Personal and Social Gossip, Yachting Talk and General Notes.

Concerts, hops, regattas, picnics and Innumerable other events have changed the hitherto comparatively quiet resort to a scence of social activity, and, from this time on, there will be one unceas Ing round of lakeside attractions in their nature and variety sufficient to satisfy the most exacting of pleasure-Beekers. Under most auspicious conditions Ramaley's Lakeside pavilion gave its military entertainment and opening concert and hop last Tuesday evening. A crowd was provided for, and a crowd came, one which took complete possession of the large building, and turned it into a place of revelry. A fine orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Seibert and assisted by two fine vocalists, rendered a musical programme which received unlimited praise from all who heard it. When the floor was cleared for the hop the carefully selected dance music soon set the gay throng in motion. It was a typical lake gathering, and the costumes worn were of all kinds. The more correct came in full dress; others, who prized comfort more than etiquette, were in neglige or linen costumes, while here and there the yachtmen, in their white caps and breezy uniforms, added their mite to this variegated multitude. The returning train to St. Paul came only too soon, and all voted the opening entertainment an unqualified success. These concerts will be given regularly from now on every Tuesday and Friday

Merry Picknickers.

The attractions of the Mahtomedi picnic grounds induced the students of the Curtis Business colleges of St. Paul and Minneapolis to select that place for their annual picnic, and, consequently, early yesterday morning, to the number of 200 strong, the students with their friends arrived at the lake and immediately captured Mahtomedi and all its attachments. Mine Host Neiman, of the hotel, threw open his doors and extended his fleet of boats to the picknickers. The day was spent in the regular picnic fashion, commencing with athletic sports and winding up with a dance. The Bradstreet Mercantile agency gave an outing to their emand Minneapolis to select that place with a dance. The Bradsfreet Mercantile agency gave an outing to their employes yesterday, and, while their numbers were not so large as those of the picknickers at Mahtomedi, yet they made the welkin ring with the exuberance of their spirits and crowded into a few short hours the fun and frolic which they had kept bottled up for a year.

In piscatorial circles the week has been an eventful one. The disciples of Izaak Walton made fearful inroads upon the finny tribe. The much-prized croppie and the wary and gamy wall-eyed pike were taken from the lake in very considerable numbers. Mr. Baker, of Dellwood, however, caught the prize fish, a muscalonge, weighing over twenty pounds, the largest fish that has been taken for a long time, and a fish which recalls the time a number of years ago when the catching of fifteen and twenty-pounders was an every-day occurrence.

It was demonstrated last week that Bob Fitzsimmons, the great puglist, was much better at pounding than he was at pulling. He is training at the lake and as a part of his work ungertook to do some rowing. He challenged Nook Richards to a race and Nook, while about half the size of Fitzsimmons, accepted the challenge. The result was a surprise, for Nook led Bob a lively race, and came out the winner by a long lead.

A protest against the Viking, the winner of the regatta last Saturday, has been filed with the sailing committee, as it is claimed by some of the club members that she was sailed a part of the time by a professional, which is in violation of the sailing rules of the association. It is not claimed that she won the race on account of her professional aid, but the rules in regard to professional sailors are very stringent.

DAYTON'S BLUFF.

The graduating exercises of the Van Buren school were held in the school house Thursday, and was enjoyed by a large number of parents and friends of the young people, who made a very creditable showing, indeed, some of the number exhibiting great talent in the several parts assigned to them. Two of the most prominent were Master George Caldwell, who proved himself quite a poet, and Miss Mary Newton, who is well known on the Bluff both as being exceptionally bright, and also a most lovable disposition, which makes her efforts doubly acceptable. The commencement song was prettily rendered by the whole class. The class motto, which read "Row, Not Drift," was by Miss Hattie Dewart. "Class Photography," by Miss Mary Newton. was very much enjoyed, as was also the "Class Poem." composed by George Caldwell. A pretty quartette was rendered with great taste by Miss May Langley, Miss Liddya Wichman, Carl Siebald and Paul de Hass. Miss May Gage deserved great credit for her "Class Prophecy," as did also Minnie Tupper for her "Memento." The class song, written by George Caldwell and gung to the tune of "Auld Lang Syne," was greatly appreciated. "Class History" was by Carl Siebald and an address to "Lower Classes" was cleverly given by Miss Marian Thald. The proceedings terminated with the presentation of diplomas by the principal of the school, Mr. Magee, to the following young people: Maggie Convey, May Langley, Mamie Kelley, Alice Terren, Mary Newton, Ethel Mayfield, Rose Daley, May Gage, Carrie Schriver, Ida Grewe, Liddya Wichman, Hama Dewart, Minnie Lupper, Walter Lemon, Martin Brown, George Caldwell, Frank Benedict, George Lindekee, Ben Munch, Charles Heintz, Lee Barber and Paul De Hass.

A dramatic entertainment was given Friday evening by the members of Miss Allison's history class in Alcayde hall. The plot was of the three volume novel style. Paul Hunter, a reckless young fellow, disinherited by this father, wreaks his vengeance on his adopted brother by stealing his child and throwing it into the sea, who fifteen y His Excellency the Regent. Charles De Lacy Ed and Sam Pickard, two members of the graduating class in the Murray school, entertained the members of their class Thursday evening. Ed Taylor, the class president, filled the chair with credit. Miss Ethel Brill, as class poet; Miss Belle Parker, as class historian; Miss Jennie Sheriff, as class prophet:
Miss Lumia Lugger, as valedictorian, and Sam Pickard, as class orator, all carried out their various portions of the programme to perfection. After refreshments, toasts were in order and the way they were responded to kept the happy young people in a roar of laughter until 10 o'clock. Mrs. Williams and her daughter, Miss Grace, were the class' guests. Mrs. Williams has reason to feel proud of the excellent work she has accomplished the past year and which manifests itself so markedly in this class.

The A. O. U. W. entertainment in Churchill hall was a sad disappointment to the large audience present, there being not a single redeeming feature in the play given by the "Clipper Comedy company," of Minneapolis. The society feels considerably mortified, as herctofore their entertainments have always been most enjoyable affairs.

The Childrens' day exercises to be held Sunday evening at the Atlantic Congregational church promises to be very attractive. They are to be given by the children of the Sunday school, aided by those from the mission school on the Bluff, which has been successfully carried on for some time in connection with the above church. Knowing the ability of the superintendent of the school, Mrs. Burke, no one will doubt the success of the exercises.

An Accident Which Resulted in the Loss of a Life.

the Loss of a Life.

A terrible accident occurred at the Chamber's mill at Lakeland yesterday, resulting in the killing of Oluf Nelson, an employe, instantly. Nelson had worked at the mill three seasons and was a careful workman. He had charge of the slot cutting-off saw, and yesterday morning stated to work as usual. He had not been working long, however, when the saw snapped in two in the center, one of the pieces striking him, cutting off his left leg and disembowling him. Before anybody reached the spot he had breathed his last. The cause for the saw breaking was the striking of a knot with such force as to check its motion, causing the steel to break. Nelson leaves a wife and one child.

"Delirium tremens," said Dr. Ancker the other day, "originate from the abuse of alcoholic stimulants by people of a nervous or irritable temperament. It is characterized by a combination of delirium with muscular tremors, the latter chiefly of the hands. The victims mutter to themselves, and are abrupt, anxious and apprehensive. One moment conscious and rational, and the next incoherent and excited by ridiculous fancies. All this is attended by complete sleeplessness. The face generally has a pale, dirty color; the eyes are suffused and lusterless, and the skin warm and moist, frequently perspiring copiously."

LITTLE INCIDENTS.

Few Everyday Happenings, Each With a Streak of Oddity. In a Connecticut town a bitter war is being waged among the clothing dealers. One dealer started it by offering a hat with every suit, a competitor saw him one better and offered two hats. and a third, not to be beaten, offers a nat and a shirt, with collars, cuffs and
