WHERE THERE'S SERVICE—THERE'S SYSTEM!

Suppose the railroads ran just as many trains as they do now—but didn't run them at any special time each day.

Suppose there were just as many telephones in the city as there are today—but no central exchanges to make the proper connections for subscribers.

Or suppose that the A-B-C Classified Section wasn't "A-B-C" at all—that the Classifications weren't arranged on a "1-2-3" basis and couldn't be found in the same order every day.

Can you imagine traveling—or phoning—or trying to satisfy your needs through the Classified ads?

Fortunately these three public services ARE built on the foundation of system. Schedule, order and arrangement make it as easy for you to find the little ad you want as to call a phone number or take a train.
