MINNEAPOLIS GLOBULES.

The Minneapolis base ball team left yesterday morning for La Crosse, where a game was played with the local team. The Minneapolis team is en route to Milwaukee.

The funeral of N. D. Baus, a member of the Cecilia council, Royal Arcanum, who died Sunday, will occur this afternoon at 4 o'clock from the residence, 1819 Portland avenue.

Olaf Lee, the young boy who was accidentally shot last Sunday night by Mrs. George Miller, of 200 Ninth street north, was reported yesterday as being on a fair road to recovery.

Dr. H. H. French, who was taken ill with neuralgia of the heart during service at Wesley M. E. church Sunday night, was considerably improved in health yesterday. The attack is not considered serious.

Capt. Charles E. Brown, of the Lurline club, has tendered his resignation, to take effect at the next meeting of the club, which will be held a week from next Saturday. E. Carrington Phelps is spoken of as his successor.

The specifications for the proposed paving of Nicollet avenue with vitrified brick were completed yesterday by City Engineer Cappelletti. The specifications stipulate that the work must be completed on or before Nov. 1 of this year.

John McDonald, who was arrested by North King Sunday morning, was fined $5 in the police court yesterday morning for committing assault and battery. King is badly pummeled, the Scotchman having given him a sound drubbing.

The police are still looking for the man who blew open the safe of Rev. Sandmeyer, Sunday afternoon. The appearance to have no clue, however, to who the men are. Yesterday morning the cash box of the safe was found on the river bank near Fifteenth avenue south. It had been broken open, and all its contents taken.

The committee having in charge the arrangements for entertaining the delegates to the water works convention to be held in this city met yesterday afternoon in the office of Roger Moody, of the water department, and reported progress in the work. The committee has been notified that over 100 of the leading water works authorities and civil engineers of the country will be present.

William Roberts, of 1708 Sixth avenue north, was fined $25 yesterday for selling liquor without a license. Frank Hancock, of 110 Western avenue, was fined $10 for the same offense. The same officers, of Camden place, Gustave Gunderson, of 707 Sixth avenue north, and P. A. Harrington, charged with running blind pigs, had their cases continued to Aug. 16.

The "U" "Hofficers." Lieut. Morgan, of the University cadets, has announced the following assignments of positions: Cadet major, Fay Smith; lieutenant and adjutant, Clark Houshield; lieutenant-quartermaster, W. J. Taylor; sergeant-major, L. M. Coleman; color sergeant, R. P. Blake; ordnance sergeant, G. L. Chestnut; captain, P. M. Rogers; C. E. Goldhamer, E. A. Peterson, B. P. Shepherd; first lieutenants, N. B. Atwood, C. O. Olson, C. J. Zintheo, C. G. Werner; second lieutenants, C. S. Sussner, E. F. Lindman, B. N. Breding, C. D. Hittory; first sergeants, A. C. Beyer, H. H. Chapman, W. A. J. F. Dunning, sergeants, G. L. Chestnut, W. F. Wendall, F. Zimmerman, C. P. Jones, M. A. Joslin, C. B. Winkatz, J. M. Tirrell, E. H. Borchert, A. A. W. McCray, S. Savage, A. N. Winchell, A. W. McGray, L. P. Barker, A. F. Maxwell, P. E. Hott, M. J. Simpson.

Roasted the Park Board. The board of trustees yesterday morning roasted the park board and its system of levying assessments. J. M. Bartlett, in speaking on the matter, said that the system was about as rotten as it could be and not fall to pieces. Capt. Reno introduced resolutions which combined a mixture of politics, give improvements and an eulogy of Washburn. The following committee was appointed to consider the matter: Messrs. Stacy, Nelson, Bartlett, Blacker, Percy, Jones and George Gillette.

Postponed Again. The council's special committee on gas was to have met yesterday to hear a few remarks from President Brown, of the gas company, but at the request of that gentleman the meeting was indefinitely postponed. This leads some to suppose that he will come prepared to submit another proposition, making a still better offer than he did at the last session.

The next meeting will probably be held next Thursday, in order that the special committee can make a report to the council Friday night.

Boy Drowned. Andrew Bagnor, a young boy living at 1821 First avenue north, went into the Mississippi river at the slip near the Diamond saw mill on Eighteenth avenue north. From causes at present unknown the lad was drowned. A search for the body was begun, but owing to the large number of logs in the water, had to be abandoned. The accident occurred about 10:35 last night.

A Ghastly Job. The work of removing the bodies from the old Maple Hill cemetery and reintering them has commenced. The city has a force of twelve men at work. There are 325 bodies to be removed, of which 620 are mothers or unknown.

REASON IS RESTORED

To Horace Thompson, the Friend of Harry C. Olson.

Yesterday at noon reason returned to Horace Thompson, the Plymouth Clothing house clerk, who became insane from the terrible shock his nerves sustained at the drowning of his friend Harry C. Olson in Lake Calhoun. His eyesight was also restored, and, aside from being nervous, he has regained his reason and is now the story of the drowning in a vivid way.

He said that he and Olson went out in the boat to take a swim. Olson could not swim, so Thompson asked him to remain in the boat and keep near him while he was in the water. He took off his clothing and dropped in, and a few minutes later he saw that Olson had also dropped into the water. He was clinging to the anchor rope and paddling.

"He appeared to be all right," said Thompson, "so I kept on swimming. I next saw he had let go the rope and was paddling alone in the water alone. The boat was drifting away from him, and I called out to him to look out for it. He did not answer, so I swam after the boat and started to bring it back from where it had drifted."

At this point Thompson said that Olson disappeared under the water. He dove from the boat after him. He remembers nothing more. Everything from that time on is a blank.

A MYSTERIOUS CASE.

A Little Child Found by an Officer in the Woods.

About 9 o'clock last night Special Police Officer Henry Smith noticed two women acting in a very mysterious manner in the woods about three blocks from the end of the Eighth avenue car line, in Northeast Minneapolis, near the Soo railroad tracks. Officer Smith stopped them and asked what they were doing, but they made no reply, and left in a hurry. A short time afterward J. W. McKen found three-week-old baby, alive and kicking, in the vicinity where the women were seen. The poor little thing was wrapped

HIS REASON RETURNS.

Horace Thompson Recovers His Senses and Tells of Olson's Drowning.

The Republican county and legislative primaries passed off quietly last night, though the dozen or more candidates for sheriff made matters lively for each other. The main fight, however, lay between Ege and Holmberg. For coroner, Dr. Towers appears to have the call. Frank Nye had no opposition for county attorney. Judge Steele, of the district court, was also practically alone in his glory for the same position. C. L. Cooley will no doubt be the convention's choice for auditor. W. A. Plummer has a walk-over for register of deeds, and Frank Plummer will have no difficulty in capturing the nomination for surveyor. Up to midnight the returns from the legislative tickets showed the following:

In the second district—the west half—E. W. Mortimer was the candidate for the house. The Republicans dare not put up men, either for the house or senate, in the east half of the district.

In the third district, to the surprise of everybody, J. T. Wyman turned down E. M. Johnson for the senate. In the fourth ward of the Thirty-first district E. J. Potter and J. C. Cairns ran about even. The Tenth ward wants Howard de Lattre, and it depends upon whether Cairns or Potter gets at him first which will be the successful man. S. B. Lovejoy is the favorite for the house, and A. B. Robbins, of Robbinsdale, for the county district.

In the thirty-second district D. F. Morgan had no opposition for the senate, and of the four members of the house Dr. Zier and George H. Fletcher Theden will be chosen for the senate and J. M. Underwood for the house. George Wilson is the county member. S. J. Howard is the choice for senate in the thirty-fourth district, and E. E. Smith for the house. L. I. Baston will represent the county.

STRONG'S MAIDEN SPEECH.

The Newspaper Candidate Makes himself Heard.

Notwithstanding the fact that a desperate attempt was made by the friends of one of the rival candidates for the Democratic legislative nomination in the Twenty-ninth district to kill it, Mr. Strong's maiden speech, delivered in the First ward last evening, was a fairly large attendance, and Strong made a red-hot speech, outlining his position on municipal matters and stating that he did not care to be a tin snail for the underhanded work which had been done against him. He was well received and made a favorable impression.

"I do not come here seeking an endorsement," said Mr. Strong. "I am here simply to become acquainted with you and hope you will pardon me for talking about myself. It has been charged that I am unacquainted in this ward and this city, but I will venture to say that my general acquaintance will compare favorably with any man who has ever mentioned for the position I seek."

Mr. Strong referred to his newspaper experience as experience which would stand him in good stead in case he were elected; said he had not gone to the party bosses or ward monarchs for permission to make the race, but referred briefly to capital and labor, and came out solid for unionism. In relation to local matters, Strong said he was opposed to further taxation, opposed the absolute power of the council to grant franchises and gave away citizens' property at will, the ground on which he opposed the gates for corruption, and accused that the people should have the right to vote on all such questions.

Mr. Strong had a good deal to say for Messrs. McGowan and O'Reilly, his opponents, and created a sensation by saying that he was a Democrat. "Louis R. Thean promised me to be here this evening and make you a good Democratic speech. He is absent, and I propose to tell you why. He met me just before supper and informed me that O. Fessler, a gentleman residing in the First ward, had warned him not to come. Just what that means you know as well as I. I care nothing about the matter, for I intend to win as a gentleman and on my merits, and not by stooping to underhand work."

D. B. Johnson was detained at home by illness, and J. Stuker made a pleasing address in his place.

The Danger of Tariffs.

Boston Herald.

Here is one of the worst dangers of what is known as protection under the tariff. In its party effect it has been carried further than ever in the tariff contests of recent years, for it has actually been the means of subsidizing a great party in aid of private interests. It has entered the ranks of the party pledged to the reform of the tariff and divided its counsels by engaging in the service of private interests. A portion of the men who compose this party, the popular will and the popular need, which are actuated early and late by the tariff, have alike been thwarted by these agencies. There is blame, of course, to be allotted to politicians of both parties who have wronged the public by delay, but the underlying fault is in the system of protection itself, which brings private and personal interests to bear to postpone or prevent the realization of a great national good.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

SAID TO HAVE KILLED HIS BROTHER.

The Little Town of Plymouth the Scene of a Very Mysterious Case.

Last evening at 6 o'clock James Thatcher, of Plymouth, a little town four miles west of Medicine Lake, in this county, was brought to the city by Sheriff Ege, and lodged at the county jail. The charge preferred against him was murder, and the victim was his brother Edward. James is nineteen years of age, and less than a week ago he was married to a Miss Lena Barker, also of Plymouth. The circumstances which led to the young man's arrest are these:

On June 10 James and his brother Edward went out hunting. James took a rifle and his brother a shotgun. About four hours later James returned alone, and had with him Edward's gun, but not his own. He said he had missed his brother in some way and supposed he would return shortly. Later in the day he went to call upon Miss Barker, but Edward did not return.

The next morning came and still there was no sign of him, so a searching party was instituted, and about a quarter of a mile away from his home the body of Edward was found lying near an oak tree. He was cold in death, and a bullet hole in the body, which had entered from the rear, told the story of how he died. It was supposed at the time that he had exchanged guns with James and in some manner shot himself, though there were bruises about his face and head that looked peculiar.

A coroner's jury held an inquest, and in the verdict it was expressed that the matter ought to be carefully investigated, and that James should be kept under surveillance. Sheriff Ege took upon himself to investigate the case. Sunday he went to Plymouth and instituted a short investigation, and yesterday he swore out a warrant for the arrest of the brother.

When James was arrested he evinced no surprise, and it was in an indifferent manner that he allowed the sheriff to bring him to the city. He refused to say anything about the affair, except that time will show that he is innocent of murdering his brother.

Patrick Casey's Funeral.

Special to the Globe.

DARWIN, Minn., Aug. 12.—Patrick Casey, an old and respected citizen of Meeker county, was buried here today from the Catholic church. The funeral was largely attended, the cortege extending about a mile and a half in length. Requiem high mass was celebrated by Father Boland, of Littlefield. Father McDevitt, of Maunabo, acted as subdeacon, and Father Gleason, of St. Paul, as celebrant. The service was a sermon, and paid a deserving tribute to the deceased, who leaves behind him a wife, six sons and six daughters.

Casey was a native of the county of Mayo, Ireland, from which he emigrated in 1835, first settling in Pittsburg, Pa., where he remained about seven years before he came to this state. He was a man of universal esteem, and he belonged to the Father Matthew T. A. S. for the last twenty-one years. He was a brother of Mrs. Nash, the mother of M. W. Nash of Minneapolis, and commissioner of Hennepin county.

Forest Fire in Kentucky.

Hovos, Ky., Aug. 12.—Forest fires are raging in the chain of knobs surrounding this place, and the leaves are so dry it is possible to check the flames. Unless rain fall within twenty-four hours this whole section will be laid in ashes, and the loss will amount to many thousands of dollars.

Bank Doors Close.

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 13.—The Wichita National bank, the oldest in southwestern Kansas, failed to open its doors this morning, and a notice was posted that the comptroller had taken charge. The last statement, made July 18, showed loans and discounts in round numbers of $250,000 and cash and exchanges $50,000, while the deposits amounted to $300,000.

Pullman Strikers Give Up.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Gates of the Pullman company's big plant at Pullman were besieged this morning by a host of the striking employees, who came seeking work, and who signified their willingness to go back to their old jobs. At noon the general foreman found that he had 1,788 men on hand and ready for work. Others are to be given work as fast as these parts of the works now closed can be started up.

Strange Cause for Strike.

PITTSBURG, Aug. 13.—A permanent injunction was granted today against the strikers at the Pileous Prescription glass works, at Tarentum. The men refused to work under the new terms. The firm was rushed with orders, and engaged new men, but the strikers, by persuasion and intimidation, prevailed upon the men not to work.

A GREAT ADVANCE.

How Food and Nourishment Have Been Reduced to an Exact Science So That Dyspepsia is a Thing of the Past.

When one takes a piece of bread into the mouth, this is what occurs: The motion of the jaws in chewing forces from little glands the liquid which we know as saliva. This contains a peculiar principle which at once attacks the food, dissolving it and digesting it, with the production of certain sugar-like compounds, in which form it is absorbed.

Other foods are similarly acted upon in the stomach, and still others are not digested until they reach the duodenum. If for any reason the digestive organs have become deranged, food is worse than useless, for, instead of being absorbed, it ferments and decomposes with the production of poisonous elements that set up all sorts of disorders. Hence it is of the greatest importance that we should have means at hand to assist nature. Scientists have discovered that plants as well as animals digest their food and in very much the same way. Digestive principles have been separated from certain fruits and grains and are now used for preparing an artificially digested food known as Paskola, so that it is absorbed immediately upon entering the system. Paskola long since passed the experimental stage and is being used with success and satisfaction by thousands of suffering dyspeptics.

Here is the testimony of a prominent insurance agent at Fenton, Mich.: "Gentlemen—For several years I had gradually been growing weaker and paler, with much loss of flesh."

I had no energy, moved about with difficulty, could not sleep, and of course was a very poor appetite. Last March a friend of mine, living in New York, and knowing of my condition, sent me two small bottles of Paskola.

I took them according to directions and could see a marked change. In fact, my friends and acquaintances were astonished at the improvement in my appearance and spirit of life.

Today I weigh 150 pounds, or as much as I ever did. My face bears a healthy glow, my appetite is good, and I am as well as ever.

I very willingly make these statements, deeming it due to those who are suffering as I suffered, and are perhaps wasting their time and money by consulting incompetent physicians who do not understand their case, but who do know how to make big bills. Paskola is a wonderful food.

Very truly yours, C. H. TURNER.

July 5, 1894.

This is the original method of combating dyspepsia sustained by testimony.

Paskola can be had of any reputable druggist. An interesting pamphlet descriptive of the product will be sent free on application to The Prepared Food Co., 30 Reade St., New York.

WASHBURN OPPOSITION.

Why His Re-Election Will Be Fought by Transcontinental Roads.

Minneapolis Journal. The St. Paul Globe publishes a dispatch from Washington to the effect that Washburn's chief danger as a candidate for re-election to the senate comes not from politicians or rivals in his own state as much as from the transcontinental roads, which have at various times tried to kill off the competition made by the Canadian Pacific, and to destroy the importance of the connection of the Soo and the Canadian Pacific.

There is good reason to be apprehensive of opposition from that source. Senator Washburn has stood firmly against all the schemes that have come up since he went into the senate to destroy the advantages which Minnesota and the Northwest generally enjoy by reason of the competition which the Soo road affords. Repeated efforts have been made by the friends of rival roads in the house and senate to embarrass Washburn in his trade and to destroy its power as a rate leveler and a competitor on all east and west-bound freight.

Washburn stands more conspicuously than any other man in the house or senate for the maintenance of that advantage. If the business men, not only of Minnesota and St. Paul, but of the Northwest generally, consent to his defeat, they are virtually agreeing that they are indifferent to the maintenance of the advantages which they now enjoy, and set no value upon the business which has been done in establishing and maintaining this valuable competition. We say establishing and maintaining, because Senator Washburn is not only the defender of the competing line in the senate, but he was the promoter and builder of the Soo line, and to him more than any one else, is due the credit for whatever benefit it has conferred upon this whole section.

Reardon's Mouth.

Mankato Free Press.

Timothy Reardon, of the St. Paul city council, has evidently been opening his mouth too wide of late on the "dens of iniquity" existing in the city schools. The only thing he proved, when brought before the investigating committee to sustain his charges of immorality, was his inability to prove anything. Timothy would appear to much better advantage if he subsided and kept his tongue when spoken to. Otherwise his tongue is liable to lead him into trouble as it has into ridicule.

EVICTED TENANTS BILL

Discussed in the House of Lords--No Action Taken.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The house of lords was crowded today in expectation of an interesting debate upon the evicted tenants bill. At 4:15 Earl Spencer moved the second reading of this important measure. He did not condemn the Irish landlords, he said, but insisted that they must consider the bill from an Irish point of view.

Baron Balfour, of Burleigh, a Scotch peer, moved the rejection of the bill. The Duke of Argyll, Baron Tweedmouth and other peers made speeches, and the house then adjourned.

Sir William Vernon Harcourt and Mr. Balfour came over from the house of commons to listen to the debate, but they found it very dull, and both engaged in private conversation.
