1936 State Automobile Plates to Go on Sale Here On December 15

State automobile license plates for 1936 will be sold again this season by the local branch office of the Carolina Motor Club...

The new license plates will go on sale around December 15, and a shipment of the new tags is expected here shortly.

More detailed information will be announced in the next few weeks it was said.

A. M. Huggins, of Charlotte, director of services of the motor club, was here yesterday and today and signed a contract with Miss Jordan to handle the license distribution again.

A year-around office has been maintained in Henderson, and the convenience in obtaining new license plates has been very pleasing to Henderson motorists.

The new State license plates will be of a new color this year, in keeping with the policy to change colors each year. The background will be black with green letters and figures.

This year for the first time the City of Henderson will issue license plates, and these will probably go on sale around December 15. They will be sold at $1 each.

Heavy Sales On Thursday For Tobacco

Heavy sales were had yesterday on the Henderson tobacco market, with 408,690 pounds disposed of for $96,240.66 at an average price of $23.54 per hundred pounds.

These offerings brought the week's totals to around 1,750,000 pounds, with nearly half a million dollars paid out at an average close to 25 cents a pound for the week.

Again today there was a big break on sale, but there were hopes that all floors would be cleared before the closing hour and in readiness for heavy offerings expected for Monday's sale.

CURB MARKET ASKS FOR WINTER HOME

Institution of Farm Women Unable to Find Indoor Quarters As Yet

Vance county farm women who sponsor the curb market here are looking for winter quarters for their business and so far have been unable to find one, Ms. J. K. Plummer, home demonstration agent, said today.

The curb market has managed to operate all right during the summer, when they could set up their quarters in the open. But they can't do that during the winter. They can obtain access to a warehouse during the winter, but that will not be available much before Christmas, with the result that they are sweating much blood over what to do and where to go during the cold days between now and that time.

The curb market has long been an institution and a profitable one for the women of the county. It has done as high as $18,000 a year in sales of farm produce, according to Mrs. Plummer, and city housewives have delighted to patronize the market.

The problem faced right now, however, is that of finding quarters at least until a warehouse will be available.

Buffet Supper At The Country Club

Mr. and Mrs. D. Y. Cooper and Mrs. D. Morgan Cooper entertained last evening at the West End Country Club at a buffet supper honoring Miss Betsy Cooper and A. Waddell Gholson, Jr. who will wed Thursday evening.

Guests were greeted at the door by the hosts, hostesses, and honored couple, and invited into the club room. Graceful arrangements of pine boughs and white chrysanthemums carried out a color scheme of green and white.

The long center table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a beautiful, turned bride's cake, around which burned tall green tapers. Attractively arranged on the table, with valley lilies was a miniature bridal party.

Pouring coffee at two tables, were Mrs. Alex Cooper and Mrs. John D. Cooper.

About eighty-five guests were present and enjoyed after supper dancing.

Piano Recital by Mrs. Parker's Pupils

The first of a series of piano recitals by the class of Mrs. Ada S. Parker was given last night at her home on Chestnut Street. Much credit is due both students and teacher for the splendid performances, which showed painstaking study and artistic playing.

The program was divided into three groups: Beginners and Primaries, Preparatory 1 and 11 and Preparatory 111 and IV. A prize was offered in each group for the best and most artistic playing, the judges being Mrs. C. B. Mooney Jr., Miss Lucine Wells and Miss Beulah Thomas.

For the first group, there was a tie between Ann Nichols and Frances Hight. Vester West won in the second group and the honor in the third group went to Frances Daniel. Those taking part on the program were: Jane Newell, Mary Windley, Mary Eleanor Dryden, Ann Nichols, Mary Cook Harris, Frances Hight, Louise Teiser, Peggy Parker, Agnes Patterson, Lucile Finch, Ada Page, Vester West, Helen Teiser, Elvira Cheatham, Rowena Daniel, Jane Thompson, Frances Daniel, Helen Royster, and Ruth Goodrich Thomas.

College Head

Rev. G. I. Humphreys, D. D., president of High Point College, reported to the North Carolina Methodist Protestant Conference here today on the condition and growth of that institution which is owned by the conference.

Both Institutions Report Conditions Very Satisfactory

was presented to the conference. He showed that many improvements had been made during the year, and said the orphanage farm had an income of $9,000 for the year and was on a paying basis.

Dr. Dixon called attention to the observance this year of the silver anniversary of the orphanage, and said it was asking the conference for donations aggregating $25,000 being one thousand dollars for each year of its history.

Increased contributions during the year were reported, and continued support was urged.

Dr. Frank W. Stephenson, of Pittsboro, Pa., executive secretary of the General Conference Board of Education, addressed the conference during the forenoon, and reported on the work of his department.

This afternoon the conference went into the election of delegates to the General Conference of the denomination in the United States, which meets at High Point next May. This conference is entitled to 15 clerical and 15 lay delegates.

Tonight the program will be in charge of the Laymen's Fellowship, headed by J. G. Rogers, Denton business man.

College Hour Observed

Dr. G. I. Humphreys, president of High Point College, presided during the consideration of this institution, in presenting his report the President stated that the total enrollment for the year, including extension and summer school classes, was 453 with eight states other than North Carolina represented.

Forty percent of the student body are said to be Methodists, with the M. E. Church, South, following with 27 per cent.

The dormitory group is larger this year, with the men's dormitory being full. Dr. Humphreys said that the twelve-month period May to May was the greatest in the history of the college and is the evidence of what can be done when we purpose to do it.

The outlook for the present fiscal year is said to be most encouraging.

Education Leader Speaker

The principal address during the Educational rally was delivered by Dr. Frank W. Stephenson, Pittsboro executive secretary of the General Conference Board of Education.

In discussing the work of his department, the speaker said, "The church-related college came to birth because of the conviction that religion is not only useful and beneficial but necessary; that education without the Christian element is inadequate and incomplete; that the church is duty-bound to foster every organization, agency and institution supporting a Christian education program, and that the Christian college is the highest and finest expression of these convictions.

At a most critical period in the life of youth, the church-related college guides the thinking, determines their ideals, assists in the choice of a vocation, and has much to do with the selection of their fundamental loyalties. It gives encouragement and sincere support to all recognized Christian movements, institutions and observances. It tries to give young people something more than the finest education. It adds there to the Christian element, being profoundly convinced that education without religion is incomplete, even dangerous. No other institution makes a more vital contribution to the life of the church and to the security and development of the nation than does the Christian college."

Following the address by the educational secretary, Rev. N. M. Harrison, promotional secretary of High Point College, addressed the conference on matters of interest in this department.

Orphanage Report Given

Rev. A. G. Dixon, D. D., superintendent of the Methodist Protestant Children's Home, High Point, presented a most encouraging report to the annual conference today. In the course of his report it was learned that both dormitories have been painted and redecorated, the roof of each building renewed. New oak floors have been laid in one dormitory and other important improvements are now in the making.

The report shows that the income from the farm amounted to $9,000 for the year with all the work done by the larger boys of the institution, under the direction of J. A. Dixon, farm superintendent. It also developed that the farm had made a substantial profit during the fiscal year ending with this session of conference.

There is now in progress a celebration of the silver anniversary of the home, and it is the hope of Superintendent Dixon that the church in North Carolina will make a contribution during the year equal to $1000 for each year of the life of the home. It is expected that the final campaign, that will include the Thanksgiving season, will more than reach the goal suggested by Dr. Dixon.

From a financial standpoint, Dr. Dixon says that the home had an increase over last year that shows that the denomination is rapidly recovering from the recent depression.

The president of the conference, Dr. R. M. Andrews, stated that Captain A. M. Rankin, High Point treasurer of the board of trustees, is making satisfactory improvement following a recent operation for cataracts that had left him blind for a period of months, but the surgeon holds out the promise that now this grand old man of the conference will be well again.

The announcement came as happy news, since it is seldom that Captain Rankin misses a session of the North Carolina Annual Conference.

Devotional Address

The theme of the second devotional address by Dr. T. M. Johnson, was "Jesus and the Home." In the discussion of this theme, which has been one of intense study by the speaker, he said, "In a study to discover the influence of Jesus upon life in a home, we would not find it in any one of the homes where Jesus was an occasional or a one-time visitor, as in the home of Matthew the publican, or Zachaeus, also a publican, or Simon the leper, or the home of Martha of Bethany. But we find 'his home influence in the home of Nazareth, in which He grew up."

"With scant record as to the policy or practice of the particular home in which Jesus grew up, we are dependent upon the general knowledge available of the nature and practice of the Jewish homes of His day and as the 'home-life of His boyhood and young manhood was afterward reflected in His teaching and practice during His public ministry."

"Doubtless the high ideals and lofty sentiment which characterized His public life and teaching were under divine guidance, inspired by the home-life of His boyhood and young manhood days, we should keep in mind that it was the human Jesus, not His deity, that grew, that was subject unto His parents, that increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man."

"Doubtless Jesus himself did much to make the home in Nazareth one of high order."

Tells of Orphanage

Rev. A. G. Dixon, D. D., reported to the Methodist Protestant Conference here today on the condition of the Children's Home at High Point. His report was read in his absence. He was unable to attend the conference on account of illness.

Registrations for Jobs Are Growing

in getting enough workers for many that many of those notified have failed or refused to report and accept jobs.

"During the past few days we have been much pleased because of the better response to notifications," Mrs. Evans said. "Yesterday we received word that 40 out of 42 notified for a project in Harnett county had reported for work on it, while in Brunswick county 90 out of 91 notified for work on an oyster planting project had reported. We are hoping that from now on conditions will improve and more and more of those who are notified will report for work."

One reason why many have failed to report for work on WPA projects after having been notified is that a good many have obtained seasonal employment and are thus making more in temporary jobs than they could in WPA jobs, Mrs. Evans said.

Still another reason is that a good many do not like the new system under which they must work an entire month, at the rate of 35 hours a week, in order to get their pay. Still others just don't want to work—at least, not at the wages being paid by the WPA.

On a project in Carteret county to repair the Coast Guard telephone lines up towards Cape Hatteras, in which eight common laborers are needed, forty registrants have been notified but so far not a single one has reported for work or agreed to take any of these jobs, although four skilled workers have been obtained. One of the reasons is that the workers must spend several hours going to work by boat before their pay starts, also that weather and working conditions are bad. The pay on this project for unskilled workers is only $20.90 a month.
