WILEY'S EXPERIMENTS.

Complexions of Poison Food Squad Turning Pink.

FRECKLES AND BUMPS VANISH.

Pleasing Effect of a Mysterious Drug Being Used In the Doctor's Tests. Rosy Hues on Cheeks of the Chemical Eaters Are the Envy of Washington Misses.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley continues to guard the food experiments which he is conducting with a dozen or more clerks in his department with the greatest secrecy, under orders from Secretary of Agriculture Wilson, says a Washington special dispatch to the New York Herald. Nevertheless, as the young men are not kept indoors all the time, it is impossible to conceal any effects which the poisoned food may have upon the subjects of the experiments.

Although there have been no marked changes in any of the young men so far as health is concerned, it has developed within the last few days that all who have been at the doctor's table are taking on a delicate pink complexion which, it is said, would be the envy of any young miss in the land. It is not thought that this is due to the borax which has been given to the young men in their food for the last few months, but to some chemical ingredient which has been mixed with the food unknown to the subjects.

This change in the doctor's boarders caused some concern at first until a thorough examination was made of all of the young men and they were found to be in a perfectly healthy condition.

The only admission that will be made at the department is that all the drugs used in the food have up to date proved absolutely harmless. The pink complexion gives the men a healthy appearance, such as would result from a good circulation of the blood brought on by outdoor exercise. No one engaged in the experiments has been able to determine what chemical has produced this change, or if he has he will not tell.

"It's this way," said one of the boarders. "Some time ago we began noticing that our complexions were getting clearer. We didn't think anything about it at first, but after awhile, when it was seen that all of us were pink cheeked, we began to believe that it was some chemical they were putting in our rations now. We don't know exactly what it is, but we think that they stopped the borax course some time ago. Therefore it must be the other drug.

"There was one fellow at the observation table who had a complexion when he first came to the bureau like one of the fifty-seven varieties. Now his own girl wouldn't know him. He has a skin like the inside of a strawberry. Since the freckles and bumps and things have disappeared from his face he is a mighty proud boarder, if he does eat chemicals.

"Some of the boarders are worse than others—or better, I guess you'd say—but we all have rosy cheeks, and no mistake. Why, we're getting so we're ashamed to go on the streets. The girls turn around and look at us. It's embarrassing."

Dr. Wiley says that he is not yet ready to make his report on the first stage of the experiments, known as the borax stage. It is said, however, that enough is known already to show that the borax has had no harmful result.

As soon as the observations of the first stage are completed Dr. Wiley will make his report to Secretary Wilson, who will himself decide in what form it shall be given to the public.

NEW LOOP THE LOOP.

Spectacular Device to Be Seen at Summer Resorts This Season.

The tornado is the name of a new "loop the loop" device which will be seen at summer resorts and gardens during the coming season, says the Chicago Record-Herald. It is about twice as spectacular in arrangement as the original Coney Island affair, having two loops, within which a rubber ball of large dimensions and containing a human being whizzes. The ball is sent down the incline from a standard of fifty feet high, rolling along two cable wires. It plunges into the first loop and is conducted into the second in short order. The trip ends in a net, where the rubber sphere is unlatched and the man allowed to show himself to the people.

E. S. Fox of Chicago is the inventor. He claims for the tornado that it will give a hundred somersaults in ten seconds. When the rubber oval is seen on the fifty foot standard this summer by an admiring and wondering populace, it will be a courtesy to the management for young men to refrain from calling it a high ball, as the joke is already old.

Two Cents For a Masher.

American women who complain of the annoyance of professional mashers in the streets of Paris might profit from an experience I heard a bright American girl relate the other day, writes the New York Herald's Paris correspondent. She was walking along in the daytime, accompanied by another girl, and noticed a man following them. An idea struck her. Reaching in her purse, she found a small piece of white paper, then looked around shyly. The masher, encouraged, caught up and grasped at the paper she had in her hand. Instead, however, of receiving the little note evidently expected he found himself clutching 2 sous (2 cents). Needless to say, he did not follow farther.

A NEW GORKI.

New York Laborer Hailed as a Rising Light In Literature.

Unless the judgment of Adolph Wilbrandt, the noted German poet and writer, is at fault a new light in literature has arisen, whose work, according to the critic, is destined to stir not only Germany, but every nation that is interested in the social and economic problems of the day.

The new author is Hugo Bertsch, who works as day laborer at the furrier's trade in New York. His claims to fame rest entirely upon one work, which is soon to be published by Cotta, the great German publisher of Stuttgart and Berlin. Herr Wilbrandt is enthusiastic over the work of Mr. Bertsch, whom he compares to Gorki, the Hungarian writer.

Hugo Bertsch was reared in the Black Forest of Germany, and his only schooling as a boy was of the crudest preparatory kind. He is a student by nature, however, and has added to his store of knowledge in his later years by hard reading and faithful study of the best that literature affords.

The title of Mr. Bertsch's book is "Die Geschwister," which, translated, is "Brother and Sister." It recites the events in the life of Tom Pratt, an American laborer, whose struggles against starvation after being disabled in an accident are told in a series of letters to his sister, the wife of a poor western miner.

HUGO BERTSCH.

Mr. Bertsch still continues to work at his trade and in the meantime is working on a second book, which, in his opinion, is stronger than the first. He writes and thinks in German, but considers Shakespeare the greatest of all writers. Mr. Bertsch is about fifty years old.

MILLIONS IN HIS KEEPING.

Hamilton Fish, New Assistant Treasurer of the United States.

Hamilton Fish, the new United States assistant treasurer in charge of the subtreasury at New York, was for many years prominent in New York state politics, having served almost continuously in the state assembly from 1874 to 1896, two years of which as speaker, when he voluntarily retired to practice law in the Empire City.

Mr. Fish is the son of the late Hamilton Fish, once governor of New York and later secretary of state under General Grant. He is a graduate of Columbia college and was private secretary to his father during his service in Grant's cabinet. Besides his long service in the state assembly, he was at one time a member of the aqueduct commission of New York city.

Physically Mr. Fish is a superb specimen of manhood. He is over 6 feet 2 inches in height, perfectly erect and, though he has just reached his fifty-fourth birthday, has the vigor and grace of a young athlete. He is an intimate friend of President Roosevelt, with whom he served in the New York legislature. He visited Mr. Roosevelt at Oyster Bay last summer and was a not infrequent guest at the White House during the past winter.

It is said that Mr. Fish's retirement from politics six years ago was due to his disappointment at not receiving the nomination for governor of the state, which he felt he had fairly earned by his long service in the assembly. Mr. Fish, besides his legislative experience, has also been trained in practical diplomacy both as the confidential secretary of his father and also as minister to Spain.

The family to which Mr. Fish belongs is said to possess a strong talent for financial direction. His father was an able administrator, and his brother, Stuyvesant Fish, is a successful financier and railroad manager. In his new position Mr. Fish will have an opportunity to demonstrate his skill in finance.

We Will Pay $1,000

For a Disease Germ That Liquozone Can't Kill.

This offer is open to any physician or any scientist anywhere. We make it to convince all—beyond any question—that Liquozone does kill germs—and all germs.

It Kills Them With Oxygen

Liquified oxygen—a tonic to you—the very source of vitality.

Liquozone carries oxygen, in staple form, into the blood; and the blood conveys it to every membrane and tissue. There is not a known germ that can live in it.

Liquozone is the only germ-killer that one dare take internally.

It forms the only way to kill germs in the body without destroying the tissues, too.

It directly destroys the cause of all germ troubles, and there is no other way to do it.

The reason is this:—all germs are vegetables, and oxygen, the very life of an animal, is death to vegetable matter.

No Drugs in Liquozone.

We pledge you that there is not a drug of any kind in this product.

It is not only harmless, even to a babe, but it is a tonic. Oxygen is life.

Pauli, the great German chemist, spent 20 years in learning how to liquify oxygen, and Liquozone is the result. It takes 14 days to make each bottle of it.

The result is a liquid that can reach every germ in the body, and cure at once and forever every germ disease.

Diseases Due to Germs.

These are some of the known germ diseases; and these diseases are never cured by drugs. Either Nature or Liquozone must overcome the germs.

An Event With Him.

Sartor—The well dressed man is one whose clothes do not attract unusual attention.

One Little Day.

"It is a blessed secret," says one, "that of living by the day. Any one can carry his burden, however heavy, until nightfall, and any one can do his work, however hard, till the sun goes down. Any one can live patiently, lovingly and purely for one day. And this is all life means to us—just one little day." Why not try this truth.—Philadelphia North American.

A Still Greater Contrast.

"Are you going to take that ugly pug dog with you again, Carrie?" asked Charles. "I really believe you take him simply to make yourself look prettier by the contrast."

"Don't be jealous of poor Pug, Charlie," replied Carrie. "I'll take you some time when I want to look especially handsome."

Permanently in a town has no half-way significance upon the suffering humanity of a city—either he is going to benefit them greatly or just the reverse. When Dr. Horne announced intention through the columns of this paper of permanently locating here, naturally all thinking people wanted to know all about him. His advertisements were bold, startling, but convincing; the testimonials were signed by the most reputable citizens.

People commenced to investigate, and visited his offices, and the most convincing and pathetic scenes were seen in and around their reception rooms. People who had been suffering with rheumatism, lame back and sciatica for years were being cured by a method that is as skillful, painless and quick as it is wonderful. Just think of a man who could hardly walk for years, all crippled up with rheumatism, after taking one of his treatments, dancing around the room with joy. People deaf for several years had their hearing restored, and were, one and all, anxious that their names should be given to the public, so that others might be cured.
