CYCLISTS WIN OUT

THE PROPOSED BICYCLE ORDI-MANCE SHELVED BY THE COMMITTEE.

ANOTHER ONE TO BE DRAWN

BY A COMMITTEE OF ASSEMBLY-MEN, ALDERMEN AND WHEELMEN.

CURFEW ORDINANCE IS A GO.

It Is Recommended to the Board of Aldermen for Passage.

The board of aldermen committee on streets held a protracted session yesterday, devoting its time chiefly to the consideration of the proposed bicycle and curfew ordinances. The latter ordinance was recommended to pass, though it is the general belief that it can never secure a majority vote in the board of aldermen. Furthermore, should the board pass it and the assembly concur, the mayor would veto it, for he has already declared the measure impracticable and silly.

The bicycle ordinance drew a good house, and provoked a lengthy discussion. The committee did not take final action upon it, but the indications are that the wheelmen of St. Paul will succeed in defeating the ordinance, which prohibits the use of all sidewalks within the city limits, and secure the passage of a law that will permit the riding of bicycles upon the sidewalks of unpaved and untraveled streets.

The delegation of wheelmen present reinforced a long petition against the ordinance. Theodore G. Walther, vice president of the C. W. Hackett company, presented the petition. which set forth under numerical heads the arguments against excluding all sidewalks.

The principal arguments were as fol-First, it was contended that those who live in the suburban districts could not possibly ride to their places of business through the deep mud that fills the streets in the spring and fall; second, by that while accidents on sidewalks were rare they would be rarer still if the existing ordinance of 1892 were enforced as to the provision requiring the attached lighted lamp and the bell; third, there were miles of sidewalks on which scarcely any one is ever seen walking; fourth, many lady riders who would not injure any one o sidewalks, might be hurt themselves if compelled to ride in the streets; fifth, many streets were too rough to ride safely upon,

Mr. Walther made a speech in be half of the petitioners. He called attention to the fact that bicycle riding was not confined to a lawless class On the contrary, the devotees of this recreation were ladies and gentlemen who had respect for the law, and were therefore entitled to some considera-tion. All were willing to carry bells and lamps and to conform to the speed comparatively unused. Mr. Walther said that there were 8,000 people in St. Paul who use bicycles, and that enough of them paid their share of the cost of sidewalks to entitle them to some

He believed legitimate sport ought to be encouraged, not discouraged. He could not see any reasons law, providing for lamps and bells, etc. and believed that the bicyclers would Then Ald. Hare spoke up. The alder man does not ride a bicycle himself, because, as he explained, it looks like too hard work, judging from the puffing and blowing he has noted as the wheelmen pass him. Ald. Hare also made a remark, associating bicycle hers with silk stockings.

Thomas Cochran resented the insinuación that none but the aristocracy bestrade the wheel. Bicycle riding, Mr. Coshran said, was not confined to one cfass. All classes were included. It was a business proposition.
Ald. Milham wound up the discussion with a motion to refer the whole matter to a special committee of six, to consist of two members from each body of the city council, and two from the wheelmen of St. Paul. The motion pre-vailed and the committee will meet and agree upon an ordinance to be submitted at the next regular meeting of the board of aldermen.

Ald. Hare's curfew ordinance was next considered. Rev. David Morgan, of the Bethel Home, was there to talk for it when the time came. Ald. Hare at once precipitated a discussion by moving that the ordinance be recmended to pass. The ordinance in brief provides that children under sixteen years of age shall be kept off the streets from 9 p. m. until 6 a. m. unless accompanied by parent or guardian, or proper person of lawful age, or dispatched on an errand, etc. For the first offense, the boy or girl is to be sent or taken home, but a second eans the arrest of the child. Ald. Milham and Wolf objected to the provision of the ordinance authorizing policemen to arrest children found violating the ordinance. Ald. Ehrmanntraut, though not a member of the committee, was permitted to express his views. He thought it unwise to pass such an ordinance, and he was also confident that it would be impracticable if not impossible to

Rev. David Morgan was on hand to champion the ordinance. He cited statistics of Toronto showing that the existence of a curfew law there had reduced the juvenile jail population 50 per cent. Mr. Morgan maintained that the curfew ordinance would assist the police in that it would keep mischievious boys off the streets. As for arresting the children, Mr. Morgan said that there had not been an arrest in Stillwater and Red Wing, where a curfew law existed.

The committee finally recommended by a unanimous vote, that the ordinance pass. The committee recommended the passage of an ordinance granting to Messrs. Bohrer & Scannel a live-year lease of the land on the West side. whereon is located the artesian well plant formerly used by Messrs. Bohrer & Moriarity. The land belongs to the city, so the corporation attorney says, though Mr. Moriarity declares that it belongs to the estate of Julia Moriar-

Will Call a Conference as Outlined

Last Week, Gov. Clough will issue within a day or two the call, which was referred to by the Globe last week, for a conference on the idea of the Northwestern exposition, which it is proposed to ld in the interests of the great Northwest. The governor's call will signe of all the Northwestern states, and the leading county and city officials. The date of the conference will be set for either late in November or early in

This exposition idea is awakening a great deal of interest, not only in the city and state, but in adjoining states as well. Already Mayor Smith has been requested to name a committee of promient citizens on behalf of the city to consider the matter and formulate a plan for getting the exposition started. It is understood he has decided upon the following gentlemen: O. O. Cullen, J. J. Parker, Joseph Ehrmanntraut, James E. Markham, Dennis Sullivan, F. G. Brady, E. C. Rogers, John Copeland and W. A. Company's Lease. The assembly committee on streets held its regular meeting yesterday afternoon. The first matter taken up was the ordinance prohibiting the street railway company from sprinkling salt on the tracks in the winter time. Supt. Hield, who was present, explained to the committee that it was impossible limit, but they thought they ought to be allowed to ride on sidewalks of un-using salt to melt the ice formed improved streets, which sidewalks are comparatively unused.

Mr. Walther the opinion that the sprinkling of salt on the tracks should be restricted to grades. He did not believe it necessary to use it along level surfaces Chairman Arosin suggested that the ordinance be amended so as to prohibit the sprinkling of salt on the bridges and upon all tracks save where close together is going to have on the vote in convention. Mr. Gibbs bridges and upon all tracks save where the grades are steep. After a brief delegation from his own immediate discussion, the ordinance was referred section, and the captain will very aged. He could not see any reasons why the miles of almost deserted sidestructions to make such modification as might be found advisable.

The committee once more considered the ordinance granting the American Hoist and Derrick company a fiftyyear lease of certain pieces of land on the West side levee. The opinion of the corporation attorney as to the liability of the city in case of damage to private property which might result from high water caused by filling in the river, was submitted. It was to the effect that the city would not be liable. On the contrary, the sole liability for such damage would rest with the lessee.

Then the question of granting a lease for fifty years was discussed. Mr. twenty-five years on all the property. Mr. Reardon emphatically opposed granting a lease for fifty years. Mr.

The representatives of the company labored hard with the committee to secure the recommendation of the proposed ordinance, granting a fifty-year lease. They intimated that they might remove their plant to Chicago in the vis' presidential boom in the South remove their plant to Chicago in the event of unfavorable action. This, however, did not change the opinion of the committee. Personally the mem-bers of the committee favored the American Hoist and Derrick company, but they deemed it unwise to grant a lease that would bind a future generation. The majority favored twenty-five years. Mr. Robb, however, thought they should have a fifty-year lease, The motion of Mr. Strouse to amend the ordinance by substituting a twenty-five year for a fifty-year lease prevailed by a vote of four to one. A new ordinance will accordingly be prepared

The resolution was finally referred back to the city en gineer and corporation attorney with instructions to report to the committee before the next meeting of the as-sembly. City Engineer Rundlett said that further investigation seemed to show that the city would not be obliged to stand over two-thirds of the cost of the bridge.

Representative Brainerd, of Steele county, must be regarded as somewhat of a curiosity in politics. He resides at Blooming Prairie, where he conducts a banking and lumber business. Up to the fall of '94 he had never mixed up in politics to any great extent. Steele county had been represented by a Democrat in the legislature of '93, and in '94 the he legislature of '93, and in '94 the he Chicago. He were guests at the Windsor yesterday. They are on their way to Chicago, where Mr. Dowling will at once resume his duties as secretary of the League of Republican Clubs. George Macartney, of the Kirkwood, Des Moines, accompanied by Dr. C. M. McLean, of the same city, put up at the Windsor yesterday. They went out last night on the Great Northern for a week's hunting. Democrats nominated Mayor Twyford, of Owatonna, a very strong and popular man. As the best man to beat him the Republicans settled upon Brainerd. He did not want to run, but finally consented. It was not a Democratic year, and Twyford was beaten. Mr. Brainerd made a very conscientious and faithful representative; but one term was plenty for him.

Speaking with a Globe reporter yesterday, he said he does not want a second term, and will not try for it. "To some men careholding may have attractions, but for me it has none. Never before was I placed in a position where I felt that I could not pitch in and do good work. For some reason I failed in health and general vigor while sitting in that poorly ventilated chamber, and, while I enjoyed the campaign, I did not enjoy the session. I have had enough of it, and shall not try for a re-election." Of the gubernatorial candidates Mr. Brainerd had this to say: "We of Malden, Mass., by Aaron Sargent, have two candidates in our part of of Somerville, Mass." Report of Life the state, John L. Gibbs, who lives a few miles from me, and Capt. Van "House Executive Documents," being Sant, of Winona. Mr. Gibbs is a a few miles from me, and Capt. Van Sant, of Winona. Mr. Gibbs is a strong man and of a conservative temperament. He would make a ter campaigner of the two, and has orado; Their Pottery and Implements," a very taking manner in his political work. Of the chances of Gov. Clough and other candidates I know little or nothing."

Ex-District Attorney George N. Baxter, ex-Senator Sabin and United States Senator Pettigrew were three notable figures about the Merchants' yesterday afternooni Judge Baxter has tabooed politics to devote himself to his law business. Sabin was fired bodily out of politics, but persists in breaking back in at every opportunity.

His latest rebuff, when the State League of Republican Clubs refused to do better than make him an alternate to the Cleveland convention, will granting a lease for fifty years. Mr. Copeland said that twenty-five years was long enough time. At the end of that period, the city would undoubted-like the plant proved the plant proved the "Pickerel statesman," has the genthe "Pickerel statesman," has the gen-eral appearance of a clerk or a teacher, or a lay preacher; but he is manipulator of political wires, who is looked up to by his party in South Dastate, and never comes to town that of conversation was strictly private. T. H. Gilmour, of Winnipeg, is at the Ryan. He reports that the people of Manitoba expect an amicable settlement of the school question. He alluded to the fact that while Lieut. Gov. Patterson is a Conservative, his constitutional advisers, the Greenway cabinet, are Liberals. "Notwithstanding that fact," he continued, "there is now no reason to expect extreme action of any kind. I notice by the Globe that even Wilfred Laurier, leader of the Liberal, or opposition party, in the Dominion parliament, concedes that the remedial order was a mistake; and that a settlement must be based upon questions of fact rather than of law. That is true. The Catholics have rights, and in the end I think justice will be done in such way that all parties will be satisfied."

"Doctor Bob," otherwise Dr. R. S. Bole, is one of the best listeners in the world. He seldom makes a talk of more than a sentence or two; but yesterday he found himself in a congenial group in the lobby of the Windsor and told some stories that surprised his hearers. It seems that years ago Dr. Bole used to pride himself on his ability as a hunter. One fall he went up to the Saskatchewan country for big game, and after much trial several deer and one bear were bagged. They were hung up on two trees close to the river, but when the hunters went after their game they couldn't find even the trees on which the carcases were left hanging. There was no way to solve the mystery, and the hunters gave up in disgust and started for home. "Well, we were sere," says Dr. Bole, "but when we got to the nearest town on the river our anger was softened by an invitation to a feast on a boat at the dock. We did not know just where she had come from, but the feast was the finest a hungry man ever sat down to. The denouement came after the boat had departed. We had noticed a gangdeck. When it was too late to protest a friend informed us we had been eatwood the crew had found our game To make the thing real good they had chopped the trees out slick and clean, covered the place carefully and moved with both fuel and food. I never went hunting big game since."

AFTER THE OFFICER.

Complaint Made That Policeman Hurley Exceeded His Duty.

There is an aftermath to that synagogue row on the West side levee last Thursday night. It developed yester-day afternoon, when a petition, signed by numerous members of the congregation, was presented to the mayor, charging Officer James Hurley with wrongfully arresting George Freyer, one of the three combatants, who appeared in the municipal court on Friday morning. Freyer was found not guilty and discharged. The other two belligerents, Messrs. Laven and Liebowitz, were fined $5 and $10 respectively. Laven was found guilty of in-terfering with an officer.

The signers of the petition declare that Officer Hurley arrested Mr. Feyer and Mr. Laven without a warrant and allege that he did so without having witnessed the disturbance. Therefore they demand an investigation as to the arrest of Freyer. They also argue that because Freyer was acquitted of disorderly conduct, there was no occasion for an arrest, and therefore Laven could not be guilty of resisting

CHANCE FOR SCHOLARS. Prizes for Essays on the Declaration of Independence.

For several years past the Order of Sons of the American Revolution has been offering valuable medals for essays on patriotic themes by public school scholars. This year the Declaration of Independence is the subject selected. Following are the rules govering the contest: Essays are limited to not less than 1.776, nor more than 1,896 words, written on one side only of 8x101/2 paper, with one and one-half inches margin on the left, and signed by a non de plume. A sealed envelope with the nom de plume on the outside and to contain the writer's real name, address, school and a cer-tificate from the principal that the essay is original, must accompany each isay.

All essays must be mailed to the secretary of the society before Feb. 5, 1896. A committee will receive the essays and the secretary will retain the envelopes containing the writers' real names, until the committee has reached a decision, when they will be opened in the presence of the society The prizes will be awarded at the annual meeting of the society in St. Paul on Washington's birthday, 1896 The principal and teachers of each competing high school will be a co mittee of review and inspection, and send only meritorious essays. The prize medal is silver, the face being a fac simile of the seal of the society, on the reverse an appropriate inscription with recipients' name. The medal is suspended by a buff and blue (the society's colors) silk ribbon, from a silver bar, bearing the word Minne-sota. The second prize is a fac simile of the first, in bronze.
