SATURDAY, OCTOBER 19.

The man with the lighted match never fails to find the leak.

The Kansas City Star says a man in Blue Rapids, Kas., has fallen in love with his wife. She has inherited $60,000 since he left her.

According to the London Lancet, too much bathing is harmful, as it tends to "macerate" the superficial part of the epidermis, which is too frequently removed, and occasions probably too rapid a proliferation of the cells of the malpighian layer.

The agricultural building at the Louisiana Purchase exposition in St.
Louis will be 700 by 3,000 feet and will cover over two acres more of ground than did the big manufactures and liberal arts building at the Columbian exposition in Chicago.

HENRY W. WATKINSON, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, has overcome his antipathy to office-holding and has signified his willingness to make the race for governor of Kentucky in 1903. Although Mr. Watkinson has been in public life for nearly 40 years and has been considered "the man behind the throne" in more than one national administration, he has never but once held public office, that of congressman in 1876.
He is an able and brainy man and worthy of any office within the gift of the American people.

That New Hampshire Grand Army post which censured President Rosevelt for being proud of the valor of his two uncles on the confederate side during the civil war has been promptly lectured by Private Dalzell, of Ohio. In a letter to the New Hampshire veterans Mr. Dalzell points out very sensibly that President Rosevelt is as much president of the south as of the north, that the war was over nearly 40 years ago, and that the majority of the great men of the country had been engaged in reconciling the differences between the north and the south ever since Appomattox, when Grant said, "Let us have peace."

"ALPHONSE DUBANEL, of Paris, has made a timepiece that stands 12 feet high, and is composed entirely of bicycles and their component parts," says the New York Tribune. "The framework is a huge bicycle wheel, around which are arranged 12 ordinary sized wheels, all fitted with pneumatic tires. A rim within a large wheel bears the figures for the hours, the figures themselves being constructed of crank rods. The hands are made of steel tubing which is used for the framework of bicycles.
The minute strokes on the dial are small nickel plated spokes. The top of the clock is an arrangement of 12 handbars. The clock strikes the hours and the quarters, the bicycle bells, of course, making the chiming. The pendulum is made of a bicycle wheel and the pendulum rod of various parts of a bicycle frame. It is said that the clock, besides being a curiosity, is an excellent timepiece. It is to adorn one of the public buildings in Paris."

FIRST MAP WITH AMERICA ON.
The discovery by Father Joseph Fischer, an Austrian Jesuit, of maps in Wolfegg castle, Württemberg, containing the first mention of the name America, possesses great historical interest, according to Sir Thomas Clements Robert Markham, K. C. B., president of the Royal Geographical society, who said to the Chicago Record-Herald correspondent:
"If this ancient chart proves to bear the date 1507, as stated, then it is unquestionably the earliest known map containing the name America.
It has hitherto been supposed that the map in King Edward's private library at Windsor castle, dated 1517, bore the earliest reference to the western hemisphere. This contains the outline of the continent and the word America in the space where South America lies. Many authorities attribute this production to Leonardo da Vinci, but Nordenskjöld vigorously disputes this claim, which is apparently shadowy.

"There is no doubt that Martin Waltonmiller, a professor in the small university in Lorraine was the first to suggest the name America, greatly to the annoyance of the people of Spain, who favored Columbia. In spite of many attempts to change the name of America to Columbia, the last of which was made only 40 years ago, the country is likely to continue to be known as America to the end of time.

"English geographers await with much interest Father Fischer's promised publication of this remarkable find."

A BLOW TO SPOILSMEN.

The interesting news comes from Washington: that President Roosevelt has tendered the next vacancy on the civil service commission to William Dudley Foulke, of Indiana. When the appointment is made it is not announced, although it is claimed probable that Commissioner Rodenberg, of Illinois, will soon resign.
The naming of Mr. Foulke is calculated to make the spoilsman rage and imagine a vain thing, says the Des Moines Leader. It is further emphasized that President Roosevelt is quite as much a civil service reformer as ever was Commissioner Roosevelt.

William Dudley Foulke is a man of wealth and high principles, who for many years has been one of the most active and persistent members of the National Civil Service Reform league.
He was the friend and associate of Dorman B. Eaton and George William Curtis in the early and struggling days of the reform, and he has always sustained it with voice, pen and purse. It is said of him that so excellent are his abilities and so high his standing that long ago he would have been a United States senator if he had been willing to be a little less independent. But he fought Dudley and his "blocks of five" methods in Indiana, and many times has been denounced by the politicians of Indiana as a most depraved and abandoned mugwump.

The presence of Mr. Foulke on the civil service commission, especially in view of the fact that he will be understood to represent the president's views, ought to do much toward lifting the commission out of the narcoleptic inactivity of its recent slumber. It is not known that the commission has done anything bad, but it has been as quiet as a mouse after a slipper has been thrown. The last member appointed was ex-Congressman Rodenberg, and he is said to have frankly told President McKinley, before he was nominated, that he had no sympathy with the civil service law. Mr. McKinley insisted upon his taking the place, saying its responsibilities and the knowledge it brought would bring about a change of view. Mr. Rodenberg is said to intend soon to retire.
It is certainly quite a jump from Rodenberg to Foulke and augurs a infusion of ginger into the commission.

LODGE AND NEW PRESIDENT.

Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, of Massachusetts was, in 1895 associated with President Roosevelt in literary labors. In that year they published a volume entitled, "Hero Tales from American History." This assertion of work and interests brought the two men rather closely together, and on this intimacy is based much speculation as to the position which Lodge is to occupy in this administration.

Many expect Lodge will voice the president's desires and opinions in the senate. It has also been predicted that he will eventually be invited to a cabinet position; possibly to succeed Secretary of State John Hay. Senator Lodge is 51 years of age. His life has been devoted to literature and polititics. After graduating from Harvard he wrote the "Life and Letters of George Cabot." This was followed by "Short History of the English Colonies in America," "Life of Alexander Hamilton," "Life of Daniel Webster," "Studies in History," "Life of Washington" (two volumes) and half a dozen other works, ending with a history of the Spanish war.

In 1888 Lodge was elected to the house of representatives and served four terms. He was then elected to the senate, where he is serving his second term. He is the political boss of Massachusetts. Senator Lodge is a man of wealth. He lives in quiet luxury in Washington and entertains a small but select circle of friends.
He is the man who finally persuaded Roosevelt to accept the vice presidential nomination, and he is thoroughly in sympathy with the young president's political theories and practices.

DUKE'S PEARLS ARE FALSE.

That the duke of Mancheser had been sued for the pearl necklace he gave his wife (who was Miss Zimmerman, of Cincinnati), was not particularly startling, but the fact that the plaintiffs to the suit make and sell only imitation diamonds, pearls, etc., has startled the gossips a-going. The people who are suing the duke say that the duchess was especially anxious for the necklace because she wanted to wear it when she sat for a new picture. The idea of an English duchess, the daughter of an American millionaire, being photographed with a string of false pearls around her throat—"the gift of the groom."
