

635 AUTO WISHAPS FOR NEW JERSEY

Statistics Show More Vigilance
by Authorities Here Than in New York.

FIGURES BY HIGHWAYS PROTECTIVE SOCIETY

High Rates for New Jersey
Towns on Main Highways from New York.

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—On the basis of statistics compiled from January 1 to October 1 this year, the National Highways Protective Society today issued a comparative statement of automobile accidents during that period in the principal cities of New York and New Jersey.

Records have also been kept of the number of arrests and convictions as the result of automobile accidents in the two States.

A comparison of these records shows that New York city has fewer automobile accidents in proportion to its population than any city with a population above 100,000 in either State. It also shows that the average rate for cities in New York State is considerably above the average of New Jersey cities, and that arrests and convictions following automobile accidents are proportionately four times as numerous in New Jersey than in New York.

The figures for accidents include only those in which a person was sufficiently injured to receive medical attention; they also include those killed by automobiles. For purposes of comparison they have been reduced to an annual rate per 100,000 of population. For some of the larger cities in both States the figures follow:

NEW YORK	NEW JERSEY
N. Y. city.....	29
Buffalo.....	69
Rochester.....	56
Syracuse.....	39
Albany.....	59
Yonkers.....	71
Poughkeepsie.....	100
Troy.....	21
Utica.....	48

These figures afford grounds for comparison, for instance, in New York State, Yonkers and Poughkeepsie, and in New Jersey, Hoboken and the Oranges, as well as Atlantic City, have a very high rate. In all except Atlantic City this is probably due to the fact that the city lies on the main highways from New York city to points north and west. Atlantic City is a resort city, where the number of automobiles is also disproportionate to the population.

Twenty-one cities in New York State, with a total population of 1,275,000, show a rate of forty-eight. These may be considered as typical of conditions in the two States, and when cities of approximately equal population are compared, the difference in favor of New Jersey is more pronounced, as the following table shows:

City	Population	Accident Rate
Buffalo.....	423	69
Rochester.....	218	56
Yonkers.....	268	71
Poughkeepsie.....	125	100
Troy.....	8	21
Utica.....	28	48

During the period from which these figures were taken, there were 635 automobile accidents in New Jersey; 861 in New York State, outside of the city of New York, and 1,508 in that city. Following these accidents there were 101 arrests in New Jersey, 27 in New York State, and 63 in New York city. In other words, one accident in six in New Jersey was followed by the detention of the driver, while in New York State as a whole, only one accident in 35 was followed by an arrest. It would seem, therefore, that a driver in New Jersey had four times the chances to become involved in an accident without danger to himself as compared with a driver in New Jersey, and that perhaps a general knowledge among drivers of the relative enforcement of the law in the two States was responsible in large part for the lower accident rate in the State where more strict enforcement seems to be the rule.

Accuses Two Girls and Man of Hold-Up and Larceny

Lillian Hackett, fourteen years old, of 144 Summit street, appeared before Judge Hoyer, in the fourth precinct court, today as the complainant against Marie Wood, fourteen years old, of 176 Warren street, a negro, who with Dorothea Scott, twelve years old, another negro, of 150 New street, is alleged to have held up and robbed the Hackett girl of a ring. A complaint of larceny from the person was taken against the Wood girl. The Scott girl was arrested as a witness.

Plaintiff's attorney, of the Fourth precinct, arrested both girls yesterday afternoon in school. Lillian Hackett asserted that while on her way home from school, she and her sister were accosted by the two negroes, and while one held her the other stripped the ring from her finger. The Hackett girl also alleged that Frank McEntee, twenty-five years old, a negro, of 133 Warren street, threw her violently against a telephone pole, giving the two girls a chance to escape.

A charge of assault and battery was taken against McEntee. Whether or not Miss Hackett can substantiate her charges against the three will be known next Saturday, when the case comes up for examination before Judge Hoyer.

Phillips has also been president of the senior council, which office ranks next to his new office in point of honor. The incumbency of these offices will last during a period of five years and not for life as has been the custom heretofore. A secretary will be elected later.

FRUIT SYRUP FOR SICK CHILD

"California Syrup of Figs" can't harm tender stomach, liver, bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without griping.

When cross, irritable, feverish or breath is bad, stomach sour, look at the tongue, mother! If coated, give a teaspoonful of this harmless "fruit laxative," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the bowels, and your baby has a playful child again. When its little system is full of cold, throat sore, has stomach-ache, diarrhoea, indigestion, colic—remember, a good "inside cleaning" should always be the first treatment given.

Millions of mothers keep "California Syrup of Figs" handy; they know a teaspoonful today saves a sick child tomorrow. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups printed on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters, so be sure you don't be fooled. Get the genuine, made by "California Fig Syrup Company."

C. B. L. TO HOLD ANNUAL MEETING

Many Newark Delegates Will Attend Session of State Council Monday.

Newark will be represented by two supreme representatives and about thirty council delegates at the thirty-first annual session of the New Jersey State Council of the Catholic Benevolent Legion, to be held next Monday at New Brunswick. The meeting will take place in the Eagle headquarters, Nelson and Church streets, that city.

The delegates will first assemble at the convention hall and march in a body to St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, directly opposite Rutgers College. A high mass will be offered for the delegates and members of the State Council.

A feature of the convention will be the election of a State president. The present incumbent, Edward G. Sanborn, of Jersey City, has served two years, and if precedent is followed he will be succeeded by another member. There also will be an election of supreme representatives of the State Council, as several of the present representatives' terms have expired.

The annual report of the supreme council of the order, which is the national body, has just been published, and the progress of the legion throughout the country will be analyzed at the session next week. There are about 10,000 members of the legion in this country, and New Jersey's membership totals nearly 3,000.

From the report of the supreme council it is seen that the order is in a more prosperous condition than it has been at any time since it was founded in 1881. "Apprentice" John E. Kearney is held by the national officers as a reserve fund with which to pay out the claims of members entitled to benefits. The legion fund was founded the sum of $22,641,043.25 has been paid out in death benefits. This does not include $360,957.21 which has been paid to the order since its inception. The fund is also used for providing for members permanently disabled. Such stricken members are allowed one-half the value of their certificates.

Last night about 8 o'clock the Abramsons went to the synagogue to observe Yom Kippur. While they were away a thief broke through the door on the floor, but the thief was not found. The police of the Fourth precinct were notified.

VILLA LILLY, Langenschwalbach, Germany, Oct. 11.—Adolphus Busch, of St. Louis, died here last evening at 11 o'clock. He passed away peacefully, his wife and August, his son, being at his side. Mrs. Busch is bearing up well.

Adolphus Busch arrived here a few days ago, having come upon receipt of news that his father was sinking.

Adolphus Busch was born in Mayence on the Rhine, Germany, on July 10, 1857. He was the son of Ulrich and Barbara (Pfeffer) Busch. He was educated at the Gymnasium of Mayence, the academy of Darmstadt and a high school in Brussels.

In addition to his brewery interests in St. Louis Mr. Busch also was a director in several local banks and of a number of public utility corporations. He was interested in breweries in San Antonio, Texas; Galveston and Port Worth, and owned ice manufacturing plants in various parts of the country. He was head of the foreign department of the St. Louis World's Fair.

Mr. Busch's philanthropies were numerous, one of his most recent being a gift of $150,000 to Harvard University for the establishment of the Germanic institute. His most recent local benefaction was a gift of $25,000 for the erection of a memorial to Carl Daezner, Emil Pretorius and Carl Daezner, the trio of German editors who flourished in St. Louis about the time of the Civil War.

At the time of the San Francisco earthquake and fire Mr. Busch contributed $100,000 to the relief fund. He also contributed heavily to the relief of the Galveston flood sufferers and $25,000 to the relief of Ohio valley flood sufferers last spring.

His wealth was estimated at $60,000,000 and his annual income was said to be $2,000,000.

Mrs. Dayton Campfield notified her brother, Captain John Brown, of the sixth precinct. In the afternoon Mr. Campfield's body was found in the canal.

Mrs. Campfield said today that her father-in-law had no reason to end his life and was habitually cheerful.

If all of the twelve biplanes and the little monoplanes entered take the air they will represent over 1,200 winged horses in power, for none of the machines is rated at less than 75-horsepower and most of them are 80.

The Aeronautical Society has arranged to give cups to the three leading aviators, and there also cash prizes of $1,000, $750 and $500 as encouragements.
