Bixby had been scheduled for the play, but he had not been prepared for the event, and was consequently excused by Mr. Foley. Sibley had been doing too hard practice work during the day to be fit for his best endeavors. In fact, he was playing a game with Bixby when the hoor arrived to start the play. This without delay.

Bingham started off with speed and Siblay seemed to play rather indifferently for a time, or until a discouraging gap intervened his score and that of his rival. It was in the later innings that Sibley did himself justice. He came up fast, gaining with a steady stride, but he had found his stroke too late to be of avail. He was defeated by 13 buttons. Bingham scored 160 in his thirty-first inning, and that was the number played by each, as Sibley won the bank and chose first shot. Bingham's highest runs were 12 and 10, and Sibley went

It was the 'nip and tuck' feature of the tournament, and it held Tom Foley on the qui vive all the championship game was postium. While it required thirty-six innings to complete Wilmot's 100, it should be berne in mind that there were several "kiss-offs" when shots were assured, and also that the balls broke badly. Both Wilmot's Sibley made hard.

Tom Foley has scheduled Bixby to play Estes at 3 o'clock this afterneon, and in the evening Clow will play Bingham. Some pretty tall marks have been set during Clow's illness, and he will make a strenuous effort this evening to wrest the palm from Estes for the big average. Estes run his hundred day before yesterday in twenty innings, and Clow will attempt to go Estes one better. Clow is still ailing with a sore throat and a bad cold, but he doesn't feel that it will handicap his play at all.

May Be Postponed. It is barely possible that the Friday night bowling game will not be played or the game that was scheduled for that evening will be postponed. Last evening it developed that the femous Wabasha Indians have the tournament alleys engaged for a practice game that evening, and Capt. Barnes refuses to surrender his rights to the West Side and University Avenue clubs for a tournament contest unless the Summit club will surrender Saturday evening the night when the latter aggregation does practice work, so that the Wabashas may practice then on Saturday night. Alf this places Manager Foley in a delicate position—that of arbitrating between the Summits and the Wabashas. He declines the responsibility, and it now declines the responsibility, and it now looks as if Capt. Gerber will have to surrender or there will be no game Friday significant.

No Reason for Congratulation Over Results. OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 31 .- In a lengthy speech last night, dealing with the speech from the throne, Hon. Wilford Laurier, leader of the opposition, criticised the trade policy of the government in scathing terms. He saw no reason in scathing terms. He saw no reason for congratulations such as expressed by the government supporters that Canoda was developing her domestic trade by excluding her neighbors by the present tariff wall. He saw no wisdom in the policy which made the country live like an oyster in its shell. He called attention to the deplorable results shown by the last census; the policy of exclusion from the United States; her natural market, he said, had had the effect of driving thousands of Canadians to foreign shores. He attacked the government for its irritating policy on the canal toll question. "In all our dealings with the United States a spirit of unfairness has been displayed." In conclusion he moved an amendment to conclusion he moved an amendment to the effect that, in the present conditions of the country, substantial reductions should be made in taxation which pressed so heavily upon the bulk of the people, and that the failure of the government to hold out any promise of reduction on the oppressive duties now imposed was s matter of deep regret. Sir John Thompson re-plied in a vigorous speech. He con-tended that the exodus from Canada ex-isted before the Conservatives assumed the reins of office, and claimed that the policy of his party was doing much to keep Canadians at home. In referring to reciprocity in wreeking he said the government of Canada h is always been willing to extend to the United States wreeking vessels the right of passing through Canadian canals, despute the fact that the basis of exceement only fact that the basis of agreement only stipulated that the agreement referred to waters contiguous to the two coun-tries. In conclusion the speaker said the opposition had no right to infer that there would be no tariff changes. INDIANS RESTLESS,

And May Go on the War Path.

El Reno, Okla., Jan. 31. - Harry Lee, the person commissioned by the governor of Oklahoma to secure mineral specimens from the Wichita mountains for the territorial exhibit at the world's fair, is in the city today. He reports that the Indians in the mountains are very restless and angry that the miners are allowed to enter their lands and prospect for metals, and that they made prospect for metals, and that they made a raid on a camp of Hartmeyer & Haines and burned their tents and mining implements and ran them out of the country. The mining party very narrowly escaped with their lives, and are now camped over in Oklahoma. Great excitement prevails among the people in and about the Wichita mountains, fearing that the Indians may go on a raid at any time. There are known to be a great many miners in the Indian country. Lee was on his way to Indian country. Lee was on his way to Guthrie to confer with the governor and to secure orders for an escort of cavalry to accompany him on the expedition. PROTESTED INNOCENCE.

A Negro Wife Murderer Hanged in Arkansas. CAMDEN, Ark., Jan. 31 .- Luke Tatum, the negro wife murder, was hanged here this morning. The drop fell at 9:50 o'clock, and in five minutes he was pronounced dead. He declared his innocence to the last, even while the black cap was being drawn over his head. He said he was a martyr and had every confidence heaven would be his next abiding place. Tatum's crime was a most brutal one. Leaving a church in which he had just preached a set mon he walked down the road to a point where he know his wife. road to a point where he know his wife would pass to visit a neighbor and on her appearance he caught her with a club, beat her head into a pulp. The fiendish act was not witnessed, but so strong was the circumstantial evidence that the jury was convinced beyond a doubt, and they declared him guilty.

General Andrews Writes Pamphlet to Prove It in Minnesota.

Successful Farmers Add Voluminous Testimony to the Fact.

The Lead the State Has Secured as in Its Fine Dairy Record.

general to Brazil. Besides this, he has been noted for many years for his knowledge of the resources of the country. His pamphlet is based on extended correspondence and information derived from the farmers of the state; this taken with the fact that the compilation was prepared by a man of probity and research, makes it worthy of careful consideration. The object of the publi-cation is to show the advantages of the state of Minnesota for farming, as well as its importance in iron and lumber production. Gen. Andrews says in his

The value of iron ore taken from the mines in Minnesota the past year was $5.000,000, and the product is destined greatly to increase. The value of the lumber cut the past year from the pine forests of Minnesota was $13,000,000, and with due care of our forests this annual product can be maintained in-definitely and probably increased. But agriculture is by far the greatest of all our resources and is capable of immense development. According to the last re-port of the statistician of the United States department of agriculture the wheat crop of Minnesota in 1891 amounted to 55,000,000 bushels of the value of $43,000,000, and the average yield is stated at seventeen bushels per acre. Considering that the wheat crop of that year was remarkably bountiful, Ex-Gov. Hoard, the best dairy authority, has said that Minnesota is particularly well adapted to the profitable exercise of dairying. So with the raising of hogs; the corn crop in Minnesota is as certain as any crop is anywhere; and where corn can be successfully grown hogs can be raised with profit. There is secretal a country on the globe or logs can be raised with proxt. There is scarcely a country on the globe, or island in the sea, but likes and buys American pork. For butter and pork, as well as flour, the Minnesota farmer has the world for a market, and with proper skill, energy and industry he can and will make money.

Although in recent years some

Although in recent years some brauches of agriculture in Minnesota have been depressed—as they have been and are everywhere else—still, there are and are everywhere eise—stii, there are many farmers in our state who steadily prosper and lay up some money every year. Believing that a knowledge of the methods of this class of farmers would prove encouraging and instructive to farmers generally in our state, and tout also to account strangers with and tend also to acquaint strangers with Minnesota's agricultural advantages, I, about two years ago, addressed inquiries to a number of them, and received replies kindly made in the same spirit and purpose as my inquiries.

For the information of strangers it may be said that the general surface of may be said that the general surface of Minnesota is moderately undulating, and so diversified with prairie, woods, lakes and streams that its appearance is attractive. The soil is a black, clayey loam of bluish tinge, the richest resting upon clay subsoil. The pine forests, which also include important agricultural areas, extend for 200 miles west and 100 miles southwest of Lake Superior. The so-called "big woods" of bard timber, ways from fifteen to thirty hard timber vary from fifteen to thirty miles in breadth.

Testimony of Farmers. Gen. Andrews then gives a synopsis of the statements received from fifty-four prominent farmers in the state who have made a success of diversified farming, and the raising of stock. These statements are taken from farmers in

The pamphet concludes with the following paragraph:

"To show what a great future and what possibilities the agriculture of Minnesota has, we need only cite the estimate of the United States department of agriculture, namely, that of every 1.000 acres of land in our state only sixty-one acres are under cultivaevery 1,000 acres of land in our state only sixty-one acres are under cultivation in wheat, fourteen acres in corn and thirty acres in oats. The report of the commissioner of the United States general land office shows that the area of land in Minnesota comprises 53,459,840 acres; that 2,767,971 acres of surveyed public land remain undisposed of, and that 9,000,000 acres remain unsurveyed. The different railroad companies still hold in Minnesota 3,000,000 acres of surveyed but unimproved land, and several million acres of land yet unimproved are held by private parties. It is true that part of the land is pine forest, yet one can see from is pine forest, yet one can see from these few figures that Minnesota con-tains undeveloped agricultural resources of very great extent and value. My idea is that if our state would take pains Gen. C. C. Andrews has just published a pamphletentitled, "Some Minnesota Farmers Who Are Making Money."
Gen. Andrews is a gentleman of wide experience and general information. He has been United States minister to Sweeden and Norway, as well as consul general to Brazil. Besides, this he has uncultivated lands. I do not intend to disparage the means that are being used to promote our agriculture. Any one acquainted with the excellent agricultural reports which the states of Maine, Vermont, Connecticut and Massachusetts and some other states have for many years issued (Massachusetts has issued snch reports for forty years), and watched the progress of agriculture in those states, knows that Minnesota is much behind in such matters. I am confident if the plan I suggest were confident if the plan I suggest were carried into effect it would add much to the wealth and prosperity of the state." RAISING THE TAXES.

Figures on the Arbitrary Assessments of the Auditor.

County Auditor Burns yesterday fixed the amounts of the changes made in the personal property assessments made by him the day before. The changes are as follows: Finch, Van Slyck, Young & Co., raised from $108,000 to $400,000; & Co., raised from $108,000 to $400,000; Farwell, Ozmun, Kirk & Co., raised from $60,000 to $240,000; Powers Dry Goods company, raised from $40,000 to $200,000; Lindekes, Warner & Schurmeier, raised from $108,000 to $500,000; Noyes Bros. & Cutler, raised from $90,000 to $300,000; Browning, King & Co., raised from $15,000 to $30,000; Schuneman & Evans, raised from $30,000 to $60,000. Mr. Burns said in reference to the matter that the increased valuation is about 50 per cent of the actual valuation of the property. His view is that those who have already of that year was remarkably bountiful, these returns are smaller than would probably be expected. For the ten years previous to 1890 the average yield of wheat in Minnesota was only twelve and a half bushels per acre, and of the average value per acre of only $9.31.

INHUMAN TREATMENT Practiced Upon Dynamite Suspects. Lowell, Mass., Jan. 31.—Thomas Callan, of Lowell, who was sentenced in London five years ago to fifteen years' confinement as an alleged dynamiter, reached here this morning. As previously announced, he was released on ticket-of-leave. He has been confined in Chatham and Portland prisons. He says that the prison methods are de-priving the alleged dynamiters of their reason. They are not allowed to speak, and solitary confinement is imposed it the men are even suspected of whispering. Callan says that Dr. Gallagher, of Brooklyn, who was a fellow prisoner, is insane, but the officials say he is sham-ming. Galllagher, according to Callan, is in the infirmary most of the time and cannot last long. One of the other dy-namiters, Callan says, has has become a driveling idiot. Sometimes he breaks out in wild laughter, and for this is punished by solitary confinement in a dark, cold cell in chains for from two to five days. Callan is fifty years of age and unmarried, and is a veteran of the war. There was a large crowd at the denot to meet him.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 31.-The forthcoming annual report of Maj. Gen. Herbert, commander of militia, promises to create a big sensation. He describes the military defenses of Canada as useless, and criticises the militia from the headquarters staff at Ottawa to the lowest rank. He urges reorganization of the staff, with executive authority centralized in his own person, and adds that until this is done, there will con-tinue to exist in Canada conditions of military impotence for defense of her territory, side by side with outward semblance of a military body. He likewise criticises the arms and equipment in scathing terms. He says they are worn out and worthless, and suggests that many pieces of artillary be sold for

TETTER AND ERYSIPELAS

Neek Covered with Glandular Swellings. Scrofula. Ears Run-ning. Suffered Terribly. All Remedies Fail. Tries Cuticura First Application Relieves. Complete Cure in 3 Weeks. Two years ago I was poisoned in my hands. Then I took Tetter. Then Erysipelas went to my head, face, ears and neck. My ears were swollen and running from the inside and outside. I could lie only on my back. My neck was covered with glandular swellings—Scrofula. I suffered terribly. I began to use CUTICURA REMEDIES. The first application relieved me very much, and in three weeks my ears, head and face were well. CUTICURA REMEDIES cured me when all other remedies failed, and I had despaired of ever being any better. I cannot be without then now, and shall recommend them to my suffering triends, for I do say that the are the most pleasant and best remedies for kin diseases I ever saw.
