DEDICATION OF OHEB ZADEK CONGREGATION

Splendid Addresses and Good Music Completed the Program.

At a splendid gathering of Denver Jewry, Congregation Oheb Zadek held its dedication services Dec. 12. The auditorium was crowded to capacity, and nearly 300 children of the Hebrew and Religious Schools were seated in the gallery. Rabbi Wm. S. Friedman, who delivered an address of welcome to the new Synagogue on behalf of Temple Emanuel, was the first speaker on the program. He told of the need of more houses of worship, where spiritual life could receive stimulus. "The Jewish people," he said, "are the keepers of God's truth and those who keep God's truth cannot be destroyed. The world needs Judaism to hold the ideal of religion before it, until the whole world shall possess it."

The children of the schools sang the Star Spangled Banner and then Rabbi S. Halpern followed with an address in Yiddish. He dwelt forcibly on the fact that the real members of a Synagogue were not those who paid their dues only, but those who took an active interest in the work of the Synagogue, made an effort to attend the services regularly and lived a religious life.

Mr. L. Feingold favored the audience with a song, and then to the delight of those present sang a song composed by himself.

Rabbi C. E. H. Kauvar welcomed the new Synagogue in the name of the Beth Medrash Hagadol, expressed his hope that the Synagogue which had made such an auspicious beginning with its organizations devoted to the younger generation might continue its work and as a Jewish Synagogue become identified with every Jewish movement and be a center of Jewish thought in the city.

Mr. J. Jaffe then followed with a song which was highly appreciated by the audience.

Master Nathan Mayer, the eight year old son of Rev. Mayer, recited a poem which was specially composed for the occasion by Mr. J. H. Butcher. Cantor Fried and his choir demonstrated their skill and beauty of their voices in two melodies composed by himself especially for the occasion, Mizmor Shir Hanukkah Habbayis and Ma Tovu Hatikvah, sung by the Hebrew school made a splendid impression on the public, and last but not the least credit is due to President A. Grossman, who delivered an address of welcome and described briefly the history of the synagogue. In answer to his appeal a large number of donations were received and are still continuing to come in. With the singing of En Keloheh the services were closed. Mr. M. Levi, who acted as chairman, contributed his part to the success of the program.

FUNERAL OF EDWARD MONASH

The funeral of Edward Monash was held Sunday afternoon from Meyer's. A large concourse of friends attended. The services were read by George A. Levy, who also delivered a eulogy.

He said in part:

"He lived an active life—a turbulent life—a life of contradictions, made so by the hypocrisies and shams of society and the loss of faith in those he believed to be friends.

"His many philanthropies reached into every corner of the community and beyond. Many a poor home, many a sick man, many a helpless woman, and even children, too, aided thru his generosity, are mourning with us today.

"Measured by God's standard Edward Monash was a great man. He did charity, he loved mercy and he walked humbly.

"Every Jewish institution of learning or mercy, every Jewish philanthropy, found him a liberal contributor and a sincere hard worker for the cause.

For forty years he gave of his best efforts to public affairs, and as a public official and civic worker he was the peer of any. His name will be identified with the history and progress of his city and state for all time.

"He was unaffected—he was intensely human—and being human, he erred, but it is of such men as he that the Kingdom of Heaven is made."

Mrs. Steckel and daughter, Miss Anna Steckel, of Peoria, and Judge and Mrs. Jacob Triebler, of Little Rock, Ark., came to Denver to attend the funeral.

Interment was at Fairmount.

The man who can earn $3,000 a year has a brain capital of $50,000. That is, he has the earning capacity of $50,000 at six per cent interest.

We are inclined to envy the man who has $5,000 or $10,000 in money, even though he has little or no ability. Train yourself to do the things that bring the large rewards. Develop your brain capital. This school has helped hundreds of young people to qualify in a few months to fill well-paid positions.

The cost is insignificant when compared with the increased earning capacity. Earnest young men and young women can become competent office workers at good salaries in a few months.
