It is apparent that the Duluth man not only has the people's party following, but that there is a considerable element in the Democratic party which is favorably disposed to him, so far as he is personally concerned. The question, therefore, seems to be whether or not a nominal yielding of professions shall be made for the sake of unity, and that is the problem that is to be solved between now and Tuesday. day.

That Gov. Lind's policy will not follow the lines laid down by his predecessor in ignoring the letter of the law is apparent from his action yesterday in reappointing George H. Goodrich, of Anoka, as a member of the state board of pharmacy. Two years ago, it will be remembered, in order to secure the ousting of H. G. Webster, as secretary of the board, Gov. Clough appointed Truman Griffin, of Minneapolis, to succeed Mr. Webster as one of the board, in spite of the fact that the law governing the appointment provided that the appointment should be made from a list furnished by the state pharmaceutical association. Gov. Clough construed this clause as a limitation of the appointive power, and the senate struggled for a long time with the case, finally deciding with the governor, who was of the same political faith as its majority. The minority, however, went down with colors flying, insisting that the limitation was proper, and within the powers of the legislature when it passed the law.

Gov. Lind, in making the appointment yesterday, referred to the law and appointed the old member of the board, who had the indorsement of the state association.

To the Editor of The Globe:

May I correct a statement or two that has appeared in The Globe recently. First—Neither myself nor my wife are in any way relatives of Mr. Klehle or his family. Mr. Klehle is of German extraction. Mrs. Gray is of the purest strain of Puritan blood, and I myself am of Scotch-Irish ancestry. It would be difficult to relate us in blood, and we have no other relation. Second—I did not know of any "Kiehle-Pendergast ring or combine." If there is any, I am opposed to it, as I am to combinations everywhere. My relations to Mr. Kiehle and Mr. Pendergast have been only such as any educator of the state should have with the office of state superintendent. Third—A service of over twenty years in the educational work of the state, in the various positions of teacher, of state institute conductor, of president of one of our normal schools, and as a member of the university faculty, makes my educational work one of general public record. If the governor feels that the interests of the schools, and especially the common schools, will be best served by calling me to the superintendency, I shall administer the office absolutely free from all "entangling albances." In the meantime I am making no canvass against any other candidate, and shall give my cordial support to the man the governor shall think best to select.
