CHICAGO, Feb. 16.—Fifty-nine members of the Industrial Workers of the World passed through the city today on their way to the city to address an anti-war meeting under the aegis of the Illinois State Immigration Association.

They left Chicago from Union Station, where they are believed to have assembled from the various parts of the United States.

The members of the I.W.W. were guarded by the police and the Illinois State Immigration Association, which has prevented the holding of similar parades in the city for several years.

Three bands of the I.W.W. strike, one Polish, another American, and the third, a French-speaking, started on their way to the city today, among the pickets on their way being a number of women.

The majority of the men who left were French-speaking.

They were received by the police at the Union Station, where the last band was collected, and were escorted to the ward by the police, who have been ordered to prevent the assembling of similar parades in the city for several years.
