Bob McBride, of the Mitchell Mail has been appointed a member of the democratic congressional committee as a representative of Dakota.

A congressman writes that it is well understood in Washington and not denied among democrats that Springer was the author of the Aberdeen convention. Democratic partisans there smile over it and call it a sharp practice.

The city council last evening adopted the report of the committee on sewers and instructed the committee to proceed to perfect a system of sewerage. This is a move in the right direction. The intentions of our admirable water system will now be carried out and the health of the city greatly improved.

The application for an electric light ranchise was referred to a council committee with instructions to report at a special meeting. This, it is hoped, insures an early and favorable response to the request of the electric light company. The material is on the ground and the company is ready to go to work.

Edward G. Spillman, who has been nominated register of the land office at Devils Lake in place of Henry G. Lord, is from Rapid City. He is an attorney there and a brother of L. T. Spillman, who married ex-Senator Cameron's daughter. This does not appear to be a Church appointment. Spillman was backed by M. H. Day and Ex-Governor

There is no political issue in local matters this spring. There is no prohibition issue and no anti-prohibition issue. We are getting along well enough politically and morally. The only issue is a business issue. We need to place the progressive business element again in the front and to keep them there until the problem of the future is solved. The past year has been a good one for Yank-

The Mitchell Republican has made a thorough canvass of the south-half of Dakots in pursuit of accurate information relative to loss of life by the blizzard of January 12th and is enabled to present the following official figures: Total number of counties heard

General Sheridan, being formally interviewed upon the subject, by an associated press reporter, stated positively that he would not accept a nomination has given us perhaps more law than we to the presidency if tendered—that he need. It has relieved us of one law we did not want that office or any other did not want. It has abolished the did not want that office or any other did not want. It has abounded the civil office—that nothing would induce apital removal law, and it has wisely foreborne to supply a substitute. That famous law that corrupted forty years of his life had been devoted.

"So," said General Sheridan, "all talk about my being a candidate may as well end." The associated press agent was still persistent and he continued—

"But suppose the republican conven—tion should——"

Gen. Sheridan—Nominate me? 1 would not accept. But there is not the slightest probability of being nominated and, in any event, I would not accept. No, not under any circumstances. I do not want that or any other civil office. This closed the interview and the answer of the lieutenant general seems decisive. He occupies the highest attainable position as a military man and his ambition is satisfied. Like General of the Dawes bill. A meeting was held a situation may injure a few wire pullers, "workers" of legislatures and manufactures of existing difficulties, in which ment of existing difficulties, in which Senator Dawes, J. H. King, Frank Pettigraw, Delegate Gifford and one or two others, friends of the Stoux bill, it such lasting benefit:

Were participants. It was hoped, by a fair discussion of the question, to come Pettigraw, Delegate Gifford and one or fair discussion of the question, to come

Dawes agreeing to slow the insertion in jubilant nature, owing to the prospect his hill of a clause appropriating for the completion of railroad constructions. his bill of a clause appropriating a large sum of money for a cash annuity to be used in securing from the Indians a relinquishment of their right to the lands. The proposition was merely discussed and no action was merely discussed and no action was and through the natural gap into the taken, the purpose of Messrs. King and Black Hills, which leads through extenPettigraw being to ascertain how far See marble quarries and to immense tim deposits. Rumor says that a B. & M. Senator Dawes would go in the direction of a compromise. Mr. Dawes would not consent to relinquish his submission clause. The proposition will be laid before the members of the house committee on Indian affairs and if it be thought prudent, it will be adopted. Delegate Gifford is not pleased with the arrangement, he believing that the Peel bill, as reported, can be put through the house, and if not through the senate that the of the agreement of 1882. There is now a probability that Congressman Baker's bill for the division of Dakota and the admission into the union of the south half will pass the house of representatives. Once through that body its success is assured, as the senate stands ready to accept it, Congressman Cox, of New York, democrat, has openly declared his purpose to favor the Baker bill and oppose the Springer measure for the admission of Dakota as one state along with Montana, Washington and New Mexico. Congressman Cox rises above party prejudices and indorses the cause of Dakota because he is convinced that it is right and that division has the endorsement of a large majority of the people. Mr. Cox gives to the country an example to be applauded and emulated by the members of both parties. Another democrat-Congressman McShane, of Nebraska-has made himself illustrious by seconding the deciarations of Congressman Cox and are two strong and influential men in congress and it is probable that they will secure from the 168 democrats of the house enough followers to give to the Baker bill a majorit . The house consists of 168 democra. 153 republicans and four independ ... The Jemocrate have been counted solidly against division and the republicans and independents-157-solidly for division. To carry the division measure twelve democratic votes are needed. Two have been secured and only ten more are needed. If Mr. Cox follows vigorously his determination to fight the Springer measure he will secure the needed votes. He resigned his place on the committee on territories for this purpose. Dakota's division chances have largely improved. Where are Ordway Johnson and his disciples?

NO CAPITAL. The Dakota Compilers Leave the Beat of Government Unprovided for. Yankton correspondence St. Paul Good Results in Every ase. Pioneer Press: Where is the capital? The commissioners authorized by the last legislature to frame out of existing seriously afflicted with a severe cold that legislation the general laws of the terri-tory have finished their work, and pub-lished it to the world. The commission has supplemented the whole with a copious, if not a helpful index. It has omitted the laws it decided were repealed; it has patched up the laws it thought were modified. Mustering up courage to go through the vast volume section by section, you will find no provision for a seat of government, no designation of a place for the capitol. Foxes have holes and birds of the air have nests, but the government of Dakota has not where to lay its head. It may have been the purpose of the commissioners to abroberman he has no political yearning.

This being the unalterable conclusion of General Sheridan, republican sentiment will now crystallize about Senator Sherman, the most available man within the party—the strongest republican in the south and the strongest republican in New York.

The Sioux reservation matter still presents irreconcilable obstacles. As presents irreconcilable obstacles. As there are now stands Mr. Dawes is unalterably opposed to the Peel bill, which has been reported in the house committee is as prongly option.
