Welcome on Christmas Morning

How do you suppose the youngsters would like to find the perky ears of Peter Rabbit Slippers or the cuffs of Puss-in-Boots Slippers on which funny animals are printed in colors peeking out of their stockings on Christmas morning? You don't have to suppose; you know they would have them on and be romping about before you could say "Jack Robinson." Mother would like Felt Slippers too, just as much as the children, nice warm ones to slip on first thing in the morning. They come in several attractive styles, ribbon trimmed and with pom-poms.

Considerable complaint is being made by autoists of broken glass in the gutters of many of the back and side streets. The streets leading from North Main to Summer are pointed out particularly. Bottles are tossed into the gutters after their contents have been consumed (never before) and gradually covered with snow. A wagon wheel soon crushes them and eventually comes Mr. Motorist and parks his car in the gutter, but soon finds it is resting in an ocean of broken glass.

Barre automobiles are becoming unbearably and dangerously independent. Twice within three days have automobiles been seen to start away without even waiting for their driver. Saturday night a machine was parked in a driveway off Summer street. The driver left the engine running while he went into the house on a business call and imagine his surprise when he came out to find the machine had disappeared. A woman in a nearby house pointed it out to him, 200 yards away on the other side of Summer street. Without any apparent reason the machine had suddenly started to back out of the driveway and had crossed Summer street, stopping only at the bidding of a telephone post. It was only moving slowly and therefore was not damaged. The driver could not explain the act. Then this morning a chauffeur on North Main street spun over his engine and then turned to speak to a man who had called him from a nearby store. The machine very courteously waited until the driver was out of the way and then slyly started to sneak away. The driver turned and caught the miscreant. The only moral in these two instances would seem to be that the emergency brake on an automobile was put on to be used and not for a decoration.
