; fourth. John Wimmer.

LITCHFIELD, Minn., April 2.—Considerable excitement was caused to-day by the annual city election. The fight was three-cornered — Republican, Citizens and Prohibitionists. The Citizens' ticket was elected in nearly every instance. The prohibitionists cast 90 straight votes. Three more Prohibition votes in the Second ward and one in the Third ward would have made a tie in the council, and made the town dry. Following are the successful candidates: Mayor, J. Esbjornson; recorder, J. L. Wakefield; city attorney, E. P. Peterson; treasurer, Theodore Ehlers; constable, H. M. Angier; alderman, First ward, Charles A. Greenleaf; Second Ward, Andrew Nelson; Third ward, a tie between J. W. Charel Parklittonist's and Citizens' son; Third ward, a tie between J. W. Johnson, Prohibitionists' and Citizens', and E. B. Benson, the Republican nominee. A new election for teis ward will be ordered. Four hundred and twenty

AT FARGO.
FARGO, Dak., Abril 2.—The election for mayor and aldermen under the new charter as interpreted has at last been held, and it is many moons since Fargo heid, and it is many moons since rargo has been so completely worked up over its election of city officers. Bonfires are blazing on all the principal thorough fares and torchlight processions with brass band leaders parading the streets brass band leaders parading the streets with flying banners, proclaiming to the opposition unbounded enthusiasm at the election of Seth Newman. The Bolters' candidate for mayor, who is said to be an advocate of high license, but what difference these views would make in the administration of the prohibition law was not stated before the election. The halonce of the tidet is election. The balance of the ticket is straight Republican. The opposition claim enough false counts made for mayor to more than offset the small majority of twenty claimed. A rumor is also current that MayorEdwards rumor is also current that MayorEdwards has power, if he feels inclined to assert it, of holding the winning hand over either candidate, by insisting on the completion of his two-year term, claiming the new charter under which the present officers are elected does not mention that of mayor, and provides for a two-year term instead of one, as the old charter. As Mayor Edwards could not be seen the rumor could not be confirmed. Another one is that the election was not legally called, a quorum of the council not being present at the time. How the matter may terminate cannot, at the present time, be stated, but that there is liable to be considerable of a rumpus no one seems to doubt. One feature of the election to-day was the resignation of the entire police the resignation of the entire police force who handed over their revolvers, billies and other paraphernalia as soon as the result was decided, and the city to-night is without police protection save for the chief, who at a late hour had not found the proper officer to receive his implements of warfare.

Capt, Grigg, all the rest Democrats, and the ticket was elected by majorities ranging from 100 to 169, there being no opposition to M. L. Gorden for city treasurer. Capt. Griggs' majority is 166. The vote was over 1,000, the highest ever cast. A high license board of aldermen was elected. All the liquor interest supported the Griggs ticket. The Republicans are all broken up over the result, and threaten to carry the fight into the country next fall. Capt. Grigg, all the rest Democrats, and the fight into the country next fall.

A Ticket Nominated.

PRAIRIE DU CHIEN, April 2.-The Republicans nominated the following city ticket this morning: Mayor, Charles Greele; treasurer, P. Uher; clerk, H. Kuckenbecker; assessor, George Oswald; marshal, C. Lindner. They have indorsed two of the Democrat nominees, viz, mayor and marshal.

Carried by the Fusionists.

Beloit, Wis., April 2.—This city has never before known such excitement over elections as is at present felt. The Prohibitionists started the contest by placing Prof. J. J. Blaisdell, of the college, in the field for mayor. Prof. Blaisdell had previously committed himself to the law and order movement for W. H. Wheeler and consequently with H. Wheeler, and consequently withdrew. Prof. E. G. Smith, the present mayor, has been renominated on the straight Republican ticket. It is conceded that the election to-morrow will be exceedingly close, and an immense amount of scratching on minor nominations will be included in tions will be indulged in.

Will Take a Rest.

CHICAGO, April 2.—A dispatch from St. Louis says: Owing to the political excitement in this state over the approaching national Democratic convention, the Prohibition leaders have decided to take a rest and no more elections will be held for two months. Thirteen of the twenty towns voting went "dry," seven "wet." Of the thirteen "dry," seven are Republican and six Democratic. Of the seven "wet" towns, five are Democratic and two Repub-lican.

Democratic Gains.

EVANSVILLE, Ind., April 2.-In the municipal election in this city to-day the Democrats carried four wards for aldermen and the Republi-cans two. This is a Democratic gain in four wards, the Republicans having carried every ward in the city in the election of 1887. The entire Demo-cratic township ticket is also elected.

A Republican Victory. CINCINNATI, O., April 2.—The munic-

pal elections here to-day were unprecedently quiet. It was a beautiful spring day, and yet the vote cast was only about $8,000. The Republican city candidates were elected by an average majority of 5,000 each. A GLORIOUS OUTLOOK

For the Most Magnificent Park System in the Entire Country

If the Twin Cities Will Join Hands in Pushing It to Perfection.

Earnest Conviction That a Continuous Street System Is Necessary.

Prof. Cleveland's Interesting Appeal for Greater Æsthetic Development.

H. W. S. Cieveland, the landscape gardener, and designer of the park systems of Minneapolis and St. Paul, delivered a lecture last evening at Dyer's hall, by invitation of the Minneapolis Society of Fine Arts. His subject was announced as "The Esthetic Improvement of Minneapolis," but his remarks were equally applicable to St. Paul, and in fact were based upon the supposition which in his own mind amounted to earnest conviction, that the two cities must of necessity become one continuous system of streets and avenues. He said he was aware that such a consummation appeared so distant, especially to the young, that they cannot realize the fact that it can be reached, except at a period too remote to be of interest to any now upon the stage of active life. In order to aid them to attain such conviction as had been the natural outgrowth of experience in his own mind, he gave an interesting resume of his reminiscences of

THE GROWTH OF CITIES which he had himself witnessed both in the East and West. His memory carries him back to the time-sixty years ago-when cows were pastured on Boston common, and subsequently when the question of substituting an iron fence for the wooden rails which enclosed it was a subject of controversy and was denounced by its opponents as a needless piece of extravagance. He referred to the building of the Astor house in New York, and the opinion openly expressed by the wise ones of that day that old John Jacob must be in his dotage to suppose that such a hotel could be supported "so far up town." The fashionable residence quarter was then in the neighborhood of Bowling

Mr. Cleveland's first visit to the West was in 1835. He came from Philadelphia by rail to Harrisburg, which was then the farthest western point reached by railroad. From there to Pittsburg the journey was by canal, and thence by steamboat to St. Louis. It was not till his second visit to Illinois in 1837 that he first heard of a "right smart town up ne first heard of a "right smart town up in the north part of the state on Lake Michigan, called Chicago." The sites of the present cities of St. Paul and Minneapolis, each containing now a larger population than Boston had at that time, could not have been reached in safety by a white man without an armed escort.

GRAND FORKS.

Special Letter to the Globe.

GRAND FORKS, Dak., April 2.—The city election was the hottest ever held. The Republicans organized a distinctive club recently, called a regular convention, nominated James Bosard, one of the foremost Republican lawyers in North Dakota, sounded the party cry and drew the lines. The young men nominated a people's ticket, headed by Capt, Grigg, all the rest Democrats, and Now here I am, a living witnes of all this wonderful growth—an old man it is true—but still working as in-dustriously and with as hearty an interest as I have ever done in my life, and with all these memories crowding upon me I am told by an intelligent man that I must have a powerful imagination if I can conceive the fact that the intervening space BETWEEN THESE TWO CITIES

can ever become a continuous system of streets and thoroughfares. Indeed, it requires no effort of imagination, but simply the application of the rules of cause and effect, which I have been ob-serving for sixty years, till the deduc-tion of one from the other is as natural and involuntary as the act of breath. and involuntary as the act of breath-

Assuming this as a matter beyond question, the lecturer proceeded to urge the necessity of early attention to pro-vision for wants and necessities which will certainly arise and can by no possi-bility be satisfied if we fail to secure what is now easily available. It is dif-ficult to condense his statement of these necessities and the means by which they should be provided for without diminishing the force of the ar-gument. The importance of estab-lishing broad avenues or boulevards between the two cities, not only for the aurnose of conferring a character of purpose of conferring a character of dignity and beauty which could not otherwise be attained, but as affording the only reliable safeguard against the spread of great conflagarations, was urged as a matter of immediate impor-tance, in order that all suburban additions may be forced to conform to them. If we wait till the land has been laid out in lots and recorded; it will be

TOO LATE TO CREATE THE BOULEVARDS.

The lecture was illustrated by a skeleton map showing the relative positions of the present cities, the lines of railroads and the principal connecting avenues and also the course of the river and position of the lakes. By means of this Mr. Cleveland showed that the direct course between the centers of business of the two was inter-sected by railroads and must of necessity be largely occupied by elevators, manufactories, stock yards, etc., which must be located near a railroad.

necessity be largely occupied by elevators, manufactories, stock yards, etc., which must be located near a railroad. This, therefore, was no place for a large park; but at Minnehaha, on both sides of the Mississippi, an area could be secured aside from the lines of business traffic, equidistant from the business centers, and easily accessible from the best residence portions of each city, and comprising such natural features of grandeur, picturesqueness and beauty as no other city could rival.

Mr. Cleveland then went on to urge as the all-important subject for immediate action the securing of sufficient area on both sides of the river for a great park, common to both cities, and also the preservation of the river banks above in their natural grandeur. The only way this can be done is by laying out a fine avenue along the top of the bank, and keeping the whole space between the avenue and the river, as public ornamental ground, to be preserved in its natural wildness developed and interpreted by the hand of art. If this is done the avenue for its whole extent will in time be occupied by magnificent public and private buildings, and the whole adjacent region will become a favorite residence quarter of such value as will add very largely to the revenue of the city from taxes. On the other hand, if we fail to secure the bank and suffer it to be stripped of its wood, and scarred and seamed with quarries, all the wealth of the future city will be insufficient to restore what nature now offers us, and with the destruction of this feature or grandeur, the whole adjacent territory will deteriorate in value, and will be occupied only by those who seek a cheap and obscure quarter.

Minneapolis has as yet made but slight demonstration in recognition of small parks and fine lake shore drives are, with the single exception of River-side park, at the other extremity of her side park, at the other extremity of her limits. She has given fifty acres for the soldiers' home at the mouth of the Minnehaha, but the whole of the wonderfully picturesque region from the falls to the mouth is yet in private hands, and no effort has been made towards securing the river bank above or connecting the region about the falls with the lake shore drives by a boulevard up the Minnehaha to Lake Harriet.

St. Paul has given much stronger gri-the Minnehaha to Lake Harriet.

St. Paul has given much stronger quidence of appreciation of the importance of locating her improvements within the territory which must eventually be occupied by the great city. She is arranging a beautiful park on Lake Como nearly ten times as large as any one of the parks of Minneapolis, and, in fact, comprising a larger area than all the parks of Minneapolis put together. She is making a boulevard 200 feet wide of Summit avenue clear to the river, while is making a boulevard 200 feet wide of Summit avenue clear to the river, while it is to be feared that Minneapolis has forever lost the opportunity of continuing it on the same line to Lake Calhoun, which would have made such a superb avenue as could nowhere else be rivaled. She has secured fifty acres, comprising the most picturesque portion of the area opposite the mouth of the Minnehaha, and the survey has been completed, and it is believed the land will be secured for an avenue on the river bank all the way from Fort Snelling bridge to Marshall avenue, thus insuring the preservation of its grand and picturesque features. It will be the favorite drive of the citizens of St. Paul, but it will be shorn of half its attractions if Minneapolis fails to make make a similar improvement on her side of the river the St. Paul man attractions if Minneapolis fails to make a similar improvement on her side of the river. The St. Paul man will take his visitors out by Summit boulevard to the river, and then down the superb drive on its bank, and while enjoying their admiration of the picturesque scenes which have been preserved in their pristine grandeur will point to the

in these words:

"The decision must soon be made and it will be irrevocable. I am but a newcomer-almost a stranger here—but having been employed professionally by both cities to suggest and arrange the tasteful development of their park systems, I have faithfully and carefully studied the topography of the whole intervening region, and after thirty-four years of professional practice extendyears of professional practice, extending from Nova Scotia to Colorado, and from Dakota to Florida, I can say in all sincerity that I have never known an instance in which the future growth of a great city could be more safely predicated from all the circumstances on which such growth must depend; and cated from all the circumstances on which such growth must depend; and secondly, that I have never seen a site so favored by nature for the creation of so favored by nature for the creation of a magnificent city if we choose to avail ourselves of the opportunities she offers us. The city will certainly be here, and I doubt not will be magnificent in its display of wealth and evidence of enterprise. OLD TIME FAVORITES.

The St. Paul Red Caps Reorganizing for the Base Ball Season.

With New Material They Will Try for the Amateur Championship.

The Athletic Park Enthusiasts Come to Time With the First Cash Payment.

Fine Games of Ball Are Being Played These Early Spring Days.

Many lovers of amateur sport will be pleased to learn that a move is on foot for a reorganization of the old Red Caps, St. Paul's favorite amateur ball club, which closed such a successful season in 1886. Last year the club was disbanded for the reason that no one could be selected to manage and arrange games for it, Paul Martin, who the previous year, built Red Cap park and took such an interest financially in the club, having to resign as manager from pressure of other business. This year, however, a new management has offered to take charge of the boys, and the outlook for a successful season is very encouraging. The old players now in the city have offered their services, and the places of those absent will be filled by even better players. At a recent meeting of the club plans were talked over and a schedule partially arranged for the season, which will be completed at the next meeting, the latter part of son, which will be completed at the next meeting, the latter part of the week. It is proposed to visit towns not accessible to the league teams throughout Minnesota, Wisconsin, lowa and probably Dakota, and, as a great many of the larger towns located in these states possess good ball teams and are very enthusiastic, there is no reason in sight why the club should not make more than expenses, if properly handled. The only obstruction at present is the rate on railroads, and it looks as if that might be arranged satisfactorily. The club has many warm friends and supporters in St. Paul who will still do all in their power to keep it a champion organization. A great many who witnessed the closing game of the season of '86 between the Red Caps and league team will never forget the drubbing they gave St. Paul's professionals. Of course St. Paul has improved its team wonderfully since then, but the Red Caps also have secured some new and stronger men, and it is determined that the league team will not have to go to other cities for clubs to play exhibition games.

Paddy Egau, the club's main support in 1886, has acknowledged his willingness to try and keep up his old reputation, and says he is in better shape than ever. In his last game with the Stillwater club he struck out twenty-three men, and his average was about thirteen strike-outs for each was about thirteen strike-outs for each

Al Sibley, who did great ball playing with the nine of '86, has always shown a disposition to help the amateurs out, and will play with the club as often as possible. Sibley will probably captain the team. L. C. Wahl, the left-fielder who made so many brilliant plays, and never made an error, has also volunteered his serv-ices. Wahl also did some excellent bat-ting, and, with Sibley, led the club in pounding the sphere.

W. After with any play with the W. After will probably play with the club, and his fine short stop work in 1886 will not be forgotten by those who watched him play.

Besides the above players, the club has been strengthened by other amateurs who distinguished themselved last season, among whom are Mannix, short stop; Keefe, third base; and Sherin, first base, of the Reserve team. With these additions the club will, it is thought, be stronger than it was in 1886, and there is no reason why it should not preserve the amateur championship. The uniform will be of a grayish-brown, red caps and stockings. Accommodations will be secured for the club in the athletic park, and headquarters will be fixed up in good style.

Memphis 7. THIS LOOKS LIKE BUSINESS. The Athletic Association Makes the First Payment on the New

Matters assumed a definite shape yesterday in connection with the new $1,000 being made on the real estate. When the owner of the land made his proposition to sell the association was given until the 2d of April to make a payment to bind the bargain, and the remainder of the $7,000 which was to constitute the first payment will be due the 2d of next month. Owing to a delay in preparing the plans and specifications for the construction of the grand cations for the construction of the grand stand and necessary out buildings at the grounds the bids for erecting them will not be opened until to-day, when the contract will be awarded to the lowest responsible bidder. Up to date about two thousand cart loads of dirt have been deposited at the new park in connection with the grading and filling of the same, and by the close of the present week this part of the preliminary work will be finished.

Athletic Park enterprise, a payment of

Cricket Club Election.

There was a large attendance of enthusiastic cricketers at the annual meeting of the St. Paul Cricket club held last night at the Windsor hotel. Most of the evening was occupied with the election of officers, which resulted as follows: President, Dr. A. MacDonald; vice president, A. E. Knight; secretary, D. Crowther; treasurer, Alex Lawson; captain, W. K. Esdon, vice Capt. G. C. Saules

It was decided to fix the membership fee at $5. Arrangements will be made to play the Minneapolis team at the Athletic park, West St. Paul, on Decoration day. Cricketers desirous of joining the club are requested to send in their names to the secretary.

Spoiling for a Fight.

ASHLAND, Wis., April 2.- Danny Needham, the St. Paul lightweight, who is here training with Mike Conley, said is here training with Mike Comey, said to-day that if the Myers-McAuliffe match fell through he would be glad to arrange a fight with the latter. He is open for almost any kind of an engagement, but would most prefer an opportunity to put a head on the fellow who is traveling on his name in Indiana.

Was No Test.

Special to the Globe NEW YORK, April 2.—Dominick Me Caffrey arrived last night on the steamer Trave, from England. He says his backer has made a proposition to Sul-livan and he may meet the big fellow when he returns. He thinks Sullivan is good as ever at Queensberry style of fighting, and says the Mitchell affair was no test.

Will Stay in England.

NEW YORK, April 2.- Jake Kilrain, in a letter to a friend here, says he is doing so well in England he has decided to stay until June. Sullivan, he says, surprised every one in his fight and showed that he is not a good knucklefighter, while his slowness in comprehending the London prize ring rules was the subject of much remark. Von Der Ahe's Scheme. St. Louis, April 2.-W. H. Watkins, manager of the Detroits, wired Chris Von der Ahe to-day from New Orleans Von der Ahe to-day from New Orieans that the series of games with St. Louis, to-begin in that city to-day, would be simply for exhibition. On any other terms he would not allow his team to play. Ven der Ahe replied for him to go on with the games. To a reporter he said, however, that if the St. Louis Browns won the series he should claim the championship and bill the team as champions of America.

Sports. Limited.

A number of juveniles living on St. Anthony hill, and whose ages range from nine to fourteen, have organized a base ball club, and are ready to meet any similar organization at any time. The new club is composed of the following: J. Campbell, p and captain; E. Clements, ss; A. Lendeke, M; A. McKee, 3b; T. Vinton, 1b; F. Appleton, 2b; J. Phillips, cf; G. Acker, rf; D. Abbey, c. The new uniforms of the Minneapolis team arrived yesterday and are regarded as quite pretty. They are brown, with red hose and belts and striped red and black caps. The word Minneapolis is across the breast in red letters.

Spaiding's ball guide for the current year has been sent the Globe by F. A. Leland, his Minneapolis agent. It is the best work he has yet issued. Parsons and King, one of the Minneapolis batteries, began practice at Washington rink yesterday.

Interred at Morris,

Morris, Minn., April 2.-The remains of Lester R. Jordan, who died recently at Wichita, Kan., were interred at this place yesterday. Deceased was a son of J. J. Jordan, of the Fargo Republican, and nephew of Mrs. J. D. Good, of this place. The funeral of Charles Atwood, a pioneer of Stearns county, who died last Saturday, will take place in this village this afternoon.

His Leg Crushed.

WINONA, April 2.-Fred Black, an employe at the Winona & St. Peter railway shops, tried to board an engine while in motion Sunday morning and fell on the track. His right leg was crushed above the ankle so that amputation was necessary.
