THE weather man has partly redeemed himself during the last week and provided some ideal July days which were taken advantage of for several entertainments in the way of launch parties on the river, while White Bear during the past week was actually gay. A very young set, who have a year or two of school ahead of them yet, are having everything their own way this summer and much of the entertaining recently at the lake and in town has been for them. It must not be supposed that these are always very informal affairs either, as there is much of etiquette and many social forms observed by these young people which would quite surprise their elders; indeed, the laws of the Medes and Persians are quite flexible compared to rules about dancing and who's who among a set of college boys and young girls, many of whom go to Eastern schools.

Mr. William W. Churchill, the artist from Boston, who has been at the Angust for about two months, has completed his work here and left last night for the seashore near Boston, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Bancroft. While here Mr. Churchill made portraits of President Northrop, of University of Minnesota; Judge Greenleaf Clark; Judge Thomas Wilson and Mr. Henry P. Upham. These portraits have been on exhibition during the past week and have been greatly admired by the friends of those who sat for the artists. It seemed to be generally considered that President Northrop's which is to go to the university—and that of Mr. Upham were the best likenesses, although the others were very good. One thing which made President Northrop's portrait seem better was that he wore his robe of office, which was a great relief, as the same and ugliness of the garments detract from the beauty of portrait work. The graceful lines of Mr. Northrop's portrait are quite impossible where there is only the conventional frock coat to work upon. Mr. Churchill has been much complimented upon his fine work.

Among the small affairs of the week was a card party given for the younger set on Monday by Miss Judith Lawler, of Virginia avenue, in honor of Miss Byrne, who is visiting friends. On Tuesday night the younger set was again entertained by Miss Anne Lyon, who gave a dancing party at her home on the island at White Bear. On Tuesday night Mr. and Mrs. John Meagher, of Goodrich avenue, gave a dinner party, Mr. W. A. Hardenbergh gave a luncheon for thirty at Delwood on Thursday. Mrs. Horace Bigelow, of South Exchange street, entertained informally Thursday afternoon for Mrs. Ewing, of St. Louis. Miss Anne Sloan, of Summit avenue, gave a lunch party on the river Thursday night.

Miss Mary Fauntleroy, of St. Louis, who was one of the bridesmaids at the Gilbert-Morris wedding in Duluth, and has since been visiting there, has come to St. Paul and is at 148 Western avenue, with Miss May Lee. She will remain several weeks. Mrs. Ambrose Tighe and family left last night for the seashore to be gone the remainder of the summer. Mrs. D. C. Price has returned from Boston and New York and is with Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Price, on St. Albans street. Mr. and Mrs. Cortlandt Taylor will soon remove from the Colonial, on Summit avenue, to the Ashland, where they will be during the early autumn. Miss Beardslee, of Fairmount avenue, is at Baker's island, near Cape Cod, visiting friends. Mrs. J. E. Adams, of Goodrich avenue, is visiting relatives in Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Lindeke have taken an apartment on Grand avenue, near St. Albans street. The Misses Whitwell, of Fort Plains, N. Y., are guests of Mrs. Kenneth Clark, of Portland avenue. Mrs. N. P. Langford, of Grand avenue, has returned from Milwaukee.

Col. Wilbur E. Wilder has returned from the East. Mr. and Mrs. Dudley B. Finch and Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Holbert, of St. Albans street, are spending several weeks at the Holbert country home at Osceola. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gilbert, of Fairmount avenue, will take the Holbert house during August and entertain a large house party. Gen. and Mrs. Morgan, of Holly avenue, have returned from St. Louis and Cincinnati. Miss Alice Pope is spending a few days at Lindstrom with Miss Lee Maxfield. Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Blood, of Summit avenue, left last night to spend the remainder of the summer at Bass Rock, Mass. The Misses Whitwell, nieces of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Clark, of Portland avenue, will visit the Yellowstone before returning to the East. They will be accompanied by Miss Katherine Wright, of the Angust.

Mrs. F. P. Wright is entertaining a house party for her sons at Lake Minnetonka. The girls in the party are Miss Abbott and her guest, Miss Carlton, Miss Louise Cochran and Miss Helen Dean. The Misses Constans, of Summit avenue, gave a small bridge sion was led by the ushers, Theodore Ley and James McManus, followed by Joseph Hines as groomsmen, Miss Katherine R. Dunworth as bridesmaid, Miss Katherine Finney maid of honor, and lastly the bride, who looked beautiful in a dress of embroidered white silk and long tulle veil. She carried bride roses. The maids' gowns were of dainty white swiss and their bouquets were sweet peas. Mr. Finley and his best man entered from the sacristy and met his bride at the chancel rail. After the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home on Western avenue for about fifty relatives. Hillyard's orchestra discoursed music during the evening. The rooms were prettily decorated with palms and sweet peas. Mr. and Mrs. Finley left for Indianapolis and the coast and will be at home after Sept. 1.

Mrs. John Kennedy, of Sherburne avenue, was very pleasantly surprised by a party of friends at Como park Tuesday afternoon in honor of her birthday. Cards were played during the afternoon. Favors were given by Mrs. Blinet, Mrs. Kennedy and Mrs. Tweedle. A very dainty luncheon was served, after which

BALD EAGLE LAKE

Bright little jewel thou, in setting of forest enshrined,
With lilies upon thy brow and with thy tresses entwined.

Back in the long ago you were locked in a glacier's heart,
He heard the order to go, but it took him years to start.

As he slowly southward crept, he sighed the weary way,
And ever he wasted and wept, and ever he sought delay.

He gathered the mighty stones and pushed them out as a brake,
He plunged his nose in the hills and left them flat in his wake.

Blowing up from the south, he felt the breath of the wind,
It stighed to him of the drought, of death, to his kith and kind.

For he could not fight the breeze as she softly round him played,
And he could not chill and freeze in her beauty and warmth arrayed.

But love to the glacier's heart—her passionate perfumed breath,
He had dwelt too long apart—the thrill of her kiss was death.

He slowly wasted away, and his children one by one,
He laid in their beds of clay, when his race was nearly run.

They are scattered like rolling dice where the wind the glacier kissed,
For he scooped with fingers of ice and wove them shrouds of the mist.

Oh, lake of the lilies and wood, I love thee well for these,
Thy gifts are sweet and good, the healing of flowers and trees.

Yet sweeter than all is the home, sheltering those I love,
Close to thy ripples and foam, with the sky and the clouds above.

For dearer than waters and trees, sweeter than lilies white,
Softer than drone of the bees, I long for their welcome tonight.

THE WINONA SEMINARY

Winona, Minnesota.

A boarding school for girls conducted by the Sisters of Saint Francis. To parents seeking a high-class, homelike boarding school for their daughters, this institution presents claims for special consideration. It is delightfully situated in one of the most beautiful and picturesque cities on the beautiful upper Mississippi. Its courses of study, various and comprehensive, are embraced in the following departments:

The Elementary Department—Offering a course in the regular grammar grades.

The Academic Department—Comprising classical, scientific and English courses at present covering the usual ground of preparatory and freshman college work. In this department students may pursue regular or elective courses. Special advantages are afforded for the study of languages. Bookkeeping, shorthand and typewriting are also offered.

The Conservatory of Music—Modeled upon the plan of the German conservatories in the piano and violin departments, and of the Italian school in the vocal department, and offering excellent courses in harmony and composition.

The Department of Elocution and Physical Culture—With thorough and finished courses in voice cultivation, philosophy of expression, literature, repertoire and platform work and physical culture. In an excellent gymnasium equipped with apparatus and showers and presided over by an experienced instructor, healthful and corrective exercises are prescribed to all students of the Seminary.

The Art Department—Giving courses in drawing and painting from still life and life, and in china decorating.

The Department of Domestic Economy—Affording instruction in cooking, plain sewing, dressmaking, embroidery, art needlework and numerous details of systematic and refined housekeeping. Careful attention is paid to health, and to moral, social and religious training.

The kind but firm discipline governing the institution and the cordial relations existing between students and teachers, give to the school the atmosphere of home.

The Seminary has just closed ten years of successful educational work.

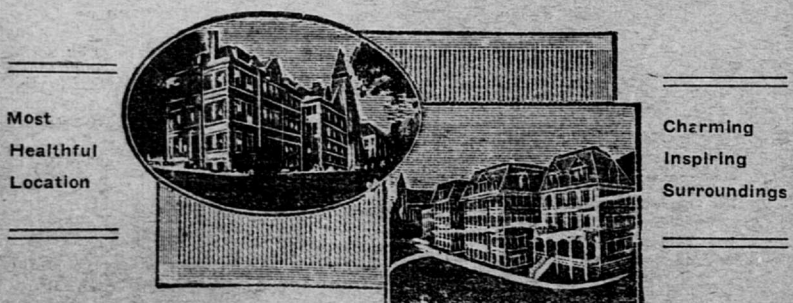

An addition completed this summer, and containing a large number of students' rooms, enables the school to accommodate an increased number of boarding students the coming year.

The fall term will begin September 12th.
