FIGHT SAVAGELY AT MO-TIEN PASS

JAPS DEFEAT RUSSIANS WITH MUCH DIFFICULTY

Czar's Men Charge Three Times Before Being Driven Off—Russians Abandon a Town, Burying Their Supplies—Gen. Kuroki Advises a Suspension of Operations Till the Capture of Port Arthur, Which Is Believed to Be Imminent.

TOKYO, July 5.—Two battalions of Russians attacked the Japanese outpost at Mo-tien pass yesterday, Gen. Kuroki reports, under cover of thick fog. The attack was repelled, but the Russians rallied and charged three times before they were finally driven off, leaving thirty dead and fifty wounded on the field. The Japanese total loss was fifteen killed and thirty wounded.

Kuroki pursued the retreating enemy for three miles. He occupied North Fenshui pass without opposition. The Russians abandoned Tsinschankwan, burying their supplies.

The central column of the first Japanese army has been advanced west and now occupies a line extending forty miles from Mo-tien pass to Sinkhi and Shamotien passes.

The general staff is considering whether or not it would be advisable to suspend operations now, as Kuroki advises, until Port Arthur falls. The capture of that point is believed to be imminent, and it is argued that then all the Japanese forces in Manchuria can be sent against the main Russian army.

PASS THROUGH GOLDEN HORN

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 5.—The Russian volunteer fleet steamers St. Petersburg and Sevastopol passed through the Bosphorus from the Black sea this morning. The Sevastopol was flying the Red Cross flag and her hull was painted white. The vessels took on board stores and remained in the harbor until this evening.

DESPERATE BAYONET CHARGES

ST. PETERSBURG, July 5.—The fact that Lieut. Gen. Sakharoff, chief of staff of Gen. Kuropatkin, witnessed the fighting near Mo-tien pass is taken to indicate that he is in command of the forces east of Liau-yang, which include the army corps under Lieut. Gen. Count Keller.

The desperate character of the fighting is shown by the repeated bayonet charges, the Russians ousting the Japanese from the trenches. The fighting around Sanchen shows that the Japanese are determined to hold the ground to the south as well as Dalin pass until a favorable opportunity presents itself for an advance on the port of New-chwang.

TORNADO BLOWS TRAIN FROM TRACK

Engineer Maneuvers Vainly to Escape the Coming Catastrophe

PETERSBURG, Ill., July 5.—An accommodation passenger train on the Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis railroad was blown from the railroad track at Oakford, Ill., twelve miles north of Petersburg, early this evening, and Thomas Willey, baggage man, was killed, and a number of passengers injured.

The train consisted of two coaches, a baggage car and a locomotive, and all the cars were hurled from the track down a seven-foot embankment, turning over in the descent and landing in a splintered mass of debris. The accident occurred just a few rods from the bridge over the Benjamin river.

The engineer, who escaped injury, said he watched the gathering storm clouds as his train sped along, as he feared from the appearance of the clouds that a tornado might result. As the train reached Oakford the clouds suddenly seemed to concentrate and drop, apparently coming directly toward the train. Realizing that the train would encounter the tornado if it proceeded, the engineer quickly stopped the train. The approaching tornado, when about a mile away to the south-west, and coming northeast, suddenly swerved farther toward the north and the train was directly in its path.

Instantly the engineer opened the throttle in an endeavor to rush beyond the zone of danger, and again the tornado swerved and headed directly for the flying train. The roaring wind was heard above the rattle of the train. Steam was crowded on, and the light accommodation, jumping and pounding on the rails, smashed ahead in an endeavor to escape the cyclone. Suddenly a crash was heard above the rumble and roar of the tornado, the train was struck broadside, the coaches were torn from the locomotive, lifted into the air and hurled over and over from the embankment into the ditch.

The wrecked cars took fire, but the flames were soon extinguished. General Manager H. W. Gridley, who suffered a broken arm, remained and directed the relief work. The only one fatally injured was Ernest Leib, of Springfield.

convention, was elected national committeeman by a vote of 12 to 10 for Orville Reinhart, of Minneapolis. Charles E. Vasaly, of Little Falls, was recommended for the committee on resolutions; James R. Corrigan, of Minneapolis, for the committee on rules; W. W. Mayo, of Rochester, was named on the committee to notify the president, and Charles d'Auteumont, of Duluth, to the committee to notify the vice president. H. L. Back, of Winona, was made chairman of the delegation. The Hearst men were in control of the delegation; through the defection of C. A. Nye, of Moorhead, elected as an anti-Hearst delegate.

MISSING DAUGHTER MARRIES SOLDIER

Miss Ella Auger, of New Canada,
Is Now Wife of Corporal
Clark T. Stenckfield

Miss Ella Auger, the pretty daughter of the wealthy New Canada farmer, whose mysterious disappearance has received considerable attention from the newspapers, was discovered yesterday, shortly after she had returned to Fort Snelling from Minneapolis with Clark T. Stenckfield, corporal in the Twenty-first Infantry band, who had just become her husband.

Miss Auger's father had offered a reward of $1,000 for information as to her whereabouts, dead or alive. After she had been found he forgave all. The young couple will take up their home at the fort. Their numerous friends are predicting that they will live happily forever after.

Thursday of last week Miss Auger said that she proposed to visit the family of her uncle, but instead walked from her home in New Canada to the Stillwater street car line and came to St. Paul, going at once to Fort Snelling. She was not able to see her lover until the next morning, as he was playing with the band at Minnehaha park. When they met the next day they concluded that they would be married. Stenckfield was unable to get a leave of absence until yesterday, when he and Miss Auger proceeded to Minneapolis and were there made man and wife. Before this had been accomplished many at the fort were aware of the romance that was taking place, and when the bride and bridegroom returned they were warmly welcomed.

Slueth on the Scene

Shortly after the return of the bridal party there appeared on the scene O. O. Rindal, of the local branch of a detective agency, having been engaged by the father to learn the whereabouts of his daughter at all hazards. It was not a difficult task, as Mrs. Stenckfield was perfectly willing to be interviewed by the detective. Rindal carefully looked over the certificate of marriage, questioned the couple and left satisfied that his mission was at an end and that it was too late to interfere. When told that his daughter was married Mr.

GROVER CLEVELAND IS DEFINITELY OUT

HE UTTERLY DISAPPEARS AS A CANDIDATE

Judge Parker Constantly Gains Strength, but His Opponents Continue Their Hopeless Fight, Unable to Unite Upon a Candidate—Gorman Is Also Eliminated and Southern States Swing to Parker, Whose Nomination Is Conceded by Tammany's Leader—Bryan's Influence Shrinks.

Special to the Globe and New York Herald

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 5.—Judge Alton B. Parker's opponents are now fighting in the last ditch, but they are fighting with a tenacity and a desperation that will cause concern among his managers until the nomination actually occurs. The Port Arthur of Democracy is not to be captured until a last desperate assault. The fighting today has not all been in Judge Parker's favor, but midnight finds him able to count a substantial increase in his support. That he will triumph in the end is no longer seriously doubted. This is due entirely to the continued failure of the opposition to concentrate.

This day and night have been marked by a series of events of a stirring character. First and foremost came the complete elimination of Mr. Cleveland. The Cleveland boom was a sham after all. James Smith Jr., the leader of New Jersey, who had been masquerading behind the Cleveland boom, naively confessed that he had been putting a confidence game on these delegates, and that Mr. Cleveland ten days ago positively forbade the use of his name.

FLOCK TO PARKER

Following the elimination of Senator Gorman as a candidate late last night came the announcement that Maryland's delegates would vote for Parker. New Jersey met and adjourned until tomorrow, when it will swing into the Parker column. Virginia and West Virginia followed Maryland for Parker. Kentucky, which has been in doubt, being uninstructed, met and its twenty-six delegates will go to Parker under the unit rule.

Over thirty state delegations are meeting tonight, and in some of them stubborn contests are occurring. Michigan, which was supposed to be controlled by W. J. Campau for Parker, was unable to reach a result and adjourned to meet tomorrow. Mr. Barkworth, the chairman of the state committee, declared that he would resign if the delegation decided to vote for Parker.

Charles F. Murphy, the leader of Tammany hall, tonight virtually conceded Parker's nomination. He, however, has not ceased his opposition. Tammany must vote for Parker on the floor, but its orators may make a protest in the convention.

BRYAN'S CLAIM IS DISPUTED

As for William J. Bryan, he continues to stand, a combination of Ajax and Casabianca. He is dreaming tonight of yet being able to effect a winning combination. Mr. Bryan and Charles A. Towne both make the statement that 400 votes will stand out against Parker and beat him. On the contrary, it is known that more than 200 votes that will be cast for other candidates on the first ballot will go to Parker on the second.

Developments of the day tend to confirm the statement made in the Herald that the great fight made in convention will come over the platform. A strong sentiment is developing in favor of a declaration for the gold standard. The phrase that is desired is: "The Democratic party pledges itself to the maintenance of the existing money standard."

Bourke Cockran caused a sensation at the meeting of the New York delegation today by offering a plank similar to this,
