DIOCESE OF HELENA

Diocesan Correspondent: Rev. Thomas B. Kilma.

Helena: The Eleventh Annual Commencement of Mount St. Charles College was held in the College Auditorium on Thursday evening, June 9, the occasion being marked by the presence of the Right Rev. John P. Carroll, D. D., Bishop of Helena, who presided and the Right Reverend Monsignor Victor Day, V. G. Degrees were awarded to the graduates of the philosophical department and diplomas conferred on the graduates of the High School department of the institution. A large gathering of the friends and relatives of the graduates of the institution was present.

The baccalaureate address was delivered by the Very Reverend M. T. O'Brien, Rector of the Cathedral of Great Falls, Montana, who was introduced by the Reverend N. C. Hoff, President of the College. Father O'Brien in a happy vein approached the serious part of his discourse on "The Crossroads." He showed the necessity of a happy choice of vocation if one wishes to make a success of the journey through life.

Arthur M. Murphy, A. B., representing the College department, spoke on "America's Problem," in which he treated the subject of the Americanization of the immigrant as one of the great problems to be solved by the present generation of Americans.

Dominic J. Feeney represented the graduates of the High School. He took as his subject, "Paternalism," in which he treated at length the modern tendency in industry, finance, and government toward centralization, dwelling particularly on the dangers of such a policy in government as carried to extremes.

The awards for the winners of various contests throughout the year were made as follows:

First prize—Essay Contest, gold medal donated by the Reverend Charles A. Scullion, awarded to Coleman H. Mulcahy. Second Prize—Essay Contest, silver medal, awarded to Andrew V. Corry. First Prize—Short-story Contest, gold medal donated by the Rev. Stephen J. Sullivan, D. D., awarded to Andrew V. Corry. Second Prize—Short-story Contest, silver medal, awarded to Coleman H. Mulcahy. First Prize—Oratorical Contest, gold medal donated by the Rev. E. P. Curley, awarded to William A. Lacey. Second Prize—Oratorical Contest, silver medal, awarded to Edward J. Morris. The B. A. degree was conferred upon Arthur M. Murphy and Charles J. O'Leary.

Anaconda: Pierre Sanders, Dr. J. H. Noonan, and P. M. Halloran, of this city, have been appointed by the Right Reverend John P. Carroll, D. D., to the advisory lay directorate of Mount St. Charles College. The directorate is composed of prominent business men selected from the chief industrial and business centers of the diocese, and its object is to co-operate and counsel with the Bishop in matters pertaining to the problems of policy, finance, publicity and administration of the College and other Catholic institutions of the diocese.

The newly formed directorate held its first meeting at the College in Helena. A definite organization was effected and the objects of the directorate were explained in detail. The ladies of the L. C. B. A., Anaconda branch, installed the newly elected officers at the last regular meeting. The officers for the ensuing year are as follows: President, Katherine Sullivan; 1st vice president, Mary Hogan; 2nd vice president, Annie Connelly; recorder, Grace Fleming. Mrs. Katherine Sullivan was selected as the delegate to the convention to be held in Atlantic City in July.

Edward Morris of St. Paul's parish was one of the winners in the Oratorical contest recently held in Mount St. Charles College, Helena. Mr. Morrison took as his subject, "Ireland's Case Stated."

Missoula: The Missoula branch of the National Catholic Women's League went on record as favoring more stringent divorce laws, at a meeting held at the Loyola gymnasium. Several resolutions were adopted.

Capa: During the past week the ceremony of dedicating the new church at this place was performed by the Right Reverend Bishop, accompanied by Fathers Lynch, Padula and Millard. In his sermon Bishop Lawler announced that his two visits to this town within a month were intended to prepare the way for the first pastor, Rev. Francis P. Monaghan, who was recently ordained in Buffalo, N. Y., and who will arrive in a few days. The fact that the people are to have a priest of their own, with Mass every Sunday, is a blessing for which they have prayed for years. A class of adults and children was confirmed after the dedicatory services.

Draper: A committee of the Catholics of this locality met the Right Reverend Bishop on his recent visit to this town and asked for a permanent pastor. They were assured that their request will be granted within a few weeks. Without the zealous care of a resident priest the neighborhood would soon abound in fallen-away Catholics. The intermittent attention given here during the past fifteen years as a mission has caused the congregation to decrease considerably.

Van Metre: The whole population of this village and neighborhood, non-Catholics as well as Catholics, turned out on the occasion of the dedication of the church Wednesday, the first church they have had here. The Bishop also gave Confirmation.

Hopewell: Now that the people here have a church and that they are to enjoy the opportunity of hearing Mass twice a month on Sundays they feel that they are no longer abandoned. The Bishop was here last week to bless the Church and to confirm the children. There was a time, and unfortunately it lasted for years, when they never had Mass on Sundays and when they worshipped in the home of one of the parishioners.

Gregory: Miss Katherine Siren is a proud winner in the Essay Contest offered by the Blue Valley Creamery Co., of Chicago, Ill. The prize winners were selected from a total of 736 essays coming from 19 states, including the Dominion of Canada. The judges were Dr. C. W. Larson, Chief of Dairy Division at Washington, and Mr. A. J. Glover of Hoard's Dairymen. These gentlemen selected three winners from South Dakota, among them being Miss Siren. Miss Katherine graduated from the eighth grade of St. Joseph's parochial school this week and ranked first in her class with an average of 94 per cent.

On the evening of June 9 the pupils of St. Joseph's parochial school held their annual closing exercises at the auditorium. Two very interesting plays were given, entitled "No Cure, No Pay," a comedy in one act, and "Jack, the Giant Killer," an opera in four acts. Among other things were quartets, duets, piano solos, vocal duets and drills. Eight pupils graduated from the eighth grade and received the diplomas, while ten pupils were awarded certificates from the state final examinations. The enrollment has been the largest in the history of the school, numbering 103.

Very Rev. Dean J. Guessen held a conference with the priests of the Rosebud District on Wednesday, June 15. Rev. E. Hudson of Bonesteel and Rev. Wm. Kearney read papers on the "Eucharistic Laws."

IN MEMORIAM

REMINISCENCES OF A FRIEND—A FEW LINES IN MEMORY OF FATHER STACK.

(Communicated by H. H. H.)

There passed away at St. Joseph's Hospital, Mankato, a man who though little known to the general public, has left a wonderful impress for good on the generation for which he worked, the Rev. Edward Stack. He died on June 2.

It was the will of God that his approach to death should be through the long, low archway of pain and suffering, and through all the weary way his patience and resignation were admirable.

For about eight years he was unable to attend to the duties of a parish, yet when death came he was not forgotten by the people among whom he formerly labored, and from early morning, on the day of his funeral, the people from Mapleton streamed in, until the great church of St. Peter and Paul was filled to its capacity.

The Office for the Dead was chanted by his brother priests. Rt. Rev. Monsignor Devlin of Austin officiated at the solemn requiem Mass, and Rev. Father Griffin, the present pastor of Mapleton, preached a beautiful and instructive sermon.

After the services the body was taken by his own old parishioners to Good Thunder where it was laid to rest among the people for whom he had worked so long and faithfully.

Father Stack never did any of those brilliant things that call for the acclaim of the public, but his holy and humble life was filled with the little flowers of human kindness and good deeds that only those who were very near to him knew anything about. His tender consideration for little children, his gentleness to the sick, his hidden charities, and above all his loyalty to his friends makes his memory a benediction to the people. One little story told since his death is like a ray of light on that hidden life that was his own true self:

He was at St. Joseph's Hospital, a patient himself even at that time, which is many years ago, when an infant a few days old was brought in. An effort was made to save the feeble little life that did not seem to take any roots in the world. The weather was very hot and sultry, and Father Stack, who always seemed to know what was going on in the hospital, went to the doctor and said: "You take the baby and put it in my room, where there are two big windows. I can go home tonight. I will pay the difference in the cost of the room, and its folks needn't know anything about that." This act is one of thousands of the same kind that he has to his credit in the bank of God's mercy. The touch of the brotherhood of man is in the fact that the child was unknown to him and belonged to neither his race nor his creed.

May the Great Father meet him with a smile, in that strange city to which he is gone, and may we, who still remain, profit by his kindly example.

IRISH MINORITIES

(Communicated.)

In the recent election over the Home Rule Bill, the Irish nation has again refuted the claim that Ireland is divided. With the exception of four Unionist candidates from Trinity College, in the twenty-three Southern counties, no election was held, as only six counties of Ulster, arbitrarily cut off by the Bill, the contest was waged most bitterly. In two of these counties anti-Unionists prevail. In only four of the six counties the Unionists have a majority, and in only one city, Belfast, is this an appreciable majority. The opponents of the Union in the six counties of Ulster are relatively greater in numbers than the whole of Ireland. Election returns of 1918, 1920 and 1921 show that Ulster outside of Belfast is not Unionist nor is Ulster Protestant. The latest British census shows that, excluding Belfast, there are 397 more Catholics than non-Catholics in Ulster, while in southern Ireland there are over 250,000 non-Catholics. Unless England's solicitude for minorities is an ardent hypocrisy, how can she surrender to their fate the Protestant minority in the South, and again, the strong anti-Unionist minority in the six counties of Ulster?

What is this Unionist minority centered in the city of Belfast? The report of the American commission investigating conditions in Ireland states that the Belfast Unionists are the wealthy manufacturers and a group of workers dependent on the manufacturers who arouse religious prejudices to create division among the workers. In 1914 these Unionists workers signed the Covenant against Home Rule at the dictation of Sir Edward Carson who said, "If the English people throw us over we will enroll ourselves under the greatest Protestant nation in the world, under the German nation"; and they so loved the Union that they armed themselves with German guns to fight the British Empire. In 1918 the same group voted for the Union, and in 1921 they are voting for Home Rule at the dictates of their English leaders. They are consistent only in their religious prejudices aroused by their employers for political purposes.

SAINT CLARA COLLEGE SINSINAWA, WIS.

On Saturday evening, June 4, the students of Saint Clara College presented a pageant commemorative of Dante's sixtieth birthday, which was a fitting tribute to the great Italian poet.

The first part consisted of scenes from Dante's life. The picturesque play of the Florentine children and the charming dances which were part of the gay life of Florence, and which were so attractively reproduced on the moonlit campus made this pageant one of the loveliest dramatic productions ever given at Saint Clara.

The second part presented pictures from The Divine Comedy. The plan of this greatest of Christian poems was adequately suggested by scenes from the "Inferno," the "Purgatorio," and the "Paradiso." A strikingly effective scheme of lighting gave atmosphere to the various parts.

The students are to be congratulated upon the success of their splendid tribute to Dante, the loftiest of poets, and the "central man of all the world."

At the solemn high Mass celebrated on Sunday, June 5, the Reverend James M. Reardon, of Saint Paul, delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

Patrons and friends gathered from neighboring and distant states on Tuesday morning, June 7, to attend the Commencement Exercises. His Grace, the Most Reverend James John Keane, D. D., of Dubuque, presided and conferred the honors. The theme of his felicitous and convincing address was the nobility and intrinsic worth of Christian education. The Saint Clara College and Academy Alumnae Association held its biennial session at Sinsinawa from June 10 to June 12. The large and enthusiastic group of women included representatives from Boston to Saint Paul, Omaha, and intervening points. They discussed problems of vital interest to the college and to the co-operative work of women in various parts of the country.

The Rev. Doctor David O'Hearn, rector of Saint John's Cathedral, Milwaukee, delivered the alumnae sermon, taking for his theme "The Valiant Woman."

Miss Helena Harrington of Salix, Iowa, who received the degree of Bachelor of Arts in June of this year, is the Saint Clara College Faculty appointee to the scholarship to the Graduate School of the University of Wisconsin. This honor and privilege is annually accorded Saint Clara College by the Board of Regents of the State University.

Along with the religious facilities and the splendid summer sports offered the colonist, it is the object of the founders of this Colony to keep our Catholic people from mingling with the vicious elements which too often frequent summer resorts. In the Victory Heights Colony the moral character of anyone desiring admission is first carefully investigated before he is permitted to live here.

The conditions for joining this Colony are such as to put it in easy reach of the average Catholic desiring a place for a summer outing. Full information will be furnished free on request to the Secretary of the Catholic Colonization Society, U. S. A., Ashland Block, Chicago. This Colony will be formally dedicated by Archbishop Messmer of Milwaukee as soon as the chapel is completed.

The Kingdom Round the Corner—By Coningsby Dawson. Published by the Cosmopolitan Book Corporation, 119 W. 40th St., New York. Price $2.

A new book by Coningsby Dawson usually is looked upon as somewhat of a literary event. The above work is not a disappointment on this score, as it carries out to successful termination the evolution of a perfectly natural situation created by the war.

Briefly, the story centers around Lord Taborley—Tabs to the reader—who had taken up the terrible work of war sustained by the thought of the girl to whom his whole heart had been dedicated. In the maelstrom of conflict Tabs' former valet emerges with high rank and distinction and, what proves most disconcerting, a fervent love for the very girl who was the center of Tabs' own kingdom.

Too proud and gallant to reveal the new general's actual civil status, Tabs buries his own affection and sacrifices it upon the altar of true devotion to the one whom he worships. The solution of the tangle brings smiles as well as a moistening around the eyes, and the finale unfolds to the heroic Tabs the great fact in life that every individual, even after disappointments and struggles, will eventually find his kingdom around the corner.
