DROWNED IN THE LAKE

JOHN BUCKLEY, OF MINNEAPOLIS, FALLS OVERBOARD

He Was With the Excursion Given By the Switchmen's Union on the Cyclone and Overbalanced Himself—Long and Careful Search for the Body Proved Fruitless.

The first fatal accident on any of the river excursions this season occurred yesterday when John Buckley, eighteen years old, of Minneapolis, and a son of James Buckley, formerly a conductor on the Milwaukee road and a resident of St. Paul until a few years ago, fell overboard while on the steamer Cyclone and was drowned in the Lake St. Croix, about a mile from the Minnesota shore.

The young man lived with his parents at 2533 Fifteenth avenue south, Minneapolis, and came over to St. Paul to attend the annual excursion of the Minneapolis Switchmen's Union No. 7, on the Cyclone. Everything went along smoothly when Lake St. Croix was reached, when suddenly young Buckley was seen to slip and fall over the railing of the boiler deck. Capt. M. H. Newcomb of the boat was at the wheel, and as soon as he heard that a man had fallen overboard, he turned the steering wheel over to the pilot and, calling the best oarsman of the boat's crew, ordered one of the skiffs lowered. By this time the people on board the boat had become excited and some of them who were on the lower deck caught hold of the ropes and delayed the lowering of the boat slightly.

Capt. Newcomb noticing this, immediately ordered the rope cut, which was done and the skiff dropped into the river. For the next hour Capt. Newcomb and the rest of his crew in skiffs hunted for young Buckley, but their search was fruitless, as the young man never rose to the surface. The coroner at Prescott, Wis., was notified and a search is being made for the body. The father and uncle of the boy were notified at Minneapolis yesterday afternoon and were at the wharf last night to meet the boat.

Mr. Buckley said that his son was a student of the Christian Brothers' school at Minneapolis. He was a popular member of his class and leaves many friends.

LYMAN W. HARRIS DEAD.

A Pioneer Settler Passes Away in Minneapolis.

Lyman W. Harris, a pioneer resident of the state, died yesterday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. Lizzie Campbell, of Minneapolis. Mr. Harris was born April 25, 1818, in Herkimer county, N. Y., and at the time of his death was eighty-four years old. He was married to Miss Elvira Phillips, of Sugar Grove, Pa., June 23, 1844. Mrs. Harris died July 7, 1897.

Mr. Harris moved from New York to Spring Grove, Minn., and has resided in this state ever since. He was a member of the Minnesota Homeopaths' association, and of Ellicott Lodge No. 19, O. O. F., of Jamestown, N. Y., and a charter member of Central Lodge No. 56, O. O. F.

Two sons and two daughters survive him. They are Fred A. of Sparta, Wis.; William D. of Seattle, Wash.; Lizzie H. Campbell and Mrs. Mary F. Conklin, of Minneapolis. The funeral will take place at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from Mrs. Harris' undertaking establishment, Frank-lyn, and Bloomington, Minneapolis. It will be under the auspices of the Old Fellows.

Intermittent Rains Do Not Dampen Celebration of the Fourth

SPORTS AND EXERCISES

Small Boy Is Much in Evidence and His Fireworks Lasted Far Into the Night—Excursions Draw Well.

St. Paul celebrated Uncle Samuel's 126th birthday with right good spirit, notwithstanding the fact that the weather observer did not turn on a very genial current of weather. But however damp the weather, it could not dampen the spirits of patriots young and old who managed to register a very notable increase over a year ago in the amount of noise manufactured in the sunset and sunrise and sun down.

The bombardment of firecrackers and other recognized utensils of Fourth of July usage put the bombardment of Dewey at Manila wholly in the shade, and while there were a large number of the same, they were last night bearing trade marks of the Glorious Fourth, the small boy voted the day a complete success.

Twenty-five thousand dollars were spent for fireworks exploded in St. Paul yesterday, and over 6,000,000 firecrackers were shot off, according to dealers' estimates, and that the Saintly City did its share toward making the heavens ring with Fourth of July noise.

The day began brightly and up to 11 o'clock it was an ideal day, so that all the excursions and picnics were well started before the rain began. The half dozen excursions which left the dock yesterday morning were largely patronized, and great crowds attended the various picnics which had been arranged and did not seem to dampen their enthusiasm any.

And it did not interfere to any extent with the sports. Both of the scheduled ball games were played before large crowds, the morning game in Minneapolis, the afternoon game in St. Paul. The rain stopped just at the right time to permit the games to be played.

Parks Were Crowded. Como park and Wildwood were crowded with people all day long and the street car conductors in this city rang up nearly 200,000 fares.

The day was a very busy one, and numerous than usual, but owing to the timely rain the fires were far less numerous and the fire department was more than grateful for the humidity of the atmosphere.

There was very little disorder during the day. The police department had a large number of specials on at the various parks, and to prevent large crowds congregated, to wit-never large and to prevent accidents.

Excercises at St. Vincent's. As a most fitting occasion for the purpose, yesterday was selected for the raising of a new flag recently presented to St. Vincent's parochial school for the handsome new school building on Virginia avenue, near the corner of Blair street.

That time was also chosen for a picnic on the grounds of the church, school and parish house for the entertainment of the pupils of the school but owing to the inclemency of the weather this feature of the day's programme was interfered with to some extent, though a large number of the young people responded to the invitation and were well entertained throughout the afternoon.

The principal event was the flag-raising, which took place at 4 o'clock and was attended by a large number of the adult constituents of St. Vincent's parish. The flag is a very handsome one, 29 feet in size, and was presented to the school by a gentleman in New York, who is a friend of Father Cosgrove, pastor of St. Vincent's, and who is now in the city, completed, with the exception of the finishing work, and is, indeed, an imposing edifice. It is of brick, with stone trimmings, and is architecturally credit to the parish and to the entire neighborhood in which it is located.

The flag was borne from the parish house to the school building by thirteen young girls, dressed in white and carrying flowers, and in number in-cluding the original thirteen states of the Union.

Father Cosgrove Blesses Flag. The flag was blessed by Father Cosgrove, the form used being the "Benedictio Vexilli Professionalis," from the Roman Missal. The benediction of Independence was read by Maj. Joseph Smith, after which the young girls sang the "Star Spangled Banner" and the great part of the afternoon was spent in the exercises, and on behalf of that organization the raising of the flag was performed by Maj. Cranney, assisted by Capt. M. J. O'Connor and Maj. J. C. Devereaux. An address was made by Rev. M. Gallagher, assistant rector of St. Vincent's church.

confined principally to exercise work. Many of the yacht owners had arranged for picnic parties, and, in fact, some of them were carried out as arranged, but the runs in nearly every case were made under difficulties. Only those boats with covered interiors realized any pleasure from the day.

Wildwood was among the resorts that found favor yesterday with those who were seeking a day of pleasure. Like St. Paul, Wildwood had its share of rain, but the pavilions furnished a shelter and the crowds were not very badly annoyed by the weather. These conditions prevailing, the dancing pavilion and the bowling alleys were the two principal features, and they were both well patronized.

Thousands at Como. Thousands spent the day at Como park, yesterday and enjoyed its beauties despite the fact that the rain fell. The biggest crowd possibly was present in the evening, when a special programme was rendered by the Minnesota State band. The usual selections were given by the band in the afternoon, but only those who could crowd into the pavilion enjoyed it. Others had to seek shelter elsewhere as best they could.

Not an accident of any importance marred the day at Como. During the afternoon a fire broke out in a crowd of its greatest, intermittent flashes of lightning lighted up its interior with more than usual brilliancy and the noise and excitement in consequence was considerable. There was a rush for safety, but happily no one was hurt.

Lincoln Lodge of G. F. held a social and business meeting last evening at Bowly hall, one of the features of which was the semi-annual reports of officers, which showed a marked gain in the financial status of the lodge, and a highly satisfactory state of its affairs in general. The rank of Esquire was conferred upon Frank Mock and L. St. Clair Wood, and the latter was presented a large number of knights of other lodges, among them Chancellor Commanders McRae, of No. 63, and Sullivan, of No. 10.

The entertainment committee had made liberal provision in the matter of refreshments, and the latter part of the evening was devoted to a social session.

MAKING CITIZENS OF MINNESOTA INDIANS

Teachers of the Department Will Meet in a Conference Next Week.

The teachers of the department of Indian education will meet tomorrow at the Chamberlain Indian school, South Dakota. They will render selections at the meeting and discuss the progress of the work.

Display of Pupils' Work. One of the most interesting features of this department will be a display of work done by Indian pupils and old Indians. This exhibit can be seen at the Indian school, South Dakota, every day and night during the convention, and promises to be a revelation to many. Another feature which will attract attention will be the band and the girls' mandolin club from the Chamberlain Indian school, South Dakota. They will render selections at the meeting and discuss the progress of the work.

The duties of the superintendent inspecting the 250 Indian schools kept her in the field the greater part of the year, where she has personally observed the needs of the service and the Indian. After three years of careful study of conditions in the Indian schools, she has prepared a course of study for these schools, which has the approval of the most eminent educators of the country, and is now being prepared to be just such a course as will fit the Indian for self-support. The Indian's principal asset is his hand, prominence is given to the study of the arts, industries, and to those trades which will be most useful in this connection. The schools under this practical plan will be given a more efficient and usefulness, and with the introduction of this sensible course of study still greater progress will undoubtedly be made.

The superintendent is a woman of executive ability and energy. She talks to the point. She praises very highly the care and close attention of the secretary of the interior and the commissioner of Indian affairs to all matters relating to the Indian's welfare and conditions.

Prominent Men to Speak. Among the prominent men who will address the meeting on Monday are Gov. Van Sant, Mayor Ames, State Superintendent Olson, Hon. Thomas F. Quinby, president of the Education; Hon. C. M. Jordan, city superintendent of schools; Hon. G. R. Glenn, state school commissioner of Georgia, and Hon. L. D. Harvey, state superintendent of public instruction for Wisconsin.

During the week's sessions addresses and lectures will be delivered by United States Commissioner W. T. Harris, Hon. Nicholas Murray Butler, president Columbia college; Most Rev. John Ireland, archbishop of St. Paul; Hon. Alfred Baylis, state superintendent of public instruction of Illinois; Hon. Augustus S. Downing, principal training school for teachers, New York city; Hon. Z. S. Snyder, president state normal school, Greeley, Col.; Hon. N. C. Dougherty, superintendent of schools, Peoria, Ill., and others.

VICTIMS OF THE DAY

Usual Quota of Burned Fingers and Faces Attend the Celebration

COL. W. E. DODGE HURT

His Hand Burned, Friend Injured and Colonel's Mastiff Killed by Great Cracker Explosion—Many Boys Suffer.

The usual quota of acute celebration accidents occurred yesterday, and about a hundred more fingers and faces were missing as disappeared on the Fourth of last year. As far as the gunpowder was concerned there were no fatalities, although the escapes from death were many.

Experience apparently will never teach the small boy that he cannot allow his hand to be near a cracker, and a large number of the accidents yesterday was due to the fact that the small boy clung to the cracker, when he should have been several feet away.

The toy pistols which shoot 22-caliber blank cartridges are another fruitful source of injury yesterday. Nearly every boy in the city secured one of these, and the number of powder burns and wads that had to be dug out of faces and hands was great. Many men and grown-up boys provided themselves with revolvers, and they were trained to discharge blank cartridges, and the doctors skillfully extracted the powder from the injured person. The insidious "mud can" was stoned a short distance away, and on several occasions when it failed to explode and investigation followed, the seeker after knowledge was struck with the cold and badly cut.

Col. W. E. Dodge Hurt. One of the worst accidents of the day happened at the residence of Col. W. E. Dodge. The colonel and a friend from the East, Mr. Holmes, were shooting a cracker on the lawn in front of the colonel's home, 621 Fairmount, yesterday morning. Col. Dodge lit a large cracker and threw it on the ground, a valuable mastiff dog that was trained to retrieve started to bring the lit cracker back, and Col. Dodge ran to get it away from him. As he reached down to pick the cracker up it exploded, burning Col. Dodge's hand severely and blowing a large hole in the dog's neck, which killed him almost instantly. Mr. Holmes, who was standing a few feet away, was struck in the eye by a piece of the cracker and his eye was painfully injured.

Nursed Light Too Long. While celebrating with a mud can in front of his home, at 294 Robertson street, Mike McDermott, in an attempt to nurse the light, which was weak, was struck in the face by a cracker called and spent an hour in picking the powder from the flesh.

Another to suffer as the result of the Fourth was the wife of a Mr. Miller, who had both her hands painfully burned by the explosion of a large pin-wheel which she was attempting to light in the front yard. Her husband, who was standing by, was also burned, and the little girl was attended by Dr. Rinder.

Theodore Schipp, fifteen years old, living at No. 8 Upper Levee, had the fleshy part of his right hand badly lacerated and torn, because he happened to take a cracker in his hand, which he was holding over the head of a friend Thursday, and when the friend returned it to him in the evening it did not know. His wound was ugly one, was dressed by Dr. A. W. Miller.

James Starr, forty years old, tried to light a small firecracker at his home, at Cambridge street, Monday evening, when it went off prematurely in his face and his right eye was dangerously wounded. He was brought to the hospital, where he is now recovering. He is under the care of a specialist, who hopes to save the eye.

Another to suffer as the result of the Fourth was the wife of a Mr. Miller, who had both her hands painfully burned by the explosion of a large pin-wheel which she was attempting to light in the front yard. Her husband, who was standing by, was also burned, and the little girl was attended by Dr. Rinder.

Robert McGuire, a son of Philip McGuire, the commission man, was walking along West Fourth street yesterday afternoon, and while playing with a toy and toying with a revolver which he had accidentally discharged when not expected, and as a result he received an ugly wound on the palm of his left hand. Dr. Meek attended and dressed the injured member.

Mud Can Explodes in His Face. R. W. Chase, machinist for The Globe, was badly burned about the face and left eye yesterday afternoon as the result of a mud can explosion. West Seventh street, near Walnut, Mr. Chase was walking along the street and noticed another person trying to light a fuse attached to a mud can. The fuse did not burn rapidly and Mr. Chase went over to examine it, and while doing so, the can exploded, filling his face full of powder. He was attended by Dr. Sweeney, who spent nearly two hours in picking grains of powder out.

Frank A. Kirk, an insurance man, was slightly burned on the ear yesterday by the discharge of a cartridge near the Short Line crossing. Mr. Kirk was standing near the sidewalk when a friend of his, with the intent of scaring him, came up behind and discharged a revolver near his ear. Dr. Goodrich attended Mr. Kirk and picked out the powder grains.

Powder and Toy Cannon. A bottle of powder and a toy cannon in the possession of Charles Wallace, of Mendota street, furnished considerable work for a physician yesterday. The contents of the bottle, together with much of the glass, were driven into Wallace's face, and much picking and stitching were necessary in order to remove them. The wounds are quite painful. Dr. Miller gave him attention.

Ben Smith, of West Seventh street, had his hand and face burned by the contents of a blank cartridge fired at close range by a companion. The wound was quite painful. Dr. Miller dressed the wound.

John Farrell, a boy residing at 990 Edgerton street, was painfully injured about the left cheek and eye by a blank cartridge discharged by a companion. The injury was not serious. Dr. E. W. Doran attended him.

A firecracker under a can was the instrument that Frank Schroeder, 422 Bay street, used to celebrate with. When it went off the can struck him in the forehead and several stitches were necessary to close the lacerations that resulted. His nose was badly torn. He was taken to the city hospital.

Walter Wolmer, 447 James street, was badly injured in the left hand with a blank cartridge. The palm was torn. The city hospital dressed the wound.

Powder burns about the head and face are what Herman Putzke, 302 Van Minden, has to remember the Fourth with. It was a premature explosion, and he was painfully marked. He was taken to the city hospital.

Taken to City Hospital. Among the Fourth of July victims cared for at the city hospital were Clarence Sandstrom, 228 Erie street; right hand torn by blank cartridge; Edward Busta, 2429 Jefferson street; left hand injured by explosion of blank cartridge; Clarence Schme, 723 Battering street; right cheek torn by wadding from blank cartridge; and James Tusher, 324 Arbor street, powder burn on left leg. All of these injuries were slight, and the victims were dismissed after having their wounds dressed.

Louis Seeger, 886 Gaultier street, shot himself in the hand with a 22-caliber revolver. The palm was badly torn. Dr. Artz attended him.

A blind man, guided by a companion was responsible for a leg wound suffered by Herman Lindberg, of 40 Valley street. The wadding caught him in the left leg, and several stitches were necessary to close the gash. He was attended by Dr. Artz.

Emil Behn, 880 Case street, had his left hand badly torn with a blank cartridge. The wadding entered the palm of the hand between two fingers and was lodged in the hole. Dr. E. W. Doran attended him.

The accidental explosion of a blank cartridge necessitated the attendance of Dr. E. W. Doran on Harry Sullivan, of 292 East Cook street. It struck the palm of his left hand, and the contents were almost driven through the member.

John Anderson, eleven years of age, of 58 Lawson street, while handling a cheap revolver loaded with blank cartridges, accidentally discharged one in close proximity to his face. The left eye was badly torn and powder burned, but he will not lose the sight of it. Dr. E. W. Doran was called.

Willie Scott Disappears. The parents of Willie Scott are greatly alarmed over the disappearance of the lad, who is fifteen years of age. Thursday night he was given some money with which to buy fireworks, and he has not been seen since he left to get them. It is feared that he might have set off some of the crackers on his way home and have been too badly burned to make his way home.

Fred Fisher, who runs the ferry between Chestnut street and the public baths, had a revolver which he was carrying on his person, and which he had severely burned by the premature explosion of a large fire cracker yesterday. A year ago on the Fourth he was quite badly burned on the other hand.
