

THE MONROE JOURNAL.

Telephone No. 19.

Tuesday, September 29, 1903.

Miss Bertha Funderburk, has entered Elizabeth College, Charlotte.

Misses Julia Benton and Bessie Edkins of Charlotte were the guests of Miss Ellen Howie Sunday.

A. Levy's store will be closed on Thursday on account of a religious holiday.

Dr. E. C. Boyte of Mt. Holly came down Friday to see his father, Mr. A. W. Boyte, who is quite sick.

Mr. J. F. Stafford of Harrisburg spent Saturday in town with his father-in-law, Mr. O. C. Currie.

Mrs. W. F. Chears of Waxhaw is visiting her father-in-law, Esq. V. T. Chears, in Buford township.

The ladies of St. Paul's Episcopal church will serve ice cream in the Lee & Lee old building from six to eleven this evening.

Mrs. Jennie James of Unionville returned recently from a visit to relatives in Laurinburg and Hamlet.

Mr. E. D. Worley has bought the stock of goods of Mr. F. M. Helms and will conduct business at the same stand on Franklin street.

Messrs. Williams & Helton are building a nice cottage for Mr. Ed O. Bivens on his lot next to Mr. A. C. Johnson's new residence.

Miss Myrtle Gaffney returned to her home in Gaffney, S. C., Saturday after a pleasant visit to her sister, Mrs. J. F. Laney.

Mrs. E. J. McKenzie has purchased a nice house and lot in Charlotte and will probably move to that place next spring.

Rev. M. A. Smith began a meeting in Central church Sunday to continue all the week. Preaching at night and prayer-meeting in the afternoon.

Dr. G. B. Nance has bought the McManus house and lot in southeast Monroe from Mr. Fred L. Wolfe, and is moving into it. The price paid was $2,000.

Mr. E. A. Armfield celebrated his sixty-fourth birthday yesterday by sharing with his friends two boxes of fine Manila cigars which Mr. Tom Cuthbertson, who is in the Philippines, sent him.

Mrs. Rosa Rountree, who has been spending some time in Monroe, has returned to her home in Gaffney, S. C. She was accompanied by her little nephew, J. Francis Laney, Jr.

Mr. W. S. Hemby of Chicago, brother of Mr. Doss Hemby of Indian Trail and Mr. D. J. Hemby of Wardlaw, is visiting his brothers. He has lived in Chicago for a number of years. Mr. Hemby established the old Charlotte Chronicle.

Mr. A. M. Helms of north Monroe township has a cow which a crisp $100 bill wouldn't begin to buy. In ten months and nine days he has sold 202 pounds of butter from her, besides having enough for his family, not less than half a pound a day.

Esq. D. C. Montgomery of Buford made a return last week to Clerk Armfield of fifteen cases, nine of which were for carrying pistols. The magistrates can do much to break up this custom if they will go for the toters like 'Squire Montgomery does.

The mental condition of the wife of Mr. J. R. Baecom of New Salem township was examined by County Physician Blair and Clerk Armfield last week, for the purpose of getting her in as a patient at the hospital at Morganton. Application for entrance was made for her. Mrs. Baecom's mind has been deranged since last March, presumably a result of bad health.

Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson of Monroe and Hon. J. D. McCall of Charlotte spoke at the temperance rally in the opera house Friday night. Mr. Atkinson said that he desired to publicly place himself on record as approving the present conditions in Monroe as effecting prohibition. Little Miss Caroline Biggers and Miss Mamie Lockhart recited a selection each, which they rendered admirably. The meeting was fairly well attended.

Jim Massey, the negro who was reported in last week's Journal as having committed several robberies while on his way home in Sandy Ridge township, went to Providence and continued his rascality. He broke into a house and stole $20 worth of jewelry and went into a negro's house and took more clothes. When persons got after him he stole a horse and went to South Carolina. The horse was captured three miles from Lancaster but the negro escaped.

The Journal stated sometime ago that Mr. J. C. Sikes, Jr., who was recently licensed to practice law, would probably locate in Salisbury. But after investigating the attractions of other places, Mr. Sikes decided to locate in Monroe, and he and Mr. B. L. Stevens have formed a copartnership. They will occupy the former office of Mr. Stevens. Mr. Stevens is well known in the county, both as a lawyer and as a man, and these gentlemen will give careful and competent attention to all business placed in their hands.

Mr. G. W. Hargett—"Uncle George," as his neighbors called him—an old Confederate soldier, died at his home, two miles west of Monroe, last Wednesday. In the war he was a member of Company A, 48th North Carolina Regiment, one of the best in all the Confederate armies. When peace came he took up the hard battle of life again and also proved himself an humble but faithful "soldier of the cross." He was seventy-five years of age. His wife and five sons and daughters survive him.

Miss Mattie Scales has gone to Buford, Cumberland county, to take a position as bookkeeper.

Misses Callie Turner and Lessie Houston and Mrs. J. J. Lindsey spent Sunday in Charlotte. Mrs. Lindsey went to Lileville last night.

Miss Pattie Lee has been elected an assistant teacher in the Monroe Graded School. Miss Lee is well prepared for the position and will make a popular teacher.

Architect Wheeler of Charlotte is in town today to begin making plans for remodeling the Covington residence for Mr. R. A. Morrow.

Rev. J. W. Little reports that he and Rev. Mr. Stough organized a Baptist church at Pineville last Sunday with 29 members, and that nine more joined immediately that the doors were open.

The election for a special school tax in the Trinity district was carried in favor of the school tax. This makes three special tax districts that this township has. Three cheers for old Buford!

Squire J. G. Doster went to Charlotte last week to have a tumor cut from his nose. He came back home and will go back Saturday, requiring two operations to complete the work.

Mr. Sam Hudson and several others who love to hear the "hounds sing," have bought a red fox, which arrived from Missouri this morning, and are preparing to have a race.

Mr. James H. Lee, who was taken so violently ill week before last, came home Saturday night from the hospital in Charlotte. He is yet quite weak, but otherwise all right, and will soon be out.

There will be a street carnival and fair here sometime during October for the benefit of the fire company. The arrangements have not yet been fully completed, but the program will soon be announced.

Dr. Watt Ashcraft will leave Monday for Washington city to take a course in the United States Veterinary College. Dr. Ashcraft has already won distinction in his profession but desires to give himself the very best possible preparation.

We learn from Our Home that the ladies of Marshville are going to have a pie baking contest. While the paper doesn't say so, we presume that there will be prizes for each of the varieties known in Rowan county as "kivered, unkivered and barred."

Mr. M. B. Helms died at the home of his step-father, Mr. W. H. Green, last night of typhoid fever. He had been away from home and took sick in the eastern part of the State, and had been back home but a short time. He was 27 years old and a member of Bethel Methodist church, where the remains were buried today. He was an industrious and good young man.

Mrs. Lucy A. Liles of Peachland, mother of Mrs. M. E. McCauley and Mrs. J. H. Petteway of Monroe, died suddenly Sunday night. She went to bed as usual and was found dead in her bed Monday morning. It is supposed that heart failure was the cause. Mrs. Liles was eighty years old and had been in feeble health a long time. Mrs. Petteway and Mrs. McCauley went down to Peachland yesterday.

Mr. J. D. Helms of Greensboro is in Monroe. He is enthusiastic about the big reunion of native North Carolinians that live in other States, to be held on October 12th and 13th. Among the big ones will be Rev. A. C. Dixon of Boston, who will preach on Sunday; Thos. Dixon, Hoke Smith of Georgia, Hon. Harris Taylor of Alabama, Dr. E. A. Aldeman, and dozens of others. "We are sending out 25,000 communications all over the world to North Carolinians," said Mr. Helms.

Avery Rippey, a darkey of Monroe who has been sojourning out of town since the officers became active against liquor peddlers, came in yesterday and was nabbed by Chief of Police Howie on a warrant for retailing. Avery had on good clothes, and put up $25 in cash and a mortgage on his wife's household goods for his appearance at court. The police say that he has been accustomed to make occasional visits to town and dispose of liquor. Avery is pretty well disgusted with Monroe now, and has said that when he got out of this scrape he would never come to Monroe again or even look at it on the map.

A Cordial Invitation.

Don't forget that a meeting is in progress at the Central Methodist church, and that all Christian workers are invited to attend and co-operate when convenient, and that the general public have a most cordial invitation and welcome to all services. Give us the encouragement of your presence.

M. A. SMITH.

Attention Veterans!

You are all earnestly requested to meet in Monroe on Saturday, Oct. 10th, for the purpose of making arrangements to attend the State reunion. Let all come.

R. V. HODGSON, Commander.

Do You Like the Bitter Taste of Quinine?

Do you like to take pills and capsules? If not, buy Quinol, the only preparation in which quinine sulphate is tasteless. Costs no more than the quinine in powder form. You don't have to prize open the baby's mouth to get him to take it. Children like it but don't cry for it. Prepared and sold by English Drug Co. Price 25c.

SEVERAL PAINFUL ACCIDENTS.

A Boy's Arm Torn Off—Another Boy Breaks Both Arms—Butted Into a Train—Miss Fletcher is Hurt.

Friday and Saturday beat the record for local accidents of a more or less serious nature, resulting in painful hurts to the persons involved. The most serious one was very bad, indeed—a boy's arm was torn to shreds in a gin, necessitating amputation.

On Friday Mr. Frank Presley, who lives above town, came to Shute's Bear Skin gin with cotton. His son, Hannan, fifteen years of age, accompanied him. As the gins were running, the boy, passing one of them, reached out his hand to press down the cotton. The hand was caught and jerked into the saws. The poor lad's cries brought help and the machine was stopped. Dr. Blair was phoned for and hastened to the gin, reaching there before the men had succeeded in getting the arm out. But for the timely arrival of the doctor the boy might have bled to death, but the arm was corded so as to stop the loss of blood. So soon as arrangements could be made, Dr. Blair, with Drs. Stevens and Monroe, cut off the arm near the shoulder. The ten-year-old son of Mr. John Jerome of Wingate fell from a hickory tree Saturday and broke both his arms. Dr. Monroe went down and set the bones of the unfortunate little fellow.

Friday night as one of the trains came in, a negro man who was in a hurry to get on, rushed for the train before it stopped. He caught it on the chin, and was pretty fairly hurt, but not seriously.

A colored hand working on the road near Waxhaw was hurt Friday. A piece of steel splintered from the hammer which he was using and embedded itself in his thigh. Both of these cases were looked after by Dr. Stevens in the absence of Dr. Blair, the regular railroad physician.

On Sunday as Miss Aline Fletcher was coming down the staircase at her home, she slipped and fell. She was carrying a pitcher at the time and this was broken and a piece of it gave her a most painful cut on the arm, and she was also pretty badly bruised.

While Mr. Verne Austin was crossing a foot-log, down on his father's farm in Buford township Friday, his foot slipped and he fell across the log, striking on his right side. While he was not hurt more than a slight jar, the seriousness of the mishap will at once become apparent when it is recollected that he lately underwent an operation for appendicitis, in which his life hung in the balance for days, and he has not yet fully recovered his strength from the effects of it.

A Bad Nigger Captured.

There is no more interesting example of the "bad nigger" in a mild form than John Hough. John was a charter member of the chain gang, and has been on it more or less all the time. Just as quick as one sentence was served he would turn rogue again and get back. He often won the place of trusty, and was quite a useful hand. He has had several long terms, and is now in jail on a charge that is sure to go hard with him. Within a week of the time he got off the gang last winter he and Ole Austin, another charter member, went to the home of Mr. Daniel D. Rogers, an old man who lives alone in Buford township, and robbed him. Suspicion quickly fell on Austin and Hough, and Ole was arrested. When this occurred John happened to be butchering a hog down about the depot, and hearing of it, he "burnt the wind," as Chief Justice Flow expresses it in legal phraseology. Ole was tried, told a straight story about it, and at once became a three-year term on the chain gang for his part.

John's itinerary embraced Atlanta, Charlotte, Rockingham, Albemarle, Kershaw and Chesterfield, where he was captured on a warrant from 'Squire Flow on Friday. As one of the diversions on the trip, John got married in Stanley county, though he has a wife in Monroe.

The circumstances of the robbery, as related by Mr. Rogers and Ole, are these: John and Ole agreed to go to Mr. Rogers' house, after John had hid his hat and shoes in the woods, and beg for money to help him get some shoes, trusting for a chance to rob him. When the old man showed him money, which they expected him to have in considerable quantity, Mr. Rogers says that John grabbed the hand that had the purse and tried to take it, but that he held it until he was dragged across the floor. Capt. Fletcher brought Ole up from the chain gang and he testified against John, who was remanded to jail to await court.

THE COTTON BOLL WEEVIL.

Agricultural Department Desires Information Regarding Its Alleged Appearance in Union.

I am informed that in a recent issue you have printed a report that Mexican Boll-weevil has appeared in Union and Mecklenburg counties. As this is a very important matter, I venture to ask you the source of the report? Can you give me the exact name and address of the author? My object is to find out positively whether or not the report is accurate. If it is true, then it should be known at once, and if it is not, then it should be denied at once. This insect is the cause of such alarm in all parts of the cotton belt at this time, that it is a very serious matter to publish unfounded rumors concerning it, or the reports of men not competent to identify such pests with certainty. So far as I have yet learned from entirely reliable sources, the insect is only known at the present time, in certain limited areas (in the United States) in Texas and Louisiana. I do not believe that it is present in this State, and I also do not believe that it will appear here for several years to come, though there is every indication that it will eventually spread throughout the cotton belt. In order to make the matter certain, however, I wish to secure specimens of what is suspected to be this insect, and hope that some of your subscribers will aid me in determining the facts in the case.

Persons desiring positive and accurate information concerning insects may obtain it by sending specimens to this office, together with a statement of the damage it is thought to do. That is just what I am here for,—to give out all available information on the matter of insects, and the best known methods of controlling them. Very truly yours,

FRANKLIN SHERMAN, JR., Entomologist, Department Agriculture, Raleigh, N. C., September 26th.

[Our readers will recall that we stated that Mr. O. P. Wimberly of Lanes Creek and Mr. Jas. Mann, who lives in Stanley, both of which gentlemen have lived in Texas, had said that they believed that they had encountered the boll weevil this year. Prof. Sherman, Jr., needn't get his back up about "unfounded rumors." The direct opinion of men who have lived in Texas and encountered the insect there is what we published. It might be possible for this pest to come into North Carolina without Prof. Sherman's knowledge; or consent.—The Journal.]

Altan's Ball Record—Other News From Buford.

Altan, Sept. 26.—Mr. John W. Belk of this place and Miss Rhodie McCaskill of Wingate were married the 22nd inst., at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Geo. W. Atkinson of Monroe performed the ceremony. After the ceremony and dinner, the bride, groom and attendants filed in procession to the home of the groom's parents, where was waiting a merry party and sumptuous feast. All was jollity and gaiety to a touch and finish. We extend congratulations and best wishes to the happy and popular couple.

The Altan boys of Union and the Dudley boys of Chesterfield crossed bats last Saturday. The Altan boys batted Dudley out of sight and had a run over of 12 to 6 in favor of Altan on the back of the Chesterfield boys winning over the champions of Lancaster. Altan had her own full team, composed of four of the Belk brothers, three of the Funderburk brothers, Will Flyler and Joe Bruce. Altan batted off two batters, three batters and one home run, while Dudley got but two or three hits. However, Dudley has a right clever team and deserves credit; but Altan had her good eye and too much muscle for the Chesterfield boys. Altan has lost but one game of the season: against Wingate, but had not her own full team to Altan's regret.

Messrs. Will and Hogan Belk and Luther Laney ran down to Wilmington on the excursion and report a good time.

Mr. Clayton Laney has accepted a position with Lee & Lee in Monroe.

Mr. Walter Belk has resumed his old position in A. Levy's store. Mr. Patterson Belk and family will soon move to Marion, N. C., to seek advantage of the Elhanan School.

Mr. James Edwards will occupy the Belk residence immediately on their departure.

Rev. Andrew C. Baker is speaking of returning to Altan.

Miss Etta Belk has returned to the Asheville school, where she graduates this year.

Mr. Thurlow Belk, after a visit to his sister, Mrs. John T. Laney of Rock Hill, S. C., stopped over in Lancaster—on his way here—for examination, where he secured a high first grade certificate, and has now returned to South Carolina, where he takes up school again.

Miss Jessie Edwards, who has been teaching in South Carolina and will soon resume like work in the Palmetto State, made a pleasant visit to friends here last week.

Mr. Jere C. Laney, our juvenile "guy," is still in the chicken, geese, turkey and peacock business.

Yes, and we are going to have a high school. Three cheers for the red, white and blue! And success to our popular editor. Onward and upward!

What is Life? In the last analysis nobody knows, but we do know that it is under strict law. Abuse that law even slightly, pain results. Irregular living means derangement of the organs, resulting in Constipation, Headache or Liver Trouble. Dr. King's New Life Pills quickly re-adjusts this. It's gentle, yet thorough. Only 25c. at English Drug Co's.

NINE LIVES LOST.

A Whole Train on the Southern Road Plunges Over a Seventy-Five-Foot Trestle.

No. 97, the Southern's fast mail train between New York and New Orleans, plunged over a trestle north of Danville, Va., Sunday afternoon, killing nine men, injuring seven others and completely wrecking an engine, three mail cars and one express car.

J. L. Thompson of Washington, W. S. Chambers of Midland, Va., D. P. Flory of Bakerville, Va., and R. P. Orge-wright of Mt. Clinton, Va., all mail clerks, were killed. Seven other mail clerks were injured. J. T. Blair, conductor, of Spencer, A. G. Clapp, fireman, of Greensboro, S. J. Moody, fireman, of Raleigh, and J. A. Broady, engineer, of Placerville, Va., were killed, also a 12-year-old son of Mail Clerk Thompson.

It is said that this is the first time that Engineer Broady ever ran a mail train, and the supposition is that he was running too fast and was not entirely familiar with his road-bed.

The wreck occurred on a steep grade, the latter embracing the trestle, which is in the shape of the letter "S." The train was probably running at a rate of between 50 and 60 miles an hour when the engine left the track. The train ran some distance on the cross-ties, plunging over the trestle at a tangent, when the engine was about half way across.

The engine and all of the cars fell 75 feet to the water below. The last car tore up a considerable section of the trestle. The engine struck and was buried in the bed of the creek. The cars piled on top of the engine, all of them being split into kindling wood. The engineer was found some little distance from his cab, horribly mangled and dead.

The train carried nothing but mail and express. The mail was not much damaged, considering the extent of the wreck. Some loose registered letters and the valuables of the dead men have been recovered. The express matter was considerably injured.

Among the express consignments were a number of crates containing canary birds. The birds were not hurt and were singing when taken from the wrecked cars.

Two small boys, names unknown, were playing under the trestle when the wreck occurred. They were thrown down and injured, but not seriously.

A woman, in a delicate condition of health, witnessed the wreck from her chamber window. She fell to the floor, unconscious and it is not believed that she will live.

A Runaway that Didn't Pan Out.

Reported for The Journal.

In the Collins neighborhood, in Lanes Creek township, the boys are cracking their sides over a practical and intensely personal joke played on one of the love-sick fellows of the neighborhood. He had been "settin' up regular" to a girl for some time, but didn't have the courage to put the question, so he called in two friends to help him. They agreed to call on the girl and induce her to meet the boy on Wednesday night at a certain place and go to 'Squire Mangum's in South Carolina and be married. Instead of speaking to the girl, they spoke to another boy and fixed up a plan to play a joke upon the love-sick fellow. The third boy was dressed up in woman's clothing and drilled in the art of playing the part of a bashful maiden. About this time the parents of the girl were put onto the joke and agreed to kick up an all round fuss at the proper time.

The would-be groom was on time at the trying place, accompanied by his father, and was soon joined by the two friends with the third boy dressed up as the girl. The masculine bride was assisted into the buggy with care, and the happy groom-elect whipped up and started for South Carolina in a dash, as the parents of the real girl began to "raise Cain" about the house, pretending that their daughter had escaped them. "Oh, you kin holler now," said the happy fellow. "You 'tain't so good, I've got her." And in the joy of his new possession, he put his arm around "her," and his happiness grew and grew, and he crossed harder and harder—and found that she had on suspenders. Meanwhile the old man had gone to go to South Carolina and witness the marriage. "Dinged if my boy hain't stole a gal, Fr I helped put her in the buggy," he said. But as he started for the Palmetto State, he met his disgusted son coming back in disappointment but in an amiable frame of mind.
