

Carolina's Fame Abroad.

The following clipping from a recent editorial in the Richmond Times-Dispatch shows how much North Carolina is being praised and advertised for its good roads program:

News comes from Charlestown that West Virginia, to the west, through its Legislature called in extra session for that purpose, has voted an issue of bonds in the sum of $50,000,000 for the building of good roads. To the south, North Carolina recently issued bonds in a similar amount that it might lift itself out of the mud. To the north, Maryland, already known as a good roads state, is spending millions of dollars each year in the construction and maintenance of highways that are a joy to the traveler after crossing the boundary from the Virginia mud-holes that are called roads only through courtesy.

Already North Carolina is receiving advertising throughout the length and breadth of the country by reason of its progressive action, which is bringing in new industries, fresh capital and added inhabitants. It is not beyond reason to believe that before it has laid a mile of road out of the newly available funds it will have received in advertising dividends a large percentage of its roads investment. The same promises to be true of West Virginia. It has proved true of Maryland. It is true of every other state that has let it be known to the world that its emergence from the mud stage has been decreed. — Lexington Dispatch.

Half Holiday

Does this town need a half-holiday? No hell-o, I am facing starvation as it is. Well, say old Mutt, if that really is the case why not try something that will help to put "pep", "energy", "new enthusiasm", not only in your own business, but the entire town will take on new life and energy.

If you can imagine next Monday morning how much joy and pleasure you would bring to your family and friends if you just could say, "let everybody get busy we are going to have Thursday afternoon off."

Go fishing, picnicing, take an auto spin into the country, go to the ball game, play a game of tennis, and then go down to your place of business and break the news gently to your employees and see them go after things with a quick step and a happy and radiant heart, bringing back into your business some of the old time "pep".

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to offer my sincere thanks to the members of Birchwood Camp, W. O. W. for the present of a wrist watch and bracelet made to me on last Monday night.

Gertrude Bray.

First Woman Journalist.

Mrs. Anne Royall, born in Maryland, in 1780, was not only the first woman journalist, but the first of her sex to own and edit a newspaper. She was the widow of a Virginia revolutionary war officer, and appeared in Washington in 1824 for the purpose of trying to secure a government pension. Failing in this, she started a small weekly sheet which was first called the "Washington Paul Fry" and later the "Huntress." She had met personally and talked with every president from Washington to Lincoln, and was the terror of politicians.

Frugality.

Frugality has ever been esteemed a virtue as well among pagans as Christians; there have been even heroes who practiced it. However, we must acknowledge that it is too modest a virtue, or, if you will, too objectionable one to be essential to heroism; few heroes have been able to attain to such a height. Frugality seems much better with politics; it seems to be the base, the support, and, in a word, the inseparable companion of a just administration. — Oliver Goldsmith.

BALLAD ON BOOZE

Halifax is filled with prohibition news, But still you can get it, any kind you choose; Especially monkey-rum and corn, But if Jackson stays on it will all soon be gone.

You can buy it on the mountain tops

Far away from all the cops,

Or you can buy it on the street,

Where the cops daily beat;

Or you can buy it on the hill

Hot! just from the still,

Or you can buy it on the road

Served from dipper, glass or gourd.

But there's one thing prohibition will do, is

Knock our State of Revenue.

It has given many easy positions,

Paid many large commissions,

Walking around all dressed up

Looking for a place to sell a quart.

It has made many men law-breakers,

Who will have to answer to their Makers,

But you can make sure of my advice

There will be some booze as long as there's a price.

Ice Cream

The Children's Delight

The best way to gain a child's affection is to treat with ice cream.

Candy has its attractions, but does not carry half as much weight with the youngsters these hot days as does a dish of delicious ice cream.

Of course, it must be pure and of the best ingredients. To make sure of those qualities, order it from.
