CITY NEWS

OBJECT TO WHISTLES

Residents Regard the Shrieking Noise as a Nuisance.

Dr. Ohage is not only health commissioner, but is appealed to by all kinds of people to suppress all kinds of nuisances, the latest of which is the desire by what seems to be a growing number of citizens that the doctor stop the blowing of whistles in the city limits.

"And I find that there is some ground for the complaints," said Dr. Ohage yesterday. "Instead of hiring flagmen in the city limits, the railway companies seem to have formed the habit of giving signals by whistling. To the people living in the vicinity of the railway tracks this is doubtless a great nuisance and probably should be suppressed. Another thing that I find is that the principal offenders among the factories are the small fellows, generally employing about a dozen men. I know of one instance in particular where the whistle of a small place makes more noise and continues longer than does the one at the Great Northern shops, where such a great number of men are employed.

"All of which reminds me," continued the doctor, "of the woman who called me one day in the morning at 4 o'clock and asked me, after quite a parley, if I did not think that it was unhealthy if a person is kept awake by the crowing of a rooster. I admitted that it was unhealthy.

"Well," continued the lady, "my neighbor has a rooster that wakes me every morning at this time. What shall I do to get rid of him?"

"Kill him and eat him for breakfast," I advised her, and hung up the telephone."

BOARD ACCEPTS VIEWS EXPRESSED BY COMMERCIAL BODIES ON SCHOOL QUESTION.

It was made evident at the meeting of the board of school inspectors yesterday that the high schools will remain as they are at present. But a small proportion of the correspondence on the subject was considered, and that only casually, but the inspectors admitted after the meeting that the great bulk of the advice favors the improvement of the grade schools at once, generally going to the extent of urging that sittings be provided for all grade pupils, and for all-day sessions, before plans are made for the relief of the high school situation.

It was admitted by the inspectors that the discussion as to the possible change of the high schools that the question had been settled by the action of the commercial bodies, from which source support was expected for the one central high school proposition because of the economy of such an arrangement.

A number of the correspondents urged the raising of the standard for admission to the high schools, a course that would virtually put the studies of the first year in the high school in the grades and thereby bring the high school course proper to three years. An objection made to this was that it is doubtful if the universities and colleges would accept the diploma of high schools with the three-year course.

Oppose Co-Education.

Communications were received from a number of prominent educators, nearly all of whom expressed themselves as opposed to co-education in the high schools, but locally this question is generally ignored, and where touched upon was generally opposed because of the additional cost of separate schools.

"It seems to me," said one of the inspectors, "that the situation will be the same when we get through as when we began. It will develop upon the school board to spend what money is available where it is most needed. If it comes to the point where the high school pupils cannot be properly cared for it will be necessary to either make additions to the present high school buildings or erect a new building. Until that time the plan of relieving the deplorable condition of the grade schools will be continued. For some years practically all of the improvements have been for the grades, the high schools being held down to bare necessities."

The board will request that the charter commission include in the amendments to be submitted to the law of 1901, which permits the board to levy taxes, a provision for the erection of a new building in addition to the present charter limits. The reason for this is that at any time a question may be raised as to the legality of the law as it stands, and for the further reason that some of the members feel that the people should be made aware of the fact that quite a per cent of the increase in the school buildings is due to the fact that some of the buildings and additions containing fifty-nine rooms having been erected in two years. The average cost was slightly above $3,500 per room, which does not include the cost of maintenance.

SAYS DISEASE IS NOT UNCOMMON

Fatal Iowa Horse Ailment is Prevalent in Other States.

"I have received reports of an outbreak of the horse disease known as 'maladie du col' in Van Buren county, Iowa," said S. H. Ward, secretary of the state live stock sanitary board, to The Globe yesterday. "And in this connection it has been erroneously stated that the disease has only twice before appeared in this country. For some time past it has been most constantly prevalent in some of the counties of South Dakota and some in Nebraska, and it is only by the most rigid quarantine against those localities that the disease has been kept out of Minnesota. So far as I know there has never been an outbreak in this state. I recently received a government bulletin placing an embargo upon Davenport, Des Moines, and Perry counties, Nebraska, and the Pine Ridge and Rosebud Indian reservations, and Custer and Fall River counties, South Dakota, because of this disease. The shipment of horses from those counties is prohibited. 'Maladie du col,' said Dr. Ward, "may be regarded as a necessarily fatal disease. It is caused by a germ and is infectious. It is rapidly communicated among horses, and once an animal is affected it soon becomes useless. I have never heard of a human being becoming infected."

BOYS ARE LOCKED IN A BOX CAR

Get a Ride to Little Falls and Back for Their Escapade.

Joe Gartner, a lad about fifteen years old, and a companion, Fred Hoffman, thirteen years old, were locked in a box car accidentally Tuesday afternoon and carried to Little Falls, while their parents and the police were searching for them. The boys, who live near the yard of the Northern Pacific, were playing in one of the cars. A brakeman noticing the door of the car open, closed it, locking the boys inside. The train was made up and started. But it was not until fourteen hours had passed that the plight of the boys was discovered. A conductor heard the boys pounding on the door while the car was lying on the siding at Little Falls and released them. They were brought home late yesterday.

SUCCUMBS AFTER A YEAR'S ILLNESS

Mrs. Julia Schumacher Dies of Heart Disease.

Mrs. Julia Schumacher, wife of Henry A. Schumacher, died last evening at 8:30, at her home, 229 Charles street. From heart trouble, after an illness of eleven months.

Mrs. Schumacher was leading soprano of St. Agnes' church choir, and also of the Arion Singing society, and was generally prominent in musical circles. She was born in Shakopee, was thirty-nine years of age and had lived in this city nineteen years. Besides her husband, she leaves one son, Rosina Schumacher. The funeral will take place Saturday morning at 9 o'clock at St. Agnes' church.

SCHUBERT CLUB ENTERTAINED BY YOUNG FOLKS.

The student section of the Schubert club never so satisfactorily demonstrated to the general body of the club its concert worth as in the programme presented yesterday afternoon in the Odeon. Perhaps never before since this section of the club was organized have so many talented young women been heard in one programme. The music was interesting to club members not only because of the pleasure it conveyed, but because it showed the high standard that is being maintained by those who are teaching various branches of music in St. Paul. The teacher, of course, is more prominently before the audience at a students' recital than at the regular recitals. The former, in fact, might be termed a teachers' joint recital, and one of the pleasantest features of these student musicales during the past two seasons has been the assurance they have given that St. Paul offers excellent facilities in the teaching line to students gifted musically.

The opening number yesterday was an arrangement of "The Merry Widow" by L. Patsch, Gounod's "O Divine Redeemer," Saint Saens' "Mon Coeur" and "Beloved, It is Morn," Florence Aylward. Since her first appearance in public last fall at the sacred concert in St. Luke's church, Miss Patsch has acquired self-possession, and yesterday the audience had an excellent opportunity to judge of the merits of her talent as a pianist. It is an exceptionally attractive voice, even in scale, full toned and rich colored. Occasionally the singer's enunciation is not as distinct as it might be, doubtless because of slight nervousness that still lingers, but her style of delivery is admirable. She received a very cordial reception yesterday.

Miss Arma Senkvah Miloh, a very young violinist, played the Berceuse concerto (op. 44) with her sister, Miss Margaret Miloh, at the piano. Little Miss Miloh has talent of a high order. She draws a very good tone from her instrument, her technical equipment is surprisingly complete and she plays with remarkable verve considering her age. Violin and piano were in close sympathy during the concerto, it was in the encore which the audience insisted upon.

The Grieg concerto in A minor, played by Miss Carrie Zumbach, with Mr. Murdoch at the piano, was a very brilliant feature of yesterday's programme. This composition is very characteristic of the Norwegian composer. The Impid beauty, the clarity of thought and the variety of his melodic lines, are its most noticeable qualities, and most faithfully Miss Zumbach and Mr. Murdoch yesterday presented them. The concerto is a difficult composition, and the smooth reading was a distinct triumph for both teacher and pupil.

Other numbers on the programme yesterday were an aria from Donizetti's "Daughter of the Regiment," sung by Miss Overpeck; two Chopin numbers, etude, A flat, and Valse No. 1 (op. 34), played by Miss Marie Hartmann; a song by Schumann, "The Song of the Wind," sung by Miss Florence E. Buck. These numbers were all satisfactorily presented. Miss Buck's were particularly well sung. The closing number was a madrigal for women's voices, "A Legend of Bregenz," sung by nine young women. It was one of the best choral numbers heard at the Schubert musicales. The winter garden chorus played the accompaniment, drilled the singers, and deserves much credit for their spirited and artistic work.

Mrs. Hoffman was one of the accompanists yesterday afternoon, and as usual, her work added largely to the success of those solos for which she provided the background of music.

LET RURAL CARRIERS SERVE NEWSPAPERS

Publishers Argue a Point Before a Senate Committee.

WASHINGTON, D. C., March 23.—Representatives of different newspaper publishers appeared before the senate yesterday afternoon to argue in support of an amendment offered by Senator Alder to the postoffice appropriation bill, to permit rural mail carriers to do an express package business and to act as agents for newspaper and periodical publishers in the distribution of their publications. It was argued that the business will not interfere with the government business and will prove a great convenience to the patrons of the rural routes and add to the salaries of the carriers.

The committee was generally in favor of the adoption of the amendment, but will consider it finally when the appropriation bill comes from the house.

The committee members were M. A. McRae, of Cincinnati; Stephen J. Richardson, of New York; George F. McCulloch, of Muncie, Ind.; and George J. Brennan, of Philadelphia.

Guarding Our Export Trade.

CHICAGO, March 23.—Chicago importers are being invited by Alfred Patschow to join an association formed by 154 importers to guard the interests of traders in foreign goods.

"Within the last three months," said Mr. Patschow today, "the middle European countries, including Germany, Austria and other countries, has been organized to discourage the importation of products from the United States. The policy is not to make some change in the policies that answered their purpose ten or more years ago, the spirit of retaliation will grow and the exports of the United States will be affected immeasurably."

DEATHS OF THE DAY.

Special to The Globe.

WINONA, Minn., March 23.—C. F. Buck, who had been a resident of Winona for over fifty years, died this afternoon at his home, 414 1/2 Broadway, of a lingering illness. He was born near Buffalo, N. Y., in 1826. He was for some years a prominent attorney and was a staunch Democrat. He was several times mayor of Winona, and was postmaster three terms. He was the father of H. L. Buck, chairman of the state Democratic central committee. He was a prominent old settler and was well known throughout the state.

Special to The Globe.

MANKATO, Minn., March 23.—Stephen Lamm, Mankato's wealthiest citizen, president of the First National bank and connected with other institutions, died this afternoon after a long illness. He leaves a wife and seven children. He was born in Genoa, N. Y., in 1827.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 23.—Gen. Thomas Armstrong Morris, of this city, is dead at the home of his daughter, Mrs. M. J. Chambers, in San Diego, Cal., where he was staying for the benefit of his health. Gen. Morris was the oldest living graduate of West Point, having received his diploma from the national military school in 1834. He was ninety-one years old.

SCRANTON, Pa., March 23.—A. J. Colburn Jr., former state and national president of the Patriotic Order of the Sons of America, died at Scranton, Pa., of a prominent old settler and was a political campaign orator of several years.

BEARS THE SIGNATURE OF CHARLES H. SPENCER

STATE MUST DEFEND ITS CLAIM TO SWAMP LANDS BEFORE SECRETARY OF INTERIOR.

Minnesota is now called upon to make a still further fight for its title to lot 1, section 6, township 58 1/2, range 17, which has been in dispute for some years, and which the commissioner of the United States general land office recently declared to be rightfully the property of the state.

S. G. Iverson, state auditor, was served yesterday with notice of an appeal on the part of F. A. Hyde & Co. from the decision of the commissioner of the general land office. The issue will now go before the secretary of the interior, who is the final authority.

The tract in controversy is a three-cornered strip of swamp land near Virginia, on the iron range, and for want of a better name it has been designated by the state officers as the "Virginia silver." Although not of great area, it is valuable by reason of rich mineral deposits. The state's title rests entirely upon the question of whether the land has been properly designated as swamp. If it is swamp it belongs to the state, under the grant of March 12, 1860, vesting in the state all swamp and overflowed lands. The decision of the commissioner of the general land office in favor of the state was based upon field notes of the government surveyors, in which this tract is marked as swamp, and other proofs of present condition which were submitted by the state auditor.

Claimed Under Scrip Filing.

The "Virginia silver" was selected for the state by the surveyor general in this district in January, 1902, and soon after the contest on the part of F. A. Hyde & Co. was begun. The contestants first attempted to homestead the property, but abandoned that idea to try the plan of filing scrip upon it.

Last June State Auditor Iverson, accompanied by Capt. R. H. L. Jewett, assistant land clerk in his office, who is credited with the discovery of the silver, and Assistant Attorney General, went over the "Virginia silver" thoroughly. Finding the land to be unmistakably swamp, Mr. Iverson decided that his decision will be upheld by the secretary of the interior.

Speaking yesterday of the appeal, Mr. Iverson said: "The facts have been thoroughly gone over by the commissioner of the general land office, and every condition in the tract is being taken care of. His decision will be upheld by the secretary of the interior."

LETTER FROM BURTON IS DRAWN UPON HIM

District Attorney Tries to Make a Point Against the Senator.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., March 23.—The identification of letters of complaint against the Rialto Grain and Securities company received by the postoffice department by William H. Burton, district attorney, opened today's proceedings in the trial of United States Senator Burton, of Kansas.

The most important witness was Ernest H. Kantor, a member of a St. Louis advertising firm. He testified that he had introduced Senator Burton to President H. C. Dennis, of the Rialto company, and to Judge Thomas B. Harlan, attorney for the company, in November, 1902. Witness stated that, following the introduction, Senator Burton, Judge Harlan and himself left for Chicago, on the trip Judge Harlan asked Senator Burton to become general counsel for the Rialto company. Witness stated that it was specified that Burton should receive $2,500 for his services. Burton said his name should appear on the company's literature only as "general counsel," and that he could not act in any capacity before the postoffice department.

Senator Burton agreed that in case he accepted the offer as general counsel to undertake the defense of President Dennis, of the Rialto company, which had absorbed the Brooks brokerage company, in case Dennis should be indicted for the transactions of the latter company.

District Attorney Dyer read a letter purporting to have been written to the company by the Rialto company by Senator Burton, in which the latter is alleged to have stated that he had made inquiries at the postoffice department regarding complaints against the Rialto company, and was assured that no final action would be taken until he (Burton) had been first notified and had arranged for a full hearing before the postoffice department. The letter stated, "I trust arrangements will be made for my first month's pay."

Illustrious Britons Will Visit Us.

LONDON, March 23.—A meeting of the committee in arrangements for the visit of the officials of the United Kingdom to St. Louis, of which Lord Leyden is chairman, was held in the house of commons today. Sir Thomas Fyfe, lord mayor of Dublin, the honorary secretary, reported that hundreds of officials had applied for particulars regarding the arrangements. The committee finally approved the programme. The party will leave England May 21 and will visit New York, Philadelphia, Washington, St. Louis, Chicago, Niagara Falls and Toronto.

Will Attend Canal Transfer.

NEW YORK, March 23.—W. A. Day, assistant to the United States attorney general, and Charles W. Russell, special United States attorney general, who will look after the interests of this government during the transfer of the property and rights of the new Panama canal company of France to the United States, sailed today. They will act with William Nelson Cromwell, who represents the French interests.

Irish Loan at a Premium.

LONDON, March 23.—The list of applications for the issue of $25,000,000 in 3 1/2 per cent stock, created under the Irish land act of 1903, the issue price of which is 8 1/2, was closed today. The loan was oversubscribed seven times and is quoted at 9 1/2 per cent premium.

HOW TO QUIT TOBACCO.

Here is an Interesting Suggestion for Tobacco Users.

It is strange how few people compared with the millions who would like to know have learned this simple method for quitting and restoring the functions as will make it a success and it takes Cupid's time to make will power. That is the whole secret. Cupid's removal of nicotine from the system and tones the nerves to the highest state of perfection. In cases of early indications of nervousness has destroyed vitality there is nothing on earth that will so quickly restore and restore the functions as will Cupid's, the great manhood builder. CONTEST FOR CHILD

Richeson Divorce Case Now Being Heard.

The Richeson divorce case, which has been in the courts for almost a year in one form or another, was taken up for final settlement by Judge Bunn in the district court yesterday. The suit is one in which Kate D. Richeson asks a separation from Dr. William G. Richeson, a well known physician.

Dr. Richeson is not opposing the application for divorce, but is fighting for the custody of their seven-year-old daughter.

The Richeson case first came into the courts about a year ago, when Mrs. Richeson left her husband and went to the home of her sister in Minneapolis, taking with her the little daughter. Dr. Richeson, upon learning the whereabouts of his wife and child, sued out a writ of habes corpus in the Ramsey county courts, and in company with a deputy sheriff, went to Minneapolis after the child.

When they arrived at the Minneapolis home Mrs. Richeson was away, and Dr. Richeson attempted a scene by attempting to take the child by force, but was prevented by the deputy sheriff. The father failed to secure possession of the child at that time, the Hennepin county courts holding that writ should have been sued out in that county.

Since that time the fight for the custody of the pretty little daughter has brought the family into court a score of times. Finally, a few months ago, the Ramsey county courts placed the child in the possession of Dr. Richeson's mother until the matter should be decided.

The divorce suit commenced yesterday before Judge Bunn is attracting considerable attention, the court room being well filled with stylishly dressed women during the session. The women were most of friends of Mrs. Richeson, who was on the witness stand the greater part of the afternoon.

Dr. Richeson was in court, being accompanied by his mother, and during the proceedings the pretty flaxen-haired little child played about the court room, dividing its attentions most impartially between the father and mother.
