A BRILLIANT WEDDING.

Marriage of Herbert Wylie Caskey and Miss Alice Irvine Price.

Thus it is our daughters leave us, Those we love and those who love us; When we are old and lean upon them, Comes a youth with haunting features, Beckons to the fairest maiden; And she follows where he leads her, Leaving all things to the stranger.

One of the most notable and beautiful nuptial events which has occurred in our beautiful little city this season, was that of Tuesday evening of this week, June 27th, 1905, which united the lives of Herbert Wylie Caskey and Miss Alice Irvine Price.

In the presence of a company that filled St. Paul's Evangelical church, and amidst environments of the most pleasing and attractive character, these two dear young people plighted their faith—leaving all others to cleave only to each other.

The church decorations were very elaborate and beautiful. The general color scheme was white and green with sweet peas as the flower token. Two gates in immaculate white were placed in the center of the church, immediately to the rear of the seats reserved for the relatives, and tied with white ribbon; delicate vines in green trailed about the gates. Over the gates was an arch from which was suspended a large lover's knot and from this hung a large wedding bell in white. From the arch delicate festoons in sweet peas, vines and white ribbon stretched out to the various nooks and corners of the church. The altar was banked with potted plants, ferns and palms, with festoons of sweet peas, vines and white ribbon.

As this was a musical wedding, Miss Gertrude Stock sang; "O Promise Me," and Miss Grace Montgomery gave the newer "I Promise Thee;" Miss Sue Kiplinger sang "Love's Old Sweet Song," and Mrs. H. E. Bowers, of Berne, Kansas, sang "Bliss All Rapture Past Excelling;" Gideon Kunkel gave a violin solo, "Meditation," accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Flora Kunkel. The ladies were gowned in white and carried bouquets of sweet peas. As the last notes of the last song were heard, Mrs. Flora Kunkel executed a charming Wedding march from Mendelssohn as the bridal party entered the church and made its way to the altar, the lights of the church having been shaded to a mild twilight. The ladies giving the musical numbers were members of the Woman's Union, of which the bride is the efficient secretary.

At 8:30 p. m., the two little pages, Masters John Netherland and Kenneth Kunkel, robed in spotless white, proceeded down the aisle, loosened the gate ribbon and opened wide the gates. Then came little Ethel Kennedy and Virginia Netherland; Mary Price, the bride's youngest sister, and Leota Kennedy, all in white Persian lawn and white gloves, bearing garlands of white satin ribbon and sweet peas, and aligned themselves from the church entrance to the gate, forming an aisle through which the joyous bridal party passed to the altar.

The bridal procession then entered; in the advance came the ushers, Messrs. William R. Curry and Roy C. Kunkel, followed by the groom and his best man, Clarence Edwin Hinde; then followed the bride and her sister, Emma Woodworth Price, as the maid of honor. As the bridal procession reached the altar, they separated to the right and left, bringing the bride and groom directly in front of the altar and were met at the chancel by the Rev. Bowers, presenting a living picture that will doubtless linger with pleasant recollections upon the minds of the large audience present.

The Rev. H. E. Bowers, of Berne, Kansas, officiated. The beautiful and impressive Evangelical ritual service was used, and Alice and Herbert were declared husband and wife. During the service the organ was played softly and during their exit, the father and mother of the bride and relatives retiring with the bridal party.

The bride was attired in a beautiful costume of white silk pongee with Duchess lace yoke and trimming; bridal veil reaching the hem of her gown, white gloves and carried a Bernhardt bouquet of bride's roses and sweet peas tied with white ribbon. She is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Price of this city, who are among our very best people and was born and raised here; educated in our High school, and is one of the dearest and most lovable of Oregon's many lovely girls; endowed by her creator with so many beautiful traits of character, and in her every day life, whether storm or sunshine, one is bettered by her association.

In our beautiful little city, at the home of the bride's sister, Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Irvine, the bride's parents were married June 27th, '82. Their first born unites her life with her heart's choice on the anniversary of her parent's wedding day, and will go to housekeeping at once in the pleasing little cottage where she came to bless the home, and who from that time to her wedding day, has been a sweet blessing and a constant ray of sunshine to the home, and has been an earnest, zealous working member of the Evangelical Association, since her young girlhood.

The bride's maid of honor wore a gown of white Persian lawn, trimmed in delicate Swiss embroidery, white gloves and carried an elaborate shower bouquet of sweet peas.

The groom came to our county and located in Hickory township with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Caskey, when but five years old. After two years residence on the farm, they removed to Oregon, and after a few years he chose the printing business for a life calling, and at present is a member of THE SENTINEL force, and is in every respect a most excellent young man—industrious and of most excellent habits.

The bridal couple were the recipients of many beautiful presents, every article of a useful character, together with a shower of linen bestowed on Miss Alice the week previous to her wedding, all of which attested the esteem and regard in which the young couple are held by their large circle of friends.

They will go to housekeeping at once in the dear old home where she was born and her life has been almost wholly spent. THE SENTINEL force joins their many friends in wishing them a long and beautiful life.

The out-of-town guests were: Misses Beulah Frame, Fairfax; Flora Mueser, St. Joseph; Jessie Colvin, Maitland; Mae Zachman, Evanston, Ill.; Lulu Chadwick, Skidmore; Esther Loucks, Maitland; Meadames Hannah Maury, St. Joseph; R. H. Zachman, Chicago; J. F. Kellogg, Skidmore. Thos. M. Irvine, Kansas City; Fred Kellogg, Jr., Skidmore; Rev. and Mrs. H. E. Bower, Berne, Kansas; J. A. Price and family, Irving Caskey and family, New Point; C. G. Marker and family, White Cloud, Kas.

A Happy Home Wedding.

At the congenial country home of Mr. Lewis Eipperle just east of the Mayflower school house, there took place Wednesday, June 28, one of those pleasant and quiet home weddings which have a peculiar charm of their own. The happy persons being Mr. Thomas Davidson and Miss Luella Eipperle. We all know Tom and know him to be one of Holt county's industrious young men and as coming from one of Holt's esteemed families, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Davidson. Tom has learned the carpenter's trade and learned it well. In recent months, he has settled in Essex, Iowa, where the young couple will make their future home.

Miss Eipperle came to this county with her parents about five ago from the neighboring state of Nebraska. She is a young lady of an affable disposition and well qualified to assume the important duties of a wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. Bower, of Berne, Kas., at high noon, in the presence of only the immediate families.

A bountiful dinner was served by the bride's parents, which all present partook of to the full.

We all join in wishing these young people a happy and prosperous life, and most heartily commend them to the citizens of Essex, among whom they will make their home.

Death of Hugh Pennel.

Another of the earliest of the settlers of Holt county has been called to his reward. A man for whom everybody had the highest regard and respect. One who lived up to the teachings of the Golden Rule in his every day life. Hugh Pennel, who for over 80 years has been a resident of our county, and has lived on the farm he entered 60 years ago.

He was born in Wayne county, Ohio, February 1, 1821, and therefore had lived to see the country grow from a population of 15,000,000 to 80,000,000. In his boyhood days there were no sewing machines, no steam machinery, no lucifer matches, no postage stamps, no triple expansion engines, nor telegraph system. There were no mowers or reapers or threshers. His opportunities for attending school were therefore limited.

He came to Holt county in 1842, and entered the farm now owned by him and where he has since resided, and experienced all the hardship incident to pioneer life. He has been quite feeble for several years, and died at his home two miles east of this city, on Wednesday of this week, June 28, 1905, in the 85th year of his age. He assisted to raise the first building erected in Oregon, which was a log store building, built by William Zook, and which stood on the lot now owned by Fred Markt and Mr. Pascher. His father, Mr. William D. Pennel, followed him here in 1843, and entered the claim just east of his son. He died in 1851, his wife having died in 1839.

On September 18, 1856, he married Hannah, daughter of I. D. Beeler, who survives him at the age of 80 years, together with two children, William and Mrs. Ara McIntyre.

His pastor, Rev. James McFarland, conducted the funeral from the family residence, on Wednesday, at 2 p. m. He chose for his text, Mark 4:28: "For the earth bringeth forth fruit of herself; first the blade, then the ear; after that the full corn in the ear." Little progress is made in the Christian life by leaps and bounds. The kingdom of God cometh not with observation. Christ said, "the kingdom of God is within you." We do not know each other—it is hard for us to know ourselves. The promise is, "the righteous shall flourish like a palm tree." It is fruit we all look for. We say the seed you cast into the ground is lost; not so—it has gained ten or an hundred fold. Inside the fruit you will find the seed you thought was lost. So this old servant of God, after a well spent life, passes on to his Father's home. The choir of the Presbyterian church furnished the music.

—W. C. Opel is in Buffalo, Wyoming, visiting his sons Lewis and George.

—Dr. Proud was called to St. Joseph, Wednesday, on professional business.

—Little "Be" Jones is up on Grandpa Jones' farm helping her grandma to "pail the cows."

—Misses Lillias Arnold and Blanche Pollock, of Mound City, were guests over Sunday at the home of Rev. Brock.

—Jim McNulty, who has been in California for the past three years, is back on a visit with his many old time friends.

—The Mound City News tells us that Henry Thomas and wife have returned from Excelsior Springs feeling benefited by their trip to that place.

—C. G. Marker, wife and daughter, left Thursday for Laramie, Wyoming, where he will engage in business. Mrs. Marker was formerly Lulu Dobyns, of this city.

—Clyde Trapp, one of Graham's representative business men, and Miss Grace, daughter of Philip Weller, of Maitland, were married Wednesday of this week. We extend the usual congratulations.

—W. T. York, lately of the Gladstone, at Mound City, has taken a lease on the Woodland hotel in this city, and he and family are now here putting the house in shape, and expect to open up for business July 1st. They are a most excellent family, and we trust that their expectations may be fully realized.

—Mrs. David Rankin and her daughters, Misses Esther and Jessie Rankin, and Mrs. Arnett, all of Tarkio, and Mrs. Bertha Herbert, of Glasgow, Scotland, are the guests of D. A. Gelvin and family.

Mrs. Herbert was formerly connected with the Tarkio college, but now lives with her husband in Glasgow.—Maitland Herald.
—Beginning next Sunday evening, union religious services will be held in the court house park and will continue through the heated term on each Sunday evening. The first service will be conducted by Rev. McFarland, the Oregon orchestra and the Presbyterian choir will furnish the music. On Sunday evening, July 9th Rev. Hobbs will conduct the services and the evening of the 16th, Rev. Brock will conduct the services.
