

Studebaker

LIGHT-SIX $1335!

FROM the very start of the design, the NEW STUDEBAKER LIGHT-SIX was built to live up to Studebaker's ideal of what a light six-cylinder car should be—and the new low price is merely a result of Studebaker's manufacturing facilities and greatly increased volume—a result of being built complete in the most modern and completely equipped automobile plant in the world.

Farmers Adopt $10 Family Membership Fee and Other Changes

DEMONSTRATION AGENT ENGAGED

Over 250 Men and Women Present at Recent Meeting

Chelsea, June 23.—Without a dissenting vote on Tuesday the members of the Orange County Farm bureau adopted the new constitution and by-laws which includes the $10 family membership fee. This action was taken following a stirring address by C. J. Cooper of Illinois. There were over 250 men and women from every part of the county present to hear Mr. Cooper and all became thoroughly interested in the work that the farm bureau is doing as a national organization.

Another very interesting part of the day's program was the exhibit of boys' and girls' club work displayed by Miss Lucre, assistant state boys' and girls' club leader, and the exhibit and demonstration given by the girls' cooking class and sewing class of the Chelsea Boys' and Girls' club. Three girls, Rosemary Lewis, Claude Button and Alice Bowen, of the sewing class demonstrated how the club uniform is made. The cooking class exhibited a table with a summer supper prepared. A report of the work done by this class was given by one of the members. Miss Lucre then spoke upon the importance of the work done by the boys' and girls' clubs in the state. Miss Pierpont, home demonstration agent leader, also spoke upon the need of a strong family farm bureau organization.

The forenoon session of the annual meeting consisted of the reports of the officers and the election of officers. The executive committee as elected consists of R. C. Wilcox, East Brookfield, W. L. Flint, East Braintree, R. H. Bacon, Chelsea, Mrs. George Tuthery, Chelsea.

It was announced by Mrs. R. C. Wilcox, director of the home economics department for the past year, that a home demonstration agent has been engaged to begin work on July 1, 1921. This announcement, together with the adoption of the $10 family membership fee indicated that the Orange County Farm bureau has taken big steps forward and that it is taking its place in the largest and strongest farmers' organization in the country.

Two Favorites, to prove its strength, Now hold Vanilla out at length. Right in the center stands a third. Convincing proof, upon my word. The strength of Baker's Extracts make them far the cheapest when you bake. And you may quickly prove by test, In flavor too, they're far the best.

GERMAN SUBMARINES TARGETS OF DESTROYERS

Question Involved Is How Quickly the Destroyers Could Sink the "Subs."

Old Point Comfort, Va., June 23.—Two more former German submarines formed targets for naval marksmanship yesterday when a division of Atlantic destroyers train their guns on the undersea craft while at anchor near the spot where the U-117 was sent to the bottom Monday in a bombing attack by naval seaplanes. While the question at issue Monday was whether the vessel could be sunk at all by an air attack, that involved in yesterday's program was simply how quickly the destroyer's guns could turn the trick.

AID VITAL TO SHADE TREES WHEN TRANSPLANTED IN CITY

Removed from Natural Environment, Forest Trees Readily Fall Prey to Attacks By Insects.

"What a beautiful house!" is an expression that seldom means just what it implies.

More often than not the visitor sees little or nothing of the house—a gable, perhaps, or a tiled roof or brick chimney. What the admirer really means is: "What beautiful shade trees!" For shade trees first attract attention and give the impression of beauty, spaciousness and sheltered comfort.

Wherever man transplants a tree, he should make a sincere and sympathetic attempt to understand the conditions which contribute to its health.

In its natural forest environment, a tree has the benefit of sunshine and shade, moisture and humidity, and a certain immunity against insect ravages. Transplanted in a street or park, it loses these things and must depend upon man to restore them. Often a tree is planted in hard, packed soil which frequently is disturbed; sometimes it is poisoned by acids or noxious fumes and dust, and its supply of water and light is a matter of hazard. Under such conditions the tree loses its resistant powers just as man who has suffered an attack of fever. In its weakened state, the tree is easy prey to the swarming insect pests.

Man Can Fight Insects. Sometimes the adverse conditions cannot be improved, but in this event man can lend his aid in fighting the insects and protecting his trees from injury. Farmers' Bulletin, No. 1,169, published by the United States department of agriculture, outlines practical means for controlling most of the injurious shade-tree insects in the eastern part of the country. The insects which attack shade-trees are roughly grouped into three classes: Leaf chewers, wood and bark borers and sap-sucking.

The federal specialists explode a favorite fallacy, when they state that methods for exterminating insects depend upon the injection of chemicals into the bark are absolutely worthless. Money spent in buying such equipment is wasted. The principle of bark injection is, presumably, to introduce a poisonous material into the sap, so borers and leaf eaters will be killed, but the idea, plausible though it may seem, is quite useless.

The bulletin discusses the various poisons and the effective use of each, the treatment of tree wounds, filling of cavities, pruning, stimulation of growth by the use of fertilizers, the use of implements in the care of the trees, sprays and spraying equipment. Another theory exploded is that the use of tree bands gives a tree complete protection. This idea is held by many people and has resulted in the indiscriminate application of bands of all kinds. Many of the insects, the bulletin shows, reach the trees by flying and the bands are no defense against them. Tree bands are effective in some cases and specialists describe how they should be adjusted and of what materials they should be made.

Illustrations Show Pests.

The bulletin contains illustrations and descriptions of most of the shade-tree insect pests which the eastern tree owner is apt to encounter, together with methods for detecting their presence. It is stated that the bureau of entomology, United States department of agriculture, in any case not covered in the bulletin, will give through its branch of forest entomology, specific information on insects, insect injury and the remedies to be applied.

In mailing samples of live insects and their work, the name and address of the writer should appear on the wrapper. The wood and bark borers should be left in their burrows and the wood or bark cut into convenient sections and tied. Leaf-eating insects should be separated to prevent cannibalism and mailed in tin containers or mailing tubes. Underground insects should be sent in earth and soft-bodied insects in alcohol. Leaves and small specimens of insect work may be mailed with the letter. All possible information regarding the character and extent of the injury, name of the tree or shrub, the locality where the insect was found, and the date of collection, should accompany the inquiry.

TOPSHAM

Mrs. J. R. McLam returned to her home here Tuesday, after a few days' visit at the home of her daughter, Mrs. William Edwards.

Mr. and Mrs. George Eastman of Groton are visitors at the home of H. C. McLam.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Leet were in White River Junction recently, where Mr. Leet will remain at the home of her daughter for a time.

Mrs. Mac Mason and family were called to Lincoln Friday to the burial services of her son, Walter, who died in service overseas.

Rev. Campbell gave an interesting lecture on "Rural New England" at the town hall last Friday evening. About thirty-five persons were present. Cake and coffee were served and a general good time was enjoyed by all.

H. C. McLam was called to county court, Chelsea, Monday as a jurymen. Rev. Ralston will preach at the U. P. church Sunday, June 26, at 11 a. m. Everybody invited.

WASHINGTON

Mrs. G. E. Huntington still remains in a very serious condition.
