What Old-Line Leaders Say of Issues That Are Dead and of Those That Are Vital.

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 8.—The New Orleans Picayune sent telegraphic requests to many leading Democrats in various sections of the country asking expressions with reference to the future of the Democratic party. The following are extracts from some of the replies:

T. C. Catchings, Mississippi—Drop free silver; drop fusionism; drop the cry of government by lipjunction; drop the cry of imperialism and militarism; drop all discussion—about the Philippines until peace has been restored; drop appeals to the passions and prejudices of the didle and discontented; revive the fundamental question of taxation; teach the Democratic doctrine that people cannot be made rich by taxing them; assail the favoritism and wrongs of a high protective tariff; stand for the control of trusts and combines by methods not oppressive; demand enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission and the liberal improvement of that has an all the party as it has existed during the last four years.

All are equally interested in the success of the party on a sound and patrices of the party of the are extracts from some of the replies:

T. C. Catchings, Mississippi—Drop free silver; drop fusionism; drop the cry of government by lipjunction; drop the cry of imperialism and militarism; drop all discussion—about the Philippines—until peace has been restored; drop appeals to the passions and prejudices of the idle and discontented; revive the fundamental question of taxation; teach the Democratic doctrine that people cannot be made rich by taxing them; assail the favoritism and wrongs of a high protective tariff; stand for the control of trusts and combines by methods not oppressive; demand enlargement of the powers of the interstate commerce commission and the liberal improvement of harbors, and insist on local self-government, and let the next presidential candidate remain at home during the campaign.

Hoke Smith, Atlanta, Ga.—I doubt the advisability of reorganization. A party which can poll the enormous vote that the Democratic party has recently polled is far from being a dead party. More conservative councils will prevail in future conventions, and with a pronounced sound money platform in 1904, with a man against whom no factional fight can be made, there is every reason to believe the party will triumph.

Heve the party will triumph.

Horace Boles, Iowa—My belief is we should drop 16 to 1; let the money question rest while conditions remain as at present; organize Democratic clubs in every voting precinct to send delegates to county, from county to state and from state to national convention of delegates to meet periodically and formulate a platform for the party. This should be based on principles enunciated in our declaration of independence. Insist on a strict construction of the sole source of legislative power in congress. No subjugation of unwilling principles by force, Expansion in everything that pertains to peace, contraction in everything that pertains to unnecessary war. One form of government for all, one flog, one people, with equal rights to all and special privileges to none.

William Vilas, Wisconsin—You can not wisely operate on a patient in utter collapse. When natural revival ensues, if party consciousness comes back with returning vitality, the way of Democracy is as clear as the path of honesty and fidelity. Let Democracy turn from its folly and live.

John G. Carlisle—In order to achieve success or to become beneficial to the country as an opposition party, the Democracy must abandon all its present issues, free itself from all demoralizing alliances and return to the true principles of the party. The new questions precipitated upon the country by the conduct of the present administration and the declarations of its support-

M'KINLEY AT THE CAPITAL

RECEIVED MANY CALLERS-CABI-NET MEETING TODAY.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8 .- President Mc-Kinley and his party arrived at 8:10 this morning. Several hundred people had assembled at the Pennsylvania depot to bid the president welcome and a large number of the police were on hand to prevent a crush. Secretary Hitchcock, General Corbin and other officials Henry Watterson, Louisville—As the Democrats are cast down by the result of this election will the Republicans be elated and thrown off their guard. They will fancy that they have the world in a sling. They are certain to proceed to excesses. They cannot restrain either their zealots or their scamps. All the clever rogues of the time, seeing where the pickings and stealing lie, have got into the Republican party. The new territories are veritable gold mines of pillage. Acts and outrage cannot be repressed or escaped. The people at home will stand aghast before the riot of corruption and despotism with the disappearance of the fancied dangers incident to a charge of parties, as it were, in the face of the energy or words to that effect, wherewithal the Republicans have deluded the voters, and forgetfulness of the passions aroused by the luckless misadventure attendant upon the revolutionary fusion movement undertaken by the Democratic leaders of the last half decade, the opportunity of the chastened, enlightened and reorganized Democratic party will come, and when it comes there must arise a leader of the stature of Jefferson, of Jackson, and of Tilden, to give it expression and effect. gathered about the platform of the pres ident's car and were the first to welcome and congratulate him. The crowd outside broke into hearty cheers when the president made his appearance with Mrs. McKinley.

After hasty greetings, the party was driven to the White house, where the president had breakfast and then returned to his duties.

The trip beyond Pittsburg was at night and uneventful, although knots of people gathered at the stations throughout the night to see the train go by.

The president has been busy today receiving callers. Secretary Gage, Secretary Hay, Attorney General Griggs and Secretary Hitchcock called early to offer their congratulations to the president

Concerning himself, Mr. Bryan said: "I have come out of the campaign with perfect health and a clear conscience. I did my utmost to bring success to the principles for which I stood. Mr. Stevenson did all he could. Senator Jones and the members of the Democratic, Populist, Silver Republican and Anti-Imperialist committees did all they could. Mr. Hearst and his associates in the club organization put forth their best efforts. Our newspapers, our campaign specches and our local organizations all did their part. I have no fault to find and no repreaches. I shall continue to take an active interest in politics as long as I live. I believe it to be the duty of the citizens to do so, and in addition to my interest as a citizen I feel that it will require a life time of work to repay the political friends who have done so much for me." # cerning the election: "The result was a surprise to me, and the magnitude of the Republican victory was a surprise to cur opponents as well as to those who voted our ticket. It is impossible to analyze the returns until they are more complete; but speaking generally we seem to have gained in the large cities and to have lost in the smailer clities and in the country. "The Republicans were able to scoure tickets or passes for all their voters who were away from home, and this gave them considerable advantage. We have no way of knowing at this time how much money was spent in the purchase of votes and in colonization. But while these would account for some of the Republican gains, they could not account for the widespread increase in the Republican vote. The prosperity argument was probably the most potent one used by the Republicans. They compared present concitions with the panic times of 1893 to 1896, and this argument had weight with those who did not stop to consider the reasons for the change. The appeal 'Stand by the president while the war is on' had a great deal of influence among those who did not realize that a war against a doctrine of self government in the Philippines must react upon us in this country. We made an honest fight upon an honest platform, and have

With this ratio of increase, McKinley will have a plurality of about 5,000 in the state. There were 12,000 to 15,000 more votes polled in the state than in 1896 and the fusionists claim these are mostly from the cities and towns which have already been heard from and that the counties yet unreported will give Bryan a small plurality in the state. The state ticket is running close to the ticket on president and it may require the official count to decide on governor and other state offices. Both sides claim four out of the six congressmen. The legislative is closer than any other ticket. The Douglas county delegation will be split about in half between fusionists and Republicans. ### MATT QUAY'S JOB.

He Will Have a Close Call in Pennsylvania Legislature.

HARRISBURG, Pa., Nov. 8.—It is fig-ured here by those who kept close watch of the contest for the control of the next legislature that the two branches will line up as follows:
House of Representatives: Quay, Republicans 106; anti-Quay, Republicans and fusionists 55; Democrats, 43. Total, I'y these figures the Quay Republicans have only three votes over the necessary 103 to organize the house.

Senate: Quay, Republicans 25; antiQuay, Republicans 12; Democrats, 13.

This would make the senate a tie, between Quay and anti-Quay and creates an interesting situation as regards the organization of the body and the disposition of what the Democrats and anti-Quay Republicans may consider to be partian legislation and authornational partisan legislation and gubernational

On joint ballot, according to these figures, Mr. Quay, if he is a candidate for United States senate will have 131 votes on joint ballot, three more than the number necessary to a choice. Mr. Quay has declared that he will be a candidate and his friends say he will stick to his determination. The legislature ballots for senator on Jan. 15. The leaders of the Pusiness Men's league, which organization has handled the fight against Mr. Quay in many of the countles for several years, assert that they have enough votes to prevent Mr. Quay's re-election. They further declare that Mr. Quay's friends cannot organize either branch of the legislature.

"We have discovered that not only have systematic frauds been practiced all over the state, but in some counties that the state is the state in the there was wholesale exclusion of voters from the polls. In Fayette county, for instance, in two precincts, 500 voters were kept from voting. In Breathitt 600 per-sons were kept from voting. Chailengers and inspectors were also excluded from the booths. In numbers of counties the returns were padded by the Democrais, notably in Franklin and Owen

The Indiana congressional delegation remains the same as it stood in the last congress with the exception of the Fifth district, where E. S. Holliday, (Rep.), succeeds George Farris, (Rep.)

Official returns are in from fourteen counties. The plurality for McKinley will be between 20,000 and 25,000. The legislature is forty-one Republican on joint ballot from present indications.
Indiana Republican leaders will urge Senator Fairbanks for the presidency in 1904. Leading Democrats favor reorganization of the Democratic party with the retirement of William J. Bryan from the leadership and a different management of the party from that of the past few years. Hill, Olney and Pattison are suggested as candidates for the presidency four years hence. Chairman Martin of the Democratic state committee was today appointed by Governor Mount to succeed Thomas Buskirk, (elected judge) on the state tax board. Samuel E. Morse, proprietor of the Sentinel says he has no doubt that the real Democrats see the necessity of getting together and making a united struggle to enforce the Jeffersonian principles in the government. Mr. Morse says the Democratic party cannot win unless it has a different management from what it has had for several years and that it must nominate some man as patriotic and incorruptible as Mr. Bryan but of a wholly different tempera-
