

MOONSHINE DEN
STORY BRINGS
FOURTH PROTEST

Members of Late Pastor Russell Take Exception to References to Moonshine Den.

Several Rock Island followers of the teachings of the late Pastor Russell have taken exception to an editorial suggestion that moonshiners would read the works of the late eminent religious man.

It has been inferred in telephone calls received by The Argus that this paper cast detrimental suggestions upon the teachings of the late Pastor Russell and upon his followers in the publication of an article in Tuesday's issue relative to a raid on a moonshine den in a wooded hollow in the heart of the city.

Seven Rodonovich, formerly of Kewanee, was arrested at the den by the police Monday evening, and the biggest moonshine outlay in the history of this community was discovered.

Argus Stated Facts.
In chronicling the facts of the case, The Argus gave a word description of the house, its contents and surroundings.

It was stated that a picture of Christ and one of Pastor Russell were found on the wall, together with a number of cards with religious printings, and that also a bible and numerous volumes of religious works were found. It was mentioned that, due to the finding of these articles, that Rodonovich or his friends were evidently of a religious nature. In short, The Argus handled the case according to information at hand.

Receive Complaints.
One complaint received today was to the effect that this paper cast reflections on the religious views of a woman. Neither The Argus nor the police were in possession of knowledge that a woman ever lived in the house. The person making the complaint, however, asserted that the house was owned by a man by the name of Thompson and that the religious works were the possessions of his wife. This paper was also called to task on the charge of inferring that a moonshiner would read religious works.

Little Learned of Thompson.
A man giving his name as J. H.
Hayes called over the telephone and registered a complaint. He referred to Henry Frank, 1102 Twenty-sixth street, as a man who would be able to tell of Thompson and clear up the alleged stigma.

A telephone call to the Frank residence was answered by Mrs.
Frank, who said that her husband could not come to the telephone, but that she really knew more about the Thompsons than her husband.

She said that she did not know Thompson's first name, but that he and his wife and child came to Rock Island about two years ago, and he is a teamster and horse trader. She said that he built the house in the hollow with barn accommodations underneath the house for several horses. She said that the Thompsons leave the city in the summer to allow Thompson to go on grading work, and that they return in the fall.

May Have Rented House.
She said that they left last April to go on some grading work, but was unable to say whether or not Thompson rented the house to the man, one of whom was arrested for moonshining.

Mrs. Frank said she knew Mrs.
Thompson and that it was the latter's religious books that the police found in the house. She made no complaint of the article published in The Argus Tuesday.

No more arrests have been made by the police in the moonshine case. United States Commissioner T. P. Sinner has ordered that all articles found in the house pertaining to the making of moonshine whisky be confiscated and destroyed.

New Walkouts, Involving 20,000 Men Add to List of City's Labor Troubles.

New York, Sept. 1.—Three more strikes, involving at least 20,000 men, today were added to New York's list of labor disputes.

Twenty thousand painters, decorators and paper-hangers have voted to quit work tomorrow to endorse their demands for $10 a day for an 8-hour day and a five-day week.

Three thousand moving van men, on the verge of striking because of 190,000 New York families this fall, leave their work today, demanding an increase of $5.00 a week and an 8-hour day.

Two thousand plumbers, who presented demands yesterday to their employers, were expected to lay aside their tools today if their terms are not met. Their demands include a day minimum pay, the holidays a year and the curtailment of overtime to urgent necessity.

These strikes do not include that now in progress of several thousand employees of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit company, nor the "Redneck" strike of the engineers, firemen and mechanics of the city's federal buildings, which went into effect this morning.

MR. LINDBERGH BETTER.
J. D. Lindbergh of Elwood, Iowa, who has been taking treatment from Dr. Walsh in Davenport for a bad case of rheumatism in the shoulder and arm, reports that he is all right again and attending to business.—(Adv.)

The peculiarity of the cardinal's hat is that it is not intended to be worn. On one occasion only is it to be seen on the head of a cardinal, and that is when the pope places it there as a symbol of its own elevation to the sacred college.
When a cardinal dies it is placed upon his coffin.
