

WIDOW PREFERRED TO MEET DEATH AT HOME.
 For many years I suffered from stomach trouble. All the doctors I tried helped me but little. All said I would have to go to hospital and be operated on for gall stones or I would not live much longer. I told them I preferred to meet death at home. One day I picked up an advertisement of May's Wonderful Remedy and since taking a course of it more than a year ago have not had a single pain in my stomach, have good appetite and can eat anything. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Began on drug store, Davenport, Rock Island, Moline, and druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

THE BRIDGROOM PLAY FEATURING COLUMBIA'S BILL.
 The play was very, very spicy. Even the most hardened first-nighter held his breath when "Helen's Husband" at the Columbia last night, unraveled its plot—one of those bedroom plays with the bride and the bridegroom on the first night of their honeymoon. The curtain goes up on a twin-bed setting. The bridegroom comes in. The play progresses. The bridegroom goes out. The bride retires. The bridegroom returns and the first-nighter catches his breath at the place because more and more bedroom.

to the way he had written it, a marriage scene in the park, but that the bridegroom with his eye on gold in heaven, had written it in a business setting to satisfy the box office. The old ends in the wedding on the stage. "Helen's Husband" is without a doubt the most timely comedy ever presented at the Columbia because a lot of present and recent Broadway comedies will point out that the box office is looking to Stinson for settings and Osterman for manuscripts. Or, in the words of a veteran critic, "burlesque is too flat; to get the desired rub one has to see the so-called decent shows."

The whole Columbia bill is big-time. Mang & Snyder are wonders in a strong-man act. Bob Mills has only one arm but he is doing the heavy and stage very interesting. Rive and Newton kept the people in a roar with song, dance and a dance. "Whistle and Hiss" is "The Ball of Davilla," could hardly headline any bill.
