Historical Material Desired by The State Historical Society of Missouri.

The Constitution of the State Historical Society of Missouri provides that its object shall be the collection, preservation, exhibition and publication of materials for the study of history of this state and of the Middle West. In realizing this object the Society desires in the first place to collect everything that can in any way shed light upon the history of Missouri, from its earliest settlement to the present time. It is often the case that such material, which is of little or no importance to the individual who possesses it, becomes of great value when incorporated as a part of a library of reference on all historical matters. With a view to encouraging the contribution of such material to its library, the State Historical Society publishes the following list of objects particularly desired by the Society:

1. Books and pamphlets relating to Missouri or to any of its subdivisions; county or other local histories or narratives.

2. Books and pamphlets written by Missourians. The Society possesses one of the most extensive collection of books by Missouri authors in existence, and desires to make the same as complete as possible.

3. Manuscripts: Any original documents containing accounts of the early settlements of Missouri or the Louisiana Territory; or of the various movements affecting the history of the State or in which its citizens have participated, from the early relations with the Indians through the French and Spanish periods to the events that have occurred under American rule. Old letters, journals and accounts written by pioneers are especially desired. The Society has the use of a fire proof vault in which valuable manuscripts will be preserved.

4. Official State Reports and Documents: Copies of the Revised Statutes, Session Acts, Journals and Appendixes of the Territorial and early State Legislatures; Messages of the Governors and Reports of State Officers, Boards and Commissions and of the State educational, charitable, eleemosynary and penal and reformatory institutions.

5. Reports and Documents of Counties, Cities, etc., Ordinances, Journals and Reports of City Councils. Reports of Mayor and other City Officials. Reports of Boards of Health, Fire and Police Departments, Reports of Trade and Commercial and Business Men's Associations. Plats of town sites and additions thereto.

6. Reports and Documents of Educational Institutions: Catalogues, Schemes of Studies, Reports, Bulletins, etc., of Universities, Colleges, Academies and Public Schools; Reports of School Boards, School Superintendents, College and School Associations, Teachers' Associations, Students' Clubs and Associations, University Extension Societies, and anything which touches upon the educational life of the State.

7. Reports of Societies and Organizations: Annual and other reports of all kinds of social, religious, industrial and political organizations; reports and published documents of fraternal societies, literary associations, press associations, athletic organizations, women's clubs, social clubs, etc.; reports of all religious bodies, synods, conferences, conventions and associations; reports of railroads, manufacturing companies and commercial corporations; reports of agricultural and horticultural organizations and of all meetings and proceedings connected with the development of the industrial, commercial, agricultural mineral or other resources of the State; reports, platforms, declarations, etc., of all political parties.

8. Files of Missouri Newspapers and periodicals: The Society is now receiving and binding over 500 newspapers representing nearly every county in Missouri. Complete volumes of the issues of past years of all Missouri newspapers are especially desired.

9. Maps, Engravings, Paintings, Photographs, etc.: Maps of the Louisiana Territory of Missouri, of Counties, Townships, Cities, etc.; Pictures of any kind representing historic places, buildings, etc.

10. Historical Relics: Photographs and other portraits of pioneers and distinguished citizens; Autographs of the same; Medals; Coins; War Relics; Old Arms, Weapons, etc.; Historical Souvenirs of all kinds.

11. Indian Relics: Stone Axes, Spears, Arrow Heads, Pottery, Weapons, Costumes, Ornaments, etc.

The Society cordially invites all person to assist it in developing a great State historical library and museum by contributing any of the above objects or anything that has any bearing upon the history of Missouri. The Society will defray all freight charges upon such donations and all contributions will be credited to the donors, in the official reports made by this Society to the Governor of the State, and will be preserved and made accessible to all the people.

All communications and donations should be addressed to the Secretary of State Historical Society, Columbia, Mo.

ISIDOR LOEB,
Secretary.

Wood.

We can use ten cords of good wood on subscription, if it is brought in early this fall. We do not want trashy wood, such as no one will buy. We want good wood, because we give full value for it.

Don't forget the Dawson sale tomorrow.

The Wabash has bought the Omaha and St. Louis Railroad.

Hannibal keeps right on adding new manufacturing enterprises.

Dr. L. T. Bell was looking after his interests in Chariton County, Saturday.

Postoffice Inspector W. L. Reid spent Sunday with his interesting family.

Maj. R. B. Bristow was attending to legal business at Paris, Friday.

D. R. Davenport and J. M. Johnson are getting considerable free advertising regarding their 700 Angora goats.

Adjutant General W. T. Dameron was in this city Friday. General Dameron is one of the most pleasant business men of Missouri and is an excellent officer.
