St. Paul Elks Give Frank H. Rice a Banquet.

Two hundred and fifty Elks, representing almost every lodge in the state, were present last night at the farewell banquet tendered by the St. Paul Elks to Frank H. Rice, who leaves St. Paul Friday for New York, where he takes charge of Collier & Sons' agencies in the East.

Mr. Rice is past exalted ruler of the St. Paul lodge and also past district deputy grand exalted ruler, and for some years has been most prominently identified with the progress made by the St. Paul lodge, which is now one of the foremost in the country.

Many speeches, in which the speakers paid high tribute to Mr. Rice both as a citizen and a member of the lodge, were made. The banquet and open session were preceded by a regular session of the lodge. Dr. A. J. Stone, the first exalted ruler of the St. Paul lodge, spoke eulogistically of Mr. Rice. John H. Mitchell Jr., in behalf of the lodge, presented Mr. Rice with a beautiful set of engraved resolutions, and Mr. Rice, in turn, presented the guest of honor with a handsome silver loving cup, appropriately engraved. Shortly before 11 o'clock the members were seated at the long banquet tables which filled the main lodge room, and the session continued several hours.

Mr. F. Reese responded to the 11 o'clock toast.

Gov. Van Sant, Senator Moses Clapp, Gov. Hamlin, Judge E. J. Jaggard, Senator R. B. Brower, of St. Cloud; Judge Harrison, of Minneapolis; Judge Nethaway, of Stillwater; Leon Wilkes and Warden Wolf, of Stillwater, were among the speakers.

Mr. Rice will leave for New York Friday. For several years he has been Northwestern manager for the New York company.

HERMAN TROTT, NOBLESSE, SUCCEEDS TO PARALYTIC STRIKE

Was Stricken a Month Ago and Had Since Been Receiving Care at St. Joseph's Hospital—Came to Minnesota Fifty Years Ago, and Had an Active Part in Civic and Business Affairs.

Herman Trott, who had been ill at St. Joseph's hospital for more than a month past from the effects of a paralytic stroke, died yesterday at 4 o'clock. The deceased had lived in Minnesota nearly half a century and in St. Paul for more than forty years, and was an active factor in the governmental organization and business growth of the city and state and the development of the railroad interests of the Northwest. Although nearly seventy-four years of age at the time of his death, Mr. Trott had until the present winter enjoyed robust health and moved about as actively as ever. About Nov. 13 he suffered a stroke of paralysis, and a week later was removed from his home, 311 Pleasant avenue, to St. Joseph's hospital. For a time it was believed that he might recover, but a second stroke followed, and from that time his strength and vitality declined rapidly. For some days past he has been unconscious. At the time of his death all of the members of his immediate family were with him, except one daughter, Mrs. Charles K. Melrose, who lives in San Mateo, Cal.

Came to Minnesota in 1856.

Herman Trott was born at Hanover, Germany, Feb. 25, 1830, and therefore lacked but a few months of having attained the age of seventy-four years. He received a thorough education to fit him for commercial life, and in 1856 he came to America, locating first in New York, remaining there until 1856, when he came to Minnesota. He was one of the commissioners who organized Pine county, in 1857. He was the first justice of the peace of Pine county and appointed by Gov. Sidney Hudson. He was colonel of the state militia in 1858. In 1863 he took up his residence in St. Paul.

KIRKLAND GETS IT

Awarded Contract for Section of St. Anthony Park Sewer.

The board of public works yesterday awarded the contract for the construction of the first section of the St. Anthony Park sewer. The job goes to E. J. Kirkland and he will receive $59,122.90 for the work.

The portion on which work will be started first connects with the Mississippi river, and the big hole will have to be driven through solid sandstone. The major portion of the cost will be met by the $60,000 which the conference committee set aside a year ago.

The bids for the work were opened some weeks ago, but the board delayed award until it could learn the relative merits of the various kinds of construction for which proposals were submitted. The board, after an exhaustive investigation, decided that brick and stone construction was the best. A scheme which involved the use of steel and concrete was considered, but the board was not so clearly acquainted with its merits to adopt it.

CASTLE WILL COME BACK TO MINNESOTA

Perhaps He Will Write a History of the Postal Frauds.

Globe Special Washington Service, 1417 G Street.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 29.—The following "memorandum" was handed to the correspondent of The Globe today:

"Although Capt. Henry A. Castle resigned as auditor for the postoffice department nearly three months ago, he still holds the office awaiting the appointment of his successor. He has no desire to remain there permanently and he says that all talk of his wanting to be postmaster of Washington is incorrect. He is now in St. Paul, in good faith, with the intention, which nothing can change, of returning to Minnesota next spring. A regard for his health prohibits spending future summers in Washington."

"Capt. Castle has been offered several outside positions here, at an increased salary, but has declined them. He has, however, accepted remunerative work for the winter as legal adviser to an association that has been organized with ample capital, to advocate several important postal reforms."

"Report has it also that Capt. Castle was commissioned several months since by a leading New York publishing house to write the authentic history of the postal investigations of 1902, coupled with historical sketches of past scandals and portrayal of existing abuses that are likely to lead to future trouble. This report cannot be authenticated, but it may be true to some lively anticipations. If the auditor ever tells him he knows about departmental theroids and officials there will be a shaking among the dry bones."

LOCKED IN THE HOUSE, CHILDREN PERISH

Mother Is Restrained From Rushing Into Flames to Save Them.

CHICAGO, Dec. 29.—Mrs. Michael Kondas, of Woodlawn avenue, locked her two children, Barbara, five years of age, and Mary, two years younger, in the house this afternoon, while she went off to visit with a neighbor. During her absence the house caught fire and both children perished in the flames. They might have been rescued, but nobody knew they were in the house until Mrs. Kondas attempted to rush in and save them. The house was practically destroyed when she arrived, and the police held her back from the flames.

WINS A VICTORY OVER THE GAME WARDEN

Jury Gives Hotel Keeper Verdict for Value of Venison Seized.

J. H. Ingraham, a hotel keeper of Sandstone, Minn., has won in his legal contest with the state game warden. The jury in the district court yesterday found in his favor, and he is entitled to the value of the venison which was recently seized by game wardens.

When the venison was first confiscated Ingraham recovered it on a writ of replevin, but it was later found that the commission and shipped to this city to be turned over to the state board of control. He resigned voluntarily and the trial, has returned to Sandstone. In a justice court, Ingraham is entitled to either the game or the money. The game and fish commission will take the case to the supreme court.

COTTON SPECULATORS ARE STAMPEDED

Bears Have a Memorable Field Day in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, La., Dec. 29.—It was field day for the bears in the cotton market today. After several futile attempts to break the market, a panic was caused some way or other and within a few minutes prices went down about 60 points, or $3 a bale. This happened during the forenoon and for about half an hour the cotton exchange was in an uproar. Hundreds of long contracts were wiped out and their owners got out with as small a loss as possible caused prices to go lower and lower.

It was one of the worst stampedes of frightened longs ever seen in the local market, and more than equaled the recent rush of the shorts to cover at the reading of the last government report on the cotton crop.

PROF. BRYANT QUILTS, PEACE PREVAILS

Resigns Secretaryship of State Educational Association—Compromise Is Effected.

Peace dwells at last among the factions of the Minnesota Educational association. Prof. Julian C. Bryant, of St. Paul, terminated the controversy yesterday by resigning the general secretaryship of the association.

The dispassionate of the controversy which arose between himself and President McIntire, of the association; E. T. Carroll and others members of the executive committee, which threatened for a time to disrupt the association.

Prof. Bryant's resignation was tendered yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the executive committee, held at the Central Presbyterian church. It was offered after a compromise had been reached between President McIntire and Prof. Bryant, which was made at the suggestion of a special committee appointed to investigate the advisability of amending the constitution so as to abolish Mr. Bryant's office.

President McIntire and his supporters agreed, if the resignation was tendered, to expunge from the records of the executive committee the resolution advising the abolition of Mr. Bryant's office and not to take up the matter in any way before the association. The special committee will report that it is not advisable to abolish the office, and a successor to Prof. Bryant will be elected by the association. As Mr. McIntire retires this year, the two principals in the controversy are thus removed from the executive committee and peace is expected to reign once more.

Each Claims a Victory.

The compromise is claimed as a victory by both sides, although neither of the principals would discuss the matter last night.

"The executive committee decided that nothing should be given out to the press concerning the matter," said President McIntire, "and, in justice to Mr. Bryant, we do not care to say anything. I am well satisfied with the result and am glad the trouble is ended."

"I have nothing to say," said Prof. Bryant. "If the other members of the committee care to say anything, they may. I am satisfied with the outcome and have no comment to make in regard to it."

"You may just say that the matter has been amicably settled," said Miss Sadie Geer, of Minneapolis, recording secretary. "They have kissed and made up, and everything is all right now." The controversy was conducted with the greatest secrecy, and none of the participants would speak of the matter. The resolutions were ordered out of the executive committee meetings by the members of the special committee would reveal nothing concerning what they had done behind locked doors.

Executive Committee Surprised.

The way to the compromise was opened by a resolution presented at the business session of the association yesterday morning, providing for an amendment to the constitution of the association abolishing the office of general secretary, and the appointment of a special executive committee of three to be members of the regular executive committee to assume the duties of the general office. Although the resolution was framed along exactly the same lines as the one passed by the executive committee early in December, which precipitated the controversy, it came as a surprise to some of the members of the executive committee, who thought that the matter would not come up until the report of the committee was made.

The resolution was referred to a special committee, composed of two from the general association, appointed by President McIntire, and one elected from each special section. The committee met yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian church and was in session for over an hour.

The committee decided that the work of corresponding secretary could better be done by one man than by three, and although there was a great difference of opinion, a motion to report along this line to the general session today was finally carried. The committee was then adjourned.

Soon after the executive committee went into session, W. F. Kunze, Red Wing, chairman of the special committee, held a short interview with Prof. Bryant, followed by one with President McIntire and later with the two men. The compromise was reached during the conference.

Prof. Bryant Satisfied.

The action of the special committee in not sustaining the executive committee was a source of some disappointment to President McIntire, who said Secretary Bryant was well satisfied. He felt that he had been vindicated and that the compromise was a written resignation, which he had in his pocket to the executive committee. His friends state that he has contemplated resigning for some time, but wanted to be vindicated.

President McIntire, who was willing to withdraw his opposition to Mr. Bryant if he resigned, agreed to use his influence in having the records of the committee expunged of anything which might reflect upon Prof. Bryant, and the compromise was arranged along these lines and the resignation of Prof. Bryant was then accepted.

The settlement of the controversy outside of the general session was a source of much satisfaction to all the teachers last night. An effort will be made by the more conservative to elect a new set of officers, who have not taken sides with either party, as this is believed to be the best means of healing up the old sores.

Such action looked impossible yesterday unless the peace party takes hold, which seems very likely to follow the report of the nominating committee. The committee was selected by President McIntire and will therefore, it is stated, name candidates who are favorable to him and opposed to the Bryant faction.

Carroll for President.

E. T. Carroll, of Wadena, at present treasurer of the association, is a supporter of President McIntire, is slated for nomination for president by the committee. If he is nominated, he will probably be opposed on the floor of the convention by one or more other candidates.

The warmest supporters of Prof. Bryant, including many St. Paul teachers, are in favor of placing his name before the convention as a candidate for president in case Mr. Carroll is nominated. Prof. Bryant does not favor any such action, it is stated, and will not become a candidate.

"I have heard nothing about my being nominated," he said last night, "and don't think that I care to be a candidate."

The more conservative of the teachers favor either C. G. Schulz, of Northfield, assistant state superintendent of public instruction, or Supt. Lafayette

TO TEST SMOKE LAW BATTERY A SMOKES

Supreme Court Will Determine Its Validity.

Survivors of Cass Lake Expedition Hold Social.

The St. Paul smoke ordinance, held valid by Judge Bunn on an application for habeas corpus by J. Tweed, fireman of the Manhattan building, will be tested in the supreme court. Eighteen smoke cases, some of long standing, were up for trial in police court yesterday, and after three hours of argument the court decided to enter pleas of guilty and pay the minimum fine of $25 under protest, while one of the cases is taken to the supreme court.

The case of C. H. Robbins, fireman of the Endicott building, is the one which will go to the court of last resort. The same contention will be made before the district court, that the ordinance fails to specify court, that the ordinance is unconstitutional with sufficient clearness what constitutes "dense, black smoke," which is declared a nuisance. The record in the case of Tweed will be used in the supreme court.

The three cases heard before Judge Hine yesterday were those of C. H. Robbins, Fred Tiche, fireman of the Dartmouth block, and A. Anderson, fireman of the Commercial building, who pleaded guilty and paid fines.

The list of firemen on the tab, besides those above mentioned, includes Ole Hanson, St. Paul Dispatch building; M. Hurley, Twin City Rapid Transit company; Frank Lee, Willard hotel; E. La Prairie, Ziegler-Egan company; E. Boyd, Minnesota Butter and Cheese company; J. Blasing, Commercial block, and C. F. Haugbrø, the Angus; George Christie, Bradley building; G. Fagard, Ryan hotel; J. Blasing, Commercial block, and F. Peglow, Astoria hotel.

The members of Battery A and the survivors of the Cass Lake expedition gathered at the Knights of Columbus hall on Robert street last night and indulged in a smoke social and card party.

Maj. Lambert delivered the principal address and remarks were also made by Clyde Clifton and other members of the battery.

The gathering last night was the first one the members of the battery have indulged in for the purpose of commemorating the Cass Lake expedition, and a number of regulars who were at Cass Lake at the time were in attendance at the social last night.

So enjoyable was the event, however, that it was decided last night to make the gathering an annual affair.

Maj. Lambert spoke on "The Good of the Battery," and his remarks were enthusiastically received by the large number of members present. He congratulated the members upon the splendid progress made by the battery, and predicted that it would soon be one of the most influential guard organizations in the state.

An orchestra furnished music for the occasion, a number of the members sang songs and there was plenty of cigars for everyone.
