bond-holders. We demand that the silver dollar shall be restored to its full legal-tender quality in payment of all debts, both public and private, and we will be satisfied with nothing short of this, and we pledge ourselves to vote for no man for congress who is not fully committed in favor of this measure.

Resolved that we will resist the consummation of this wrong by all honorable means within our power. We call upon both houses of congress to insist upon the repeal of the demonetizing act and restoration of the silver dollar to its rightful place in our currency, and if the president shall, by the use of his negative, succeed in defeating the bill, then we call on congress to append a similar repealing clause to the general appropriation bill, and stand by it to the last, with full confidence that the people will assuredly stand by them.

Resolved that we recommend to our fellow-citizens throughout the country who agree with us in sentiment that they convene in mass meetings and take prompt action on this question and thus convince the powers that be in Washington that the people are terribly in earnest; that the exigency admits of no delay and no compromise, and that nothing short of absolute and unconditional surrender to their just demands will be accepted. Emory Storrs, W. C. Gouly, Wm. Bross, Leonard Swett and Judge Booth were among the speakers

The Tramp Problem.

The Chicago circuit court having decided "the tramp law," passed by the last legislature, to be unconstitutional, and it being understood that the supreme court of the state will affirm the decision whenever opportunity is offered, the good people of Illinois are sadly perplexed in regard to the proper means to use in dealing with a great and rapidly growing nuisance. It was plain to any unprejudiced mind—before the verdict of a legal tribunal—that a law which allowed the arrest of an individual without a warrant, and his trial and conviction without a jury, was a violation of those fundamental principles which lie at the root of republican institutions. Even a tramp has rights which, in a free country, must be respected; no matter at what inconvenience to the rest of the community.

The problem which is vexing Illinois is national and not local, and is felt more or less throughout the country, but especially in the North. When, two or three years ago, the tramps became a recognized element in the body politic, creating more surprise than solicitude, we expressed the opinion that their presence among us was an exceedingly bad sign of the times, and should not be disregarded by those whose business it is to invent and superintend the machinery of political and social reform. The essential truth of this opinion has been so thoroughly established since that no intelligent and thoughtful person is now willing to deny it. The magnitude of the evil is universally admitted, and the admission carries with it a confession that there must be something radically wrong in the theory or the practice of American life—else such an evil could not exist, much less flourish as it does. It is not our purpose to inquire into the causes which have produced this dangerous effect. That is a task belonging to other hands. We simply wish to remark that any legislation—municipal, state or national—which is based on the idea that the tramp is necessarily a criminal, either developed or in process of development, will fail to accomplish the desired object. That many, possibly the majority, of tramps have those low moral instincts which, when aided by temptation, lead to crime, there is unfortunately little doubt; but the charge cannot be sustained against the whole, and should not be made—much less take shape in legislative enactment. The law assumes the innocence of the accused until his guilt is proved, and there is no good reason why tramps should be an exception to this ancient rule. Instead of including them all in a sweeping condemnation and treating them accordingly, they should have that charity which all need, and that justice all have a right to demand. Moreover, it ought to be remembered, as a guide to the proper kind of legislation, that tramps were an insignificant factor in the social aggregate as long as the commercial and industrial interests of the country were in prosperous condition. Not until these interests felt the destructive effects of "hard times" did the army of vagrants march through the highways and by-ways of the land. And whatever remedies may be applied, it is entirely safe to assert that this army will not be permanently mustered out of service until national prosperity is permanently restored.—St. L. Republican.

"German Syrup."

No other medicine in the world was ever given such a test of its curative qualities as Boschee's German Syrup. In three years two million four hundred thousand small bottles of this medicine were distributed free of charge by druggists in this country to those afflicted with consumption, asthma, croup, severe coughs, pneumonia and other diseases of the throat and lungs, giving the American undeniable proof that German Syrup will cure them. The result has been that druggists in every town and village in the United States are recommending them to their customers. Go to your druggist, and ask what they know about it. THE MAGEE STANDARD
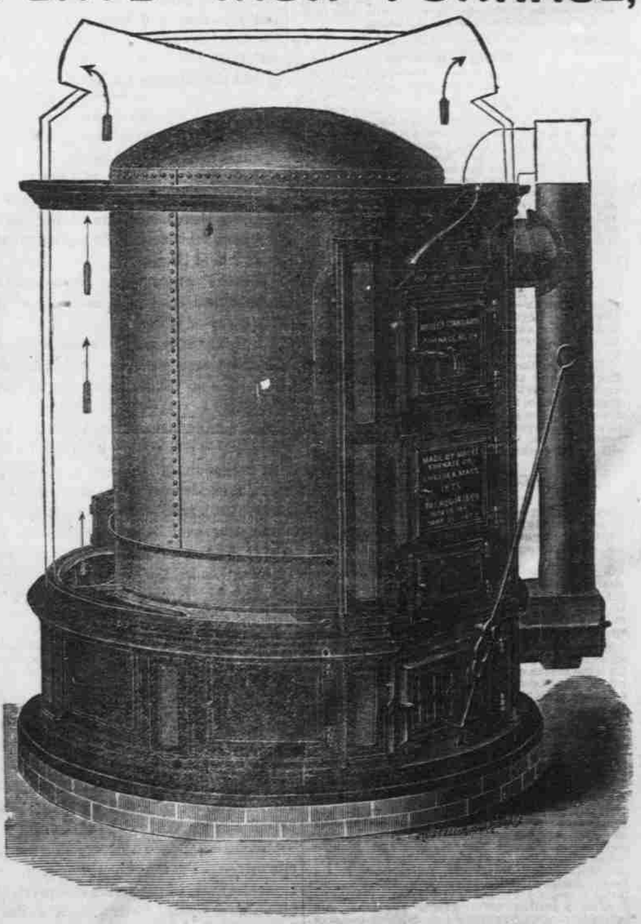
PLATE IRON FURNACE,



Received THE MEDAL OF HONOR and the HIGHEST AWARD at the Centennial Exhibition, Philadelphia, as superior to all others.
—READ THE JUDGES REPORT.—
"THE MAGEE STANDARD PLATE IRON FURNACE presents especial merit as a healthful, convenient, economical and inexpensive Wrought Iron Furnace. Its details for convenience, cleanliness and economy in use, are in part enumerated as follows:—It has its dome of rivited boiler-iron preventing escape of gas or dust into the air-chamber. The double construction of its fire-pot provides for the delivery of air for the free combustion of gasses. The automatic hood over the feed-door provides for the engaging and removal of gas and dust when the door is opened. Special facilities are provided for removal of clinkers, grate shaking, and flue cleaning, and the regulation of air currents. The improved double Terra-Cotta wall, with air space between, is a very convenient improvement for setting, and cannot be recommended too highly. ☞ All Castings are of unrivalled elegance and excellence."
