TAYLOR, BOUIS & BROTHERTON,
Asheville, N. C., Mar. 1, 1890.

We have taken the new store, No. 43 Patton Avenue (under the Opera House) and we are now laying in a full and complete line of General House Furnishing Goods, Tinware, Woodware, Stoves, Heaters, Ranges, etc. We also have a full stock of Plumbing, Gas and Steam Fitting Supplies, Wrought and Cast Iron Pipe, Bath Tubs, Boilers, etc., and all the latest improvements in Sanitary Plumbing Appliances.

We are agents for the "Royal" Gas Machine, and we will be pleased to give estimates for their introduction into Hotels, Dwellings, Mills, etc.

We hope to be formally opened in a short time, as our arrangements are rapidly nearing completion. In the meantime our stock is coming in bright and fresh and we will take great pleasure in showing you what we have.

All our goods are marked in plain figures and are put at such prices as we believe will compare favorably with those of the larger cities of the country. We will carry many lines of fine goods, so that you will not be compelled to go out of town for anything you may need in our line.

Our Plumbing, Gas and Steam Fitting Department is under the direction of a competent foreman who is conversant with the principles and details of modern Sanitary Plumbing, and has a corps of able assistants.

The Roofing, Tinning and Architectural Iron Work Departments are under the direction of two of the members of our firm who are thoroughly practical in all the lines of business we follow.

We will cheerfully furnish plans and specifications needed by you, and fully guarantee all work entrusted to us.

Our prices will be put at such figures as will enable us to do the work properly and receive a fair compensation for the class of work done.

We believe there is room for us in Asheville, and that we will not be disappointed in receiving a share of your patronage.

We want you to feel at home in our store, and whether you buy or not you will be always welcome, and we shall try to merit your confidence.

Very truly yours,
TAYLOR, BOUIS & BROTHERTON.

BLAIR ON NEWSPAPERS.

THEY OUGHT TO TELL THE PEOPLE ALL HE SAYS.

The Father of the Educational Bill Takes a Kick—The House Appropriates Millions of Dollars For Pensioners.

WASHINGTON, February 28.—SENATE—Senator George presented a petition from the citizens of Labor county, Miss., for the free coinage of silver, and in doing so, expressed the hope, satirically, that such a petition would not be considered evidence of disloyalty or evidence that Mississippi had not a republican form of government.

Senator Hale presented a petition, saying that it was by request from New England iron and steel manufacturers, asking that from coal and coke be put upon the free list, and that the duty on scrap iron, scrap steel, etc., be reduced to 24 per cent. ad valorem.

Senator Morgan offered a resolution which was agreed to, calling on the secretary of the interior for information as to the reasons that have prevented the sale of coal lands in Alabama in accordance with the requirement of the department of March 3, 1883, and for copies of letters or papers relied upon to justify the failure to comply with the statute.

Senator Blair called the attention of the senate once more to the dereliction of the press of the country in not giving sufficient attention to the proceedings in the senate, and particularly to the important facts spread by him before the senate in his speech on the educational bill.
He charged particularly that the Associated Press and its reporters failed to perform their duties in the matter.

Senator Hawley said that the Associated Press and its reporters had throughout the country full abstracts of the proceedings of both houses.

Senator Hale directed attention to the "difference between the American press in relation to congressional debates, and the English press in relation to parliamentary debates and senatorial debates." He found an excuse for the press in the habit of senators and representatives of preparing long written speeches and delivering them to empty benches.

Senator Blair said that he had received this morning a letter, one of many such, complaining that the Associated Press and the newspapers of the country failed to give such reports of the important matters of the debate in the senate as would properly inform the people touching the affairs in progress. He read the letter in question, which came from Pittsburg, asking him to forward his address on the educational bill, and stating that there were hundreds of thousands of people who would be glad to read the debate, but who had no means of knowing what had been said in it. This, said Senator Blair, is but a specimen of the general complaint throughout the country, that the press, to which the senate furnishes privileges, and that the Associated Press, whose reporter has the privilege of the floor, fails in the discharge of their important duty in connection with legislation.

I have had occasion, he said, to advert to this in relation to the matter which I and others had collected, with great effort, and sent to the editor of the important matter on the merits of the educational bill, and I was so unfortunate and fortunate, as the case may be, to receive a pretty liberal newspaper coddling in consequence of so doing. But I have not observed that the press has taken any interest in the collection of the press, which is constantly intimated that the reason of its alleged delinquency in not publishing such important matter, rather than the reports of prize fights and dog fights, is that my speech was not entertaining, and that the publication of the speech, but of the facts bearing on the merits of the question.
I am not rich enough to distribute them generally throughout the country, although I have spent many thousands of dollars in so doing, and they would have been unnecessary, had the press not been, as I believe, muzzled and intimidated, and false to its trust in that regard.

I have been told by a responsible newspaper man, that the Associated Press representative on duty, does not transmit and has not transmitted to the press generally any, or scarcely any, of the facts, which I have placed before the senate, and which should have gone before the people in order to effect its judgment.

In regard to this great question, on the contrary, the papers have been filled with falsehoods and lies and misrepresentations of a grave character bearing on the merits of the question. That cannot be an accident. That cannot be excusable.
The press, which is our only medium of intercourse with the people, owes it to the people to disseminate information which is brought forward here. It does not do so. Of that, I complain, and I produce this letter which I could follow up with many others, to show that the press fails in answering the wants of the American public in that regard. It is not complimentary to the American people to tell them that the great mass of unimportant, or ten times more deleterious matter, with which the corners of the country are flooded, are the sort of papers which the American people desire.
The press should not cater, it seems to me, to the worst side of humanity, even if it supplies its owner with a little more cash.

After some further remarks by Senator Blair and a brief defence of the newspapers and an explanation of their methods by Senator Hawley, the matter was dropped and the resolution heretofore offered by Senator Call in referring to the lands in Florida claimed by the Florida Central and Peninsular railroad company, was taken up, discussed by him at much length and referred to the committee on public lands.

The dependent pension bill was then taken up. Senator Davis, chairman of the pension committee explained that it was the same bill verbatim as had passed the senate in the last congress, and had failed of the action of the house. After discussion by Senators Davis, Plumb, McPherson, Vest and Moody, the bill went over without action.

The house bill for the appointment of two persons to represent the United States in the international conference at Madrid in reference to industrial property was passed. After an executive session the senate at 4:55 adjourned till Monday.

DICK HAWES HUNG.

TERRIBLE CRIME EXPIATED ON THE GALLOWS.

Whiskey and Vile Women Caused His Downfall—No Unusual Occurrence at the Execution—A Written Confession.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., February 28.—At three minutes before 1 o'clock this afternoon Richard R. Hawes was hanged in the jail yard in this city. The hanging was attended with no extraordinary circumstance, and aside from the fearful atrocities of the crimes it would have been in all respects commonplace.

The doomed man spent last night rather easily, and this morning at 7 o'clock he told Sheriff Smith that he was ready to eat his breakfast. It was brought but he was unable to eat. A little later Doctor Penser and Slaughter, the spiritual advisers of Hawes, arrived at the jail, and from that time until the sheriff called for him to go to the gallows they talked and prayed with him. It was raining slightly when, a few minutes before 1 o'clock, he was taken to the gallows and he was hanged.

The crowd consisted of about 100 people, nearly all of whom were newspaper men and officers. Hawes then called for two newspaper men, one of them M. S. Conn, city editor of the Age-Herald, and said he wanted to forgive for anything he had written and said he would like to see the crowd and die at peace with the world.

He then turned to the crowd and said:
"I want to say to this congregation that I have made a written statement of the whole thing from first to last, and it is the truth. I want the people to believe it, and I certainly hope that no one will think that I came to the gallows with a lie on my lips."

He told the sheriff he was ready and the noose was adjusted. When first drawn around his neck it was too tight and his face began to turn red. He loosened and he said in a first voice, "I can stand this now for a few moments." He again turned to the crowd and said:
"This has been brought about by whiskey and vile women. Take my advice and let both alone. That prayer was pronounced by Dr. Slaughter and the black cap was placed on the prisoner's head."

The sheriff descended from the gallows and adjusting the rope which was to pull him down and spring the trap, he counted "one, two, three." The rope was pulled and the gallows fell from the crowd and unknown to every one. There was a slight pause after "three" fell from the sheriff's lips and then the trap fell.

The body slumped downward six feet and rebounded in the air. There was a few slight convulsions, the muscles of the legs and arms contracted a little, swaying ceased and at the expiration of seven minutes Hawes was pronounced dead.

The execution, which Hawes wrote in now in the hands of his brother and a gentleman of this city, and they will dispose of it for the benefit of Hawes' little son. The statement is supposed to be a true account of the crime. Hawes yesterday told one of his spiritual advisers that while he never committed the murder himself, he was as guilty as the person who did the killing, for he had paid for the work.

EX-CONGRESSMAN SHOT.
W. P. Taubee Seriously Wounded by Charles Kincaid.

WASHINGTON, February 28.—In the corridor of the house this afternoon ex-Congressman Taubee was shot through the head by Charles Kincaid, the correspondent of the Louisville Times.

Both men of Kentucky, and the trouble was caused by the correspondent's insistence on publishing certain statements in regard to him.

The shooting occurred just outside the capital near the southern entrance to the building. Taubee was shot in the head and his wound is serious. He was taken to his boarding house.

Kincaid was arrested and lodged in the New Jersey avenue police station, where he was charged with an assault with intention to kill. Kincaid is a slight built, offensive looking man of about 35 years of age. His father was formerly judge in one of the Louisville courts, and his family is one of the best known in Kentucky.

Taubee is about 39 years of age and is tall, sinewy and strong. He represented one of the mountain districts of Kentucky in the forty-ninth and fiftieth congresses.

The Prohibition Town Sale.
CHATTANOOGA, February 28.—Four thousand people are wildly clamoring for lots at the new town of Harriman, fifty miles north of this city, on the Cincinnati Southern railroad.

At the sale yesterday 278 lots were sold for $150,000. Today 100 more lots were sold for $350,000, making the total sales for two days $500,000. Lots sold to-day for as much as $210 a front foot. The excitement is great. The town is yet a barren field, with a score or more of temporary frame shanties.
It is as yet all on paper, but the crowd of boomers, investors and speculators seemed to be assured that quite a city will soon be there. The sale continues to-morrow. Lots were knocked down in but a rapid succession, the promoter of the town expressing desire to keep down reckless prices, but to no avail.

Nominations Confirmed.
WASHINGTON, February 28.—The senate to-day confirmed the following nominations: Richard G. Banta, collector of customs, Norfolk and Portsmouth, Va.; W. H. Moss, postmaster of Jackson, Tenn.; and P. A. Smithson, supervisor of census Third district of Tennessee.

Snow Twelve Inches Deep.
CHICAGO, February 28.—Snow began to fall here last night and at 11 o'clock it is still falling. The local signal service reports that the storm extends over Northern Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin and Michigan, the heaviest falling at Green Bay, Wis., where it is twelve inches deep.

Ignorant of What Was Coming.

hardly imagined that as powerful a lobby would have gathered in Washington to enforce his eminently patriotic sentiment.

A COMPREHENSIVE REVIEW.

Books Lately Received by the Asheville Library.

Fiction—Chita—By Lafcadio Hearn.
The author of Chita might almost be said to invade the realm which Mr.
Cable has made so peculiarly his own—the strange pathetic life of the Louisiana Creoles. The scene is laid in the sea islands south of New Orleans. Mr.
Hearn does not attempt to rival Cable in humor or mastery of dialect, but many of the passages in his book have a rhythmic beauty which raises his work to the dignity of a prose poem.

Feet of Clay—By Amelia E. Barr.
One of the latest novels. The scene of the story is laid in the Isle of Man, which has hitherto been to novel readers a comparatively unknown region.

Fated to be Free—By Jenn Ingelow.
A recent edition of Miss Ingelow's well known story, in which she develops the peculiar theories, in regard to the art of novel making, outlined by her in the preface.

The Romance of Dollard—By Mary Hartley Catherwood.

One of the most remarkable historical novels written by an American author in recent years. The story has to do with the heroic but unavailing efforts of Dollard and a handful of companions to withstand the powerful Iroquois, who more than two centuries ago, were determined to exterminate the white inhabitants of New France. Mr. Francis Parkman, the historian of Canada, writes a preface for the book, and confirms Dollard's right to be considered a hero.

The Career of a Nihilist—By Stepiak.
The interest which has for some time been manifested by the public in everything Russian, has renewed a fresh stimulus from the latest production of the celebrated Russian agitator. He appears this time in the guise of fiction.
No one can hardly be expected to invent anything more strange or terrible than he has hitherto recorded as actual fact.

Humorous—Said in Fun.
A new collection of jokes and witticisms by the late Philip H. Welch, and supplemented by an unpublished sketch. The book is illustrated with many designs from leading American artists, and the royalties accruing from its sale will be devoted to the benefit of Mr. Welch's family.

Uncle Remus—His Songs and His Sayings—By Joel Chandler Harris.

As Uncle Remus made the acquaintance of a delighted public quite a number of years ago, it is hardly necessary to call attention to a new edition of his quaintly humorous songs and sayings. There is probably no one book extant which combines between its covers such a comprehensively photographic view of the folk lore of the old plantation.

Daddy Jake, the Runaway.
A late edition of Uncle Remus' more recent stories, wherein the venerable darkey appears to have lost none of his wonderful gifts of narration and invention.

The Doll's House—By Hendrik Ibsen.
A translation of one of the Norwegian dramatist's most popular plays, prefaced by an interesting account of his life.
Ibsen is a realist in literature, but not in the sense that Zola and Daudet are realists. He should rank with Tolstol, and is rather a moralist than an artist. The ideas to which he gives utterance are always forcibly, but sometimes rudely, expressed, and go to the roots of social problems.

Strange True Stories of Louisiana—By G. W. Cable.

One of the best productions of Mr.
Cable's facile pen. No doubt the stories are as true as he would have us believe, but the reader cannot help but regret that they owe much to the artist's touch.
Not the least interesting is the introductory account of "How I got them."
"The War Diary of a Union Woman in the South," with which the book closes, throws a strong light on the sufferings and privations in Southern homes during the war.

The Story of Emin's Rescue, as told in Stanley's Letters.

Those who have followed the great African explorer in his last and most important expeditions thro' the Dark Continent will welcome the story of his adventures as told in these letters. The only fault to be found is that there are not more of them, but the reader may be consoled by the statement in the preface that a more elaborate account of the expedition will be prepared by Mr. Stanley on his return to England.

A DEMOCRAT CONFIRMED.
H. M. Sewell in Consul General at Apia, Samoa Islands.

WASHINGTON, February 28.—Harold M. Sewell, nominated to be consul general at Apia, Samoa Islands, was confirmed by the senate yesterday afternoon in executive session.

Both the nomination and confirmation of Sewell are remarkable. Sewell is a democrat and was consul to Samoa during the Cleveland administration, but was recalled by Secretary Bayard. The New York Sun says that "his return to Samoa will be the best possible guarantee that American interests in the islands are not to suffer under the operation of the new treaty."

Alaska Fur Seal Co. Defeated.
WASHINGTON, February 28.—Secretary Windom has directed that a lease be made with the North American Commerce company of New York, and San Francisco, I. Lewis, president for the exclusive privilege of taking fur seals upon the islands of St. Paul and St.
George, Alaska, for a period of twenty years from May 1st, next.

The Redistricting Bill Signed.
ANNAPOLIS, Md., February 28.—Gov.
Jackson to-day approved the bill redistricting the State. Five out of six of the congressional districts of Maryland are now by common consent given to the democrats.

Young Lincoln Bester.
LONDON, February 28.—Master Abraham Lincoln passed a fair night and improved this morning is a little improved.
