The Judgment That Will Stand.

He wasn't a thing but a half-breed. They called him "Arapahoe Jim." The preacher at Logtown will tell you "His chances of heaven are slim."

He lied, an' he drank, an' he grafted; He gambled, he stole an' he done 'Most all that a man or a devil kin do with a forty-five gun.

But still there wuz somethin' or other, Well, 'gentle' or 'noble,' in him.

There wasn't a child or a woman That wouldn't an' didn't trust Jim. An' that's why the preacher at Logtown Ain't got me agreein' at all. I'm thinkin' the judgment of children And women will stand in God's hall.
