He was one of the first to respond to the call for troops from Michigan, joining company C, Second Michigan, garalay. He reads. Second Michigan cavalry. He made a most glorious military record, participating in sixty-six battles under Sheridan and Custer, becoming, successively, major, lieutenant colonel and colonel, and on his ent on account of ill health was breveted brigadier general for "gallant and meritorious service in the field." He settled in Detroit and became one of the most extensive lumber operators in the state, amassing a fortune of over $3,000,-000. He was elected governor in 1884. and declined a re-election.

George Frisbie Hoar was born at Concord, Mass., Aug. 29, 1826, and has always resided in the state. He graduated from Harvard in 1846, graduated from Harvard Law school later and began practicing at the house of the Belknap impeachment trial in 1876. He is an honored member of several historical and scientific socie-, and has received the degree of L. D. from William and Mary, Amerst, Yale and Harvard.

William McKinley, Jr., of Ohio, was born at Niles, in that state, Feb. 26, 1844. He was attending the public school at Niles when the war broke out, and although under the stipulated age he succeeded in enlisting and passing examina-tion. He rose radually from the ranks, through succesto the captaincy of his company, and when mus-tered out was brevet major. He then studied law, was admitted to the bar and was prosecuting attorney of Stark county rom 1869 to 1871. He was first elected to the Forty-fifth congress and has served the Seventeenth district of Ohio steadily in that branch ever since. Mr. McKinley is no congressional "wall flower." He has been one of the most active and efficient members and has held several Important chairmanships. He was one of the Republican members of the ways and means sub-committee on the tariff, and was the author of the famous minority report which so scathingly criticised the provisions of the bill and the majority's methods in making it up.

William Pierce Frye, of Maine, was born in Lewiston in that state, Sept. 2, 1830; graduated at Bowdoin in 1850; studied law, was admitted to the bar and began practice at Rockland, but after a few years moved to Lewiston, where he has since resided. He served in the state legislature from 1861 to 1867, was elector on the Lin-

Why the Numbers are Changed.

The hotel clerk finds many curion people. If at some time there has been saidle in one of the rooms, the first day of the clerk is to see to it that the newspaper reporter does not get the number of And if he should, the number is changed at the hotel as quickly as posable. The reason for this is that the average arrival who is posted on the suicide invariably asks the clerk what room it occurred in and follows the inquiry with the remark that he "doesn't want that room." There is hardly a first class hotel in Chicago that hasn't had some sort of tragedy, and the clerks are never sup-posed to know what room they occurred in.—Chicago Mail.
