On to Buffalo!

The invasion of Buffalo by the brave boys in blue has commenced. It will be a peaceful invasion, and the only semblance of a military invasion will be the parade of the thousands of veterans of the Civil war. It is expected that this, the thirty-first annual encampment, will exceed in numbers any held heretofore.

The first of the Minnesota veterans—the pioneers as it were—started yesterday, and the indications are that Minnesota will present a strong turnout. The main body, however, will leave this evening, and they will number a host, too, for hundreds of tickets have already been sold and berths in sleepers assigned. There never has been a time when the crowd has been so divided, every road running out of St. Paul and Minneapolis will get a share of the patronage and many of the intending excursionists are waiting until the last moment to purchase their tickets in hopes that today the roads will commence cutting rates. It is very evident though that the present low rates of $1.50 for the round trip from St. Paul will be maintained.

The "Soo" line has made a special bid for the business from the Northwest and has made elaborate preparations to make the brave old boys comfortable on their trip. A special train of seven cars over this road will leave St. Paul at 7:40 p. m. tonight, and will consist of first-class sleepers, tourist cars, day coaches, buffet and a baggage car. The price of meals in the dining car has been cut to a very low figure—lower than the figures on the menu card of the average restaurant. This will be the official train of the North Dakota department and not a few of the St. Paul comrades will also travel by this route. The "line of march" is by way of Sault Ste. Marie, with an hour's stop to see the new canal, Toronto, Hamilton and Niagara Falls, at which latter place another lay-over of two hours will afford a view of this world-famous wonder.

The North Dakota vets arrived on a special over the "Soo" last evening. Col. E. C. Geary, the department commander, reports that about seventy members of the G. A. R., with their families, are en route to the encampment. This is a very much larger representation than was expected.

The Burlington pulled out a special late night and will arrive at Chicago, thence over the Erie. On it will be the department commander, E. C. Geary, and his staff, and about 250 veterans, many of them accompanied by their wives. The train will include nine sleepers, a commissary car, dining and baggage cars. The meals to veterans will be free.

The committee from the four St. Paul posts, Garfield, Acker, Ord and Gettysburg, recently adopted the Wisconsin Central as their official route, the train to run straight through from Chicago to Buffalo over the Wabash line. It will include three or four sleepers, day car, dining and baggage car, and will leave at 7:40 tonight. Among some of the familiar personages who will be seen on the train are Capt. H. A. Casle, J. J. McCarty, Albert Scheffer and Joe L. Brigham. But, as mentioned above, this arrangement was not entirely satisfactory to all, and the local business will be split up among all the roads.

How many veterans from Minnesota will attend the encampment? A conservative estimate places the number at considerably over 1,000, besides the ladies and other excursionists, who will take advantage of the cheap rates. At least many farmers will attend—dollar wheat was a convincing argument to induce them to take a little recreation. The four St. Paul posts alone will send nearly 200.

It is more than probable that the next encampment will be held at Cincinnati. An Ohio man is also a candidate for the selection of commander-in-chief of the G. A. R., and it is thought he will receive the support of the Minnesota delegates.

A special car made up largely of veterans residing in the towns along the line of the Hastings & Dakota division, left on the Milwaukee last night and the Wisconsin Central had one or two cars.

Worthington's delegation to the encampment at Buffalo, started at noon by a special car. Twenty persons were in the party, Town, Shepard, Bigham, Vall, Leonard, Shattuck, Baker and others went. They came by the Omaha and passed through St. Paul last evening. Several ladies accompanied them. The New York central has gotten out a neat button for encampment visitors. It bears in the center a picture of the

BITTEN BY A DOG.

Mrs. Kate Taylor Attacked by a St. Bernard.

Mrs. Kate Taylor, a colored resident of "Paradise Alley," in the rear of 608 Robert street, was in state of nervous excitement last evening over a dog bite received during the afternoon. The woman lives in the neighborhood where Amelia Branch and an Italian boy are supposed to have died from hydrophobia last spring and the fact that the dog which bit her is said to have run rampant with the canine thought to have caused the death of the children, when it was terrorizing the neighborhood, causes Mrs. Taylor much uneasiness of mind.

The dog is a female St. Bernard, owned by E. Bentley, 538 Robert street, but aside from having the responsibility of a family on her hands at the present time, is not considered vicious, nor is she believed by her owner to have been in company with the dog which bit her. Mrs. Taylor stopped at the back gate to talk to Miss Bentley yesterday afternoon, and says the dog sprang at her throat. She turned and ran when the animal sank its teeth into the flesh of her right leg above the knee. The flesh was somewhat lacerated, but the dog made no further attack. Aside from the cases of supposed hydrophobia in the neighborhood several months ago, Mrs. Taylor says she would feel little alarm, but the fear that Mr. Bentley's dog might have been bitten by the brute with rabies renders her extremely apprehensive, though she had not last evening yet consulted a physician.

WANTED AT SUPERIOR.

Albert Duford Taken Back to Answer Larceny Charge.

Albert Duford, the young man arrested Friday with a dismantled bicycle in his possession, which was believed to have been stolen, was taken to West Superior last night to answer the charge of grand larceny. It is claimed that Duford was taken to West Superior because he was believed to be the man who had stolen a bicycle from the house of John Allard during the G. A. R. encampment last year for stealing a watch from a guest at the Metropolitan hotel. For this offense he was arrested in this city under the name of John Allard during the G. A. R. encampment last year for stealing a watch from a guest at the Metropolitan hotel. For this offense he was arrested in this city under the name of John Allard during the G. A. BURNED BY GASOLINE.

Charles F. Feese Suffers Injuries to His Hands.

Charles F. Feese, the sixteen-year-old son of C. Feese, living at 228 Ramsey street, was slightly burned about the hands by flaming gasoline shortly after 6 o'clock last evening. The boy had lit a gasoline stove and spilled some of the oil on the floor. The end of a burned match fell into the exposed liquid and ignited it, causing the kitchen to take fire and burning the youth's hands. The fire department extinguished the flames in the kitchen with little damage. Mr. Feese's burns are of little slight.

Didn't Intend to Keep Them.

Anna Coshack, the girl accused of helping herself to the belongings of Anna Levin's, was arrested at Chaska by Detective Carwell, and returned to St. Paul yesterday, when she was arraigned in court on the charge of larceny. The prisoner is but seventeen years old, and admits having taken Miss Levin's property, though she claims any intention of stealing. She says she only borrowed the wearing apparel, watch and ring to attend a wedding at Winona, and intended to return the things. Miss Levin said she did not desire to prosecute the girl if she could get her property back, and the case was continued until Sept. 6.

Dislodged the Enemy.

"We have at last succeeded in dislodging a portion of our enemy from their stronghold!" exclaimed the almost breathless Spaniards, who were engaged in a struggle with the enemy in the city of Madrid, last night. The enemy was dislodged and the city was saved.

"How did you manage it?" "My brave men and I went too close to where they were and they came out and chased us."—Washington Star.

CONGRESS IS NEAR

THAT OF THE NATIONAL FARMERS OPENS AT THE CAPITOL NEXT WEEK.

MANY NOTABLES ARE COMING.

SECRETARY OF AGRICULTURE WILSON EXPECTED TO BE AMONG THE NUMBER.

HEADQUARTERS ARE NOW OPEN.

Some Delegates Are Also Expected From Central America—Outline of Programme.

The time for the seventeenth annual meeting of the Farmers' National congress, which will be held in this city, is approaching. It opens Tuesday of next week, and will continue for three days. Friday of that week, the delegates will take a run out to the Red river valley and look over the wheat fields after they have been robbed of their wealthy coat of grain. Official headquarters for the convention have been established at the Hotel Ryan, where Secretary John M. Stahl, of Chicago, will have his office. Delegates are expected to report at the secretary's office on arrival and register and receive badges. The sessions of the convention will be held in the hall of the house of representatives in the state capitol. The detailed programme has already been printed in the Globe, but its main features are reprinted.

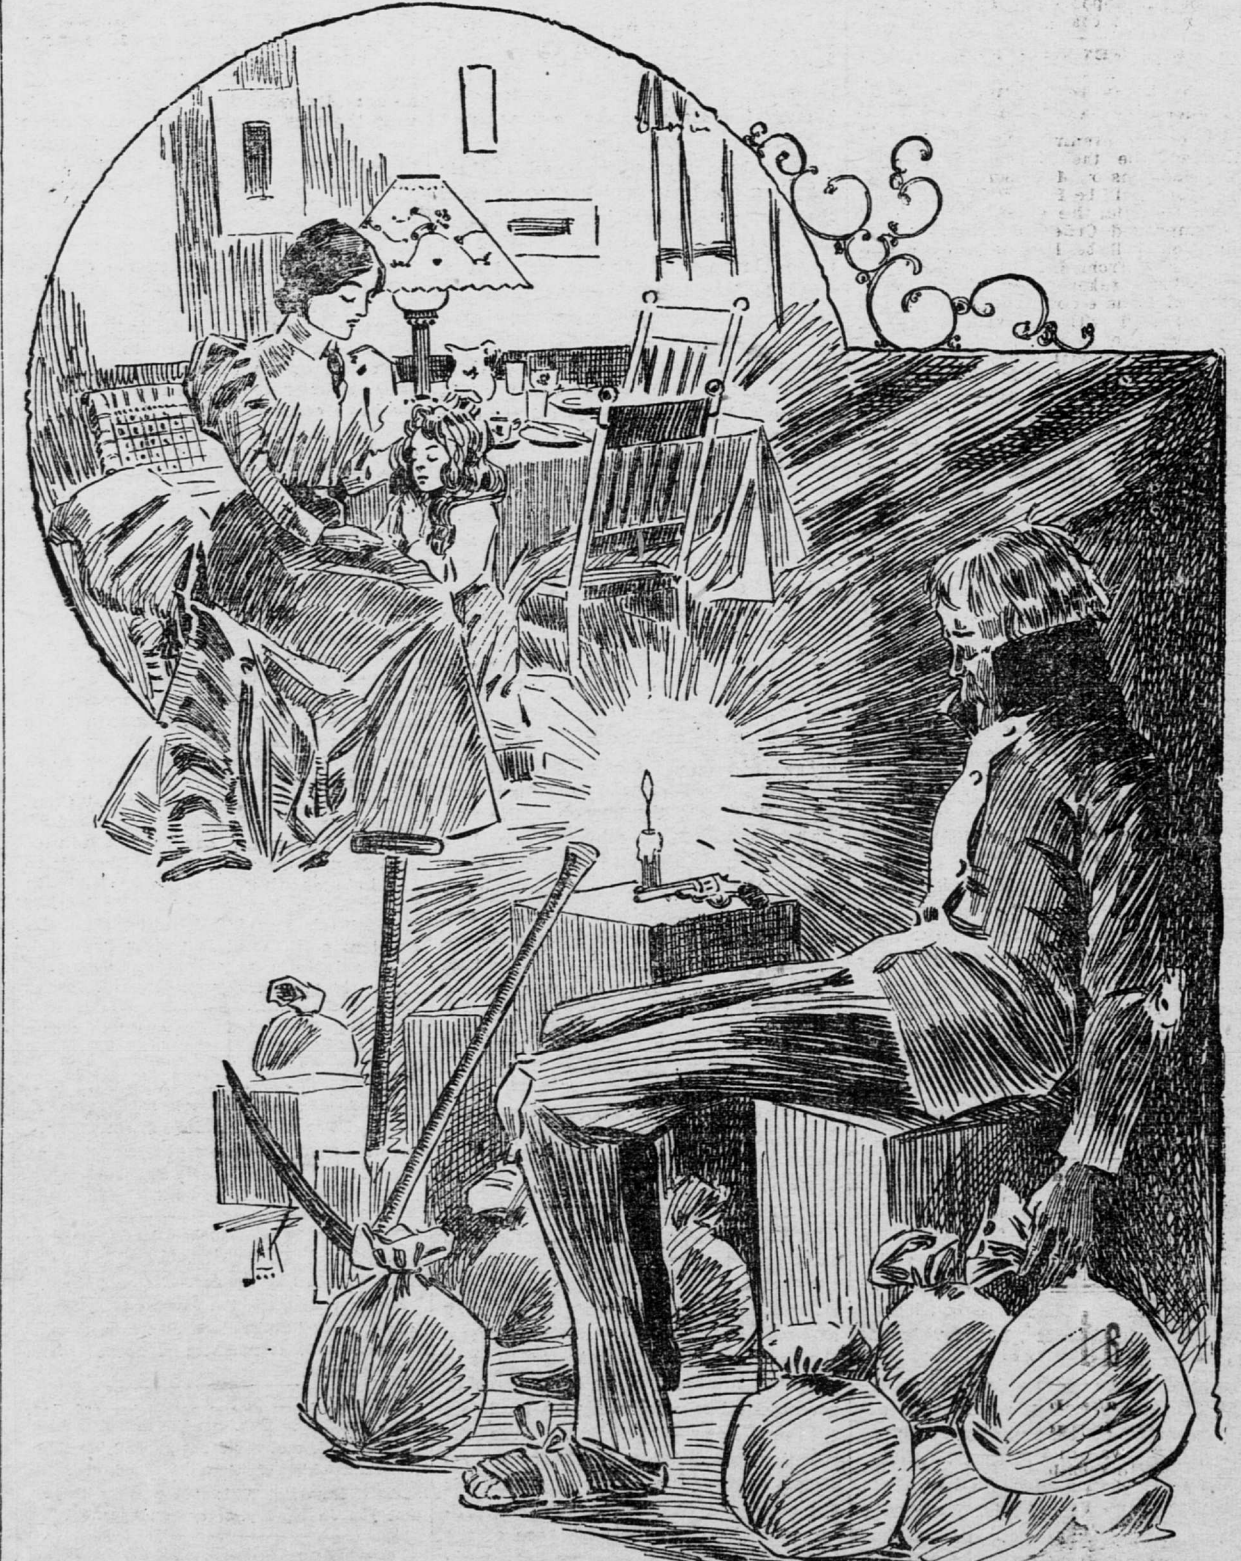

The convention will open Tuesday morning, Aug. 31, at 10 o'clock a. m., being called to order by the president, B. F. Clayton, of Indianapolis, 10. The invocation will be by Archbishop Ireland, and Mayor Doran, of St. Paul, will deliver an address of welcome, to which Secretary Stahl will reply. Another address of welcome will be given on behalf of the State Agricultural society by President Ed Weaver, of Mankato, and Col. J. S. Cunningham, of North Carolina, second vice president, will respond. Gov. Clough will welcome the delegates on behalf of the state, and to this Col. Clayton will respond.

After the call of the states, Col. Clayton will deliver his annual address. A committee on credentials will be appointed and then adjournment will be taken until the afternoon. At 2 p. m. the committee on credentials will report and other committees will at once be appointed. During the afternoon B. B. F. Candage, of Massachusetts, will make an address on the value of river and harbor improvements to the farmer, and F. M. Powell, president of the Iowa Agricultural society, will speak on agriculture's effects on the character of man.

Perhaps the most interesting feature of the afternoon will be the address of Dean W. M. Liggett, of the department of agriculture of the University of Minnesota, on "Best Method to Still Further Increase the Usefulness and Practical Value of Agricultural Education." C. A. Zanitz, of the Ontario Agricultural college, and E. P. Bernardin, of Oklahoma, will also speak during the afternoon.

Tuesday evening's session will present Secretary of Agriculture, Wilson, as the principal speaker. His topic will be "The Relation of the National Government to the Agricultural Interests." At this session Prof. Thomas Shaw, of the school of agriculture, will also make an address, and Mrs. Elinor Ventrice Edwards, of Minnesota, will have a paper on "Futuristic Farming." The first thing at Wednesday morning's session will be the election of officers. Later in the morning Dr. A.

A KLONDIKER'S DREAM.

He forgot for a moment the hunger and cold. The weakness, the longing and fierce racking pain. And his soul loosed its grip on the dearly bought gold. And away from the storms, over mountain and plain, It sped to the sunshine, to love and to life; To color and beauty, to child and to wife.

DUG UP THE MONEY

PARTIES WHO HAD ROEBUCK'S $180 COULDN'T STAND THE GAFF.

RESULT OF FUREY'S THREAT

WAS THAT THE MONEY WAS DELIVERED TO ITS RIGHTFUL OWNER.

POLICE DEPARTMENT SHOOK UP.

The Young Man Behind the Bars Clubbing Himself Because He Lost His Head.

The story in the Globe yesterday, relative to the $180 which was "held out" on George Roebuck, who claims to have been robbed of $700 by Thomas Furey a week ago, was like a blast of giant powder exploded over the river to make it give up its dead. The concussion shook police circles from center to circumference. It caused the $180 to be dislodged from the meshes into which it had fallen and returned to its owner. The money was turned over by Attorney John E. Hearn, who declined to say for whom he was acting. Who had the money and why Roebuck and the public had been allowed to believe the $180 was taken by one of the alleged thieves are questions which will probably not be proclaimed from the house tops. The following explanation, however, is given by Chief Goss:

"At the time of the investigation of this matter, a week ago, in the office of the mayor, it was apparent that 'Kid' Furey, now in the county jail, had robbed Roebuck of $700. The thief was followed into the saloon of W. H. Griffin, where $250 was recovered. This sum is now in my possession, and is being held until the trial of Furey. The other $450 was not discovered. At that investigation Griffin was informed that the money disappeared within a few minutes after the robbery, and that the thief was chased into his saloon. Griffin was told that this sum would have to be turned over to the robbed man or his saloon closed. It was shown at that time that Furey was ill and not at the saloon when Furey was captured. Griffin was told that this course was not taken against him, but that the same policy would be pursued respecting any saloon."

Whether Furey's threat "to tell all he knew" had the effect of turning up the missing money is a question, but one thing is certain, it did not release him from jail, and he is still one of Sheriff Wagner's enforced guests. He evidently reconsidered his determination "to peach," however, and while in anything but an amiable frame of mind yesterday, absolutely refused to make the threatened statement. When Furey's threat became known there was a decidedly accelerated movement commonly termed "hustling," in certain circles to make a recovery of the missing money. It was plainly evident that the missing money could not be turned over to the prisoner, as his wife declared should be done to defray the expenses of attorneys' fees, and on the other hand it was realized as likely to be more disastrous to keep the wealth longer "planted." Something had to be done, however, and the rapidity with which the money was turned to its owner caused as much talk around town as did the original theft.

Furey's threat thus enriched Roebuck to the extent of $180, and breathing in some quarters is easier, but just where Furey is benefited he couldn't figure out himself. At it begins to look as if "Mayor" Griffin had decided to throw the young man over, since his overhauls and threats, and let the imprisoned man take care of himself. Roebuck has all his money now, and while the situation is decidedly embarrassing all around, the concerted effort directed toward hustling the matter up may prove any day that Furey's threat "to equal" yesterday that his threat to "sneak" had leaked and was in a consuming rage. At the time he had set to make sure his revelations he was called upon by a reporter, but questions elicited only a surly answer. He raved at the reporter, the newspapers and everything in general, and rammed about the corridor in a manner to be let severely alone by the other prisoners.

"You said if 'Mayor' Griffin did not get you out of jail by noon you would talk," suggested the reporter. "Go to the," retorted Furey. "You are a liar, so is the whole bunch. Any time I make a sucker out of myself come around and ask me questions. I wasn't born yesterday, you make me tired."

"Well, but you know Roebuck got that $180 back, don't you?" "To— with Roebuck! Get away from here and let me alone. I guess I know my business," and the irate young man took his corner.

M'KINLEY'S PROGRAMME.

He Will Start for Buffalo Next Tuesday.

BLUFF POINT, N. Y., Aug. 21.—Secretary of War Alger came back here today with the president, and will stay until the party leaves for Buffalo, arriving at 7 o'clock this morning, but being fatigued after his trip remained in the private car until a late hour. Gen. Alger said that the present programme of the president is to leave here on Tuesday morning at 2 o'clock and go through to Buffalo on a special train, arriving there about 2 o'clock on Wednesday. Dr. Deane's private car will be reserved for the use of the president and his immediate party, while a combination car will serve for the other guests. The party will go via Albany, instead of by the Saratoga and Schenectady route. Albany will be reached by 7 a. m., but no stop beyond switching time will be made.

The secretary of war was asked as to the character of the report upon the fortifications for San Diego. He said: "My absence from here yesterday has delayed my examination of many business letters. I have not seen the report as yet, and I rather doubt if it is here yet. Later in the day I shall have a chance to examine it, if it proves to be among my mail."

Ethan A. Hitchcock, of St. Louis, the newly appointed minister to Russia, arrived here today, and paid his respects to the president. The vice president and Mrs. Hobart were numbered among the missing when President McKinley returned. Mrs. Hobart has, for the past few days, been in poor health, and her physicians believed she would improve more rapidly at home. Upon this advice it was decided yesterday to return to New Jersey, and the vice presidential party left on a late afternoon train. It is expected that they will return later to finish out the season.

Later, the president, Mrs. McKinley, Mrs. Abner McKinley, Miss McKinley, Secretary of War Alger, Mrs. Alger and Miss Alger, after witnessing dress parade by the soldiers of the nearby post, took a special train for Port Henry to be the guest of Frank Withersbee. Mr. Withersbee was the opponent in the last Republican convention of the congressional district of the present congressman, Wallace T. Foote, and to some here today there was political significance in the visit. The party took dinner at Mr. Withersbee's. Before leaving, Gen. Alger said: "You may say that there has as yet no in-maturation reached me, but the report on the harbor defenses of San Diego. The mail contains nothing of the kind."

SANDSTONE QUARRIES THERE WILL BE VISITED BY THE CAPITAL COMMISSIONERS

BEFORE ANY AWARD IS MADE.

MEMBERS SPEAK HIGHLY OF WINONA STONE, BUT THAT ISN'T TAKEN TO MEAN

THAT IT WILL BE SELECTED.

Mr. Seabury Thinks It Will Be Some Days Before a Decision Is Reached.

The members of the state capitol commission returned yesterday noon from their jaunt to Winona, whither they went to look at the quarries of the Winona limestone. The entire board, with the exception of Ed Weaver, went on the trip, and they crowded a great deal of sight-seeing into thirty-six hours.

On arriving at Winona they were met at the depot by a delegation of the prominent citizens of the place, and after dinner were taken in carriages to the quarries, about two miles from town. A careful examination was made with special reference to the quantity of stone in sight, its quality and the formation of the strata. Yesterday morning the board took the train for Bear creek, twenty miles distant, where another large quarry is located. The stone is practically the same kind as at Winona. The commissioners were well satisfied with the outlook and merited highly of the stone—but whether or not it will enter into the construction of the new building is another matter. It was determined not to hold a session of the board yesterday and the meeting now stands adjourned until Monday afternoon. Most of the out of town members left for their homes to spend Sunday.

The headquarters of the board in the Endicott building were again thronged with interested contractors and stone men yesterday afternoon, and among the callers was Ed Weaver, one of the commissioners. He stated that he would be unable to attend the board for several days, but expressed a desire that the commissioners would pay a visit to the Kettle river sandstone quarries before taking final action, and also wished to be one of the party. It is very likely that they will visit several others of the quarries in this vicinity before arriving at a conclusion.

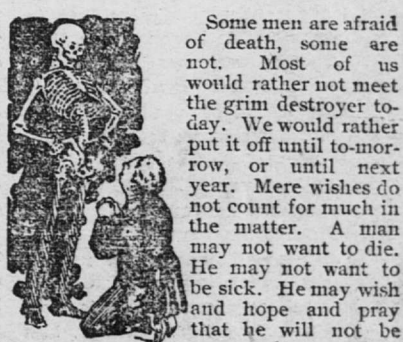

All this means that the board will not let the contract for several days yet at least. Channing Seabury, the vice president, said to a reporter for the Globe that the matter will probably not be decided for some time; the board is anxious to investigate the merits of the different kinds of stone thoroughly before making its choice, and there is no prospect of an immediate agreement upon anything. At any rate the contract will hardly be let without the presence of all the commissioners.

Delegates Coming to Attend the Convention of Druggists.

CHICAGO, Aug. 21.—About 100 delegates to the forty-fifth annual meeting of the American Pharmaceutical association, which begins Aug. 23 at Lake Michigan, will arrive in Chicago Monday morning. They will rendezvous at the Great Northern hotel at 10 a. m., where they will meet by committee of the Western Drug Retailers' society and the Chicago Retail Druggists' association, who are preparing a programme for the day's entertainment. The delegates will leave at 1 p. m. on a special train over the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway.

About 500 delegates are expected at the meeting of the association, and all who pass through Chicago have been invited to stop here. Such druggists will be principally from the Central states and Mississippi valley. A majority of the delegates will arrive in the city yesterday at Buffalo and make a steamer for Duluth. The Chicago reception committee is headed by G. P. Engelhard, of the Western Drug Retailers' association, who has now 1,500 members. The association has held yearly meetings in various cities and pleasure, the first five having been held in succession in Montreal, Denver, Asheville, N. C.; San Francisco and New Orleans.

There is no hat like a good hat. The Gordon!

Some men are afraid of death, some are not. Most of us would rather not meet the grim destroyer to-day. We would rather put it off until tomorrow, or until next year. Mere wishes do not count for much in this matter. A man may not want to die, but he may not want to be sick. He may wish and hope and pray that he will not be one or do the other, but wishing and hoping won't help him. It is what he does, and not what he wishes that serve his purpose. If a man is losing flesh, is nervous, irritable, sleepless and debilitated, he may wish he would get well, but one bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will do more than an ocean of wishes. If a man is on the way to consumption, he should make a stop as quickly as possible. He should put on braces. He needn't be afraid he has consumption if he will do the right thing—if he will just take the right medicine. The "Golden Medical Discovery" cures incipient and well developed consumption. Consumption is a germ disease, a blood disease. The "Golden Medical Discovery" kills the germs and purifies the blood. It increases the appetite, helps digestion, makes assimilation perfect, and so builds up solid, wholesome flesh. Hundreds of grateful people afflicted with consumption, bronchitis, throat and kindred diseases, have testified that it has actually saved their lives. For the sake of the information they contain, some of these letters have been included in Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a thousand page, illustrated book, which will be sent free on receipt of twenty-cent (21) one-cent stamps, pay for mailing only. Every family should have a copy for ready reference in case of sudden sickness or accidents. World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 653 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.
