

AT THE CAPITAL!

What the Outlook Is on the Silver Bill.

All Agree That There Is to Be a Fight Over It.

CLEVELAND WILL INSIST ON REPEAL

The Chances Are for a Long Session and an Ugly Session so far as Politics Is Concerned.

WASHINGTON, August 17.—[Special.]—The speaking on the silver question in the house is now fairly under way. Each side is taking its time and is giving every man a chance. From present appearances it looks as if every man in the house would speak before the matter is settled. The silver men in the house are becoming more hopeful. This is evident not only from their deportment, but from their action. The cause of this is not because they think they have made new votes, but because they find the number of votes they already have is larger than they had calculated on.

If the reports regarding Mr. Cleveland's position have been authoritative he will take a definite and uncompromising stand in favor of the unconditional repeal of the silver purchase clause of the Sherman act and will urge that further legislation regarding the currency can safely be postponed. This is what is reasonably to be expected from the communication which the president will address to congress, but it is by no means improbable that he may have something to suggest by way of compromise in order to satisfy those who demand that some provision shall be made to obviate the contraction of the currency which would result from stopping the purchase of silver. There are two expedients which the president may recommend. One is that the national banks be allowed to issue notes to the par value of the bonds deposited by them to secure circulation. There are many democrats who favor this, and if the plan were adopted it would at once add about $20,000,000 to the circulation. It would encounter a vigorous opposition, however, from those who are unfriendly to the banks, on the ground that the tendency would be to strengthen those institutions. Another expedient which the president may recommend is the repeal of the ten per cent on bank issues, so as to enable the state banks to put out currency as they did before the war. This would meet the almost unanimous approval of the southern democrats and would perhaps have the support of a few from the middle and western states, but it would be strongly opposed by eastern democrats, and the republicans in congress would be unanimously hostile to it.

The clear prospect now is that the silver purchase clause of the Sherman act will be repealed, but not without a pretty sharp struggle. The indications are that the fight against the Sherman act will open with three distinct columns operating in parallel lines. First, there will be a column directed for unconditional repeal; second, a column operating to couple repeal with the removal of the tax on state bank issues, and, third, a column which will work with determination to substitute for the present law more liberal legislation for silver. It is the opinion of the shrewdest judges that the first two columns are likely to merge. It is generally conceded that the real battle ground of the silver conflict will be in the senate, where the opportunities for a prolonged fight are better than in the house. The contest in the popular branch of congress, however, is expected to be a sharp one.

Pure and Wholesome Quality
Commends to public approval the California liquid laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs. It is pleasant to the taste and by acting gently on the kidneys, liver and bowels to cleanse the system effectually, it promotes the health and comfort of all who use it, and with millions it is the best and only remedy.

With those who intend boarding outside the institution no examination is necessary.

—Colonel Adolphus Yearby, who acted as umpire in the game of baseball between the Chapel Hill nine and the Law Students, at the University day before yesterday, says that the next time he is called upon to act in that capacity he will choose the lesser of two evils by going out and hanging himself and let that end it. When it comes to a choice between death and hearing the lawyers attempt to "elucidate," he regards the former as a sweet boon.

CLOVER SEED.

What the Department Says About a New-fangled Style of Clover.

The North Carolina Agricultural Experiment Station has now on hand a small crop of crimson clover seed in the chaff, which will be sent to every farmer who will make application to the station and pay freight charges on the seed. Ten pounds will be sent, which is sufficient to sow one fifth of an acre.

Crimson clover (trifolium incarnatum) is known under a variety of common names—annual, German, scarlet and Italian. This clover is easily grown, and should come into quite general use. It is an annual, and consequently must be re-seeded for each crop, which makes it important to grow seed at home. Seed should be sown when the crop is laid by. Grown in this way it may be of great service in enriching and holding the land from washing. Its growth is made in the cool wet part of the year, and it is ready to be made into hay at a season when planters are waiting for cotton to vegetate for first working. This is often a dry time, and the hay can be quickly and easily cured. It may often be best to sow this clover with oats, rye or barley, and cut all for hay in April or May.

This clover will thrive on land in moderate condition, but, like some other forage plants, will pay best where given a rich soil. The composition of crimson clover hay shows it to be a highly nutritious food. It is so rich that for any use it may well be fed with some such fodder as straw, meadow hay, or cotton seed hulls. When fed for production of milk, the addition of corn, or corn oats, will tend to add to the good qualities of the product. Address F. E. Emery, agriculturist, Experiment Station, Raleigh, N. C.

After Breakfast
To purify, vitalize and enrich the blood, and give nerve, bodily and digestive strength, take Hood's Sarsaparilla. Continue the medicine after every meal for a month or two and you will feel "like a new man." The merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla is proven by its thousands of wonderful cures. Why don't you try it?

Hood's Pills cure constipation. They are the best after dinner pill and family cathartic.

—The outlook for Colonel Albright's next speech at Bragtown is gloomy. Boss Belvin will refuse to let the colonel come inside the corporation. We do not blame the boss if the colonel wants to talk on the silver question.

A VETERAN'S VERDICT.

The War is Over. A Well-known Soldier, Correspondent and Journalist Makes a Disclosure.

Indiana contributed her thousands of brave soldiers to the war, and no state bears a better record in that respect than it does. In literature it is rapidly acquiring an enviable place. In war and literature Solomon Jewell, well known as a writer as "Sol," has won an honorable position. During the late war he was a member of Co. M, 5th N. Y. Cavalry and of the 15th Indiana Infantry Volunteers. Regarding an important circumstance he writes as follows:

"Several of us old veterans here are using Dr. Miles' Restorative Nervine, Heart Cure and Liver Pills, all of them giving splendid satisfaction. In fact, we have never used remedies that compare with them. Of the Pills we must say they are the best combination of the qualities required in a preparation of their nature we have ever known. We have none but words of praise for them. They are the outgrowth of a new principle in medicine, and tone up the system wonderfully. We say to all, try these remedies."—Solomon Jewell, Marion, Ind., Dec. 5, 1892. These remedies are sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent direct by the Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six, $5.00, by mail prepaid. They positively contain neither opiates nor dangerous drugs.

Sold by W. M. Yearby, Durham.

Trinity College

The character and public worth of a higher institution of learning is known by what it does. During the past forty years Trinity College has rendered unstinted public services, having been sustained by private contributions and given her efforts to the public welfare. It stands for progress, ideas and is the representative of advanced thought in public life. The heaven of her efforts has quickened every other educational institution within the range of her influence.

For 1894 the following departments are open for instruction after August 31:

1. Philosophical and Literary for A. B. candidates.

2. History, Political and Social Science (for Ph. B. candidates).

3. Scientific (for B. S. candidates).

4. Technological (for B. E. candidates).

5. Law School, summer term opens July 14.

6. Theological (for ministerial candidates).

7. Commercial Course (preparatory for business pursuits).

Besides these there are three special schools with courses of a more practical professional character:

1. The Normal School for Teachers—Ten courses of professional instruction for one year.

2. School of Journalism—Prof. John L. Weber, director. Courses of instruction in English, Civics, Political Science, History, Sociology and daily practical newspaper work required.

3. School of Finance, Economics and Administration—Two years' courses in the higher studies related to public interests. The College is provided with ample facilities in the Laboratories, Libraries and Electric Plant for giving the best instruction in course offered.

The buildings are the finest and best adapted in the state.

The Staff of Instructors is chosen for its merit and in devotion to the work of educating students. The participation of students in their own government in college will be with the opening of the year, August 31.

Matriculation, August 23, 24, in the Main Building.

Rooms may be secured and interesting information given free by application by mail or in person to JOHN F. CROWELL, President, Trinity College, Durham, N. C.
