NEBRASKA LAW AGAINST THEM SUSTAINED BY STATE SU-PREME COURT

ITS CONSTITUTIONALITY IS AFFIRMED ANEW

Case in Hand Involves the Alleged Forcing of a Retailer Out of Business by Lumber Dealers' Association-Latter Gets Off Because It Is

LINCOLN, Neb., Nov. 6 .- The Nebraska supreme court today gave a decision sustaining the constitutionality of the state anti-trust law, which had been attacked by the Nebraska Retail Lumber Dealers' association as defend-ant in a suit for damages for forcing a retail dealer out of the business. The law exempts laboring men.

The court holds the association to be uilawful, but dismisses the suit as to the association because it is not incor-porated. The members of the association are held liable for damages resulting from their acts.

Because the picture "didn't do her justice," and instead of "flattering her, brought out certain facial blemishes more prominently than was to her liking, Michael Glinsberger, a solicitor in the employ of a Minneapolis art company, it is alleged, was mauled a broomstick by Miss Anna

Smith. Glinsberger delivered the picture to Miss Smith yesterday afternoon, ac-cording to his story, with the remark that it was a "very good likeness." The woman disagreed with him and said that it didn't "do her justice." The solicitor was anxious to collect the bill and insisted that it was "charming" and otherwise tried to flatter her, where the picture had failed to do so. Picture Made Her Mad.

Miss Smith heard little that he was saying. The more she looked at the picture the more displeased she became, and when Glins-berger asked her if she would pay him for the picture, as he was in a hurry, she seized a broom, he says, and struck him with it several times.

A TALE OF WATCHES CHICANE IN

STRANGE DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CASE OF MASON, THE BOSTON SUSPECT

TIMEPIECES OF VICTIMS

White Man Connected With the Pawning Strongly Resembled the Prisoner -Looks Dard for the Alleged Murderer of Two Women, Who Was but Yesterday Considered Innocent.

BOSTON, Mass., Nov. 6 .- Today's developments in the case of Alan G. Mason, who is under arrest charged with the murder of Miss Clara Morton, a laundress at the McLean asylum in Waverly, last Saturday night, have been of a startling nature. It was an-nounced first that the watch of the victim had been found in a Cambridge street pawnshop, where it had been pawned for $4 by a young colored man, and this dicovery at once led to a general search of the city for this man by the entire police force, but without avail. But later developments were far more sensational. When the pawnbroker's memory had been jogged a little and he had had time to think over the matter he remembered that the watch had been brought to his office on last Saturday night between the hours of 11 and 11:30 by a white man and offered in pawn. Owing to the fact that to receive it, and after expressing disappointment the man departed, taking the watch with him.

On Monday morning the same watch was brought in by a colored man about twenty-one years of age, from whom the pawnbroker bought it for $4. A burly colored man, evidently a companion of the other, had been waiting outside the shop while the trade was being made, and as soon as it was completed he entered and took the money which the proprietor had passed over. Both men then departed.

Another Startling Find. Continuing their investigations, the officers made another startling discovery which will have an important bearing on the case, to the effect that the watch of Miss Agness McPhee, of Somerville, another "Jack the Slugger" victim, had been pawned at the same Cambridge street shop on Oct. 3, the day after the murder, by a white man whose description tallied exactly with that of the man who brought the Morand the pawnbroker will be given a chance tomorrow to identify him, if possible, as his visitor.

The unexpected developments today have been most unfavorable to the prisoner, although his friends still claim that he can fully establish an alibi. Search for the mysterious colored man is being carried on as vigorously as ever and all sections of the city are being closely watched by the
