REBELS SEIZED BARRACKS

Disarmed Garrison After Killing One and Wounding 15

SHARP BATTLE AT BALLYMAKEERA

Later the Garrison and Commander Were Released

Cork, Dec. 7 (By the Associated Press).—Two hundred rebels captured the barracks of Ballymakeera near Macroom yesterday, killing one man and wounding 15. The attack took place at almost the same time that the deputies of the new Irish free state were being sworn in at Dublin. The rebels took ninety prisoners, including Commandant Mooney, after a fight lasting several hours, but released them after taking all their equipment.

The fight was the fiercest yet reported in County Cork. Before advancing on the barracks the irregulars captured an armored car and Brandon, which they used, together with twenty machine guns and bombs in their attack on the troops defending the village. The free state military was eventually outnumbered and was forced to surrender. The irregulars appropriated all the arms and ammunition in sight and then marched their prisoners into the mountains.

Inasmuch as the men captured have since reported for duty, it is believed that the rebels found difficulty in detaining such a large number in the sparsely populated mountain districts. Ballymakeera is now occupied by the nationals.

A SIN TO LET HAIR FALL OUT

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff! Delightful Tonic

Hurry! It's your duty. Each day you see a little more hair falling out and you are making no effort to avoid baldness. What a pity. Falling hair means your hair is weak, sick—possibly dandruff is strangling it, or the hair root pores in the scalp are not firm and tight, thus wasting the hair-growing oils. Danderine almost instantly stops falling hair of men or women and cleans every particle of dandruff away, then the hair takes on new life, vigor and strength to grow strong, thick, and long. Danderine is delightful—not sticky or greasy. Go to any drug store now and get a bottle. Use it. Have healthy, heavy, beautiful hair and lots of it.—adv.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used, family supply easily and quickly made. Saves about $2.
You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.
Pour 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make a full pint—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.
And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for healing the membranes.
To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Letter to James Marrion

Dear sir: You are a maker, so are we. You know what you make; you know all about it. We know our pearls as you know your goods. We know how they act, how they wear and how long—an advantage we have by making one quality only. But few of the men who sell the hundreds of different pearls in the market know much about them—they are mostly imported.
A barber in New York, for example, became an importer of pearls and cleaned up $28,000 in one year. About the time his pearls began to crack and peel and show up for what they were, he sold his business and retired to Italy. The dealers who bought his pearls would like to get him back again.
Jewelers selling Vatti know all about them; that they are made in America; in one quality only; who makes them; how they will wear and how long. Vatti is the standard; call it that. The best of the imported (except those that cost several times as much as Vatti) is about 75; the worst about 25; and the rest are between.
But the men who sell them don't know any better. They know what the salesman (who didn't make them) tells them. That is; they know that "he" tells them. They don't know whether he tells them the truth or not.
Example:—A jeweler in Lebanon, Pa., sold a pearl necklace to one of his best customers for $50. In six months the "pearls" began to crack and peel and it wasn't worth 25 cents.

P. S.—Vatti pearls are sold by Bell & Houston.—adv.

$1.50 PER DAY FOR OVERSEAS SERVICE

And $1.25 Per Day For Service on Home Soil

Washington, D. C., Dec. 7.—A soldiers' bonus bill, similar in many respects to the one vetoed by President Harding, was introduced yesterday by Representative Foster, Republican, Ohio. It would provide optional plans of adjusted service certificates, vocational aid and farm home aid to the veterans, based on $1.50 per day for overseas service and $1.25 for service at home.

CO-OPERATION AMONG CREAMERIES NEEDED

In Order to Bring About Better Conditions—There Is Large Demand for Dairy Products.

A creamery is started with one chief point in view, whether it be a co-operative type or privately owned, and that is to make and accumulate profits. In the co-operative plant the so-called profits means the undistributed balance accumulated from time to time which is applied on the reduction of overhead costs or returned in the form of dividends to its stockholders. To the private owned business profit means the marginal difference between the net returns received for product sold and the net operating costs in handling or processing such product. The general index of success of a creamery, however, is measured as a rule by the net prices received by the producers for the milk or cream sold. Wide differences in prices paid for milk or cream exist quite often among different factories and occasionally such a variation may be unwarranted, yet usually it indicates greater efficiency in plant operation, a better quality of product, loyalty among patrons and plant employees, and better service. This is not due to any particular secret process or methods or any cleverness on the part of the manager or the employees. Competition is the life of good business. We will always have it, whether it be in prices, quality or service. Without competition we would not progress in the dairy business. The co-operative creameries are only as strong as the weaker units and to develop a high standard of efficiency among the co-operative organizations results largely in increasing the efficiency in operation, and complying with the fundamentals which have made the larger factories a success. The same is true of the proprietary or centralized factories. Their success and development depends upon meeting those factors in evidence which have resulted in success of the co-operative plants. The co-operative creameries in Vermont can do a great deal in a co-operative way toward more efficient factory operation, through the exchange of help from one plant to another with the idea of receiving mutual aid on various phases of creamery operations where most needed. Managers, buttermakers, and creamery operators of factories wherever possible should confer with each other frequently on the different creamery problems, common at times to all factories. The monthly butter scorings which have been held in Vermont at the different creameries over the state during the past two years have been one of the best means of getting the buttermakers together, and much good for all improved thereby. The same should be true of the co-operative creameries. Even greater results are anticipated in the way of closer co-operation among the factory operators and managers when the Vermont Dairy Plant Operators' and Managers' association organizes regional districts. Business to-day in many ways is conducted along different lines than in the past. There exists in general more of the co-operative spirit and the man who lives within his own individual sphere sooner or later finds that he is the loser. If you have ideas in your creamery operation which might be helpful to your neighbor creameryman talk it over with him as he very likely has had a like experience which possibly will help you.

Large Demand for Dairy Products.

Reports from all sections of the country indicate an unprecedented demand for all dairy products. Numerous inquiries are being made to this department by dealers who are calling for extra large supplies of milk, cream, cheese and condensed milk. These numerous inquiries are responsible for the existing supply and demand for dairy products but the principal factors may be cited as follows:
1. Light fall production of milk caused chiefly by early fall drought.
2. Very heavy domestic demand for all dairy products.
3. Purchasing powers of consumers increased, the principally to better labor conditions over the entire country.
4. Increased advertising of dairy products has caused an increase in demand.
The tendency of the demand to exceed the supply has caused prices to rise to such heights that some of the markets are developing an undertone of nervousness. Withdrawals of butter, cheese and condensed product from storage is very rapid at the present time. The existing high prices are attracting dairy products, principally butter, from foreign countries. The situation, however, is a healthy one, and the present outlook is favorable. Nevertheless the entire industry must reckon with the increase in production which has already started, the foreign importations and the stor-

There Is No Substitute for Quality

When you buy a house you make sure that the foundation, the walls and the roof are constructed for permanence. Buy a motor car in the same way. The sturdy body of the Studebaker Light-Six Sedan is an admirable example of substantial body-building. It is constructed of the finest materials and with a high degree of craftsmanship to give years of satisfactory service—no makeshift construction merely to meet a price. Eight stout ash pillars, from floor to roof, insure permanent strength and rigidity. The four wide-opening doors are a real convenience in getting in and out. Broad windows provide clear vision in every direction. Seats are of generous proportions with deep springs to give lasting comfort. The upholstery is of mohair velvet plush, as durable as it is attractive. The heater will give warmth and comfort on cold days. The Light-Six has proved its reliability on the highways of the world. The ample power, quietness and remarkable flexibility of its motor are a source of continuous satisfaction. It is easy to handle in traffic. Constant gear shifting is unnecessary because it throttles down to a walking pace in high gear. Vibration, which is so annoying in closed cars, is virtually eliminated. The low price is due to complete manufacture by Studebaker in one of the most modern and complete automobile plants in the world. Middlemen's profits are eliminated and the savings are passed on to the buyer. The name Studebaker stands for comfort, quality and durability.

Dairy Market Briefs.

Milk—The New England December price on milk is eight and a half cents per quart delivered in Boston. The New York December price for class 1 (milk for fluid consumption) is $3.57 per cwt. of three per cent milk in the 200-mile zone. This is an increase of 47 cents per cwt. over November.
Butter—The butter markets are retaining firm at high prices. Withdrawals from storage are very heavy. The prevailing high prices for butter are attracting butter from foreign countries.
Cream—The demand for sweet cream continues to remain firm.

Are You the Man Who "Never Reads Advertisements?"

Some men, who are neither blind nor illiterate, claim sincerely that they "never read advertisements."

Yet, if you could investigate, in each case you would find that the man who "never reads advertisements" used an advertised tooth paste or shaving cream or soap. If he owns an automobile it will be an advertised car. If you ask his opinion of any automobile he will reply in words that might have been lifted bodily from an advertisement of that automobile. Advertising has formed his opinions to a great degree. He may have received his information through others who obtained their knowledge from advertising. But it is a fact that no man can escape the effects of advertising even if he does say he "never reads advertisements."

Not one of us ever reasoned out entirely from his own mind that the earth is round. If we had not read it or heard it we would never have known it. In these days of good, truthful, helpful advertising to say "I never read advertisements" is merely your way of saying, "I don't read all advertisements."
