THE BIGGEST! THE BEST!

I mean my assortment of Plows and Harrows. I have three makes of Plows, in every style, that are unequalled by any others. As for Harrows, I am general agent for western Connecticut for the Morgan Spading Harrow, which is THE Harrow. They thoroughly pulverize the soil to any desired depth, leaving it smooth and light. I have a large stock of both Plows and Harrows.

The Deerfield Steel Harness I have sold for years and my customers have found them to be just what I claim: that they are light, hardy, durable and one of the best things for farm work.

The Ward Weeder will soon pay for itself and is a great work saver, while it will not injure the plants; and the Corn Planters I sell are a real necessity as are also the Markers and Covers. All the above are economizers of time and money.

The Artesian Well business is booming and I shall be glad to confer or correspond with any desirous of increasing their water supply.

A WORD FROM MR. BALDWIN.
Editor THE NEWTOWN BEE: Oliver Gunn informs me that there is a general impression that I wrote the article containing the numerous errors in regard to the aged people in the town of Washington. As I have not been a regular correspondent of any paper for a number of years, and do not remember to have written anything for any local paper for over two years, except for my own name or initials, it is hardly pleasant to have the errors and mistakes of others imputed to me. So if you will kindly request the friends once more through the medium of your valuable paper, not to impute anything to me that does not appear upon my own signature—as this is a rule I adopt for two years ago, on this very account—you will greatly oblige me who does not want to be held responsible for the errors of others.—[A.
S. Baldwin.] The article containing the errors alluded to by Mr. Gunn did not appear in THE BEE.—[Editor.]

BURGLARS IN TOWN.
A band of burglars entered our town, Monday night, and blew open the two safes in Ford Seeley's hardware store, getting from one safe about $125 and nothing of account in the other. The Town hall was then entered and the old safe was blown open and instead of money they only found bottles of whiskey. As this is a strong no license town it is not supposed that this was town property. The band were doubtless the same that blew open the safe in Goshen on Sunday night.

THE HENS GETTING DOWN TO BUSINESS.
Those hens which would not lay an egg in early winter have, now that the market is down, just dropped right onto business, one of them laying an egg with two yolks, measuring seven and three quarters by six inches, and two or three days after, another egg seven and seven eighths by six and one eighth.
That is laying four eggs in two days.

GRANGE ITEMS.
The evening of Arbor day, May 3, will be devoted to the interest of the children. The program will consist of recitations, songs, piano solos by the children and a few comic magic freaks for their amusement. All members are requested to bring their children.

PLANS FOR NEW DEPOT IN HANDS OF SUPERINTENDENT.
It is understood that the plans for the new depot are in the hands of Superintendent Martin.

Mr. Vanlogan is having built many rods of rustic cedar fence about his place of a fancy style, adopted some time ago.
The work is done under the supervision of his efficient superintendent, Mr. Carson.

It is generally understood that A. G.
Baker will not rebuild his block. It is expected that Merchant W. A. Watts will take the property and build. Mr.
Watts has been engaged in business here for many years, and has the confidence of the people. He is regarded as a safe and progressive business man, is popular with the people, who sincerely hope he may go ahead should the former proprietors decide not to rebuild. Messrs.
Baker & Brinmude built up a fine business here, which has been well sustained by Mr. Watts.

August Hoyt, the veteran hat man, paid one of his customary visits to town, last week. Mr. Hoyt has been in the hat trade for 35 years, and can be looked for at about such a time. He is as regular as a clock.

Arthur C. Titus and men have been engaged in painting the residence of Dr.
Ford, which is now being decked in light colors. Mr. Titus will soon begin on the residence of Mr. Vanlogan. He has already given the new barn of Mr. Wade a handsome dress of red. Mr.
Titus is well qualified to step into the business of his lamented father, having worked with him more or less since he was 10.

Maj. Kingman, one of our popular representatives to the Great and General Court, got ahead of Arbor day, this year.
He was engaged on Friday, assisted by Mr. Meramie, in planting a tree in the little triangle opposite his house. Maj.
Kingman is constantly beautifying his place, and conducts a village improvement society on his own account.

Rev. Mr. Fair, the popular pastor of the Swedish Lutheran church, visited Hartford on Monday, Stamford on Tuesday, and Danbury on Wednesday.

Gregory Bryan and his mother of Bridgeport came up on Monday evening to spend a little time at the old homestead.

Miss Lena Penn, who has been in the city for a few weeks, arrived home, Monday evening, and will take up her kindergarten school again.

William Watts has commenced in earnest excavating the old cellar, preparatory to putting up a new store on the same ground as the former one.

A. G. Baker and family are again happily settled in their own home and welcomed by all.

William H. Gibson and R. S. Barnes have opened their houses for the summer.

Miss Evie Kingman is in Bridgeport for a few days to attend the wedding of a friend.

on the Ridge, this week.

Mrs. E. G. Clark spent last week in Litchfield with her son, North Clark.

Dr. Sylvester, the popular dentist in Litchfield, hopes to spend one day in a week in rooms at Washington Green.

Maj. Kingman (in behalf of E. G.
Clark) presented an entire set of Masonic working tools to the lodge here, made entirely by Mr. Clark evenings, with a handsome box for their keeping. As their tools were burned in the late fire they were appreciated. Mr.
Clark being too modest to reply, Frank Kilbourn and Mr. Beardsley came to his aid. There were rods for the deacons and stewards, triangle, gavel, gauge, square, plumb, level, rule and trowel made of fine red cedar or polished brass.

Mrs. Seabury had a chicken hatch out of a common egg in appearance, which had four perfect legs. Back of the two natural ones was a second back bone with two perfect legs. It did not live but a day or two.

Mrs. C. T. Woodruff and daughter, Nellie, returned from Naugatuck, last Thursday.

Chicken pox has broken out in South street among the school children and it is reported measles are in eruption in the Center school.

Mrs. Emma Holmes of Hotchkissville was at her sister's, Mrs. William Buckingham's, last week.

ROXBURY.
LEANDER PALMER'S BARN BURNED.
The thunder shower of last week Thursday did quite an amount of damage. Lightning struck and burned the barn and sheds of Leander Palmer on Botsford Hill, together with one horse, wagons, sleigh, mowing machine and other things. Another horse was badly injured so that it is not known whether he will be of any value to Mr. Palmer or not.

"ROUND THE STATION."
Miss Alice Warner is visiting her sister, Mrs. Allen Joyce.
Born, April 24, a son to Mr. and Mrs. T.
E. Mower.

A social dance was held at O. S. Tyrell's hall by the young people, last Friday night. The music was furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Platt and child of Bethel spent Sunday with Mr. Booth.
Charles Warner of Winsted was in town, last week.

Mrs. Mallory passed away after a long illness, Sunday, April 28.
Mrs. William Newton spent Sunday in Danbury.

THE PAINTER HILL DISTRICT.
C. R. Hurd sold 11 cows to Dwight Atwood of Middlebury, last week.
The thirteenth of May, Mr. and Mrs. J.
H. Leavenworth.
George Brown attended the funeral of his father, last week.

Samuel Patterson has a new horse, purchased of William Warner.
Mrs. William Murphy has been dressmaking for Mrs. George Rice.
John Murphy will remain at the old farm.

Mrs. Thomas O'Brien has been quite poorly, but is now able to go out driving.
Mrs. John Roswell has been feeble but is now improving.

On Monday morning, April 22, Carriage Painter Sherman, having become dissatisfied with the small amount of work he received here, took his belongings and moved to Newtown.
Horace Squires has quite improved in the past few days. It looks now as if he would regain his usual health.

The wedding of Thursday and Friday caught quite a cold on Saturday and Sunday, so much so that closed doors and good fires were necessary.

George E. R. Hunt, our Center butcher, is nursing a much swollen and inflamed hand. It began as a small pimple on one of his fingers. He finds it rather unpleasant to devote his whole time to his care at this season of the year.

Mrs. M. L. Beardsley has entertained a celebrity from Old Saybrook.
Mr. and Mrs. William Welton and little daughter visited at M. L. Beardsley's one day last week.

Mrs. M. L. Beardsley entertained Mrs.
Phileas Warner and Mrs. Will Wells of Bridgeport, one day last week.
Rev. Mr. Vaughn exchanged with Rev.
Mr. Freeman of Woodbury, last Sunday.

NEW PRESTON.
THE VILLAGE CHURCH.
The theme of Rev. E. Evans' sermon at the Village church, last Sunday morning was "The Tongue, its power and control." Its fire and truth in this village, though he admitted the same member has a powerful aid for good and benefit to all mankind when rightly used.

Several candidates were mentioned for admission to the church at its next communion service, which will be on the morning of May 12.

Mrs. P. R. King of New York City was at P. S. C. Goodhue's residence at Arrow Point, last Sunday, April 21. He is intending superintending the repairs to be made on Goodhue's residence before July or before her return from Europe.

Trout fishing, last month in this village, was thoroughly enjoyed by the anglers. Horace N. Sherman and son one day brought home the finest string of 17 fish ever seen. William Smith has caught the largest fish reported yet for brook trout, a one and one half pounder.

Miss Agnes Burr of Brooklyn visited her cottage, "Grey Rock," last week, and remained as the guest of Mrs. E. H.
Beardsley till Wednesday of the present week.

James McHan again moved on Thursday his family and household effects from this village, to take charge of Mrs.
Seymour H. Wilton's farm beyond Church Hill. We wish him and his the best of success in this new undertaking.

E. B. Holcomb was at Stephen Hoyt's son's nursery in New Canaan, two days last week, selecting fruit trees of different kinds which he has sold in this village during the past winter. He has received and delivered them since to his patrons and all we think must have given perfect satisfaction for they were a fine collection, good growth and well rooted.
Mrs. Thos. Black was confined to her bed by illness, last week. This week her condition seems much improved.

WARREN.
FIFTY YEARS OF HAPPY MARRIED LIFE.
The following poem by Rev. Alpheus Gardner was read at the recent golden wedding celebration of Mr. and Mrs.
Charles Curtis:

Dear Friends, fifty years ago to day,
You were wedded, me, they say,
In nuptial bands, you then were tied,
One was groom the other was bride.
Little you knew before you were joined,
Or that you'd live to see this day.
But heaven has smiled upon your life, Since you became both man and wife.
Both in your hearts, yes, more and more,
In family life, as parents true, Great favor God has shown to you.
Now to-day, the grand review Of fifty years, for both of you,
The Golden wedding, it is called,
Is not amazed nor appalled, Fifty years of married life,
Is a period long, you see,
As anniversaries agree.
Twelve anniversaries brings in The golden. Thirty silver and tin, These cottons and paper withal, Silk and fine linen above all, These leather, crystal and wooden Wares, and china—no day is Pearl and ruby laid in the van, These in disorder I frankly give,
Because you both in health now live.
The thirteenth of golden, I say, Diamonds, twenty-five years away,
The anniversaries now past, We're at freedom to range at last.
Thenceforth, no more, cluster around A scene like this, with thoughts profound, Profound and startling, come to view,
As fifty years, and is to-day, As parents were, and is to-day, See what was, and is to-day,
Who then did live upon this earth;
Who ruled in church and State, of worth, Who the gospel preached, who souls won Whose work on earth was long since done.
John R. Keap was the pastor here,
The people did him much revere.
He's gone—his days on earth are done,
He has his life in God begun, Eternity's before him sure In heavenly glory he'll endure.
Most of his flock have also died, They've crossed the river—some five,
In eighteen hundred and forty-five, Webster and Clay were both alive, Also Calhoun, from a Southern State, All statesmen were in the land,
The telegraph was one year old, Morse, its inventor, was 'ere told.
Volk's nomination, first news sent,
Showing the world the grand event.
Victoria is England's Queen, Who to throne came at just eighteen, Seventy and six is now her age,
"God bless the Queen," 'till the rage.
Sir Robert Peel is the Premier Gladstone's in parliament that year.
Louis Philippe for fifteen years, Reigned in France, so it appears.
But kindly rule must shortly end, To a Republic, things there tend.
We leave the Old World and return; New world of free lands 'ere burn.
Texas and Florida this year Were added to the States, The stars now count, from first to last, Twenty-eight when this year's past, Our galaxy—our Union—our We love all well, good sisters rare, But this was fifty years ago,
It's a long time, as you must know,
Have come and gone without our aid,
What conflicts seen beneath the sun, What bloody fields, of human slain In this our land and on the main.
Sorrowfulness, and constant Christian To union duty is not done,
We love the church, we love the state, What owe to both, is very great
We love the church, we love the state,
So great our love no tongue can tell,
But there's no end to this great theme, It's like one long—no wondrous dream.
These fifty years, of moments made,
Have come and gone without our aid,
He's given them, who reigns on high,
His throne's above—all else is nigh.
Yet for their use we must atone, We're stewards of the grace of God, Living under His star and rod.
We're stewards in these things,
Our hearts have bled, our eyes shed tears,
Not lost—oh no, they're gone before.
The home beyond growing fast; Farwell to all we love and care,
And we shall reach our heavenly home, Our friends all meet—no more to roam.
We're stewards in these things,

to work.

Farmers are ploughing and putting in grain. The top of the ground is getting dry under the influence of the warm sun, and a few days will fit the earth for po-

Mr. Fry of East Kent, the wife of Rev.
Mr. Fry, was buried on Saturday. She died of pneumonia after a short illness.
Mrs. Almira Frost has retired from her office as clerk of the town.

The death of young Wedge in Cornwall with inflammation of the bowels near the head parallel with the Housatonic, was very sad. He had the entire care of the family. His father an invalid, afflicted with a softening of the brain and essentially confined to the house. If he is allowed to go out of doors he must be watched. Young Wedge was 30 years old and the main stay. The young may die, the old must die.

BRIDGEWATER.
PERSONAL AND CHURCH JOTTINGS.

Mrs. Ophelia Goldsmith has been the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Greer.
Mrs. Almira Frost has retired from her
office as clerk of the town.

Stiles Lucas' family left Bridgewater for West Goshen last Friday. We wish them success.

C. H. Sanford and daughter, Miss Susie, were in town, last week.

Mrs. Charles Lines from Bristol was a recent guest of Mrs. William Marsh.
George Frost is expected home from Maine, this week.

Miss Genevieve Sanford was home, Sunday, and entertained a friend.

Mrs. Daniel Mallory was brought here for burial from Roxbury, Wednesday, May 1.

Four names have been propounded for admission into the Congregational church at the next communion, two by letter and two on profession of faith.
It is reported that the Barham place is sold.

Mrs. Henry Sanford continues poorly, and her sister, Mrs. Charles Frost, is suffering from the same ailment. We hope to see both ladies out again soon.

MORRIS.
A PILLAR FALLEN.

After a long and painful illness of months, Clark S. Loveland passed away, April 24, aged 54. Mr. Loveland has been a lifelong resident of this town and has identified himself with all of its interests. Not only was he a man of great culture, deep thought, extensive reading and intellectually keen and bright, but he impressed every one by his integrity, uprightness, and consistent Christian life. When such a man leaves a place like this where every earnest Christian worker counts for so much, because the laborers are so few, it is a terrible loss. "What shall we do without him?" The church and Sunday school, of which he was an influential member, have met with an irreparable loss. Possessed of good judgment, candor, and that rarest of gifts, sound common sense, his counsels often poured oil on the troubled waters and quieted the little tempests which sometimes will arise at parish business meetings, where many men have so many minds. He was especially interesting in the educational affairs of the town. Himself a teacher for many years and chairman of the board of education (it might almost be said he was the board) he was emphatically the teachers' friend, while for shaming and shirking in the schoolroom he had no tolerance, a teacher who was trying to do his best (however imperfectly it might be done) always found a firm friend and a staunch defender from the aspirations of cranks and committees and the criticisms of partial parents. There is no need of saying that such a man was a kind and loving husband and father or that those admitted to his family were nourished by a model Christian home.
The words of the great poet may well apply to him:

"The earth which holds him, dead, Holds not alive a better, nobler man." While the inspired writer declares of such as he: "Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace."

KENT.
AT THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Rev. Mr. Starr of Cornwall occupied the pulpit of the Congregational church, last Sunday, in exchange with Rev. B.
M. Wright.

Ruth G. Soule, aged two years and six months, a daughter of Edgar J.
Soule of Bridgeport, and granddaughter of Edward Lineberg of Kent Furnace, was buried in the Congregational cemetery, last Sunday afternoon.

During the past week a number of men under the direction of Mr. Page have been employed in blowing up the center of the dam at Kent Furnace.
About 150 pounds of dynamite has been used in the work. The underlying of the east wing of the dam about two weeks ago, which turned the current of water against the east bank with such force as to threaten an entire change in the bed of the river at that point, made it necessary for the safety of the company's buildings to open a course for the water near the middle of the stream.

Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Wildman have removed their goods from the hotel and customers. It will be a very neat coun-

Mr. Schnell, who has been down with the grip, is still very weak and unable to work.

grain. The top of the ground is getting
dry under the influence of the warm sun,
and a few days will fit the earth for potatoes and corn.

Mr. Fry of East Kent, the wife of Rev.
Mr. Fry, was buried on Saturday. She died of pneumonia after a short illness.
Mrs. Almira Frost has retired from her office as clerk of the town.

The death of young Wedge in Cornwall with inflammation of the bowels
near the head parallel with the Housatonic,
was very sad. He had the entire
valid, afflicted with a softening of the
house. If he is allowed to go out of doors he must be watched. Young Wedge was 30 years old and the main stay. The young may die, the old
must die.

BRIDGEWATER.

Mrs. Ophelia Goldsmith has been the
