SOUTH DAKOTA WANTS CLOSER CONNECTION WITH THE TWIN CITIES.

IMPETUS TO THE PROJECT

AT A MEETING BEGUN IN MINNE-APOLIS AND CONCLUDED IN ST. PAUL.

ORGANIZATION IS FORMED.

Which, It Is Hoped, Will Secure the Building of a New Rail-

The first impetus was yesterday given the project to construct a railroad which shall bring the Black Hills of South Dakota into closer communion with the Twin Cities of Minnesota. In the Minneapolis Commercial club in the morning and last night at the rooms of the St. Paul club a representative body of St. Paul and Minneapolis business men and the delegates from South Dakota gathered to effect an organization and take definite steps to bring about the consummation of the plan which has been discussed for some time namely, the building of a railroad between Aberdeen and Pierre. Regrets, owing to his inability to be present at the meeting, were reeived from Mayor Smith. President Yanish, of the club, after a brief speech, introduced Gov. Sheldon, of South Dakota, who headed the delegation. Gov. Sheldon reviewed the situation at length. He called attention to the fact that South Dakota was the only Northwestern state which had no railroad running from east to west, and reviewed the early development of the railroad system of the state. Speaking of the wonderful growth of St. Paul and Minneapolis, Gov. Sheldon said that it was due to a broadening of their horizon. The cities depended upon a developing country and the country upon the prosperity of the cities which furnished the market. Gov. Sheldon further said that St. Paul and Minneapolis had cut off Norta Dakota from Chicago, but by no means controlled South Dakota, while they were absolutely shut out of the hills. A direct line would bring St. Paul nearer to the Black Hills than Omaha. While enlarging upon the wonderful resources of the hills, Gov. Sheldon expressed the hope that a delegation of conservative men be sent out to investigate themselves the wealth of the country. He also read a letter regarding the wonderful deposits of bituminous coal in the Hills country. But gold and coal were not all. ne would take out of the Hill cattle. On live stock St. Paul would have a great advantage over Chicago. It would require only twentyfour hours to bring cattle here from the remotest South Dakota point, against thirty-six to forty-eight to Chicago. A considerable part of his the all-important topic. Headed by address Gov. Sheldon devoted to the condition and future of agricultural South Dakota. He believed the only problems confronting the South Dakota farmer had been solved by artesian irrigation and improved methods of diversification. He closed with a plea for practical, earnest action in co-operation with South Dakota toward securing the desired railway President Robert A. Kirk, of the Jobbers' union addressed the delegates briefly, stating that the local merchants desired a connection with the Black Hills country, and would enjoy trade, business and social relations with a state which has made such wonderful progress in late years. He thought he voiced the sentiments of his fellow merchants when he expressed the hope that in some way business relations would be established so that the apparently vast resources, both mineral and agricultural, could be made to bring riches and prosperity to the natives of South Dakota. Mr. Kirk spoke of the time to come when St. Paul men could load their goods on big vessels at their own doors instead of shipping merchandise by way of the far-away lake ports. He made a plea for a strong reciprocal feeling between the Dakotians and the business men of the Twin Cities. Attorney General Crawford, of Pierre, spoke on behalf of a local corporation, which had organized the Duluth, Pierre & Black Hills road, made a preliminary survey from Aberdeen to Pierre, a listance of 128 miles, and had raised $250,000 with which the right of way had been procured. With the exception of about twelve miles, the distance had been graded, he said, by a capable engineer, depot grounds and terminal facilities had been secured at Aberdeen, as well as at Falkton, the half-way point between Aberdeen and Pierre. The whole thing, he said, the owners were willing to turn over to anybody without consideration who would build and operate the road. Mayor Chauncey Wood, of Rapid City, was called, and described Rapid City as the gateway to the Hills from the East. It formerly traded with St. Paul, but the Omaha railroads cut this off though Minneapolis is slightly nearer. The people of Rapid City to reopen Eastern traffic organized a pany a few years ago, and surveyed and partly graded a line to Pierre. They have terminal grounds at both Rapid and Fort Pierre. "Any company that will take hold of the enterprise," said Mr. Wood, "can have what we have there as a free gift. Mr. Wood said that this road would cost about $12,000 a mile to build. It would command the entire grazing country of the state as well as part of Montana. Mr. Wood also referred to the Dakota, Wyoming & Missouri River railroad, which has been sur veyed and partly built west from Rapid City into the cattle and coal regions of Wyoming. This line would bring the Wyoming cattle nearer to the St. Paul market than any other. Daniel R. Noyes was called for, and in substance suggested that possibly

WHITE STAR LINER RETURNS TO LIVERPOOL IN A DAM-AGED STATE.

NO LOSS OF LIFE ENSUED.

Cambrea Founders After Becom ing Disengaged From the Germanic.

LONDON, Dec. 11.-The White Star line steamship Germanic, Capt. Mc-Kiestry, from Liverpool today for Queenstown and New York, collided at the mouth of the River Mersey with the Scotch steamer Cambrae and was obliged to return to port badly Lord Dunraven, Arthur Glennie and John Hare and his theatrical company were on board the Germanic. Previous to his departure Lord Dunraven said he was going to New York so as to insure that the evidence on both sides of the Defender-Valkyrie controversy would be submitted in an impartial and complete manner. He desired a truthful statement and fair consideration of the evidence. The disaster arose through the Germanic driving into the fore part of the steamer Cambrae and she remained wedged there till thirty passengers of the Cambrae and twenty-eight of the crew had clambered aboard the Germanic or had been rescued in boats. One lady had a rib broken. When the Germanic became disengaged from the Germanic then returned to Liverpool, where the passengers were landed and sent to hotels. They have the option of proceeding on their journey by the Cunard liner Umbria, which leaves Queenstown Dec. 15, or by the White Star steamer Teutonic, which leaves Queenstown Dec. 19.

BIG HOLE IN HER BOW.

The Germanic has a hole nine feet mark. She will dock in the morning and discharge. The collision occurred in the fog. Both vessels were going dead slow at the time. About an after the Germanic started she has an extra lookout man, but it was impossible to avoid the collision. The cries of the Cambrae's passengers were heart-rending when they supposed that the vessel was sinking. The Germanic's bulkheads were immediately closed, so that very little water penetrated hull. A volunteer crew from the Germanic and Cambrae started to draw the fires and to save the valuacles on board the Cambrae, but she sank before they reached her. This crew thus left behind lost traces of the Germanic, but fortunately their cries attracted a tug, which rescued them. Lord Dunraven in an interview after he had landed said they felt very little shock from the collision, and that there was no excitement. Everybody did his duty with the utmost coolness.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11 .- Up to the time of the closing of the offices of the White Star line tonight it was said that no cable had been received by them giving details of the collision. It was said by an official at the White Star line office that, in event of the Germanic being so badly disabled as to necess tate her laying to, Lord Dunraven, who is among her passengers, would be transferred to the Cunard steamer Umbria, as he is anxious to reach this

He began by re-marking that when the tameness of the speech from the throne was compared with the emperor's speech on the same day at Breslau, it was easy to understand why Chancellor von Hohenlohe had been deputed to read the former by proxy. He reminded the house that many well known socialists, including Herr Miquel in the wild days of his political youth, had fought and suffered for the cause of German unity at a time when its chief oppon-ents were Hohenzollerns and Prussian junkers. The attitude of the social-ists toward the Sedan celebration was governed by the conviction that never was a more fatal mistake committed than the annexation of the reichsland, which had made Russia the chief ariter of the destinies of Europe. socialists had never claimed to be angels, and they could not be expected to forget the manner in which they had been treated during the reign of the first William. The Orange Member of the Canadian Cabinet.

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 11.-Hon. Clark Wallace, controller of customs in the dominion cabinet, has resigned because he canot approve of the course which the government has adopted in its attitude on the Manitoba school question. Wallace is grand master of the Orange grand lodge of British North America. The resignation will undoubtedly have a far-reaching political effect. It is believed to foreshadow an alliance between Dalton McCarthy, E. F. Clark and Clark Wallace, leaders of the Orange body in Ontario, and the possible formation of a third party. The opposition leaders claim that, despite its several promises, the government will not dare introduce a remedial bill for the relief of the Catholics in Manitoba in the face of the opposition of the whole Orange body and that cf thousands of dissatisfied Protestant electors. On the other hand, if the ment fail to bring in remedial legislation. Quebec will offer direct opposition, and this, combined with the drawal of Catholic support in Ontario, vould tend to render even more uncer tain the political fortunes of the Con-

Republican National Committee Confers With the Victorious Delegation

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Dec. 11.→ The Democratic state central committee met at the Grand hotel here today. By invitation of the committee representative Democrats, including candidates, political "Nestors" and statemen, are here to take counsel and give advice. The reorganization of the state for the coming campaign was the official purpose of the conference, and it received due consideration from the 200 or 300 party men gathered together, but chief interest centered upon a boom to be launched for Gov. Matthews, who was formally presented to the country as a candidata for the presidency and promised the undivided suport of the Indiana Democracy. Mayor Thomas Taggart, Indianapolis, was indorsed for governor. One measure of reform hoped for as a fruit of this conference is a plan of county organization that may become effective throughout the state at a simultaneous date. The following resolution was unanimously adopted: "That the Democratic state central committee unanimously recommend to the Democracy of the Union Gov. Claude Matthews as a suitable candidate for the presidency of the United

"We know that Gov. Claude Matthews, in his services in the legislature of our state, in the administrative of-fice of secretary of state, and as chief executive of the state of Indiana, has gained a very useful experience in public affairs; that he is studious, industrious, cautious and firm in the discharge of public duty; that his popularity is evidenced by the uniform suc-cess of his canvasses before the people hitherto. We therefore respectfully present him to our fellow Democrats of the nation as a fit and proper person to be the standard bearer of the National Democratic party in the presidential contest of 1896."

SETTLING THE DETAILS.

Arrangements for the Republican National Committee. WASHINGTON, Dec. 11.-The main details of the Republican national con-vention at St. Louis on June 16 were perfected at a meeting today of the subcommittee appointed last night to take charge of arrangements. Kerens and Mr. Thompson, reperesenting St. Louis, were present ent and gave assurances the plans proposed would plans proposed would be ily executed. The committee speedily executed. agreed that the seating arrangements of the St. Louis exposition building needed remodeling. At present the rostrum is at one end of the vast hall. so that people at the other end are too far away to hear what is going on. It was decided to have the rostrum placed midway and at one side of the hall, with the seats of delegates arranged accordingly. A diagram of the change is to be completed by the St. Louis people by the time of the subcommittee's reassembling. It will show the central arrangements and will designate the seats of each state delegation. The alterations of the building probably will cost $15,000.

The question of allotting tickets brought out much animated discussion, The exposition building accommodates 15,000 people, but these limits are expected to be severely taxed. It is understood that an understanding was reached that the St. Louis local com-3,000 tickets, and that of these 500 should go to veterans of the war and 500 to distinguished guests. The national committee, it is understood, will control the balance of the tickets, as well as retaining a supervisory auth over the 3,000 tickets going to St. Louis. The subcommittee adjourned to meet in St. Louis the latter part of January, the date to be announced hereafter. They will personally inspect the hall and all other features of the convention. Chairman Carter expects to issue the formal call for the national terday, quite a large number of St. Louis citizens arrived here tonight just to show New Yorkers what they are made of and to wake up the Gothamites who tried unsuccessfully to bring the Republican convention of 1890 to the Empire City. The party is headed by Mayor Wallbridge, and arrived on the Baltimore & Ohio train at 7 o'clock tonight. Congressman Frank said: "You can just tell everybody there is a big boom on its way to St. Louis which cannot be side-tracked. Of course you New Yorkers will say that you didn't want the convenier, but we know you did, and you couldn't get it. You sent on a fine lot of representatives, but the Chicago gang was too tough for them. Now, here is the whole thing in a nutshell: St. Louis stepped in with its accustomed dign'ty and earnestness, and the result was that we carried off the plum.
