

ABOUT THE STATE

Happenings of Interest from Different Sections.

Rev. H. R. Goodchild has resigned as pastor of the Community church at Montgomery Center.

Rev. D. G. Doncker of Hopewell, Junction, N. Y., is the new pastor of the United church at Colchester.

When Mrs. Margaret E. Hodgeman of Lowell died last week, the Community church bell in that place tolled 78 times, the years of her age.

The weather in the vicinity of St. Johnsbury since Monday has been colder than at any time last winter, official reports giving the mercury as ranging from 25 to 35 below in St. Johnsbury village, 16 in Newport, 22 in Danville, 42 in St. Johnsbury Center and 46 in Concord.

Orrin Bell, 17, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Bell of Lunenburg and a student at the state agricultural school in Randolph Center, died at his home Tuesday after a short illness with diabetes. He did not give up his studies until a week ago.

DECLINES THE CALL.

Dr. W. A. Davison Wanted in Massachusetts, but Will Remain in Vermont.

The Massachusetts Baptist state convention, made up of 350 churches with 80,000 members and 50 missions among the Finns, French, Germans, Italians, Norwegians, Portuguese, Russians, Swedes, Chinese and Syrians, have through their committee, unanimously invited Dr. W. A. Davison, secretary and superintendent of Vermont Baptist State convention, to become general secretary, having entire charge of all the work for the denomination in that great commonwealth.

Dr. Davison has been in this position for 22 years and during that time has seen the permanent and trust funds grow from $24,000 to practically $500,000 and the annual expense from about $4,000 to over $50,000. The work of the Sunday schools and the Young People's societies, as well as the regular work of the churches has steadily increased under his administration. Vermont academy, which was closed for five years, has reopened, very largely as a result of his planning and efforts, nearly $100,000 having been expended on the property so that the entire plant is in first class condition. The school has now a splendid corps of teachers and 130 students.

The Massachusetts people have been after Dr. Davison for several weeks and have made to him offers that were very hard to resist, especially because of the great opportunity for work; but the members of the board of Vermont Baptist state convention and of Vermont academy, as well as many friends from other denominations have urged him to remain in Vermont and he has finally and definitely declined the Massachusetts call and decided to remain in the good old Green Mountain state.

Does it Apply to You?

What is a regular guy? Probably you have your own definition of him. Here are a few more pithy paragraphs describing a "regular guy" that I would like to call your attention to although I cannot give you name of the author, for the well-known Portland lawyer who passed them on to me doesn't know it himself.

He never pretends he is what he ain't. Whatever he does, he does openly. He plays an indifferent game of bridge.

He loses his money at poker willingly.

If he makes a promise he tries to keep it.

If he goes out with the gang he doesn't wait for the other guys to pay the bills.

He wouldn't take advantage of anyone if he could.

He never plays on the ukelele.

He never makes unkind remarks about the fair sex.

He doesn't care what people think about him.

In fact, he's a regular guy.—Portland Express.

There for a Purpose.

Mrs. Tompkins had given an invitation to a few friends to spend a pleasant evening with her. With guests, cards and gossip the time was passing beautifully, when one of the invited guests noticed the hostess' little girl sitting on a chair where she had been all the evening.

Going up to her, the good lady said: "Well, my dear, you are a good, quiet little girl. Will you sit on my knee?"

"No, thank you," said the little one demurely. "I mustn't."

"Mustn't, my dear? I don't understand," queried the lady.

"Well, you see," was the meek reply. "I've got to sit still and hide the hole in this chair."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Accurately Placed.

The rich man was taking a stroll one morning round his stables. He met a little boy, the son of his chauffeur.

"Do you know who I am, my little man?" he asked.

"Oh, yes," said the boy; "aren't you the man who rides in father's car?"—Stray Stories.

Not So Bad, at That.

"Life was not so complex in the stone age."

"Perhaps not," said Mr. Grumpson, "but modern life has its compensations. When I go out for a stroll, I'd rather dodge motor cars than try conclusions with a saber-toothed tiger."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Human Depravity.

"I seen you with my own eyes," said Three-Finger Sam. "You were dealing off the bottom of the deck."

"Well," inquired Philie Pete, "what're you going to do about it?"

VITAMINE IN YEAST MAKES YOU HEALTHY

Chemists Find Way To Get Vitamines Out of Yeast

IN HIGHLY CONCENTRATED FORM VERY EASY TO TAKE

Most everyone knows how easy it is to clear up their skin, improve their appetite, add strength and vigor by taking the Vitamines found in yeast, and now the chemists have found a way to get you highly concentrated tablets containing a proper dose of Vitamines obtained from yeast with the fermenting part left out. Then they add Glucosephosphate and Potassium A. Vitamine which thus combined into a tiny tablet are easy to take, more efficient and results quicker.

By using these highly concentrated, economical tablets some unusual results are very often secured in two or three weeks.

Doctors, druggists, and chemists endorse the Phos-Pho Vitamine tablets as a better, safer way to take Vitamines. The tablets contain a proper dose and being made especially for medicinal use do not upset even the weakest stomach.

Every bottle of six tablets packed in orange colored cartons bears a guarantee of the nationally known Irving Laboratories, which is a guarantee of finest quality in medicine.

There is more of a food than a medicine. Ask your druggist for a bottle of Phos-Pho Vitamine tablets or send $1 to Irving Laboratories, Wheeling, W. Va. Now is the best time to take a good system regulating, blood enriching tonic such as this—Adv.

Fictional Physiognomy.

"From 'Madam Margot'—A tall man with a face like an unpleasant taste."

"She was known as a woman with a face like a beautiful blasphemy."

"She looked like a portrait of herself, pointed in irony."—Boston Transcript.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Tissues (Pitons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Tell to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Mandrool is recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water, night and day, with smarting or irritation, bright sediment or highly colored urine, itching, irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, the kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Never and the failure of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to kidney disease, don't lose a single day for the Red Cross Pharmacy and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit—Adv.

Does it Apply to You?

What is a regular guy? Probably you have your own definition of him. Here are a few more pithy paragraphs describing a "regular guy" that I would like to call your attention to although I cannot give you name of the author, for the well-known Portland lawyer who passed them on to me doesn't know it himself.

He never pretends he is what he ain't. Whatever he does, he does openly. He plays an indifferent game of bridge.

He loses his money at poker willingly.

If he makes a promise he tries to keep it.

If he goes out with the gang he doesn't wait for the other guys to pay the bills.

He wouldn't take advantage of anyone if he could.

He never plays on the ukelele.

He never makes unkind remarks about the fair sex.

He doesn't care what people think about him.

In fact, he's a regular guy.—Portland Express.

There for a Purpose.

Mrs. Tompkins had given an invitation to a few friends to spend a pleasant evening with her. With guests, cards and gossip the time was passing beautifully, when one of the invited guests noticed the hostess' little girl sitting on a chair where she had been all the evening.

Going up to her, the good lady said: "Well, my dear, you are a good, quiet little girl. Will you sit on my knee?"

"No, thank you," said the little one demurely. "I mustn't."

"Mustn't, my dear? I don't understand," queried the lady.

"Well, you see," was the meek reply. "I've got to sit still and hide the hole in this chair."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Accurately Placed.

The rich man was taking a stroll one morning round his stables. He met a little boy, the son of his chauffeur.

"Do you know who I am, my little man?" he asked.

"Oh, yes," said the boy; "aren't you the man who rides in father's car?"—Stray Stories.

Not So Bad, at That.

"Life was not so complex in the stone age."

"Perhaps not," said Mr. Grumpson, "but modern life has its compensations. When I go out for a stroll, I'd rather dodge motor cars than try conclusions with a saber-toothed tiger."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Human Depravity.

"I seen you with my own eyes," said Three-Finger Sam. "You were dealing off the bottom of the deck."

"Well," inquired Philie Pete, "what're you going to do about it?"

"Well," said the boy; "aren't you the man who rides in father's car?"—Stray Stories.

Not So Bad, at That.

"Life was not so complex in the stone age."

"Perhaps not," said Mr. Grumpson, "but modern life has its compensations. When I go out for a stroll, I'd rather dodge motor cars than try conclusions with a saber-toothed tiger."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Deaf, Dumb and Blind

Dead Slow.

He (just accepted)—Let's want to confess, darling that I've been engaged before.

She—Oh, you slowpoke! Why, this is my fifth—Boston Transcript.

A Poet With Brains.

"Do you mail your poems or take them to the editors yourself?"

"I mail them. Rejection is bad enough without running the risk of rejection also."—Boston Transcript.

Fictional Physiognomy.

"From 'Madam Margot'—A tall man with a face like an unpleasant taste."

"She was known as a woman with a face like a beautiful blasphemy."

"She looked like a portrait of herself, pointed in irony."—Boston Transcript.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Tissues (Pitons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Tell to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Mandrool is recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water, night and day, with smarting or irritation, bright sediment or highly colored urine, itching, irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, the kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Never and the failure of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to kidney disease, don't lose a single day for the Red Cross Pharmacy and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit—Adv.

Does it Apply to You?

What is a regular guy? Probably you have your own definition of him. Here are a few more pithy paragraphs describing a "regular guy" that I would like to call your attention to although I cannot give you name of the author, for the well-known Portland lawyer who passed them on to me doesn't know it himself.

He never pretends he is what he ain't. Whatever he does, he does openly. He plays an indifferent game of bridge.

He loses his money at poker willingly.

If he makes a promise he tries to keep it.

If he goes out with the gang he doesn't wait for the other guys to pay the bills.

He wouldn't take advantage of anyone if he could.

He never plays on the ukelele.

He never makes unkind remarks about the fair sex.

He doesn't care what people think about him.

In fact, he's a regular guy.—Portland Express.

There for a Purpose.

Mrs. Tompkins had given an invitation to a few friends to spend a pleasant evening with her. With guests, cards and gossip the time was passing beautifully, when one of the invited guests noticed the hostess' little girl sitting on a chair where she had been all the evening.

Going up to her, the good lady said: "Well, my dear, you are a good, quiet little girl. Will you sit on my knee?"

"No, thank you," said the little one demurely. "I mustn't."

"Mustn't, my dear? I don't understand," queried the lady.

"Well, you see," was the meek reply. "I've got to sit still and hide the hole in this chair."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Accurately Placed.

The rich man was taking a stroll one morning round his stables. He met a little boy, the son of his chauffeur.

"Do you know who I am, my little man?" he asked.

"Oh, yes," said the boy; "aren't you the man who rides in father's car?"—Stray Stories.

Not So Bad, at That.

Deaf, Dumb and Blind

Dead Slow.

He (just accepted)—Let's want to confess, darling that I've been engaged before.

She—Oh, you slowpoke! Why, this is my fifth—Boston Transcript.

A Poet With Brains.

"Do you mail your poems or take them to the editors yourself?"

"I mail them. Rejection is bad enough without running the risk of rejection also."—Boston Transcript.

Fictional Physiognomy.

"From 'Madam Margot'—A tall man with a face like an unpleasant taste."

"She was known as a woman with a face like a beautiful blasphemy."

"She looked like a portrait of herself, pointed in irony."—Boston Transcript.

Kidney and Bladder Troubles HAVE TO GO

Clogged up Kidney Deposits are Dissolved and the Tissues (Pitons) Completely Driven Out. Druggists Tell to Guarantee it in Every Instance.

"Your very life," says Dr. Carey, "depends upon the perfect functioning and health of your kidneys so whatever you do don't neglect them."

Dr. Carey's famous prescription No. 777 known as Mandrool is recommended for everything, but we cannot too strongly urge its use if you suffer from annoying bladder troubles, frequent passing of water, night and day, with smarting or irritation, bright sediment or highly colored urine, itching, irritability with loss of flesh, backache, rheumatism or any other tendency to Bright's Disease, Diabetes or Gravel, the kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Don't wait until to-morrow to begin the use of this wonderful prescription now obtainable in both liquid and tablet form if you have any of the above symptoms. Kidney disease in its worst form may be stealing upon you.

Never and the failure of the past if you even suspect that you are subject to kidney disease, don't lose a single day for the Red Cross Pharmacy and every good druggist has been authorized to return the purchase money on the first two bottles to all who state they have received no benefit—Adv.

Does it Apply to You?

What is a regular guy? Probably you have your own definition of him. Here are a few more pithy paragraphs describing a "regular guy" that I would like to call your attention to although I cannot give you name of the author, for the well-known Portland lawyer who passed them on to me doesn't know it himself.

He never pretends he is what he ain't. Whatever he does, he does openly. He plays an indifferent game of bridge.

He loses his money at poker willingly.

If he makes a promise he tries to keep it.

If he goes out with the gang he doesn't wait for the other guys to pay the bills.

He wouldn't take advantage of anyone if he could.

He never plays on the ukelele.

He never makes unkind remarks about the fair sex.

He doesn't care what people think about him.

In fact, he's a regular guy.—Portland Express.

There for a Purpose.

Mrs. Tompkins had given an invitation to a few friends to spend a pleasant evening with her. With guests, cards and gossip the time was passing beautifully, when one of the invited guests noticed the hostess' little girl sitting on a chair where she had been all the evening.

Going up to her, the good lady said: "Well, my dear, you are a good, quiet little girl. Will you sit on my knee?"

"No, thank you," said the little one demurely. "I mustn't."

"Mustn't, my dear? I don't understand," queried the lady.

"Well, you see," was the meek reply. "I've got to sit still and hide the hole in this chair."—Chicago Herald and Examiner.

Accurately Placed.

The rich man was taking a stroll one morning round his stables. He met a little boy, the son of his chauffeur.

"Do you know who I am, my little man?" he asked.

"Oh, yes," said the boy; "aren't you the man who rides in father's car?"—Stray Stories.

Not So Bad, at That.

Wanted to Know.

A lady writes: My husband, who is a minister, had occasion one afternoon while visiting with me to pass our home. Three-year-old Edward was playing in the lawn. His father pretended not to see the child and walked past the gate without speaking. Amusement written on his face, Edward sprang up from his play and ran after his father, calling, "Say, is your name 'Dad'?"—Boston Transcript.

Childish Observation.

"Mother, does the monkey work for the organ grinder or does the organ grinder work for the monkey?"

"It's a sort of partnership, I suppose. Why do you ask?"

"I notice the monkey collects the money."—Louisville Courier Journal.

Real Test of Position.

Mrs. A.—Called on the new neighbors yet?

Mrs. B.—No; I am waiting to see their wash hung out on the line first.—Boston Transcript.

Old Sores, Ulcers and Eczema Vanish

Good, Old, Reliable Peterson's Ointment a Favorite Remedy.

"Had an ulcer on my leg. Doctors wanted to cut it off. Peterson's Ointment cured me."—Wm. J. Nichols, 482 Wilder Street, Rochester, N. Y.

"I have been troubled with a sore on my leg for many years. It was very painful and I had to use a great deal of medicine. Peterson's Ointment cured me."—Major Charles E. Whitney, Vineyard Haven, Mass.

"Peterson's Ointment has given great satisfaction for Salt Rheum."—Mrs. J. Wells, Coopersville, N. Y.

All druggists sell and recommend it. Mail order filled by Peterson Ointment Co., Inc., Buffalo, N. Y.—Adv.

Flora Jones, D. C., Ph. C.

Palmer Chiropractor

At the GAGE & GAGE office.

4:00 to 8:00 p. m. Daily (Except Sunday)

Phone: Office, Barre 661-W

Res. Office, Barre 219-W

DR. LEWIS D. MARTIN

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

Office in Room 25, Miles Building

Telephone Connection

OFFICE HOURS: 9 a. m. to 12 m. and 1:30 to 4 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday

TEL. OFFICE 213-M. RESIDENCE 418-M

EDWARD C. DUFFICY

LAWYER

BOLSTER BLOCK

BARRE, VT.

NOTARY PUBLIC

DR. HOWARD A. DREW

OSTEOPATHIC PHYSICIAN

BLANCHARD BLDG.

Phone: Office, 708-W; Residence, 708-R

BAILEY'S MUSIC ROOMS

The largest Music house north of Boston.

ESTATE OF DANIEL D. ROYCE.

State of Vermont, District of Washington, ss. The honorable probate court for the district of Washington, ss. Daniel D. Royce, late of City of Barre, in said district, deceased.

WHEREAS, application hath been made to this court in writing by the executor, praying for license and authority to convey to Willie D