WINGHOT SPURNS REPUBLICAN PLEA

Tells South Dakota Progressives That Old Party is Dead and Beyond Recall.

CALLS HADLEY A TRAITOR

Speech Also Denounces La Follette, Borah and Bristow as Deserters of People.

Huron, S. D., March 18.—Any reunion with the republican party was declared to be impossible by leaders of the progressive party who addressed a meeting held here yesterday for the purpose of outlining the policies of the third party in South Dakota.

Chief Pinchot, chief forester of the Roosevelt administration, was the main speaker. He devoted his address to an attack on the "progressive republicans" who are trying to get an amalgamation. He accused Herbert S. Hadley of having betrayed the Roosevelt forces in the Chicago convention and of having used his leadership in an effort to win the nomination for himself. Cummins, he said, "was personally honest, but has gone behind the time," and Borah was denounced as one who changed his political attitudes as rapidly as a weather vane revolves.

Republican Party is of Past.

"The republican party is a thing of the past," Mr. Pinchot said. "Disloyal to its traditions and its record, split into factions, contentious, unhappy, weak, it is seeking feverishly for help that it cannot find. Its last days are upon it. Consider now the contrast, united, homogeneous, confident, strong, the progressive party—loyal to its principles and certain of its success—has only just begun to fight. The past belongs to the republicans. The democrats are actually in power. But to us belongs the future, and that is the best of all.

"The republicans are divided against themselves. But we know that a house divided against itself cannot stand.

"We are asked to move into this falling house. Men like Cummins, Bristow, Borah, Hadley and LaFollette, calling themselves progressive republicans, invite us to come and join them in the hopeless effort to prop up the shaky ruin.

Regrets Loss of Cummins.

"Of Cummins I speak with regret. Struggling in the backwater of the current of political thought which once he dominated; a leader then, but now behind the times; personally upright, but blind to the fundamental division between the men who work for righteousness and the men who work against it, Cummins is hopelessly out of touch with the political thought of the day into which his type of partisanship has survived.

"Borah is a horse of another color. Where Borah stands today on any question is no indication of where he will stand tomorrow. As far as his public record shows, he has few convictions that are not absolutely at the service of his personal advantage. Borah has earned, and well earned, the pitying contempt of all men of all parties who believe that principles are things to stand by even to a man's own hurt.

Borah Deserted Principles.

"Borah was the trusted representative of the Roosevelt men before the committee on credentials at Chicago, when the theft of the nomination took place; that is to say, he was one of the two most prominent opponents of the theft, the other being Governor Hadley. As such, he denounced unsparingly the methods of the thieves. But when the stolen nomination had become a fact, Borah swallowed his words, threw his principles to the winds, and from having been the advocate and champion of the robbed, turned himself into the supporter and defender of the robbers.

"It is his habit. He has been on both sides of the conservative question, and on both sides of the question of a federal child labor law. Just recently he was first the most clamorous advocate of an extraordinary republican national convention to revise the party rules, and immediately after its most clamorous opponent. Unstable as water, Borah can never expect. He will not stand even when hit by the rein of his own public declarations."

BURNS TO SOLVE PHAGAN MURDER?

Detective Hopes to Clear Up Crime for Which L. M. Frank Faces Death.

IS AT WORK ON EVIDENCE

Charges of Perjury Being Investigated—Demand for New Trial Growing.

Atlanta, Ga., March 18.—Detective Burns announced yesterday that he would press the case of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, from the "ground up" and that he believed he would be able to name the real murderer of the little girl.

Burns was in conference with Frank and the latter's attorneys, Don C. Seitz, manager of the New York World, also took part in the conference. Mr. Seitz seemed greatly impressed by the statements made by the prisoner. Burns already is reported to have uncovered several important leads on which he will put his operatives to work at once.

The detective's investigation is expected to throw light on some of the mysteries of the case incidental to the main features, such as the form by affidavit and the testimony of a number of the witnesses of the state who since the trial have repudiated vital evidence.

Investigate Charges of Perjury.

Operatives are said to be working on these phases of the case and to be investigating all charges and rumors of perjured testimony and of efforts to influence unduly witnesses who were called to testify both by the prosecution and by the defense.

Burns has the assurance of Newport Lanford, chief of detectives, that all assistance his department can furnish will be given, and that he and all members of his department stand ready to answer any questions Mr. Burns may desire to ask.

"I will throw open to Mr. Burns all the information available to my department," said Chief Langford. "If there is anything in this case that the Atlanta department has overlooked we will be glad to have it shown to us. We want to solve the mystery if it has not already been solved, as of course we believe it has. But if there is any uncertainty remaining we are eager to clear it up."

It is stated that the detective department has collected new evidence that will be used to oppose the motion of the defense for a new trial.

Growing Demand for New Trial.

Meanwhile the demand that Frank be given a new trial is growing. Scores of letters are being published from Georgians asserting their belief that Frank was unfairly convicted and that the state owes it to itself to grant him a fair trial. These letters come from all sections of the state and from all classes.

As a consequence of the sermons delivered in three Atlanta pulpits Sunday night asking a new trial for Frank T. J. Osborn, one of the 12 jurors who returned the verdict of guilty, has written a communication to the Atlanta Constitution asserting that he jury weighed the evidence against Frank without prejudice and gave its verdict according to the law and the evidence. He declares the inflamed condition of the public mind did not influence the jury in arriving at its verdict and maintains that the verdict was righteous and the sentence just.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENT.

I hereby announce myself a candidate for the nomination of collector of Rock Island township, subject to the good will of the republican primaries. I respectfully solicit the support of all my friends.

Educational Board in Plans—Complaint against Dr. John V. Littig, supervisor of the child welfare department of the public schools by Dr. B. M. Raben on the ground that the supervisor had publicly attacked his professional work was made at the regular meeting of the school board. Dr. Littig was charged with telling patrons of Dr. Raben that work done by the latter was unsatisfactory. Both of the men are specialists in the same line and personal disagreement is said to be at the bottom of the affair. Dr. Raben gave the names of several of his patrons who had been told that his work was unsatisfactory by the supervisor. The board heard the complaint but postponed action to a future time. Dr. Raben made the same charges at the recent city school convention when a personal conflict between the two oculists seemed imminent. The new board was organized with Hugo Stolley and Dr. Karl Vollmer, directors chosen at the last election, taking their places and Dr. George Decker and Alex Naeckel retiring. Dr. Decker gave a short farewell talk and Mr. Naeckel read a paper telling of his work while a member of the board.

The sale shows downtown real estate active this spring and is an indication of confidence in Davenport's future growth on the part of big local financial interests. It is expected that the new owners will erect a modern building on the site.

Ask $200 Interest on Note of $1,000.

Charging that the rate of interest asked was in excess of the legal rate L. A. Barnes of Galesburg, Ill., has filed suit against W. J. At a meeting of the board of health, Health Officer Mullen was delegated to inspect the proposed site for the new city dump in the west end of town, just back of the Glucose works and make a report in the near future.

McKeeby Long a Criminal—"Jimmy

McKeeby, the leader of the auto bandit gang captured in Davenport, has been a thief and criminal since he was eight years of age," said D. J. Sullivan of the Chicago Detective force yesterday. Detective Sullivan came to Davenport in an effort to wring a confession from the bandits as to the whereabouts of other members of the gang who are still at large. All efforts to gain the desired information, however, were of no avail. "I'll tell you anything you want to know about myself," said McKeeby, after being questioned by the Chicago officer, "but I won't peach on my pals." Detective Sullivan was able to throw considerable light on the operations of McKeeby in connection with the Chicago gang. "McKeeby comes from a good family and has had the best home environment any boy could have, but he has chosen to cast aside every good influence and train with a gang of young thugs and lawbreakers," said Sullivan. "He has been a thief since he was eight years old. He was sent to the St. Charles school for boys for stealing automobiles and escaped from Davenport Woman Caught Shoplifting.

Charged with stealing a quantity of merchandise from the Harned & Von Maur establishment, Mrs. Anna Buldberg, 413 East Seventh street, was captured by C. J. Von Maur at 11 o'clock yesterday and turned over to the police, the arrest being made by Detective Charles Boettcher. A quantity of goods, alleged to have been stolen, were found in the woman's possession when a search was made by Matron Hill. When arrested, the woman had several remnants of goods wrapped around her but claimed she used them as chest protectors. An oxidized silver letter opener and several small articles were found, all bearing new price tags. Mrs. Buldberg claimed she had bought some of the things but admitted taking some articles, according to the police. It is also alleged that the woman has taken several articles from the J. H. C. Petersen store. She told the police her husband was dead and that she worked at different places to earn her living. She claims to have two small children. She first told the police her home was at 413 West Seventh street, then said it was 413 East Seventh street. In the directory, however, the address given is 413 East Seventh street.

Josie Walker, Harry Howard, Mose

Rockford Real Estate Men Have Best Year in History, Says Rockford Star, Jan. 1.

Dry Policy Increases Business About Thirty Per Cent

The following are excerpts from the Rockford Star, January 1, 1914:

"The exchange of real estate, the building of new homes, and the acquisition of property by new residents, is one of the potent factors in reckoning municipal prosperity. A city relies on its home builders for the essential advances along every line, for expansion from limit to limit and for the success of its every scheme of mutual betterment.

"Charles E. Jackson, president of the local real estate board, declared a few months ago during the unusual activity of the late summer and early fall, that Rockford was enjoying one of the greatest bursts of prosperity in its history. In the opinion of the board, which includes every prominent dealer in the city, Rockford was then in the midst of a real boom. New structures were springing up, not in certain portions of the city, but in every division within the limits. Workmen were at a premium.

"Lumber was unloaded in local freight yards in greater quantities than ever before. Wholesale dealers found it hard to supply the demand, and within the number of homes constructed failed to provide sufficient accommodations for the needs of the city. "In traveling throughout several western states, and with a view of the operations in eastern cities, no single instance has come to my knowledge," remarked Mr. Jackson, "of another city the size of Rockford or even larger which had enjoyed or were enjoying the building activity which had developed here."

Cash Sales More Frequent. "Cash sales in homes have been unusually brisk. Every one who sought to purchase a home, and there have been many of them, preferred to advance the money on them than to pay in installments with interest. This practice has stimulated the cash sales and several of the dealers claim brought them to a higher point than ever before, which is considered a sure sign of prosperity.

"For Rent" signs are practically unknown things in Rockford, for a house is no sooner vacated than there is a long line of would-be occupants forming in the real estate office handling the rental. This condition has been the bane of the real estate agent's life the past year. More demands have been made than could ever be filled, despite the building of many new houses during the spring, summer and fall. A week does not pass that agents do not receive requests from out-of-town people for houses to rent, or houses to sell and they have been unable to return satisfactory answers.

"Moderate-priced houses have led in the demands, an indication that the middle class want to own their own homes, a condition that has given Rockford the name of being one of the greatest home cities in the country."

VIEWES OF SOME OF THE AGENCIES.

COLE & COMPANY.—We doubled our business the past year. The sale of property for cash was unprecedented, the largest since we started in business seven years ago.

SHERMAN LETTS—"It won't take me long to tell what I think of the past year in the real estate business. My firm turned over $700,000 worth of property in 1913, double the amount the previous year, and by far the greatest in the history of the firm established eight years ago."

J. H. M'ADDEN—"1913 has been a big year for me and demands in all lines have been steady and good. Every week finds some people from out of town inquiring for homes. Medium priced homes are chiefly in demand along with good flats."

KNAPP, BARNES & COMPANY.—"Our business was better last year than in any year we have been in business, and we look forward to a prosperous year this year."

JOHNSON & SHEPHERD—"Business measured by the aggregate of sales for the year 1913, reveals a net increase of at least 25 per cent over the total of a year ago."

STOKBURGER & EASTMAN—"More legitimate sales of real estate were made in this city in the year just closed than ever before in the history of the city, in our opinion."

CHARLES E. JACKSON, secretary of the local real estate board and one of the most prominent agents in the city, has much the same view of the conditions.

BENNETT & CORNWELL—"The year just closed was the best we ever have had since we have been in the real estate business."

DEUEL & O'SHAY—"Our business showed an increase of from 25 to 30 per cent increase over 1912, and we anticipate an even larger increase this year."

Here is an explanation how Rockford had the lowest tax rate of any city of its class in the state last year. With saloons abolished more money was available for legitimate purposes. Much of this money went into the building of new homes. The more dwelling houses that are built, the more taxable property, and a lower tax rate is the natural result.

that institution Oct. 29, 1913. While operating in Chicago he stole two Ford automobiles that we know of. The boys admitted holding up a man at the corner of Springfield avenue and Van Buren on March 31, after stealing the National machine. Their victim was none other than ex-Congressman Edward J. Stack of 4147 Washington Boulevard, Chicago. They got $7 and a bunch of keys from the congressman. The gang with which McKeeby was associated, is one of the worst which the Chicago police have ever faced. The crimes and depredations laid at their door are numbered by the score."

as he admitted having hit the high places in Rock Island before arriving here, there was a vague suspicion that the brethren across the creek might have secured the "roll" before Daut ever landed in Davenport.

SCALY PSORIASIS ON ARMS AND LIMBS

Small Dots Grew Larger. Scaler Formed. Looked Horrible. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured.

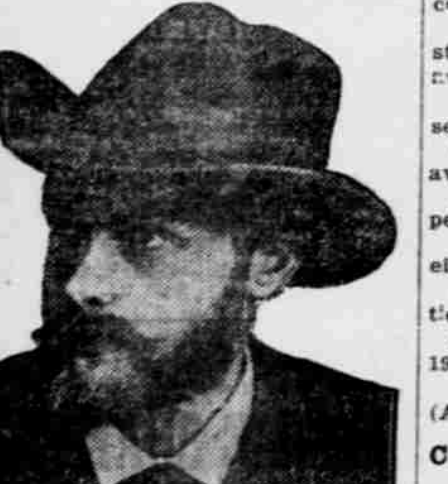

Troop H. 6th U. S. Cavalry, Camp McCoy, Sparta, Wis.—"I was troubled with psoriasis for nearly two years. Portions of my arms and limbs were affected mostly with it. It appeared in scaly form, breaking out in very small dots and gradually grew larger and white scales formed when about the size of an ordinary match-head. It made it very unpleasant for me. I tried a little at times.

"I tried several remedies, but the trouble seemed to grow worse instead of better, and I tried several treatments which cured me for a month, but it always broke out again. One day a friend saw the advertisement of Cuticura Soap and Ointment in the paper and I sent for a sample. They helped me, so I purchased two more boxes of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and some Cuticura Soap and they completely cured me. It took three months for Cuticura Soap and Ointment to complete my cure." (Signed) Walter Mahony, Oct. 22, 1912.

MR. P. NAUSCHUETZ Peruna the Best Remedy I Ever Found for Coughs and Colds.

Mr. P. Nauschuetz, No. 221 Sharar street, San Antonio, Texas, writes: "About a year ago I was troubled with catarrh and could hardly find help until I took Peruna, which soon brought me relief.

"Peruna is the best remedy for colds I ever found. I recommend it to any one suffering with catarrh."

The first thing to accomplish in the treatment of a cold is to eliminate the accumulated poisons in the system. The excretory ducts and glands should be stimulated. This the laxative element of Peruna will accomplish.

The next thing is to raise the tone of the nerve centers, and assist the powers of nature to resist the effects of the cold. The tonic element in Peruna is intended to meet this demand. It gives the necessary temporary strength to throw off the depression that the cold brings.

A tonic laxative is a quick and efficient weapon to meet a cold at all points.—(Adv.)
