ELECTION RESULTS. Latest returns up to the hour of going to press, show that the re publicans have swept every state from Atlantie to Pacific by majorities unprecedented in the history of American politics. As near as can be de termined the next congress will be composed of 222 republicans, 109 democrats and 2 populists.

The vote in the state for governor is, as far as returns are received:

Nelson's continues to gain steadily in all directions, and the returns will put his vote largely in excess of the combined vote of Owen and Becker.

For congress the republicans of this state will send a solid delegation, it is thought, although the slow returns from this district are not sufficiently complete to enable us to claim Eddy's election beyond a doubt. Still his large vote in the southern counties of the district and the gains in populist counties indicates his election by a safe plurality.

Our legislative ticket, Jones, Foss and Finney, are handsomely elected, and the state legislature is overwhelmingly republican of course.

In the county the entire republican county ticket is returned by majorities, table, of the local candidates who the largest in the aggregate ever were unopposed. given a ticket.

Twenty-six out of forty-four states are republican.
