The doorkeeper of the Ananias club is waiting.

Among the antiques revived by the election—Joseph G. Cannon.

It was a short ballot to-day but so many of 'em as to be quite distracting.

Having been given a new grandstand, Middlebury college's football team is due for a grand stand for the remainder of the season.

Whichever way the election goes, the nation will not be disrupted. The patriotic devotion of the mass of people will see to that.

To-day the other fellow wasn't such a bad sort after all; to-morrow he will be even less of a rascal. When politics cools off it permits of more amicable bed-fellows.

Maine to-day is engaged in the game of watchful waiting. Some day Maine will come over with the majority, which Vermont has just joined, in a uniform election day.

Italy will soon be able to sing that pleasant little ditty, "All, All Alone," to the accompaniment of the din of all the rest of Europe engaged in warfare. Italy's position is all the more unique in view of the fact that it was a member of the so-called triple alliance, the other two members of which have been battling from the outset.

Another highway bridge in southern Vermont gave way under the strain of a heavy load. These country bridges ought to be tested and their capacity plainly indicated, so that danger might be avoided. Then, too, frequent inspection is necessary to prevent the bridges from falling into disrepair and into weakness. Many a Vermont town is too careless in this matter of the care of its bridges.

The multiple tragedy in the little town of Bristol, in which several lives were sacrificed to indulgence, it is alleged, in some form of liquor purchased in that town, calls for the most rigid investigation by the state's attorney of Addison county; indeed, the affair is of such magnitude that it would seem to come within the province of the attorney general of the state for his active cooperation, as that official is called upon to assist in the prosecution of major state cases. Several lines of investigation are involved, with the causes of the several deaths constituting the maximum investigation. If there was anyone criminally responsible for those deaths and for the sickness of several other persons from the same alleged cause, no pains should be spared to ferret out the party. Let there be a most searching investigation. The situation is so serious as to demand it.

IMMEDIATE AID FOR EUROPE.

The diverting of several of the Rockefeller millions to the aid of the suffering non-combatants in Europe will be the best possible agency for securing the well-being of the world at the present time; and the decision to work through the Rockefeller Foundation toward the alleviation of much of the distress is heartily to be commended. Secure in the United States, the people here realize little of the actual want and suffering which has been thrust upon the people because 11 nations are engaged in mortal conflict. The stories which come to us through the press dispatches can tell only a small portion of the woe and distress of all Europe at this juncture. Of the tens of thousands of people left entirely homeless through the terrible action of the siege guns, of the hundreds of thousands whose sources of income have been entirely cut off by the stagnation due to the war, of the millions who were dependent on meagre sums under peace times and who are now completely helpless and dependent upon charity. Something of this terrible condition was brought home to some of the people of the United States, and the

YOUR KIND OF HEADACHE

The headache which in addition to the pain, gives the impression of slight land about the head, is caused by nervous exhaustion. It is a blessing in disguise because it gives warning that you are over-drawing your supply of nervous energy. Unless you stop the mental fatigue and build up your nerves you will be fortunate if you escape nervous breakdown, some form of paralysis or other severe nervous disorder.

Rest is, of course, desirable but not always possible and liable to be deferred. With sufficient rest the nerve will build themselves up. Failing in this, you need something that will build them up and sustain them while they are kept under-stand at work. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are probably unequalled for this purpose. They build up the nerve in the only possible way, by enriching the blood with the elements thereof. The treatment is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a non-alcoholic tonic and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have proved useful in so many severe cases that every sufferer is justified in giving them a trial for any form of nervous debility. They contain no opium or harmful drug.

A little book on Nervous Diseases will be sent free on request by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y. All druggists sell Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

The "high-brows" in the science of advertising say an advertisement should not go after a man with a club, but should simply be a suggestion—that suggestion is stronger than command.

ERUPTION ON CHILD'S SHOULDER

When Four Months Old. Clothing Irritated. Restless and Fretful. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. Eczema Was Gone.

Lincolnton, Me.—"My little girl was about four months old when I first began to notice little white blisters just below her shoulder. It began to become worse and the blisters seemed to break and run together. When they broke it would make a raw sore and then she would have terrible crying spells. The blisters filled with water. She was not old enough to scratch herself but when I rubbed it she would stop crying and keep perfectly quiet. Her clothing seemed to irritate it and she would be restless and fretful. She also had a real scurvy head.

"I was told it was eczema and I tried everything but it did no good. One day a friend of mine told me to get a cake of Cuticura Soap and box of Cuticura Ointment. It was not a week before I noticed she was much better. If she began to cry I would undress her and put Cuticura Ointment on her chest which would stop her crying at once. I used the Cuticura Soap and Ointment six weeks and the eczema was gone. She has never been bothered since." (Signed) Mrs. A. C. Paulam, Jan. 31, 1914.

Samples Free by Mail
Although the Cuticura Soap and Ointment are most successful in the treatment of affections of the skin, scalp, hair and hands, they are also most valuable for everyday use in the toilet, bath and nursery because they promote and maintain the health of the skin and hair from infancy to age. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold everywhere. Sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

services of the Red Cross society were promptly enlisted in the cause of removing as much of the suffering as possible. Yet it soon developed that the agency of the Red Cross would be too slow to forestall suffering and starvation for a great many people; and at the crisis the Rockefeller Foundation came to the rescue and placed its millions of dollars at the immediate service of those who are authorized to distribute money to the needy. The prompt dispatch of food-laden and clothing-laden ships from New York and possibly other ports of the United States will do untold good; whereas, had it been necessary to wait for the Red Cross collections, the people of Europe—the common people—would have suffered untold distress. Therefore, the Rockefeller Foundation supplements the work which the Red Cross society is doing and fills in at a crucial time. As we understand it, there is no "come back" in the proposal of the Foundation and the distribution is to be effected with no strings such as one is accustomed to look for in philanthropies engineered by organizations of such nature. For its devotion to the good of humanity, the Foundation deserves marked credit.

How to Fight Tuberculosis

In a paper read last year before the Essex County Medical Society and published in part in the Louisville "Medical Progress," Dr. J. W. Carhart, of San Antonio, Texas, a physician who has devoted much time to the study of tuberculosis, said: "Since time suits constitute three-fourths of all the mineral substances of the human body, they must be supplied in the foods or supplemented in mineral preparations, or natural starvation ensues with tuberculosis unchecked. The widespread and unchecked spread of tuberculosis and other preventable diseases is due largely to the deplorable (time lacking) conditions of multitudes throughout the civilized world."

Thus from another authoritative medical source comes justification for the use of lime in the treatment of tuberculosis.

Since this is one of the ingredients of Eckman's Alternative, much of the success attending the widespread use of this remedy doubtless is due to the combination of this salt in such a way as to render it easily assimilable. It causes no stomach disturbance, and since it contains neither opium, narcotics, nor habit-forming drugs, it is safe to try.

Eckman's Alternative has effected remarkable results in numerous cases of pulmonary tuberculosis (consumption) and allied chronic affections of the throat and bronchial passages. In many instances such conditions, apparently, have yielded completely to it.

In case your druggist is out of it, ask him to order, or send direct to Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia.

SEE LAW'S GREATEST TEST.

Never Before Have So Many Prominent Men Been Brought to Trial.

Washington, Nov. 3.—In getting the New Haven indictments, officials of the department of justice feel that they have the best opportunity since the Sherman law was enacted to test its value as a criminal statute. In no previous cases have so many prominent men been brought into danger of trial and imprisonment.

Former Attorney General McReynolds, before he left the department to become a supreme court justice, was convinced on the evidence secured by investigators that criminal prosecutions should be brought.

His successor, Mr. Gregory, who was special assistant in the New Haven case, had reached the same conclusion. To add strength to their position, however, President Wilson, when the negotiations for a peaceful dissolution of the New Haven system seemed doomed to failure, directed that the criminal phase be gone into.

Mr. McReynolds and Mr. Gregory immediately prepared to lay the case before the grand jury. Special counsel was retained and the vast amount of evidence obtained by the department was supplemented by witnesses, called with the government's knowledge. Some of these, notably Charles S. Mellen, president of the road in its stage that the government holds as illegal expansion, were called, in the knowledge that they might secure immunity from prosecution but with the belief that their testimony would be worth the price.
