

CORRESPONDENCE.

J. S. BUTCHER, Blackwell, Okla.—I got my first paper a short time ago, and sure am pleased with your way of teaching the Scriptures. And the wife's page to a Brother in Babylon is sure good. So I felt it my duty to help the good work along, so I picked up a few subscribers yesterday, and will now turn them over to you. I will put their names and addresses on another sheet, and hope you will get them all right.

G. C. BARNES, R. 7, Winston-Salem, N. C.—I have just been reading your paper called The Fool-Killer, and like it very much, and am sending you a club of four at 25 cents each. Please send us the paper for one year. You might also send me some sample copies.

WM. T. YEAGER, Export, Pa.—Enclosed find $2.25 for which you will please enter the accompanying names on your list, and extend my subscription another year. Just give them the best you have in the shop, and I will send you some more in the near future.

JOHN M. DENNY, Wirt, Okla.—Dear Sir, Comrade, Brother, Friend and Fellow Worker.—I have been reading your good paper for some time and I appreciate your efforts along the line of better things for humanity. So I am enclosing you one dollar for four yearly subscriptions. Yours for all humanity.

H. S. JACOBS, R.7, Pine Bluff, Ark.—This is the third year I am subscribing for your paper. I like your doctrine very well. I always try to get those people who have never read your paper on my clubs, so all may hear of your dope and begin to think. Enclosed find $1.50 for which send The Fool-Killer one year to each address on separate sheet.

C. B. CLAYTON, 212 E. Bath St., Covington, W. Va.—Enclosed find check for $1.50 for which send The Fool-Killer to this list for one year. This is a group of mechanists with whom I work, and who were interested in your views on the labor question, etc., seen in a copy of The Fool-Killer and passed among them. Best wishes for your success.

B. T. WHITE, R3, Warren, Ark.—Enclosed find check for one dollar which is to pay for four subs to The Fool-Killer. I happened to have one and carried it up to the mill where I was working to let a fellow-worker see it, and the result was that those fellows began handing me the quarters saying, "Here, will you have The Fool-Killer sent to me?" I said, "I am not an agent for it, but I will send in your subs." One copy is well worth the price of a year's subscription.

G. W. CUMBUS, 720 Chase St., Athens, Ga.—We have in Athens, Georgia, some near-fools that need to be killed, and that is why we are calling on The Fool-Killer man again. Here is a list of fools we want you to kill just as quick as you can by sending your paper to them for one year. And I want you to do the work jam-up and be sure you do not quit when it is just half done.

M. V. TANNER, Milledgeville, Ga. I have read your January issue. It is a fine paper. Just one eye open and half-thinking ought to make a smash on every reader. So I would like some sample copies. If convenient send several. I promise, the Lord willing, to place them and take them up and replace them two or three times. Yours in the One Hope.

REV. W. J. DAVIS, Box 242, Ozark, Ark.—Check enclosed herewith for $4.00 for these 16 subs. And more to follow. I like your paper for the truth it contains, and for the Christian spirit and the unique way you say things, also the name of your paper—all these things attract attention and whet the appetite for the next issue.

G. W. MADDOX, R3, Hoschton, Ga.—Enclosed find one dollar for four subs. I have been reading your paper for some time and like it fine. Please send me a few sample copies—I want to start your paper in this country. Hurrah for you! Keep the good work going.

SALLIE ADAIR, Havana, Ark.—Enclosed find one dollar and a list of subscribers. I like your little paper fine. It is the best medicine I have found for the blues. I like the way you have of telling the truth, and there is not anything we need worse than the truth.

W. B. ANDERSON, Rt. B, Box 113, Lake City, Fla.—I like your paper fine. I think it is just full of truths. Would be glad if everybody in the whole world could get just one copy, at least. It would do the world good. Please send me a few sample copies and I think I can send some clubs.

E. N. HANEY, Gore, Okla.—Please change my paper from Spiro, Okla., to Gore, Okla., as I don't want to miss any of that dope you peddle, as I am just like you—I don't believe in eternal torment or going to heaven when I die. I believe it means just what it says. My Bible tells me this earth will be the home of the saved, and that is what I am looking for—my King and His Kingdom—and God speed the time, is my prayer.

DR. M. S. STOUGH, Dothan, Ala.—Enclosed find check for $1.75, for which please send Fool-Killer for one year to the enclosed club of seven. You are getting better in the truth with every issue.

P. H. HOOKER, Box 146, Townley, Ala.—You will please send The Fool-Killer to the accompanying four addresses, for which you will find enclosed one dollar. Please put these names on your list at once, as they are rock-ribbed believers in your little Fool-Killer. Yours for the cause of humanity.

Slowly but steadily the world is learning a little sense about Russia. A little dribble of truth is beginning to seep through the big dam of lies that the plutes have built around Russia. Yes, honey, I know that last expression sounds sorter like "dam lie," but I didn't use it as a cuss word. So don't you go off and say that Pearson cussed.

JOSEPH AND HOOVER

I have been contending all the time that the United States of America is in some sort of sense the anti-type of Joseph, the Dreamer. In fact, it seems reasonable to me that the main body of our people—although indeed a very mixed population—may be direct lineal descendants of Joseph.

If you will just read in Genesis where Jacob in his old age blessed the two sons of Joseph, and also where he spoke to all of his own sons together, telling them what would happen in the last days, you may get a new idea about Joseph.

You remember Joseph had two sons named Ephraim and Manassah, and Manassah was the firstborn. But when old man Jacob went to give them his blessing he put his right hand on the head of Ephraim, the younger, and his left hand on the head of Manasseh, the firstborn. And when Joseph called Jacob's attention to the fact that Manasseh was the older and tried to make him change his hands, he refused to do it, saying:

"I know it, my son, I know it. He also shall become a people, and he also shall be great; but truly his younger brother shall be greater than he, and his seed shall become a multitude of nations."—Genesis 48:19.

And then a little further along in chapter 49, where Jacob is "telling the fortunes" of his boys, as you might say, we read:

"Joseph is a fruitful bough, even a fruitful bough by a well, whose branches run over the wall."—Gen. 49:22.

We see that both of Joseph's boys were to be great, but Ephraim was to be the greater, and was to become "a multitude of nations."

What about that multitude of nations? Who are they and where are they? It certainly does not mean the Jews, because they didn't come from Joseph at all—they came from Judah. And the Jews are only one nation, anyhow, and not a very big one at that. I can't get away from the notion that there must be several great nations in the world today who are of the seed of Joseph. And we would naturally expect the greatest of the Joseph nations to be the seed of Ephraim. What nation could that be except the United States, which is admittedly the greatest nation in the world today?

Remember, again, that Joseph is a fruitful bough, even a fruitful bough by a well whose branches run over the wall. A well carries with it the idea of water, and the "wall" might be the Atlantic or Pacific ocean. Anyway, Joseph's branches were to spread out—run over the wall—and produce fruit in some other part of the world.

I find so many things in the history of the United States that correspond to the history of Joseph that I am just about certain there is a connection between the two. It would make this article too long to enumerate all the similarities I have in mind. But, for one thing, Joseph was sent away into a foreign land, where he became great and was used as an agency for feeding the world in a time of great food shortage. He was the Herbert Hoover of that time.

And now, during the war and since the war, the United States has had to practically feed the world. And the one man in the United States who has done more than any other man to keep the world from starving is Herbert Hoover.

It may be more than just an accident that Herbert Hoover is now being looked to from all sides as the man best fitted to be our next president. And it may mean something, also, that he has no politics, so far as anybody can discover. Both Democrats and Republicans are talking about nominating him. It is even suggested that he may be nominated by both parties, which would be a new thing in American politics.

Joseph became very wealthy after he became governor of Egypt. The United States is the richest nation in the world—corresponding to the Egypt of Joseph's time—and Hoover is a multi-millionaire and a long-headed business man.

And, last of all, looky here how these words correspond as to number of letters:

DREAMER JOSEPH
HERBERT HOOVER

That fact may not mean anything—but—but—well, form your own conclusions.

TOM WATSON.

Thomas E. Watson, the red-headed cyclone of Georgia, is coming around. He is a "red" from away up the creek, although the red is now somewhat mixed with gray.

I remember a few years ago Tom used to cuss out the Socialists with every cuss-word he could lay his tongue to. But during the war he got a dose of persecution and suppression himself and learned what it tasted like, and now he knows how to sympathize with Debs and the other victims of our patriotic American Kaiserism. Tom is now demanding in words that fairly sizzle that Debs be turned out of prison. About the next crack out of the box he will be offering to vote for him. Tom is all wool, a yard wide and a foot thick.

The Great Goggle-Eyed Elick! Here is another "rich bull" from Herbert Hoover. Still discussing the Russian situation, he contends that the Russian people have no money to buy anything with, and that nobody is going to give them credit, and he sees where the whole Soviet government is going to collapse in a few days. And then right in the next breath he says this: "One thing that needs to be guarded against in the United States is that our frontier and port officers must redouble their vigor against the export to us of Bolshevik agents, propaganda, and MONEY to create revolution." Opened his mouth and put his foot in it just as nice as you ever saw. Since I wrote my piece about "Joseph and Hoover" I am about getting ready to take it all back. I am afraid Hoover is going to turn out to be a tolerable bum-sort of a Joseph, after all.

Jesus said that he came to purchase immortality for such as would believe on him. But the popular creeds say that Jesus didn't know what he was talking about, because everybody are naturally immortal anyhow and don't need any help from Jesus to keep them from dying. That is the devil's theology. He made it in his own work-shop, and if you will examine it right carefully you will find the print of his old claws on it.
