

A range that satisfies every cooking requirement

The fundamental fact about an Andes is its ability to do good cooking. And it helps you in every cooking requirement and convenience, for you can obtain an Andes with all the latest ideas in range attachments and equipment.

The models can be made to suit your particular needs. You can have an Andes with a broiler or without a broiler; an Andes that will burn coal only, or both coal and gas; an Andes that has a hot-water reservoir or that does not have it.

These are only a few things to mention, and they can be had in any combination you

An Andes looks well in your kitchen. It is what many women have called a handsome range - not too fancy, not too plain, and beautifully finished in order to make it easier to keep

We believe in the Andes just as thoroughly as the people who make it, and we are always only too glad to recommend and show it to
