Misses Nancy J. and Susie Motley, aged respectively ten and eight years, were the little ladies who found Mr. Jonathan Ingram's long lost pocket book, an account of which we gave a short time since.

Our deputy county clerk, familiarly known as "Mack," being in a pensive mood recently, leaned back in his chair at the desk, and in a voice that would have shamed an Italian opera troupe, made the court house walls resound with, "O, when shall I see Jesus—" "That'll do; I give up the coon drum!" broke in our jolly, ready-witted Bonnie. The chorus was deafening.

While at Louisiana last week, our friend Ollis C. Bryson of the Press, and his father's family, placed us under lasting obligations for their kindness to a "stranger in a strange land," for whom we will ever cherish the most kindly feelings. And we are indebted also to clever "Billy" Anderson for many attentions. Billy ought to be happy as well as clever, and we've no doubt he is, for he has one of the prettiest young wives in Louisiana.

F. W. Harbarn has a lot of fine wagons on hand. Support home industry, and buy of him. You will get as good or better wagons than those bought of foreign manufacturers. They are made of the best seasoned wood, and warranted.

Editor Herald: In the report of the Lincoln County Medical Association published in your paper of last week, I am represented as having said "that pathological lesions are not discovered in autopsies made in cases of cerebro spinal meningitis." Your reporter certainly misunderstood me. The medical gentleman with whom I discussed the question, did not so interpret my language; besides, I would have all authority against me, if I occupied such an extreme position. But I did state "that pathological lesions indicative of inflammation were rarely revealed by autopsies reported by recent writers, and as observed by the best scientists of the age." I ask this correction in order that my position may be truly appreciated and known by that part of the medical fraternity who may perchance have read the article above referred to. Very respectfully, W. S. HUTT.

The Improved Champion Reaper and Mower—the best combined reaper and mower in the world; warranted to do good work where all other machines fail; it is the strongest and most durable, and the lightest draft machine made. Every machine warranted to give entire satisfaction or the money refunded. Repairs kept constantly on hand. I refer the farmers of Lincoln county who think of purchasing a reaper this year, to the following gentlemen who bought the Champion of the last year. Henry W. Perkins, Patrick Murphy, Poachy G. Shelton, Mart Rice, Henry Palmer, Tom Trail, James Anderson, Harvey Brown and — Pilson. J. P. LYNOTT, Agent for Lincoln county.

DEATH OF HORACE B. WING.—Last Thursday morning, the 29th ult., Mr. Horace B. Wing, probably the oldest citizen of our county, died at the residence of his son, Mr. Frederick Wing, about three miles southeast of Troy, of an overdose of podophyllin (extract of may apple). He was born April 6, 1799, as Woodstock, Vermont, being 74 years and 23 days old at the date of his death. In the fall of 1819 he was married to Miss Mary Perkins, and the day following started for Missouri, travelling by land to Pittsburg, where he took a flat boat in which he travelled to Shawneetown, Illinois, and from thence to St. Louis by land, where he arrived in December of that year. Remaining in that city until the spring of 1820, he removed to the city of St. Charles, and in October following to Troy, where he arrived with only fifty cents in his pocket. The town had then been settled since about 1802 by Zadock Woods and Joseph Cottle, also from Woodstock, Vermont. Mr. Wing was a tanner by trade, but there being no tannery here, and he being too poor to start one, he went to stock-making without any previous knowledge of the trade, and with his own hands commenced the building of the Troy tannery, now owned by Messrs. Cake & Rogers. Of an industrious, energetic and ingenious nature, he was soon on the road to prosperity, and became one of the leading citizens of Troy, to whom we are indebted for many of our improvements. He was one of, if not the, leading spirit in the upbuilding of the Troy Academy, now the Christian Institute. Six or seven years ago he retired from the shoe and tanning business, since which time he has lived alternately at Jacksonville, Illinois, and this place, with his children. For several days previous to his death he had been suffering with chills and indigestion, and on the morning of the 29th took a larger dose than common of podophyllin, which resulted in his sudden demise. He was highly beloved and respected by our citizens, and leaves many friends and relations to mourn his death.

A MISTAKE.—We have received the following from Prof. H. M. Hamill, in reference to our remarks concerning that gentleman's proposition to the young men of Audrain who desire to compete for the cadetship of this district. Our remarks were based upon the statements of the Leader and Messenger, and we are glad to make the correction: MEXICO, Mo., May 20. Editor Herald, Troy, Mo.: You have unwittingly been drawn into doing me an injustice. Our city papers were asked to say that I would inform of assist any young gentleman who desired the cadetship. I have written many letters and rendered assistance to many boys in the counties adjoining, and in all cases have simply furnished general information that I thought would stimulate and encourage. You are aware that the published notice of Mr. Buckner would necessarily be limited in many points important to our school boys. My wish and voice in the matter will be for the most deserving in any county, and I would serve under no other condition. Please accept this explanation. Yours with respect, H. M. HAMILL.

A movement is on foot to establish a Normal school in Northern Missouri. The insinuation that Eric was only a side issue at the creation, is a ribald jest. Dayton, Ohio, has only 530 places where tired mortals may fill up with "tangle leg" and beer. "A prudent woman," says a witty Frenchman, "is like a pin—her head prevents her from going too far." George Francis Train, it is said, will sue the city of New York for false imprisonment, claiming $100,000 damages. A Louisville man allows his wife five dollars a week for pin money, with the understanding that she shall forfeit ten cents for each absent button and the same amount for each cup of poor coffee. Mr. Willard D. Vandiver, a young clerk in Fayette, Howard county, has been selected as cadet at West Point, by the examining committee of the 11th Congressional district. A short time since R. R. Porter, Esq., shot an eagle near his place, some seven miles north of Fulton, which measured six feet from tip to tip of its wings.—Fulton Telegraph. A very wealthy farmer of Titusville has this "notice" posted up in his field: "If any man's or woman's nose or organ in these here parts, his or her tail will be cut off, as the case may be. I am a Christian man, and pay my taxes, but damn a man who lets his critters run loose, say I." An Ohio engineer slept at his post recently, and went off at high pressure speed without minding the whistle. The engine was kind enough to run off the track after going several miles, thus saving another collision. William Cullen Bryant, a life long Abolitionist, in his recent visit to Florida, discovered that the negroes looked bad and hungry, but were free. Before the war he says they looked glossy, fat and greasy. Just arrived, by the Clarksville and Great Western railroad, a large train of new goods at Chantilly, and I will sell the same at lowest cash prices, or will exchange them for all kinds of country produce. Will be sold as cheap as can be bought in St. Louis. A. CAMERON, Chantilly, Mo.
