Baccalaureate Sermons to Augustana and High School Graduates.

WISE WORDS OF PROF. SODERGREN

Points Out the Path That Brings Success and Happiness-- Commencement.

This is commencement week at Augustana College and Theological seminary. It is the 41st commencement of that institution, which this year is sending out the largest classes in its history. The lyceum entertainment Saturday evening marked the beginning of a busy week for the faculty and students. Last night the baccalaureate sermon to the classes of the collegiate, theological and normal departments, who are to be graduated this week, was preached at the college chapel by Prof. C. J. Sodergren, of the faculty. It was a masterful discourse and was listened to attentively throughout its delivery by the large audience. The speaker chose for his text Heb. 12:1: "To do without God." said Mr. Sodergren, "is the crime of the centuries, and man is the criminal. Our rebellious 'no' to God's fatherly and benevolent 'yes' has the blasphemy of a free will, creating sin and plunging us into that death which is separation from the living God, and its unutterable ruin, darkness and woe. "But God, the unselfish God, kindled a light in the darkness. Its beams glimmered amid a chosen race as a 'lamp shining in a dark place until the day dawn.' In the fulness of the times a day sprung from on high bath visited us to shine upon them that sit in darkness and the shadow of death to guide our feet into the way of peace."

A Race for Life.
"A Race for Life" shall be the theme of our sermon tonight," continued Mr. Sodergren, "suggested by the passage chosen as text for this occasion, and this we propose to treat under the following divisions: First, the exhortation; second, the conditions; third, the incentive, and fourth, the goal of the race. The exhortation comes from God. He wishes to gain our love, and love will not be coerced. Nothing can become the eternal possession of a soul except by conscious and voluntary choice. Another condition of success is endurance. We are not sprinting. A short-winded sprint is not enough. We are engaged in a century run. Impediments of all kinds will be encountered. Well nigh impossible barriers will be thrown across your path. "Instead of life becoming impoverished and barren it is being filled with the riches of eternity. God never takes anything away without giving something infinitely better in its stead. The colder leaves of winter only give place to the new leaves of spring, and the sunset in our continent is the sunrise in another. "We have a strong incentive to perseverance and endurance in being compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses."

Heaven the Goal.
"The goal is heaven, not as a distant place, but as a high condition and state of mind, soul and body. Our race is not locomotion, but sanctification. To be Christ-like is heaven, and when conformed to His image we shall be where He is. Purity of heart, perfected love and exalted wisdom, these are the joys of heaven, and not the streets of gold or the jasper sea, though the surrounding will correspond to our state of heart. The reward is not for what we have done or become, but for what Christ has become and done for us and in us. Both are the vicarious work of Christ. The merit and glory are His, and still 'He holdeth our crown in His hands.'"

Prof. Sodergren in turn addressed each class personally, congratulating them upon the completion of their college work and giving them some wholesome advice as to their future. The remainder of the commencement calendar follows: Monday—2:30 p. m., conservatory recital; 8 p. m., senior class day exercises. Tuesday—9 a. m., defense of thesis for A. M.; 8 p. m., seminary commencement. Wednesday—10 a. m., college commencement; 3 p. m., annual meeting of alumni association; 8 p. m., commencement concert.

SPEAKS TO HIGH SCHOOL CLASS.
Baccalaureate Sermon Preached by Rev. W. S. Marquis.

Rev. W. S. Marquis, of the Broadway Presbyterian church, delivered the baccalaureate sermon before the graduating class of the high school last evening. He took for his text Saul's words, "Lord, what wilt thou have me do?" and upon it preached a practical, helpful and pertinent sermon. He said: "Saul of Tarsus faced a new feature when he asked that question. It was a momentous hour for him and for the world. It is ever a momentous hour when a human soul determines what it will do. Deeds of all the fruits of education, of nature, of all the influences and purposes of the soul; therefore they will reveal and fix the character and destiny. This class of '01 has chosen for its motto 'Spectetur Agendo' (let us be seen by our deeds). It is a royal motto, and though coined by some old Roman it is one singularly appropriate for this day and age. It is an age of activity. Every door is open and voices are calling. The youth of the land feel the energy of Anglo-Saxon blood stirred by the tonic of opportunities unparalleled.

Natural Healing

Home testimony should convince you. Read what one of Dr. Horne's patients has to say about his treatment.

She had tried 25 doctors, but was not even benefited by one of them until she gave Dr. Horne a trial, who has completely cured her:

"I had been in very poor health for more than fifteen years, suffering with severe headache and pain between my shoulders, and also the troubles that are so common to my sex. I suffered with my head at times for more than a week, and was always in poor health and not able to attend to my household duties. During this time I have doctored with more than twenty-five doctors, who did not even help me. I was persuaded to call and see Dr. J. Alvin Horne, of the Illinois Infirmary of Natural Healing, who told me he could cure me in two or three months. But I am happy to say that he has entirely cured me in one month's treatment. I feel better than I have for the past fifteen years. I wish every woman who is suffering from any dis-

People ease peculiar to her sex would consult Dr. J. Alvin Horne and get well and strong as I now am."
