WHY KEEP UP THE FARCE? Freeman P. Lane seems to have struck a popular chord in purposing to present a bill reducing the number of aldermen to one from each ward and four at large. The ward representation was increased to thirty-nine for the purpose of creating a Republican majority when the city was gerrymandered. Now that the Republicans have cuptured the city government for at least four years to come, there is no need of continuing the unnecessary expense. Mr. Lane's proposed bill for the abolition of the police commission should receive as hearty a support. The police commission has served its purpose, that of robbing a Democratic mayor of his power. The mayor is a Republican now. What is the use of keeping up the farce any

Remember, too, those ante-election promises of economy. If the salaries of city officials are to remain as they are, with the exception of those that are raised, how can there be economy unless by curtailing expenses by abolishing figureheads, as Mr. Lane suggests?

A GREAT OPPORTUNITY. There is an opportunity to make the Minneapolis exposition this year a great success. The Thirteenth regiment of New York, with Gov. Hill and staff, intend in the fall to take a Western trip, and it is likely would accept an invitation to visit Minneapolis and be present at the opening of the great industrial show of the Northwest. Rev. De Witt Talmage is chaplain of the regiment, and would also be along, and could probably be prevailed upon to deliver the address. The scheme is a splendid one, which, if carried out, will be a great advertisement for Minneapolis, and will give the exposition the necessary impetus to make its fourth year the most successful in its history. It will probably cost something like $20,000 to entertain the distinguished guests with eclat, but Minneapolis has never counted expense when the ques tion of hospitality has arisen.

REDUCE THE COUNCIL.

Ex-Ald. Bob Ervin-Yes, 1 think we have got too many aldermen, and ought to have the number very largely reduced. I don't think the salary part of the scheme is good, though. The salary is none too large now, and if thirteen men are to do the work that thirty-nine do now and attend to it faithfully they certainly ought not to be asked to do it for less money. A board of public works should be created to act in conjunction with so small a council. Ald. Tom Downs-The measure is just what I have advocated for a long time, except that I don't see that aidermen at large are any good at all. They are responsible to no one, and are worse than useless. If we are to reduce the number, make it one from each ward, and then let us create a good board of public works, the powers of which shall be purely executive and all whose acts shall be under the direction of the council. Then we will get good work. The matter of salary is of minor importance.

Ald. Joseph Ingenhutt—The bill meets my views exactly. Here is a town of 250,000 inhabitants with more aldermen than New York finds necessary to conduct here either operation.

sary to conduct her city government. I think seventeen aldermen and a board of public works would hit the nail on A Thoughtful Republican—We may have a few too many aldermen now, but seventeen are hardly enough; there would be too much work for each to do. I am not in favor of such a move.

Ald. F. C. Barrows—It is my idea exertly: reduce the coupeil to one alderactly: reduce the council to one alderman from each ward. I think, however, there should be six instead of four aldermen at large.

Charles Hanscom—There is no doubt but the plan is a good one and a step in the right direction. Even the aldermen themselves would favor it, I think.

Fred B. Snyder—The reduction of the number of aldermen would certain be a good thing for Minneapolis, as there are far too many now. In regard to the salary each alderman should receive I hardly know what to say. If it is put up high it is sure to attract a lot of salary grabbers, who want the office only for the money there is in it. If the salary was placed at a figure so low that these men would not make a fight for it, and good men would still be willing to take it, a happy medium would be struck, and we would get a better John M. Miller-Both the plan to reduce the number of aldermen to thirteen and four at large, and to cut the teen and four at rarge, and to cut the salaries down to $300 a year, are good, and it would be well for the city if they were put into execution. It would result in a saving to the city of $2,700 annually, and the city's business would be transacted in better shape. Why New York has less aldermen than has Minneaully. There is no convenience.

Minneapolis. There is no sense in our having as many as we have now. John F. Peterson—It strikes me that it would be a very good idea to reduce the number of aldermen to thirteen and four at large. I am not prepared to say much in regard to the salary, but should think that $500 a year would be about right. S. L. Baker—While the plan is a good one, I would go still further. My plan would be to have one alderman from each ward and two at large, and pay them but $200 a year. Such a plan would result in better men and better service. It is the height of absurdity to have as many aldermen as we have now.

J. N. Nind—I think that it's right. I agree with Mr. Lane on that subject, but I don't agree with him as to the abolishment of the police commission. but I don't agree with him as to the abolishment of the police commission.

W, H. Tripp—There is no question but that the number of aldermen should be cut down. The salary is now too large. The proper figure would be $100, for it is a fact, that the lower the salary the better class of men you will get in the lower legislative bodies.

J. V. McHugh—The cutting down of the number of aldermen is all right, but the salary should not be touched.

F. H, Boardman—I should think that it was a good thing. It would make a it was a good thing. It would make a good deal better working body than they now have.

ALL SORTS.

The outbreak of the desperate gang of newspaper men and skaters at the South side ball park on Sunday last imperatively calls for the organization among church people of a law and order league or a vigilance committee. pJ. S. Gray, the horticultural alderman from the Thirteenth ward, protosed to the committee on license yeserday that bull purps be assessed $50 each per year and a $10 license be imposed on game cocks. As several municipal legislators and others who interested it probably won't go.

An old woman who recently arrived in this country from Sweden and was employed in the Thirteenth Avenue hotel until a sickness incapacitated her for work and she was turned out of doors, was brought to the university, on Ninth avenue south and Sixth street, Sunday afternoon by a countrywoman of hers, with whom she had been staying since being turned out of doors by the unnospitable land-lord who at first employed her. Dr. Hunter examined her at the dispensary and at once pronounced her sickness to be varioloid. The case was reported to Health Officer Kilvington, who went to work at once with a large force of men, who vaccinated all the 100 medical students who had been exposed, quarantined the hospital, and went through a similar process with the Thirteenth Avenue hotel, and another house where the woman cess with the Thirteenth Avenue notel, and another house where the woman had stopped. THE EXPOSITION. The Thirteenth New York Regi-ment Band Probably to Be En-

The committee on music for the exposition of 1889, which met at the West hotel last evening, decided to recommend to the board of directors the engagement of the Thirteenth Regiment band of New York. The of extending an matter of extending an invitation to the entire regiment, including Gov. Hill and staff, to be present at the opening of the big show, was discussed and definite action was postponed to see what the citizens of the city will do towards raising the requisite funds to defray the expense of transportation and entertainment. The cost of getting the regiment here would be large, but as it is composed be large, but as it is composed almost entirely of representative New Yorkers, it is thought that a visit from such a body could not fail to be of great advantage to the city and this entire section of the country, and Manager Byron said last night that almost every one who had been consulted in the mat-ter seemed to be pleased with the wires met in the council chamber yes-terday afternoon there was a large gathering of people interested in the electric light and power companies, and the first one to be heard was C. P. Weineman, superintendent of the telephone company. He read letters from managers of electric companies in New York Brooklyn, Chicago, and Detroit, all the cities in which the Dorsett conduit is used, stating that the Dorsett system, and other systems like it, had been found dangerous, troublesome, and almost impracticable. He also stated that his company had in contemplation the use of a different system, which would be much better for them and for the city.

Mr. Decelle, attorney for the Thompson-Houston company, said: "We came here asking to be allowed to put our poles on such streets as we may, and underground on such streets as we must." He thought, however, that the Dorsett company would not be able to accommodate their wires, as the conduit was not found to be practical. The matter was then referred to the city attorney for him to examine the ordinance and report at the next meeting of the committee.

The Suit Against the Minnesota Mutual Benefit Association. Before Judge Young yesterday the suit of Mrs. Katie Auer against the Minnesota Mutual Benefit association, to recover $2,500 on a policy issued to her husband, now dead, was begun. It appears that the company refused to pay the policy, alleging that it had lapsed before Auer died. The policy was then purchased by Samuel Potts, ex-secretary of the association, who was recently tried in the municipal court on a charge of embezzling money belonging to the company. The association now claims that it effected a settlement with Mrs. Auer before she sold the policy to Mr.

ALL PLEADED GUILTY.

Prisoners Brought Before Judge Lochren and Sentenced for Crimes.

All the prisoners arraigned in the criminal court yesterday seemed impressed with the idea that it was easier to plead guilty than to stand a trial and probably be found guilty any way. At least it looked that way, as four men admitted their guilt. William Conners, the colored man charged with stealing a harness from E. L. Coe, was the first victim. He was given a sentence of one year and six months at Stillwater. one year and six months at Stillwater. Peter Sitterly and Frank Lane, indicted for grand larceny in the second degree, came next. Interviews With Some of the 'Little Fellows Now Behind Iron Bars.

"Yes, it's too bad, and that's a fact," said Jailer Kelly, when questioned in regard to the confinement of the "kids" in the county jail under his charge. "You see, there is no apartment for them and we have to turn them right in with the toughest men we have and every time a young boy is put in here I can't help but notice that he gets worse and worse. The last grand jury turned out a number of boys who have been here since last September. I have now put the boys in the city side of the jail with the men confined for thirty and sixty days, and it isn't so bad there, but it's bad enough; it's bound to be a training school for crime in the present condition of the jail. Of course, too, the law that makes it possible to send boys, and men, too, for that matter, here on the slightest suspicion makes it all the worse. There are lots of innocent fellows sent here. There are two boys in there now, if you want to see them. The youngest is thirteen and the other fifteen; there are others sixteen and seventeen years old who could teach old men crime. They could tell you or old men crime. They could tell you or I lots of things we never dreamed of, if we have seen a good deal, and they took their first lessons, lots of them, right here in this jail."

Going into the jail the first view was the main part of the jail to the left. There behind double-barred grates were men who wore penitentiary countenances, and these fellows, up to a few days ago, have been the educators of dozens of little fellows who have been turned in with them, many of them on their first offense. Here was where Tim turned in with them, many of them on their first offense. Here was where Tim and Pete barrett have been confined up to day before yesterday. After a glance at the grim-faced, scantily clothed fellows, the reporter walked back to the city side of the jail. Here the boys and some of the older men crowded around the grate, as the GLOBE man leaned up against it to talk to Willie Klifford, a tiny shaver of thirteen, with a bright, not bad-looking face. A half dozen young fellows, from sixteen to twenty, formed a background, and the older men stood a little way in the rear.

"The action by the board of trade in this matter at their meeting Monday authorized P. D. McMillen, Daniel Fish and H. G. O. Morrison as a committee, to draw up a bill to be introduced in the legislature putting the power in the hands of the municipal judges to act on all city cases without making accused persons lie in jail with convicted criminals to await the action of the grand jury. There is a decided sentiment among the members of the board that something must be done. President J. P. Wyman on being interviewed in regard to it, last evening, said:

"When the grand jury met the 4th of January we found in the county jail boys under sixteen years of age who had lain there since last September awaiting our action. We learned on inquiry that the municipal court does not have jurisdiction in certain cases of misdemeanor, for instance burglary. A boy tries to steal some little article, and the person offended happens to be particularly severe, he makes the charge of burglary and the court has to bind them over to the grand jury and he has to await the next session. It may be in one week or it may be three mouths, unless he gets bail. In most and he has to await the next session. It may be in one week or it may be three months, unless he gets bail. In most such cases he is an orphan, or worse, and has to go to jail. We found five boys in the jail from nine to thirteen, arrested for trying to steal marbles. They didn't succeed in getting the marbles but were sent to the grand jury because the charge was burglary. They lay there confined with Tim and Pete Barrett, and for all I know a good deal worse men, the hardest criminals in the county. In all, we found there at our last session, fourteen boys under sixteen years of age and with the majority of them their we found no case against them at all. What the legislature ought to do is to give the municipal court jurisdiction over all cases of misdemeanor; thus enabling them to take final action. In some cases, they must be confined. There should be a separate compartment for them. Something must be done. In the words of P. D. McMillan, it is a regular kinderga rden for crime

MINNEAPOLIS ORANGEMEN

The Catholic Church Denounced as Opposed to Education and Liberty.

The Eighth ward relief hall was crowded last night at the open meeting of the Minneapolis lodge of the Loval Orange league, where Rev. G. L. Morrill and Rev. Dr. Mabie were advertised to deliver addresses.

After the opening of the lodge meeting and some remarks by the officers, Kev. Morrill took the stand and spoke for some time, denouncing the Catholic religion as a fraud and a menace to our government and free institutions, and as little better than idolatry. His remarks were much the same that he has made in his sermons and addresses before.

Rev. Dr. Mabie, who has also become Rev. Dr. Mabie, who has also become somewhat notorious by reason of his denunciations of Catholicism, succeeded Mr. Morrill. The early part of his address was tame and dealt largely with matters heretofore treated of in his published addresses. Toward the close of his remarks he referred to the late incident of a cardinal in the lower Canadian provinces, who demanded that a throne should be erected for him in the hall of parliament. Mr. Mabie condemned such an assumption of temporal power and an assumption of temporal power and expressed extreme disgust at the obse-quious servility of the premier who

At home is a tower of strength abroa This is fully verified by the history of Hood's Sarsaparilla, which has a reputation at home unequalled by any other med-icine. In Lowell, Mass., where it is made, whole neighborhoods are taking it at the same time, and the druggists of Lowell say they sell more of Hood's Sarsaparilla than of all other Sarsaparillas or blood purifiers. The same wonderful success is extending all over the country as the peculiar merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla becomes known. It cures Scrofula, Salt Rheum, all Humors, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, Sick Headache, Indigestion, Kidney and Liver Complaints, Catarrh, Rheuma-tism, That Tired Feeling, Loss of Appetite, and all diseases or affections caused or promoted by impure blood or low state of
